A robust, manly son and a cooing baby-girl nestling in her bosom — what more can any womanly woman ask? It is a boon that Heaven intended should be granted to every woman.

Thousands fail of this because they have neglected to look after their health in a womanly way. The health of a woman's babies is dependent upon her own health during the period of prospective maternity. The prospective mother cannot be too particular about her physical condition. If she suffers from local weakness, nervousness or loss of vigor and virility, her children will be weak, puny and sickly. Dr Pierce's Favorite Prescription is the only unfailing cure for all weakness and disease of the delicate and important organs that bear the brunt of maternity. It makes these organs strong, healthy, vigorous, virile and elastic. It makes the prospective mother strong and cheerful. It robs maternity of its perils. It insures a baby constitutionally strong. It is the invention of an eminent and skillful specialist, who has had thirty years' training in this particular branch, during which time he and his staff of physicians have prescribed for many thousands of women. Medicines dealers sell it and an honest dealer will not urge upon you an inferior substitute merely for the little added profit he may make thereon.

"I am the mother of a nice baby four and a half months old," writes Mrs. J. B. Clough, (Box 203,) of Lisbon, Grafton Co., N. H. "I cannot give too much praise to Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription."

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets cure constipation. Constipation is the cause of many diseases. Cure the cause and you cure the disease. One "Pellet" is a gentle laxative, and two a mild cathartic. Druggists sell them, and nothing is "just as good."

THE STOWAWAY.

"Bring him up," said the skipper tersely.

They dragged him up the companion ladder accordingly—a shrinking, ragged lad, his pale face pinched with days of hunger, his sunken eyes scanning those around him as do the eyes of captive animals.

"How did you find him, Mr. Billings?"

"Behind one of the cotton bales, sir," the mate replied.

"What's your name and where d'you come from?" demanded the captain of the stowaway, notebook in hand.

Trembling, the boy replied that he was Dick Harley, late of the Tenterden Grammar school; that his father, a widower, had left him behind in England while he went to South Africa as assistant surveyor on the new Matabeleland railway line; that nothing had been heard from that kindly father for a year or more, and lastly that, compelled to leave school on account of unpaid bills, he had resolved to go to South Africa and find his missing parent.

"And so you thought to steal a passage on the Only Son of Portsmouth?" said the skipper.

"I was refused a berth by every other ship," pleaded the boy. "They said I looked too weak to work."

"Weak or not, you've got to work aboard the Only Son," said the first mate. "Hasn't he, sir?"

"That's correct, Mr. Billings," he answered. "If he doesn't want to pay for his passage, try him with the rope's end."

"Aye, aye, sir!"

And again Billings grinned eloquently as he led the boy forward. A quiet, elderly gentleman, who had been watching these proceedings, now stepped forward.

"Don't hurt him, Mr Billings," he said. "He's only a child, you know."

"Captain's orders, sir," answered the mate, giving Dick Harley's ear an extra tweak.

The skipper laughed.

"Don't you waste any sympathy on that youngster," he exclaimed. "We can't afford to have any useless, white handed stowaway aboard a vessel that carries £250,000 to the Chartered company. How do you know, my dear Mr. Lancelot, that yonder boy is not the spy of some high sea robbers, put on board to find out about the money?"

The man addressed as Lancelot looked grave.

—"True," he said, "they did think in London that an attempt might be made to rob the ship. But still this mere boy"—

"I've seen 'mere boys' are now, Mr. Lancelot, that were old men in crime. Take my advice and leave the stowaway to my first officer."

At this moment a shrill cry of pain, followed by another, came from the lower deck.

"What's that?" cried Mr. Lancelot.

The captain of the Only Son of Portsmouth put his notebook, containing Dick Harley's name and circumstances, carefully into his pocket.

"That, my dear sir," he answered smilingly, "is the stowaway getting his first lesson in seamanship from Mr. Billings."

Mr. Lancelot shrugged his shoulders. After all, he had been sent out in charge of £250,000 in gold which was consigned by the Bank of England to Mr. Cecil Rhodes and the Chartered company of South Africa. His duty lay in the after cabin, where that treasure was stored, and not in preventing venturesome little stowaways from being rope ended.

Bruised and stiff, Dick Harley lay curled up between a seaman's chest and the forecastle bulkhead. One of the deck hands had taken pity on him and thrown a piece of tarpaulin over his aching shoulders. Thus he lay completely hidden, so that the men on the larboard watch, who had just turned in after four hours' wrestling with wind and water, knew nothing of his presence.

"What became of the stowaway?" asked one of these worthies.

"Jumped overboard, I expect," answered another. "Billings gave him 'what for,' I can tell you. I must say I don't understand why he wanted to wallop the poor little wretch."

A chuckle ran around the forecastle.

"Why, you donkey," cried the man who had first spoken, "Billings just wanted to show how zealous he is in the company's service. The captain thinks there's nobody like Billings."

"And neither is there, my boys; neither is there," cried a voice from the companion ladder. Dick Harley, cowering under his tarpaulin, knew that voice and shuddered involuntarily. The first mate of the Only Son, in defiance of strict nautical etiquette, had paid an uninvited visit to the sailors' sanctuary—the forecastle.

"Hello, Billings!" cried a dozen voices. "What's afoot, my lad! Tell us the news."

"Nobody here but our own crowd, is there?" asked Billings, peering about the dimly lighted cabin.

"Nobody but ourselves. You may talk right out, Tom Billings," was the answer.

"Very well, then. Let the attempt be made tonight, when the other watch has turned in. The money is all right. The skipper and Mr. Lancelot showed it to me this afternoon."

"How much altogether?"

"Two hundred and fifty thousand pounds. Plenty for all of us. You are all familiar with the scheme. When the other watch has turned in, you, Sam Bowers, and you, Billy Reid, will mount guard over 'em with your guns. Two men can hold the hatchway, I feel certain. Then the rest of us will make for the skipper's cabin, where the money is. The skipper is a wise man. He will make no resistance against numbers."

"Lancelot may fight, though," cried a voice.

"What if he does? We will wait till he's asleep in his bunk. At daybreak we'll put the skipper and Lancelot into a boat, with a chart to give them their bearings. Then we'll make for South American, run the ship ashore and spend our well earned money."

"But how about the rest of the crew?" asked one of the listeners.

Billings grinned.

"Let them get out as best they can," he said. "Perhaps if they behave nicely we may leave them a boat, but not a pound of the money do they get."

"And when are we to start in?"

"I'll give you the signal," Billings replied. "Meanwhile turn in and get a rest. Good night, my lads, and remember! I shipped every man jack of you at Portsmouth, and you're under oath to do my bidding. Kill 'em if necessary, but get the cash at all hazards."

"Aye, aye, sir! We'll follow you," cried several of the rascally crew as their leader sprang up the ladder. Little Dick Harley breathed a sigh of relief as he heard Billings depart, but the next moment there flashed across his youthful mind that a stern duty lay before him. Notwithstanding the danger, notwithstanding the mortal terror with which he regarded this brutal first mate, he must endeavor to give the captain warning of the intended robbery.

To stir from his hiding place at this moment would mean death at the hands of those desperate men, and as yet none of them showed any intention of obeying Billings' advice and "turning in."

They examined their revolvers, for every one of them seemed to be armed, and talked over the coming attack upon the Chartered company's treasure. Dick had almost made up his mind to risk a crawl along the floor toward the companion ladder and a rush thence upon deck when one of the desperadoes yawned. A yawn is more contagious than yellow fever. Within five minutes every man in the forecastle was showing evidence of weariness. First one and then another crawled into their bunks and were presently heard to slumber noisily. The example spread until the last of the band knocked the ashes out of his pipe and retired to rest. Soon all of them were in the land of Nod.

Cautiously Dick Harley peeped out from under his tarpaulin. Then he ventured forth and set one foot on the companion ladder.

"Who's there?" growled a sailor drowsily.

Dick's only answer was to slip as quickly and as noiselessly as his bruises would allow up the ladder. At the head he listened intently.

"Who was it, Bill?" asked a second voice.

"It was that blamed cat, I'm thinkin," replied the first speaker, and, to Dick's relief, there was no pursuit. Quickly he ran along the deck and mounted the bridge to where the skipper stood.

That night as the first mate of the Only Son came up from his cabin with a revolver in his hip pocket and a grin on his face he was met at the head of the stairs by the captain and Mr. Lancelot. To his surprise, both of those gentlemen were armed, while behind them he observed the despised stowaway, Dick Harley, with a naked cutlass in his hand.

"Mr. Billings," said the captain, "you will please throw up your hands. Your little plot has been discovered. Ah, thank you"—as he drew the pistol out of Billings' pocket. "You may now return to your cabin and consider yourself a prisoner."

"Why—what is the meaning of this, sir?" spluttered the mate.

"The meaning, Mr. Billings," put in Lancelot, "is that this boy here heard your whole delightful scheme to rob the Chartered company of £250,000. He very promptly informed the captain. Your accomplices in the forecastle were captured in their bunks, and most of them have confessed everything."

Billings looked at the speaker and then at Dick Harley.

"The stowaway!" he cried. "This miserable little rat of a stowaway!"

"Yes, Mr. Billings, the stowaway has saved the Chartered company of South Africa £250,000, and a stanch, seaworthy ship. You will find that the company knows how to be grateful."

And grateful, indeed, the company proved itself to be. A month later, while Billings and his gang were awaiting trial for attempted piracy in the Cape Town jail, Dick Harley was shaking his father's wasted hand in the new hospital at Salisbury. The surveyor's recovery from a lingering fever was greatly accelerated, you may be sure, by the news that the Chartered company had rewarded by a position of trust and honor the timely action of the quondam stowaway on the Only Son.—Atlanta Constitution.

How He Learned the Lesson.

"This is a straight story," said a grocery clerk, whose veracity has never been impeached. "It happened in our store. A little boy came into our Market street store and waited for some one to notice him. He carried a sheet of writing paper in his hand, at which he glanced from time to time. One of the idle clerks came to him finally, and the boy, reading from his paper, announced in a singsong voice: 'My mother wants 10 pounds of rice, 15 pounds of sugar, 12 pounds of oatmeal, 20 pounds of'— 'Hold on!' interrupted the clerk. 'Not so fast. Suppose you give me that paper, and I'll fill out the order.' But the boy insisted on calling off the articles himself. Two other clerks were pressed into service, and the three men proceeded to do up the various packages as the boy called them off. He wanted all kinds of things, and he asked the price of each article as they went along, making a note of it on his paper. The clerks had the counter stacked with packages, when the boy wound up with '18 pounds of flour.' One of the clerks called out the price, and the boy continued in his singsong voice, 'And how much money does my mother have to pay for her groceries?' One of the clerks counted up the total and announced it as $18.73. The boy made a note of it and started out. 'Come back here. Where are you going?' cried the clerks in chorus. 'Why,' said the boy as he made for the door, 'that's jest me 'rithmetic lesson fur tomorrow. I have ter know it or I'll git licked.'"—Philadelphia Record.

THE PRESIDENT'S ADDRESS.

The President, Mr. A. G. Ramsay, in moving the adoption of the report, said:

The Directors' Report and the usual accounts and statements have for some days been in your hands, and have now been taken as read. While the report is brief, it contains, I think, along with the various published accounts, all that is required to enable those interested in the Company to judge of its progress and success in the past year. The addition during 1897 of nearly half a million dollars to the surplus or profits fund is a large and satisfactory one, and without invidiously comparing it with the figures of any other particular Company. I may say that it is more than was attained by all the other Canadian companies combined. The new business of the year was, you will observe, of satisfactory and gratifying amount, and in excess of the previous year, and you will be pleased to know that it is of that desirable class which will result more to the profit of the Company than would a larger amount obtained at heavier expense, or from less desirable regions than the healthful climate of Canada, and the four Northern States to which we have thus far deemed it judicious to confine the operations of the Company. The existing assurances are $72,719,555 or nearly twice as much as they were 12 years ago. The death claims of the year continued of very favourable amount, and being well within what was calculated upon, that fact testifies to the care observed in the selection of the lives, and to the judicious limitation of the business to the healthful climates already alluded to.

The recent lamentable failures of some of the companies doing business on the assessment system, and the anxiety felt as to the others which are based upon the same fallacious principles lead me to point out that these occurrences are only the inevitable results, which were from the first predicted by those whose knowledge and experience enabled them to judge of what the future of companies of the kind must be. At our meeting in 1887, when concerns of the kind were making strenuous efforts to establish themselves in Canada, I alluded to the miserable failures they had been in England and in America, and I said that their "ephemeral existence indicates how useless the assessment system of assurance is as a family provision. It can only offer the uncertain hope of a cheap assurance for a few years, till the company breaks down. It cannot afford any guarantee that a definite amount of assurance will certainly be paid to a widow or children after an assurer's death, whether that occurs at an early day or a distant one, and without such a guarantee as that, which our own and other sound companies offer, life assurance must be a fraud and a delusion." I added that "I was aware that agents and managers of companies of the kind pointed to the names of prominent business and professional men who have joined them, or who act as their directors, but as some of them at all events allow their names to be employed in that way, simply because policies have been gratuitously given to them, one can judge how little weight should attach to the names of the gentlemen thus used to decoy others to join such companies." One cannot envy the feelings of the prominent gentlemen alluded to, who induced persons to take policies in companies of the kind, from which they are now driven out by their failure, or by the levy of such high payments as they are unable to meet

As the accounts show, the year's income was within a trifle of three million dollars, and the assets of the company were increased to the very considerable amount of nearly nineteen million dollars, and yielding, after deducting liabilities of every kind, a net surplus or profit of $1,564,082 for allocation at the end of next year, along with whatever addition there may be made to it between now and that time, and as the management and other expenses by which the profits to policy-holders are very largely influenced continue to be on a more moderate percentage than that of other Canadian or American companies, he prospects for our assurers are of a favourable character.

It is anticipated that legislation will be introduced by the Government, modifying the present 4½ per cent. rate of interest prescribed by law as the basis for Life Assurance Reserves, and adopting the new mortality Tables based upon the observations and large experience of the British Insurance Companies, in course of compliation by the Institute of Actuaries of Great Britain, and I may say on behalf of the Board in reference to the amendment to the charter, alluded to in the Directors report of last year, that the Directors purpose to avail themselves of the occasion of that legislation to seek such amendments to the law as may meet the Board's requirements.

The motion was seconded by Mr. F. W. Gates, Vice-President, and unanimously carried. A hearty vote of thanks was tendered to the agents, officers, medical and legal advisers of the company, Mr. Adam Brown speaking in eloquent terms of their services rendered to the Company.

Mr. Leggat moved and Lieut.-Col. McLaren seconded a hearty vote of thanks to the President and Directors for their attention to the interests of the Company during the past year. Brief and interesting addresses were also made by Sir George Kirkpatrick and Sir George Burton, the latter of whom was heartily congratulated upon the recent honour conferred upon him by the Queen.

The retiring Directors, Chief Justice Sir George Burton, Col. Sir Casimer Gzowski, K.C.M.G., and Mr. N. Merritt, were re-elected. At a subsequent meeting of the Directors, Mr. A. G. Ramsay was re-elected President and Mr. F. W. Gates Vice-President

The meeting passed off very harmoniously, every one present being gratified with the progress and continued prosperity of the Canada Life, which, as Sir George Kirkpatrick remarked, was easily leader of all Companies in the Dominion.

PETERBOROUGH AND TORONTO.

MR. MACONACHIE ON INDIAN MISSIONS.

AN EYE WITNESS OF THE PROGRESS IN THE EAST.

A Most Interesting Address Delivered in St. Luke's Church Last Evening—Christianity in the Punjaub.

St. Luke's church was well filled last evening by those anxious to hear the address on Indian Missions in the Punjaub province, India, delivered by Mr. Maconochie, who had been a lay reader in the diocese, and consequently an eye witness of the progress which was being made there.

The meeting was opened by prayer, being offered by the Rector, after which Rev. Rural Dean Webb, who was in the chair, introduced the speaker.

In opening his address Mr. Maconochie stated that thirty years ago a person standing in his position would have to have made an apology for speaking on the subject of missions, but a change had swept over the age, due chiefly to two facts—

IMPERIALISM AND MISSIONS.

But recently had Imperialism come to the front, caused by the attitude taken on important questions by the first lady in the world—our Queen. An Imperialist is not a jingo by any means. God points out a road to the English people which leads to larger issues than would emanate from such a feeling as jingoism. This spirit is good for the missions. When men now wander to the furthest corner of the earth, they find that the missionary has been there before them. The reports of the missionary societies to-day are fit subjects for a new Act of the Apostles.

The name of Africa recalls the acts of Livingstone and Harrington. Then there is the blood of the martyrs in China, in India and in the South Sea Islands, which has been shed in doing the work which the Apostles began on earth.

In India, continued the speaker, we will confine our attention chiefly to the Punjaub, which has an area as large as that of the German Empire. Various races compose the Punjaub, but that they all sprang from the Aryans is illustrated spoken, in which the roots of the common words are identical. The Aryans occupy all India and are divided into two classes—Mohammedians and Hindoos.

The Punjaub was taken by the English in 1849. Amongst the Britons was a band of Christian men headed by Henry Lawrence, who took the view that although the territory was acquired by the power of the sword, still as long as they remained in possession, something ought to be done for Christianity. A certain Col. Morton was the first Church of England missionary on the ground, but there was one there before him from the American Presbyterian church.

A high tribute was paid by the speaker to the two first missionaries, both of whom are now dead.

Dr. Newton was on the ground one year before the Church of England representative. He, as a brother, invited the co-operation of the Church of England.

THE PRESBYTERIANS

then looked after the Christian interests of Lahore and the Church of England went into Umritsa in 1850. One of the first band of missionaries is still alive in the person of Rev. Robt Clarke, who has a firm, hopeful faith in the future conversion of all India.

The first convert secured was a Sikh priest. Since then the work in Umritsa has grown. There is now a fine large church, with a native preacher and a good congregation and a girls' school, which has been named "Alexandria," in honour of the Princess of Wales. The lot of a woman is so degrading and so miserable in India that the kind of work taken up in the schools is of the greatest importance. The contrast between the lot of a heathen and Christian women is something incalculable. There is also a boys' school. The medical missionary work is still carried on at Umritsa, as started by Dr. Clarke. A native named Henry Martyn is now in charge. He is a most remarkable man, who has made many converts.

The ladies are doing a grand work in India. Mr. Eugene Stock says that he considers it superior to that done by the men. They work in the zenanas and preach.

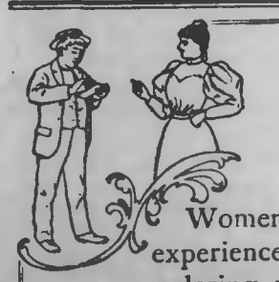
Though the Lady Dufferin fund mitigates great suffering amongst Indian women, it is not directly a missionary or religious work and is not really so effective.

The speaker then gave a number of instances of Indian Christians who were possessed of fine characters.

Two churches have been established at Narvor—a large and a small one. Clarksbad is intended to be a settlement for Christians, and at present contains eight hundred of them.

The differences between the high and low caste natives makes the progress of Christianity difficult, as after adopting the Christian creed the difference in caste is not recognized. Many in thus casting behind them the rigid rules of caste are subjected to penalties, and even to poisoning in some cases.

At the conclusion of the most interesting address, a hearty vote of thanks was passed to the speaker on motion of Rev. Canon Spragge, seconded by Rev. G. Warren.



Women of experience in ordering coffee from their grocer are careful to specify Chase & Sanborn's Seal Brand Coffee, which comes in pound and two-pound tin cans, knowing that satisfaction accompanies every can.

Thousands of refined people who know and appreciate good coffee endorse this famous brand. The signature and the seal of these well-known importers guarantee its excellence.

THE VICTORIA MUSEUM.

The Committee Solicits Contributions in View of the Approaching Opening.

On Jubilee Day, June 22nd, 1897, the Victoria Museum, Nicholls Park, was formally dedicated, but not opened, in view of the facilities for placing the exhibits, and many of the exhibits themselves not being in readiness.

It is, however, the intention of the committee to open the museum on a date to be arranged further on. For this purpose it is desirable to have as large a number of exhibits as possible. The committee therefore respectfully request that the public will take such an interest in the museum as to insure its success, by contributing articles that would be of interest.

The following suggestions are offered as a guide to what, in the opinion of the committee, would be desirable exhibits:

Ancient books, maps, charts, documents, pictures, paintings, engravings and photographs; mineral and geological specimens Indian implements, arms, pottery, &c.; old china and bric-a-brac; coins, tokens, medals and postage stamps; society badges and emblems; ancient and foreign fire-arms, swords, spears, &c.; natural history subjects, such as stuffed birds, beasts, fish, reptiles, &c.; old music and philosophical instruments.

The above list is only a suggestion of what is desirable, but the Committees will be glad to receive anything which would be of interest to the public. As there is scarcely a house in which there is not something that is looked upon as a curiosity; by depositing it in the Museum, an opportunity is given the public to enjoy it. The committee will be glad to receive articles either as gifts or a loan, and which will at once be registered accordingly and safely deposited, under lock and key, in glass cases, which are provided for the purpose.

The committee is composed as follows: J B McWilliams, Chairman, A L Davis, (Mayor), W H Meldrum, J B Pearse, (Warden), W H Casement, Richard Hall, Chas McGill, H T Strickland, Dr Geo Burnham, T A S Hay, Secretary Treasurer.

All members of the Historical Society will also receive articles for the Museum.

THE DOCTOR'S TALKS

"Headache Powders" Merely Paralyse the Nerves.

Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets are the Only Cure for Headache, Because They Remove the Cause—The Doctor Cures Every Case.

"I always advise my patients and friends to avoid 'Headache Powders,' as they would avoid a quicksand," said one of our well-known physicians to-day. "These powders dull the pain for a time, but when their effect dies out the agony returns. The powders merely paralyze the nerves and so prevent them from feeling the pain. There is only one way to cure headache, and that is to remove its cause. If I run a splinter into my finger, I don't medicine to cure the pain that accompanies the festering, swelling and inflammation resulting from the presence of the splinter. I TAKE THAT SPLINTER OUT. Then the pain vanishes. So with headache. Remove the cause and the pain disappears.

"Nine-tenths of the headaches that torture humanity spring from indigestion. Cure the indigestion and you cure the headaches."

"How would you cure the indigestion, doctor?" asked his friend.

"Very easily. I would simply take one or two of Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets after each meal.

"There is no medicine under the sun that will cure Indigestion, Headache, Dyspepsia, etc., except Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets. They cure by digesting the food and toning and strengthening the stomach.

"I have cured every case of Indigestion and Dyspepsia I have met during seven years past and my cures were all effected by Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets."

Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets are sold by all druggists at 50c. a box, six boxes $2 50, or sent on receipt of price by The Dodds Medicine Co., Limited, Toronto.

TRUE AS GOSPEL.

3 STUNNERS For Bargain Day= THURSDAY.

GOUGH BROS. Store is the focus for all eyes. There is neither slow pace nor dull pace about this business organization. In harmony with the spirit that prevails this store is the embodiment of action. We are always to the front with flying colours—and everybody knows it.

Ever since the opening of our New Clothing Emporium in Toronto, which is admitted to be the largest exclusive Clothing Concern in the country, we have been more than ever confirmed in the view that we are in reality what we have always claimed ourselves to be:—"The Greatest Clothing Providers in Canada."

Being sandwiched in between the biggest Departmental Stores, of Toronto, and the big crowds they draw benefitting us by drawing grist to our mill, we find it an easy matter to Out-class these pretentious concerns.

Why?

Because the claim has been made and repeatedly proven, that Gough Bros. buy and sell Clothing, Hats, Boots, Underwear, Neckwear and Outfittings of every description for men, cheaper than any other merchant in the land. That fact is absolute.

Because such buying power—such close connections with leading manufacturers—such ability to handle large quantities of goods necessary for eight associate stores—furnishes convincing proof of our leadership. That fact is undeniable.

Because our money is made in the advantage we secure in buying big lots. We cut the rich manufacturers' profits down when we get to them with a big Order in one hand and Cash in the other. If one won't take it the other will. That fact is indisputable.

THIS WEEK'S PROGRAMME:

Now comes the climax of Bargain-giving in the choicest of hand-picked goods for our Peterborough Customers.

This week we are ready with a fresh grip on the reins, and start out on our summer campaign with an invincible fleet of Little Prices. Rare price-concessions every day of the week, and a rarer Bargain Day on THURSDAY—forming a programme that will discount and double discount any and every Bargain Day inducement that has yet seen the light of day.

The story is short. A big purchase of Summer Shoes, Suits and Neckwear came into our hands the other day, at prices that are only possible from the advantages obtained by the combined buying power of many stores. And the Ultimatum is this:—

1 TIES — 1200 Ties 4-in-hands, Bows, Ascots, Oxfords, Club Stripes, Plaid Knots, regular 25c fast sellers; but on account of the war scare Canadian cash was worth more than American Ties. WAR CREDITS PASSED

Spanish Government May Now Go to Work in Earnest.

CAPE VERDE FLEET AT CADIZ.

A Far-fetched Theory That It Goes Via Suez Canal to Attack Commodore Dewey at Manila—Spain to Fit Out Blockade Runners—A Brisk Fight Off Cardenas Bay—War News.

Madrid, May 11.—There was a stormy session in the Chamber last evening to debate the war funds. Senor Salmeron, Republican, declared that his party was ready to form a Government. A great uproar followed. The President threatened to expel Salmeron if he continued attacking the throne. Senor Sagasta made a passionate appeal to the patriotism of members to vote the war funds. The appeal was answered with a general affirmative cry.

At midnight the war credits were definitely adopted.

AT HOME AGAIN.

The Spanish Cape Verde Fleet Has Turned Up at Cadiz—Will Now Go After Dewey at Manila.

Washington, D.C., May 11.—It is hard to tell whether the naval officials were relieved or disappointed by the news that came late yesterday to both the Navy and State Departments, to the effect that the Spanish Flying Squadron had arrived at Cadiz, Spain. The safety of the Oregon from attack is now completely assured, and the way is clear for military operations in Cuba without running the risk of having the occupying army's line of communication cut off. On the other hand, it is believed that no enduring peace can be secured until the Spanish navy has been destroyed, and it now appears that to do this United States sailors must make up their minds to go after the Spaniards, a task very much more difficult than that of meeting them near the American shore.

Will They Go After Dewey?

It was suggested by some of the members of the war board that there was just a possibility that the Spanish squadron might make a quick passage into the Pacific, through the Suez Canal, and attack Dewey at Manila. It is said that, contrary to the common understanding, the Suez Canal is open to warships of belligerent powers, so that if the Spanish choose to take this course, they would have a long start of any pursuing fleet from this side of the Atlantic.

Nothing was heard from Admiral Sampson yesterday, but there is a confident expectation that interesting news will be coming from his squadron within the next 24 hours. Whether this means an attack on Porto Rico or not cannot be learned.

One effect of the retreat of the Spanish fleet has been to hasten even more the preparations already under way for the dispatching of military expeditions to Cuba. It has also caused a complete change in the concentration plans.

To Fit Out Blockade Runners.

London, May 11.—The Chambers of Commerce of some of the most important Spanish ports, says a special despatch from Madrid, have decided to provide and fit out several auxiliary cruisers "of from 3,000 to 4,000 tons, and having a speed of 18 to 20 knots, to watch the Spanish coast, venture out to sea and run a blockade if necessary."

A Brisk Fight.

New York, May 11.—A Key West special says: The torpedo boat Winslow engaged three Spanish gunboats off Cardenas Bay on Monday afternoon. She disabled one and came out unscratched. The shooting was brisk on both sides, but no fatalities ensued. After the Spanish boat Pinzon was disabled, the Spaniards withdrew from the assault of the torpedo boat, taking refuge in Cardenas Bay.

BREAD RIOTS IN SPAIN.

They Are Fearful and Are Causing a Much Greater Loss of Life Than the War.

London, May 11.—The Madrid correspondent of the Daily Telegraph says: "Bread riots continue throughout Spain. The painful monotony of the story was broken this morning by lists of victims killed and wounded in the wild attempts to obtain food. In Ciudad Real and in almost every town of the province of that name there were very serious disorders, and the outbreaks were only quelled by the military. Now it appears that the prisons are too small and too few to contain the people arrested.

"Yesterday, at Linares, 14,000 workmen became disorderly and a regular battle ensued with the municipal guards. The rioters possessed themselves of a quantity of firearms. The streets were barricaded, and they remained so down to the moment of telegraphing. Twelve dead bodies and many wounded still lie in the streets and nobody dares to remove any of them on account of the firing, which continues steadily."

Further Violence.

Madrid, May 11.—The bread riots at Alicante, the seaport of Valencia, which began yesterday, were continued all night, the women taking a prominent part in the work of destruction.

A riotous mob paraded the streets, demanding cheaper bread and other necessaries of life. The rioters marched to the factories, where they were joined by the people who were at work. Later, they sacked the octroi bureau and burned the furniture and archives. A strong force of gendarmes was sent to the scene and a charge was made upon the mob, which was temporarily dispersed. But the rioters re-formed and attacked and burned all the bonded warehouses, after possessing themselves of the wheat in storage.

Treasury Paying Out Gold.

Washington, D.C., May 11.—The United States Treasury yesterday began paying out gold over the counter in lieu of currency.

WAR NOTES.

Reports from Shanghai say that Admiral Montejo was killed by the populace of Manila.

It is expected that Major-General Fitzhugh Lee will be the first military Governor of Cuba.

The British steamer Narva was boarded and examined by Spaniards off the coast of Spain on Monday last.

The gunboat Vicksburg captured a Spanish fishing smack, the Tormandito, with a crew of six men.

Mr. Tejada, a member of the Cuban Junta, will reply to Senor de Bose's speech in Toronto on Saturday night. He is a native Cuban, and an orator.

The Bolinao arrived at Porto Rico yesterday with several months' supply of provisions. The Bolinao was convoyed by Spanish warships, but was chased by an American cruiser.

The British tramp steamer Strathdee attempted to run the blockade at Havana Harbor, but was overhauled by the gunboat Machias, and compelled to put about. The Strathdee steamed away in the direction of New York.

The French sloop of war Fulton cleared from Havana Harbor yesterday. She had aboard a number of Spanish and French refuges, and was allowed to proceed by the American blockading squadron.

All the regular troops have been ordered away from Chickamauga and the camping ground is to be occupied by volunteer regiments. Statistics show that 39,354 men have been mustered into the United States volunteer force.

The Spanish steamer Monserrat, which eluded the United States fleet and entered the port of Cienfuegos, Cuba, has now run the blockade and entered Havana Harbor in safety. The Monserrat is said to have a valuable cargo and some troops aboard.

The crew of the German cruiser Oldenburg went ashore at Cadiz and fraternized with the crew of the Spanish battleship Pelayo. The Germans and Spaniards marched arm in arm through the streets, wearing each other's caps. The populace were delighted with the demonstration.

MR. McCARTHY'S CONDITION.

Crisis Anxiously Looked For—Repeated Medical Consultations.

Toronto, May 11.—Tuesday morning, between 2 and 4 o'clock, Mr. D'Alton McCarthy underwent a change for the worse. His temperature rose rapidly, respiration became more accelerated and labored, his pulse weakened, and he relapsed into unconsciousness, from which he did not arouse till 8 o'clock, when he revived, but remained restless and uneasy.

At 6 o'clock a consultation of Doctors Pepler, Grasett and Graham showed that the patient had lost ground and was in a critical condition.

Another consultation was held at 10.30, when it was found that the sick man was somewhat easier.

A third consultation was held at 5 o'clock, when no material change was noticed.

At 11 o'clock last night Dr. Pepler was at the bedside of Mr. McCarthy and said that his patient was somewhat better, but that the morning would show what result might be expected.

The internal injuries Mr. McCarthy has sustained have proven more serious than at first anticipated, and, while a fatal termination would sorely shock, it would not be unexpected by his friends.

The Passes Are Blocked.

Vancouver, May 11.—A private letter received from Skaguay yesterday states that on arrival at that place all passengers intending to go over the White Pass or Chilkoot Pass found themselves completely unable to make any arrangements with packers for taking their outfits, as both trails beyond the summit are impassable owing to the warm weather. It is utterly impossible to get any freight through to Lake Bennett. In consequence of this deplorable state of affairs, a number are turning back to Wrangel to go up the Stikine, navigation on which is now open.

FAST ATLANTIC LINE.

Supplemental Contract Brought Down in the House.

IMPERIAL SUBSIDY GRANTED.

The Vessels Must Be Suitable for Cruisers and Are to Be Built According to Plans Approved by the Admiralty—Sir Richard Cartwright's Explanations—The Franchise Bill.

Ottawa, May 11.—Sir Richard Cartwright made an important explanation in the House yesterday after moving a resolution to confirm the supplemental contract entered into between the Government and Messrs. Petersen, Tate & Co. for a fast Atlantic mail service. The Imperial Government grants £51,000 for mail service, and an additional subsidy for steamers built suitable for cruisers in time of war, as these are to be. Sir Richard said that in the original contract it was provided if delays occurred owing to a strike the contract might be extended. The engineers' strike had made it impossible to construct the vessels in time. Several sections in the contract had been changed. The sailing day from Britain would be Wednesday, and from Canada on Saturday. The vessels would be longer and better than those originally contracted for. The line had to be in operation by May 1, 1900. He understood a good company had been formed under the presidency of Lord Tweedmouth. The British Government had approved of the changes in the contract.

Sir Charles Tupper said the Government had not acted in the interests of Canada by rejecting the advice he gave them in 1896, when he urged them to sign the contract with the Allans. Last year it was paraded before the House and the country that a large saving would be effected by this contract with Petersen, Tate & Co., as compared with the one with the Allans. But, despite all that had been said then, the effort of the contractors to obtain capital had signally failed.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier said that, considering everything, satisfactory progress had been made. He ridiculed the idea of the Allans being in a position to carry out their contract. The firm wanted the Canadian Government to be bound by a hard and fast bargain, but would not bind themselves. Mr. Petersen had been as successful in making his arrangements as might be fairly expected of him. In this matter the Government were not altogether free agents, but had to act in conjunction with the home Government.

Mr. Dobell said that Messrs. Petersen, Tate & Co. had to undergo great difficulties making their arrangements. They were a practical, honorable and responsible set of men.

Dr. Sproule asked if the vessels were to be available for war purposes.

Sir Richard Cartwright said the subvention was given by the Imperial Government on the understanding that the vessels could be used as cruisers, and for this purpose they had to be built according to plans approved by the Admiralty. He understood the Admiralty gave a special additional subvention to vessels so built, wholly apart from the £51,000 received from the British Government for mail service.

Mr. Clarke asked whether the Government had reached any conclusion in regard to stationing of the Royal Canadian Leinster Regiment in Toronto.

Dr. Borden said no decision has yet been come to.

Quite a lengthy discussion took place as the result of an interpellation by Sir Charles Tupper as to when the writ for Bagot would be issued.

The Premier stated that the delay was due to the fact that Mr. Speaker had not been notified of Mr. Dupont's death until April 20 and the lists for Bagot had not been revised for nearly four years. If the election took place on the present lists practically 25 per cent. of the population would be disfranchised.

In committee on the Franchise bill, the Solicitor-General moved an amendment to the effect that within 10 days of the final review of the voters' list a copy thereof shall be sent to the Clerk of the Crown in Chancery, whose duty it shall be to send it to the Queen's printer to be printed, and such printed list shall be the authorized copy of the list. This shall be done each year after the revision, copies to be furnished at the rate of 10 cents per copy.

The Solicitor-General further explained that the list would not be printed every year, but the galleys would be kept standing in the Printing Bureau and revised each year, so that they can be printed any time they are required. The bill was then reported with its amendments, and now stands for a third reading.

The House then went into Committee of Supply.

The remainder of the sitting was spent in discussing the item of $95,000 for salaries of fishing officers.

The committee rose after passing the item and the House adjourned at midnight.

COREA IS INDEPENDENT.

Russia and Japan Reach a Satisfactory Agreement About the Kingdom.

Tokio, May 11.—It is announced in the Government Gazette yesterday that the Russian and Japanese Government have agreed upon a modus vivendi regarding Corea. On April 25 the representatives of the two Governments at Tokio signed a protocol, in which Russia and Japan definitely recognize the sovereignty and entire independence of Corea, and naturally engage to refrain from all direct interference in the internal affairs of that country. They also mutually engage, in case Corea should apply to either of them for assistance or advice, not to take any measures in the nomination of military instructors or financial advisers without having previously come to a mutual agreement in the matter. The Russian Government promises not to impede the development of commercial and industrial relations between Japan and Corea.

IS IT A WISE MOVE?

The Dominion Minister of Agriculture, Hon. Mr. Fisher, has introdueed a bill for the establishment of illustrative stations for farmers, that is, it is intended to have in every county a plot of from ten to twenty acres of land set aside, to be worked by the owner in conformity with instructions from the Department, each plot so worked being designed to serve as an object lesson to the farmers in the neighbourhood. They will be able to compare their sometimes faulty methods with the methods dictated by sound judgment and expert knowledge and, it is expected, will profit accordingly.

Mr. Fisher deserves the greatest possible credit for the practical and beneficial interest he has taken in schemes for the promotion of the interests of Agriculture in all its branches, but it seems to us that in this latest proposal the wisdom of his course is subject to some question. As to the scheme itself there is only commendation, and the spirit that prompts it is equally creditable, but under the circumstances it may be submitted that it is to a certain extent, a waste of energy and represents an expenditure of money that could, with greater profit to the interests concerned, be expended in another direction.

The constitutional jurisdiction of the Dominion and Provincial Governments, respectively, is pretty sharply defined and in practice, if not by express provision, the functions of the respective Governments should (as they are practically) be equally distinct. It seems to be a rational view to take, judging from past and existing conditions, that the provinces should, generally speaking, extend the assistance and afford the facilities that will result in the improvement of the crop of the farmer, whether it comes directly from the soil or indirectly through the dairy herd or other sources. It is the duty of the Dominion Government to assist in getting such produce to the best market, to provide the best possible facilities of every description looking to this end. In a word, speaking of government assistance to the farming interest, it is the duty of the provinces to help produce a good crop, and the duty of the Dominion to find a good market.

The Dominion Government has made and is making great and successful efforts in the matter of providing market facilities. A cold storage system has been established and the problem of providing rapid and cheap transit is practically engaging their attention. It is self evident that the most bountiful crops, the most excellent of dairy produce, will lose a large proportion of their value in default of means of prompt and easy access, such as will insure their reaching the British market, which is our main dependence, quickly and in the best of condition. Rapid and cheap transportation transit is the problem that is to be solved and it would seem to be wise for the Dominion Government to bend all its efforts to its solution, leaving the provinces to extend the assistance in the way of experimental or other work, with a view to increasing the productiveness of the soil and improving the quality of the produce of our dairy herds. The Dominion has done its duty very fully in the matter of providing instruction and if all the provinces had done their duty as fully as Ontario has done, the central Government would be left free to devote its entire attention to the matter of providing markets, a matter with which the provinces have no power to deal. In the efforts to improve our agricultural interests there need be no over-lapping of energy and expenditure. Let the provinces devote their whole attention and expenditure to the matter of production, and the Dominion Government be left free to devote as it should do, its undivided attention to the business of providing a market and rapid and efficient transportation, such as will ensure produce of all kinds reaching the British market in the best possible condition.

THE DECLINE OF THE ROD.

Inspector James L. Hughes delivered an interesting and instructive address before the Public School teachers of Toronto in the Y. W. C. G. Hall Saturday afternoon on the subject of "Old and New Methods of Training Children." The main object of his lecture was to show the decline of the old system of whipping children into submission. He declared that coercion weakens character, and prevents the development of individuality. The old idea was to make the training for citizenship a passive submission, while the aim of to-day is to make it active co operation. Mr. Hughes instanced several countries and many cities where corporal punishment has been absolutely prohibited. Twenty-five years ago in Toronto, he said, the pupils were whipped for lateness, and in 1874, with 5,000 pupils, 700 were punished for being late, while in 1897 out of 28,000 pupils only 7,000 were late. Mr. Hughes traced in an interesting manner the overthrow of the practice of the rod, contrasting the methods of to-day with those which obtained only fifty years ago. At the conclusion he was presented by Mr. G. K. Powell, ex-President of the Toronto Teacher's Association, on behalf of the teachers, with a handsome easy chair and a travelling case, in recognition of his kindness in delivering a course of lectures on Dickens.

THE ANTISEPTIC PROPERTIES OF FOG.

It is pleasing to observe that the Geological survey have discovered an advantage in the London fog. As consolation for the annoyance and inconvenience caused by this ogre of London life, it quotes an opinion that the sulphurous vapours derived from burning coal which constitute a most active factor in fog production, are not an unmitigated evil. In support of this statement, they point out that during a fog the air is still and stagnant, and there is no current to clear away injurious germs in the air. But for the powerful antiseptic properties of the sulphurous constituent of the fog these germs would be more noxious than they are. Thus from evil there arises good, but it is a question whether the antiseptic properties of the fog are sufficient compensation for its bad effects in other directions.—British and Colonial Druggist.

THE POWER OF MUSIC.

Miss Geraldine Liddell, an accomplished musician, has succeeded by the means of her exquisite melodies in soothing Mr. Gladstone's neuralgia. Good music certainly has a wonderful influence and as a remedial agent might be utilized to a greater extent.

Whether its success in the case of such a distinguished man as Mr. Gladstone will popularize it into the organization of Therapeutic Singing Clubs, or suggest the addition of vocal culture to the curriculum of training schools for nurses, remains to be seen.

That a practice with scant scientific merit can become a fad of universal acceptance if it be endorsed by those in high places, would give promise of success in an effort for a general use of music as an auxiliary in the treatment of disease.

TELEGRAPHIC BRIEFS.

Rev. Father Geoghegan of Hamilton has gone on a visit to relatives in Ireland. He will be away about two months.

As Bishop DuMoulin approves, St. Thomas' Church, Hamilton, will have Rev. Canon Dann of London for its rector if he accepts the call.

Dr. Stirling and Mr. A. Bertram, Dundas, and Mr. C. A. Cabbold of England left Hamilton yesterday for Vancouver. Mr. Cobbold is going, he says, to the Klondike to make gold in an easier way than washing out claims. He has a compound for thawing out the ground that he considers a money-maker.

Conventions to discuss the prohibition plebiscite have been called as follows: Peel, May 14, at Brampton; Dufferin, May 16, at Shelburne; North Grey, May 18, at Owen Sound; North Bruce, May 19, at Chesley; West Bruce, May 20, at Kincardine; South Grey, May 23, at Durham, and East Bruce, June 13, at Walkerton.

Woodstock, May 9—(Special)—This city is deeply agitated, with joyful excitement, because another popular resident has estaped from the fatal grip of Kidney disease by the aid of Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Everyone knows Mr. H. A. Willis, the genial proprietor of the "Buckingham" hotel. He tells his story thus: "For two years past I have suffered intensely from Lame Back and Kidney Disease. Nothing I ever used helped me.

"My sufferings grew worse daily. I heard so much of Dodd's Kidney Pills that I decided to try them. I got relief from the first box. Three boxes cured me entirely."

LASSWADE.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

We are having beautiful weather, but very frosty nights.

There are a number of people on the sick list just now with a bad cold. Mr. and Mrs. Youman have been ill for some weeks, but are on the mend.

The school house of S. S. No. 13 took fire Monday morning. There was no one present but Mr. L. Washburn and Mr. McLean and it was with great difficulty they got the fire out. It was caused by the stovepipes and burned a large hole in the roof. The fire also dropped through the ceiling on the floor. It is too bad, as Mr. McGinn brought the seats for the school house from Peterborough in the afternoon of the same day and wire for the fence around the yard. At it was Arbour Day there was a lot of people gathered who did a good job cleaning up the yard. Mr. McLean is putting forth his best efforts to make the yard and school house a credit to the place.

Mr. McArthur had a plowing bee last Wednesday. He got a good job done.

Mr. John McGuire intends moving to Lakefield next Tuesday. We are sorry to see old neighbours going away from us. Mr. John McFadden expects to move on Mr. McGuire's place for the summer.

There are lots of sucker fishers those days. Some go with teams and come back without a fish. Some others have good luck. Bert Carroll went to Oak Lake fishing on Wednesday. His party reports eight hundred of a catch.

We have Sunday school at our school house every Sunday afternoon at three o'clock. Mr. J. W. McLean is superintendent. The people turn out well. There were 40 attendents the first Sunday. We have a good library.

Mr. R. Dingman is talking of moving to Burleigh.

We are informed of a bicycle race to Apsley the 24th. Those taking part in the contest are J. Welsh, A. Reynolds and J. W. McLean.

We are sorry to hear of Mrs. Wm. Bullied having the misfortune of making a mis-step on the stairs as she was descending and strained her foot so she is confined to the house for the past week. We hope to soon see her around again.

They are fortunate in securing the service of a good teacher at the Foster school house, in the person of Miss Staple. She is a very sociable young lady, and we wish her every success.

The people are getting along nicely with their spring work around here.

Are you BOTHERED with BOILS?

They make you feel mean and miserable, are pretty painful sometimes, and, worst of all, when one disappears another seems ready to take its place.

Boils are simply the outcropping of Impure Blood. When the blood is purified, enriched, vitalized by Burdock Blood Bitters the boils quickly disappear and your health and strength come back again.

Mr. Oliver J. Murray, Charlottetown, P.E.I., says:—

Burdock Blood Bitters

"I write in praise of Burdock Blood Bitters. About six months ago I was troubled with painful Boils and got one bottle of B.B.B. which completely cured me. I am now in good health, in fact, better than ever in my life."

FIRST CROP BULLETIN OF 1898.

The Fall Wheat Area Increased—Favorable Prospects for Clover Various Opinions on Vegetation Satisfactory Character of the Live Stock Reports—A Surplus of Hay - Other Farm Crops.

Toronto, May 11.—The following is the first estimate of the crops of Ontario for 1898, made by the Ontario Department of Agriculture, based on the reports of the regular correspondents of the Bureau of Industries. The returns are for the first week of May:

Fall Wheat.

November reports were to the effect that the area of fall wheat had been increased. In most cases the crop came out in the spring in about the same condition as it entered the winter. Little harm appears to have been done by insects, wire worm being reported in a few cases. The first two weeks of April were far from favorable for the crop, and although rains later helped the plant it is hardly in as forward a condition as usual. Where sown early on summer fallow fall wheat has never been more promising. In several of the western and central counties some plowing up has been done, but not to any considerable extent. The present acreage of the crop, therefore, may be set down as quite up to the average, and the average condition in the first week of May as fair. The outcome of the crop, of course, depends upon the weather of the next six weeks.

Clover.

The prospects for clover, as correspondents wrote, were most favorable. Some heaving by frost—occurring chiefly in the early part of April—is reported in nearly every district, but not to so great an extent as to be considered serious; while, on the other hand, many reports describe clover as looking splendid, especially in the case of new fields. Reports from the St. Lawrence and Ottawa counties are particularly good. Alsike did not stand the winter as well as red clover.

Vegetation.

Correspondents differ greatly in their opinions as to the condition of vegetation, some considering growth as being well advanced for the time of year, and fully as many others regarding the season as being rather backward. In most sections there was a fair bite for cattle at the beginning of May, and early fruit trees were coming nicely into bloom. In the eastern part of the province the season was relatively more advanced than in the west.

Live Stock.

The majority of the reports concerning live stock are of a most satisfactory character. Horses as a rule are in fine condition. Cattle are also reported to be in good health, but lumpy jaw was reported in one or two places, but not to a serious extent. Sheep came through the winter in capital shape, and lambs are many and strong. A few cases of hog cholera occurred in some western sections, but the disease was quickly stamped out. With this exception swine are described as being in fine condition. Hogs are now chiefly sold when weighing from 120 to 180 pounds. The supply of fodder was plentiful, and there is an abundance of straw.

Farm Supplies.

There appears to be a surplus of hay in nearly every section of the province, but more especially in the west. Much of the crop is not of good quality, although, of course, there is a fair amount of first-class hay yet to be had. Owing to the large quantity available for sale, prices were low all winter. Reports regarding oats vary, for while many claim that there is a scarcity, others hold that there is still a good supply left. Oats were fed more freely than usual during the winter, and during the last few months a large quantity was marketed, consequently there was hardly as much as usual in the hands of farmers at the beginning of May. Dollar wheat created an active market, and during the last month an immense quantity has changed hands. It looks as if nearly all the crop has been disposed of in some quarters, although farmers are occasionally spoken of as having from 50 to a few hundred bushels of wheat ready for a further rise in price. Store cattle are said to be scarcer than usual, but in some places "equal to the demand." Complaints are made of the low price of beef, especially when offered for fat animals, and many of this class of animals are being kept for a better figures in some of the western counties, and consequently there are rather more in the hands of farmers than are desired, but in the eastern counties fat cattle are scarce.

MAY WHEAT $1.85.

Chicago Fluctuates All of 19 Points in One Day—Further Advance in Europe The Quotations.

Tuesday Evening, May 10.

Wild fluctuations, a net decline for the session of 6¼c per bushel in the July option, and an advance of 10c per bushel in the price of May, were the features of to-day's wheat markets. The reaction in July was expected by many in view of Monday's abnormally rapid advance in that future. It opened at $1.17, 3c below the previous close, sold up to $1.25½, hovered between $1.20 and $1.24 for an hour or two, dropped to $1.06 and finally closed at $1.14. Liverpool's failure to fully follow Chicago's advance of Monday was the cause of the opening weakness, and the succeeding fluctuations were due to excited speculation, very little large trading being done. May wheat closed at $1.85, while the September and December options fell 3½c and 1⅜c respectively.

At Liverpool spot wheat closed 3d higher for the day, May 1¾d higher and July 3d higher.

Paris closed with 50 to 70 centimes of a gain in wheat, and Antwerp half a franc higher.

Wheat on curb at Chicago $1.12.

The world's visible supply of wheat has within the week decreased 5,913,000 bushels, that of corn has decreased 2,142,000 bushels, that of oats 1,657,000 bushels.

East Buffalo Live Stock.

East Buffalo, May 10.—Cattle—The market closed up very dull and all of 20 to 25c weaker for nearly all grades of handy and good sale cattle on Monday afternoon, and the trade was a decidedly unsatisfactory one to the selling interest. English Electioneering.

In an article on "English and American Electioneering," Sydney Brooks, in The Chautauquan, says: "Day after day you will see ladies of refinement and social position sitting from 10 to 4 in the midst of the bustling disorder, addressing wrappers, mailing circulars, doing the clerical work of the campaign. Sometimes they sally forth with canvassing cards to beard the intelligent electorate in its den. Each registered voter whose name appears upon their card is called upon, is crossed examined, is argued with, is often persuaded, this, too, in districts whose inhabitants do not always conduct arguments by word of mouth alone. To a Conservative this fair canvasser will dilate on the virtues of Lord Rosebery and leave him with a batch of Radical leaflets, promising to call again. A confirmed Liberal she will greet with holy joy, ask after his wife and children and decorate his parlor window with a portrait of their beloved candidate.

"The wretched being who has not made up his mind how to vote can have no peace till he has given her a decisive answer. She will visit him, plead with him, harangue him, appeal to him, till the poor fellow has to yield to get rid of her and back to his work. In the evenings she will sit on the platform by her candidate's side, perhaps make a little speech, and on election day she will send her horses and carriages to drive honest Bill from his factory or workshop to the polling place and back. I have yet to meet political workers who equal English women in enthusiasm, persistence and individual effectiveness."

More Than Laconic.

"Henrietta," said Mr. Meekton, "you know you said almost two hours ago you were going to tell me just how much you thought the average man amounted to."

She turned upon him a look of silent inquiry.

"You have said absolutely nothing since then."

"Well," she answered, "that's what I think he amounts to."—Washington Star.

Mummies Made to Order.

Petrified human remains are made to order, they say, at Crookston, Mo. Phœnie Finn, a colored woman of the place, serves as the model from which plaster casts are made for fraudulent museum exhibits, and she has earned a comfortable living in this way for many years. The average price of a petrified human body made of plaster of paris and clay and so skillfully treated as to appear to be genuine is $100. —New York Tribune.

MRS. GEO. ADAMS, UXBRIDGE, ONT

Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills Cured Her of Fainting Spells, Partial Paralysis and Heart Trouble After the Doctors Had Given Her Up to Die.

The beginning of this year very few people in Uxbridge, Ont., thought Mrs. Geo. Adams, a well known and highly respected lady of that town, would be alive to see the incoming of spring.

She was so weak and wasted, her appetite was gone, there were dark circles under her eyes, her heart was bad, those terrible faint spells and smothering sensations came over her so frequently that it seemed to be only a matter of time till she would pass to the great majority.

More than that, there were times when she became partially paralyzed, and the doctors who were in attendance had given up all expectation of her recovery. At this time a friend in Toronto, hearing of Mrs. Adams' serious condition, advised the use of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills. It was the last ray of hope and Mrs. Adams concluded to try the remedy.

On February 3rd she got the first box, and started taking them. That was a Thursday, Friday night the first good effects of the medicine were made evident in Mrs. Adams getting sound, refreshing sleep, the first good night's rest she had had in months.

From that time on every day found her improving in health and getting stronger. The terrible pains that used to shoot through her head and arms disappeared, the spells of numbness and partial paralysis that came over her at times bothered her no more. Soon she was able to resume her household duties, and in addition bake her own bread, a thing she had not attempted for the past two years.

To-day Mrs. Adams is thankful to Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills for sparing her life to her children and husband, and under date of April 4th, 1898, wrote as follows:

"I had given up all hope of recovering, and frequently thought I could not live through the day.

"Fainting spells, numbness and partial paralysis came upon me very often, sometimes seven spells in half a day. I was in this helpless and hopeless condition when a friend advised me to try Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills, which I secured at Mr. Nicholls' drug store. I had not taken them long, when I noticed a great change for the better, and before I had used half a box I was up doing my own housework.

"By the time the first box was completed I was able to walk down town and back quite easily, a distance of half a mile each way.

"I cannot speak too highly of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills, as they saved my life and restored my health."

ELIZABETH ADAMS.

T. C. Nicholls, B. A., the popular druggist and stationer of Uxbridge, who sold Mrs. Adams the pills, is ready to vouch for the truthfulness of the above statement.

This case of Mrs. Adams is only one of the thousands that Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills are curing all over Canada. Anyone afflicted with weak, palpitating, throbbing heart, nervousness, sleeplessness, faint and dizzy spells, pale, sallow complexion, thin, watery blood, dyspepsia, weakness, loss of flesh, spinal disease, St. Vitus' Dance, etc., will find Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills the remedy indicated.

For women they are specially beneficial, imparting a rosy colour to the pallid cheek and giving relief from pain and weakness. Growing girls and nursing mothers have heavy drains on their systems, and will find in Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills the very elements that are needed to keep up their health and strength.

Milburn's Heart and and Nerve Pills are sold by all druggists, or sent by mail on receipt of price, 50c a box, or 3 boxes for $1 25. T. Milburn & Co., Toronto, Ont.

Opera House To-night.

Read what the Belleville Intelligencer says of to-night's attractions: A small but select audience attended the concert given by Miss Nellie Robinson, Mr. Wilkes Stewart, Mr. J. N. Doyle and Mr. Walter Miles in the opera house last evening. The programme was opened by Mr. Walter Mills' piano solo "Au Rovet," which was well received. Miss Robinson and Mr. Steward followed in a comedietta entitled "Breaking the Ice," which was a very bright little piece overflowing with sparkling repartee and amusing situations. Both characters were ably portrayed. Mr. J. N. Doyle appeared three times and received a merited encore for each number to which he gracefully responded. Mr. Steward gave the dream scene from Richard III in fine style. He was full of dramatic action, and his enunciation and expression were good. Miss Robinson gave two recitations that evidently pleased the audience from the prolonged applause that followed." Prices are 15, 25 and 35c. Seats now on sale at usual places.

Come out early, Thursday morning, for those "three Stunners" at Gough Bros. Women especially should do their shopping in the morning. Fix your faith to these almost incredible offerings—they are "True as Gospel." Gough Bros. will do exactly as they have advertised.

A CUBAN COUP STILL THE CARD

The Capture of Cuba Regarded as a Picnic Party Contract.

SPANISH SPIES ARE SUSPECTED OF POISONING.

Alleged Dastardly Attempt to Arsenicate American Soldiers.

IS THERE A SPANISH FLEET AT ALL, AT ALL?

Spanish Relief Expedition Will Sail for the Philippines—Murder and Anarchy Still Rampant in the Philippines—War Movement Futures—Cuba May be Attacked Within 48 Hours—At Any Rate Not Later Than Next Tuesday.

Special 3 p.m. dispatch to the Examiner.

Cuba to be Invaded Next Tuesday.

New York May 11.—Special to the World from Washington says:—After a conference of the Naval Board it was decided that Rear Admiral Sampson should not attempt to seize Porto Rico but should return to Key West and begin operations at once against Havana. Sampson will reach a point off San Juan, the capital of Porto Rico Wednesday afternoon. All of the ships of the squadron will be gathered together, and will sail for American waters, arriving off Key West about Monday. The invasion of Cuba will have begun in earnest next Tuesday. Rear Admiral Sampson will attack Havana about the middle of next week. The land forces will attack Havana at same time.

Force to Relieve the Philippines.

World's special from Cadiz says:—A relief expedition composed of good regular soldiers and two battalions of marines is being organized to send to the Philippines. General Augusti has been instructed to hold out as long as possible.

Regarded as a Bluff.

New York, May 11—A special to the World from London says: Spain's reported project of sending a relief expedition to the Philippines is treated by military authorities and naval experts here as a mere bluff.

Dastardly Attempt to Poison American Soldiers.

Atlanta, Ga., May 11.—A Mobile, Ala., special says: A second dastardly attempt to poison the infantry regiments at Camp Mobile has been made. Cotton, saturated with arsenic, was placed in their drinking water. By accident a trooper discovered the deadly trap. Spanish spies are known to be lurking in the neighbourhood. Poison bags were used in both instances.

Where is that Spanish Fleet?

London, May 11.—Globe's despatch from Cadiz says: Lieut. Col. Weil, the naval attache of the U. S. Embassy, said to-day that he was by no means convinced that the Spanish Cape Verde squadron is really at Cadiz.

Still Murdering at Manilla.

New York, May 11.—A Hong Kong despatch to Evening World says:—Killing still goes on in outlying districts of Philippines despite the proclamation of Aquinaldo. Wealthy Philippine families are leaving Hong Kong daily for Manilla, applying to U. S. consul to be allowed to take oath of allegiance to U.S.

Active Movement Against Cuba at Once.

Key West, May 11—An active movement against Cuba may occur within forty-eight hours, should the report that the Spanish fleet has returned to Spain prove correct. Naval officers here believe the defences at any time, except Havana, could be reduced by the ships in half an hour.

A dollar never counted for more than it will to-morrow at Gough Bros. Look at their windows and read their big advt. in to-day's Examiner.

REMANDED UNTIL MONDAY.

An Interesting Case Which Will be Ventilated in the Police Court Next Week.

Messrs. Stanley, John and Bert Headren of Norwood, were in the Police Court this morning charged with obstructing Constable Iles, of that village, in the discharge of his duty. They were remanded until Monday.

The charges against them rose out of the fact that when Constable Iles went to their father's blacksmith shop to arrest another brother, William, the three brothers and the father interfered, and although the constable had his man handcuffed, it is alleged that he was forced to release him. Chief Rossel was asked to come down, and by the time of his arrival in Norwood William had been prevailed upon to give himself up and he came to Peterborough quietly enough. He was wanted on an old charge of stealing goods from the store of John Cameron in August, 1893, and on appearing before the magistrate was remanded until Monday, together with his father, who is also charged with obstructing the constable in the discharge of his duties.

FAREWELL PRESENTATION.

Mr. and Mrs. Henderson are Leaving to Take up Residence in Manitoba.

On Monday evening, at the close of the meeting of Mark street E.L. of C.E., a farewell address and presentation was made to Mr. and Mrs. S. Henderson, who are leaving to take up their residence at Trehern, Manitoba. As both have been active workers in the various organizations connected with the Mark street church, their fellow-workers could not let them depart without some expression of their feelings toward them.

The address, which is given below, was read by Mr. M. W. Matchett, and the presentation of a beautiful piece of silverware was made by Miss Emma F. Smith. The address was as follows:—

Mark Street, Ashburnham, May 9, 1898.

To Mr. and Mrs. S. Henderson:

DEAR FRIENDS,—As you are soon to take your departure from our midst, we felt that we could not let the opportunity pass without expressing to you the deep regret we feel in parting with you, both as fellow Christian workers and as friends.

Your cheerful readiness to assist in the various departments of Christian work here has furnished an example worthy of imitation by each and all of us. We assure you it will not soon be forgotten by us, and it will also be remembered by Him who has said: "Inasmuch as ye did it unto one of the least of these, ye did it unto Me."

Our prayer is that you, with all of us, may continue in the service of Him who will at last reward us, and in future,

"Though sundered far, by faith we'll meet Around one common mercy seat."

As a slight indication of the high esteem in which each of you is held by us we ask you to accept this token of our good will toward you, and our good wishes for the future happiness and prosperity of yourselves and your little daughter.

Signed on behalf of your many friends at Mark street, Ashburnham,

J E MOORE, Pastor.
NELLIE MOORE, Pres L A S.

Mr. George N. Morang has in the press, and will publish in a few days, Hon. J. D. Edgar's interesting work on Ottawa, under the designation of "Canada and its Capital." It is understood that the author has made good use of his special facilities for getting data for such a work, and as a result has produced a most readable and comprehensive description of the picturesque, social, political and governmental aspects of Ottawa life. Not the least interesting part of the book will be Mr. Edgar's characterizations of contemporary Canadian statesmen. His book concludes with a forecast of the future of Canada. The work will be finely illustrated.

Hints for Housewives

REGARDING TEA

Buy a tea of good quality and strength; you will find it more economical in the end than the so called "cheap teas." If it costs more per pound it will make more and better cups of tea.

Ram Lal's is one third stronger than China, Japan or Ceylon Tea selling at the same price and less of it is required.

HIGH COURT OF JUSTICE.

The Case of Knox vs. McNeilly has Been Referred to the Master.

The case of Knox vs. McNeilly was finished this morning. In this case the plaintiff, John Knox, is a farmer residing in Asphodel and the defendant, who is the wife of Robert McNeilly and widow of the late Thos. Scott, lives in the same township.

The plaintiff, who is sole surviving executor of the will of the late Thos. Scott, asks that the estate now be divided up amongst his children, the youngest of whom is now of age and claims that Mrs. McNeilly refuses to give an account of her trusteeship, which he desires the court to compel.

The defendant states that she has already divided the estate.

The matter has been referred to the Master in Chancery.

BIG ADVANCE IN WHEAT.

THE LOCAL PRICE HAS ADVANCED TO $1.15.

In Chicago the Figure Went as High as a Dollar Seventy Five—General Shortage in Wheat.

On the local market to-day the bidding on wheat was brisk and advanced at about two o'clock to $1.15 per bushel. In Chicago $1 75 was offered yesterday for May wheat.

The extraordinary advance which has taken place in the price during the last few weeks does not create much general surprise, only because it is ascribed without much thought by most people to the Spanish American war. As a matter of fact the war is only a secondary cause, or at most one of two causes. The world's stocks of wheat are lower than they have been for years. That is the foundation of the advance, and owing to the recent poor croops reaped in the producing countries other than those of North America, that is to say, in the Argentine Republic, Australasia, India and Russia, the reduction is so great that the stocks will not be quickly or easily restored to their former magnitude, and until they are the world will not feel safe. The war has deepened this feeling of the unsafety of the low stock of breadstuffs principally because hitherto wars, and especially those in which exporting countries are engaged, resulted in lessening the production and in enhancing the cost of transportation, but it may be doubted whether the present war will produce these effects, as it will be confined to the sea, or, so far as land fighting is concerned, will be done largely by the natives of the island in dispute, and will not greatly hinder production in the United States, which will be rather stimulated by the prospect of high prices. The more recent and more violent advances are for the most part speculative. There can be no doubt that the high prices will greatly stimulate the already rapidly increasing immigration to Canada's unoccupied, fertile lands.

Thursday, the Great Day.

THE RESULTS OF CHILDREN'S AID WORK

Comprehensive Address by Mr. J. J. Kelso.

LESSERS PROVINCIAL EXPENDITURE.

The Speaker of the Evening Explains That Whilst the New System Benefits the Children it Also Relieves the State of a Source of Considerable Expense.

The disagreeable weather last evening prevented many from attending the meeting held in the opera house in the interests of the Children's Aid Society, but nevertheless a fair sized audience was present and evinced great interest in the proceedings.

Mr. J. J. McBain, President of the local branch of the C. A. S, occupied the chair, and introduced the speaker of the evening, Mr. J. J. Kelso, of Toronto, Superintendent of Neglected and Dependent Children.

Mr. Kelso opened his address by relating an incident whereby he became interested in neglected children and which illustrated the need of an organization to take charge of those placed in the same position. It seems that one night in Toronto a crowd collected around two little one who were crying most bitterly and who, on being interrogated, stated that they were on account of not being able to beg a sufficient sum of money to placate their parents by furnishing the means for them to procure liquor. The children were placed in the Salvation Army Shelter for the night, but had to be returned to their parents the next day. Becoming interested in the children, he watched their career, and was grieved to see that the evil influences with which they were surrounded were sufficient to force them to follow the downward path so rapidly as to land the boy in the Reformatory and the girl in the Mercer in a very short space of time.

The responsibility does not rest, said he, with the children, but with those who are responsible for them, and our duty is to see that parents who are neglecting their children are brought to task, and the little ones given an opportunity to get some proper training for the battle of life. If this opportunity is not given the children, they are apt to become a burden to themselves and to the community. We frequently hear of them going to the Reformatory. Here they become a charge on the community, and considerable expense is involved in looking after them. Then the reformatories do not benefit them in all instances. By the time they are sent to some such place their characters are generally formed, and it is too late for reformation. In Ontario we are spending about $250,000 annually and there had been no machinery provided for cutting off the supply of children which were constantly being sent to the reformatories. The law had been directed to the prosecution, rather than the protection, of children.

All this is now changed under the new system, and every neglected child which comes under the notice of the society is placed in a position to be brought up with moral surroundings.

The proper place to bring such a child is in a private family, instead of sending it to a public institution. This method would be cheaper and the child would receive far greater benefit. The trouble in the institutions is that where a number of children are massed together the evil minded ones corrupt the others. The machine like system is also in operation whereby a child loses its individuality. A child needs affection more than anything else, and this it cannot possibly receive where hundreds of children

ARE MASSED TOGETHER.

There are homes all over where these boys and girls are needed, and where affection and love will encourage them to grow up to be an honour to the community. A child taken in this manner and placed in a private family does not cost the public a dollar, whereas under the old system an expense of from fifty to seventy-five dollars a year until they are discharged.

This new law gives the power to remove children from bad homes and place them in others where they will be surrounded by good influences. Under our children's system we find that most of the homes to which they are removed are good ones and we have very seldom to remove them. They are always under our eye.

The families take a great deal of care of them when it is known what an interest the province takes in them. The Ontario Government has a lady official who does nothing else but visit the children, and her visits are always looked forward to by the families who have them in charge.

Is not work on behalf of the boys and girls, who are to be a most important matter? The Ontario Government thinks so, and passed this law under which the Peterborough Children's Aid Society operates. It has more power given it than any other organization in Canada to-day. Their officers can go into homes without a warrant and remove children whom they think are neglected.

The present annual expenditure of the Ontario Government is about $3 500,000, Of this nearly one million is expended in the care of dependent classes. The Ontario Government spends more money and is more liberal in the care of the dependent classes than any government known. The money is spent in the maintenance of institutions for the blind, deaf and dumb, the care of orphaned children, etc.

IN ADDITION TO THIS

the Government spends another million dollars in the education of the children and an additional half million in the Administration of Justice. With all this expenditure it was thought impossible to make extensive grants to carry on the new Children's Aid work, and if Government aid was granted it would leave little for the Christian workers to do, so on them, with the assistance of the town and county councils, the burden falls of maintaining the Children's Aid work.

If the boys and girls are neglected, the burden falls on you. Every bad boy and girl in Peterborough is going to be a menace to your own children attending the Public Schools. If these boys and girls are allowed to grow up in the slums, it means the filling of the gaols and the reformatories, and the entailing of greatly additional expense to the general public.

The new system has already greatly lessened the expense of caring for children, as instead of sending them to reformatories or orphan asylums, they are placed in temporary shelters for a few days until they can to homes. Only from two to six are kept at a time, and then only for a short period. Through this system the number of inmates in the large Reformatory has been reduced from 200 down to 120. At the Industrial School there are only 100 boys, where there were formerly 220. In the five institutions of this nature in the province there were now only about 300 children.

Through the instrumentality of the Children's Aid Society throughout the province we have now 640 children placed in good homes.

In conclusion Mr. Kelso spoke most encouragingly of the work as progressing in Peterborough. He bestowed great praise on the board of officers, which he stated was most efficient, and one of which the town should be proud. The cost of the work should be most cheerfully borne, he thought, and grants made by the local Sunday schools, fraternal societies, etc., not hard to obtain.

The latter portion of Mr. Kelso's address was illustrated by stereopticon views, with the kind assistance of Mr. R. M. Roy, whose assistance proved invaluable. The majority of the pictures shown were of children rescued by the Society, and the transformation wrought in their appearance in the course of a few months was something almost incredible.

At the close of the address Mr. Kelso and Mr. Roy were the recipients of a hearty vote of thanks, moved by Mr. Yeigh, of Toronto, and Mr. J. R. Stratton, M.P.P.

BREAD RIOTS IN EUROPE.

Serious Encounter Between Troops and People—Priest Stoned to Death.

Madrid, May 10.—There was serious rioting at Linares, 3 miles from Jaen, yesterday. The mob assembled in front of the Town Hall, and, finding the doors locked, tore out the windows, swarmed into the building, and threw everything movable into the streets. The civil guards intervened, and a desperate struggle followed in the passage of the building. The rioters were finally driven out by the civil guards, who frequently fired into the mob. Later, some of the rioters procured guns and returned the fire. About 14 persons are said to have been killed and about 60 are reported to have been wounded. As only 60 civil guards are stationed at Linares, the local forces are not considered strong enough to cope with the disturbance, and reinforcements of troops have been asked for.

After forcing an entrance into the Town Hall, the rioters pillaged the building, then captured the residence of the tax collector by assault. They demolished everything in sight, stole 2,100 pesetas and a box of jewels, and attempted to set fire to the house. Numerous disorders have occurred at Brenes, near Seville, near which place the village priest has been stoned to death.

Revised figures show that 12 men were killed and 50 were wounded. The bodies of the killed and the wounded persons were allowed to lie in the streets, the fusilade from the Town Hall being so incessant that it was impossible to rescue the wounded.

Riots have broken out at Cadiz and Alicante. More trouble is feared. Martial law has been proclaimed in the provinces of Albacete and Jaen.

One hundred and fifty persons have been arrested at Talavern.

The Situation at Milan.

Rome, May 10.—A despatch was received by the Premier, Marquis di Rudini, yesterday afternoon, from Lieut.-General Bava-Beccaris, commanding the Third Army Corps, with headquarters at Milan, where the most serious rioting occurred, saying all is quiet, and adding that the stores are re opening.

Despatches from Naples say disturbances have occurred at Antrodoco, seven and a half miles from Civita Ducale, the rioters raising shouts for a civil war.

Disturbances are also reported to have taken place at Arenacola and at Monte Calvorio. At the latter place the troops intervened and a rioter was killed and two soldiers were injured.

A man's health is the rope by which he climbs to success. If he can keep his health, he will go on to success. Yet his health is the very thing he neglects more than anything else. It is easier to keep health than it is to regain it. When a man feels himself running down, when he realizes a loss of vitality and energy, he must call a halt. The strands of his rope are parting rapidly. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery has helped thousands of men in just this condition. It makes health, it makes pure, rich blood, it forces out impurities and kills germs. It doesn't make any difference what name you call your trouble by—dyspepsia—kidney disease—rheumatism—consumption—skin disease, the "Golden Medical Discovery" will cure it absolutely. None of these diseases can retain hold on the body when it is full of rich, pure blood.

Rolling Mills in Trouble.

St. John, N.B., May 10.—The Portland Rolling Mills Company has suspended payment. The liabilities are about $80,000 and the assets are put at $140,000. For the present the mills will be kept in operation, but it is expected a receiver will be appointed in a few days. Lack of working capital is the cause of the financial difficulties.

The Gambo Powder Mills, situated 16 miles north of Portland, Me., were blown up. Walter Maxfield and Frank Guptill lost their lives in the explosion.

JULY WHEAT RISES 15 CENTS.

Phenomenal Gains at Other United States Centres British and Europe Also Report Improvement—Quotations.

Monday Evening, May 9.

Wheat to-day continued its sensational advances, May selling up to $1.75 at Chicago, and July at $1.29¼, both lines showing correspondling strength at other world centres. The early strength of the market at Chicago was caused by the heavy covering of shorts and the further reports of riots in European countries on account of the scarcity of food. The feature of the day was the extension of the extraordinary bullishness of May wheat to the July article, which would seem to indicate that Letter has pretty good control of the latter, as well as of the former. Traders are talking of a $2 market. The above-mentioned advances in May and July at Chicago were accompanied by rises of 7c and 5¾c in September and December respectively. At New York May wheat advanced 2½c for the day, at Toledo 10c, at Detroit 7c, at Duluth 18c and at Toronto 3c to 4c.

ONE THOUSAND KILLED.

Milan in the Throes of Revolution for Two Days—Calm Now Reigns.

London, May 10.—The Milan correspondant of the Daily News, telegraphing Monday, says:

"Calm reigns again. This being so, it can do no harm to say plainly, though it is by no means certain the words will reach you, that for the last two days this city has been in throes of revolution, with all its horrors and all its sadness.

"It is extremely difficult to speak with accuracy as to the number of killed and wounded; and any estimate, in view of the conflicting statements current, can only approximate the truth. It may be said at once that the casualities were many times more numerous than could at first have been believed, even by spectators of the bloodshed. Probably it would not be exaggerating to fix the number of deaths as little short of one thousand."

DOCTORS COULDN'T CURE.

But Mrs. Rowe was Saved by Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Woodstock, May 2—(Special) Woodstock ladies are among the healthiest and prettiest in Canada. When therefore it became known that one of them, Mrs. W. Rowe, was suffering, and had suffered for twelve years, with that curse of womankind—Female Weakness—aggravated by Kidney and Liver Disease, the sympathy of her sisters was freely given her.

The female population of Woodstock are now overjoyed over Mrs. Rowe's recovery.

Dodd's Kidney Pills did it.

The doctor told Mrs. Rowe she could never be cured.

Different "remedies" failed to help her.

A few boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills cured her completely.

Brussels Voted Wisely.

Brussels, Ont., May 10.—A frontage bylaw, having reference to new sewers on Main street and placing the building of all sidewalks on the frontage tax plan, was voted on yesterday, and was carried by a majority of 86. Only nine votes were recorded against the bylaw, and two of these were by mistake of voters. The expectation is that granolithic walks will replace the plank, and at least on Main street sewers will be put down this summer.

A Knife in His Throat.

Oakville, Ont., May 10.—George Bell, a peddler from Hamilton, aged about 65, committed suicide here Sunday evening, in the tramp room, by cutting his throat with a penknife. He had a hawker's license to sell goods in Hamilton.

Chief Sumner had only left him a few minutes to get him his supper. When he returned he had the knife in his throat, severing the windpipe.

A STRONG ARGUMENT.

Wm. McCabe, Esq., Managing Director, N. A. L., Toronto:

DEAR SIR,—Please accept my thanks for your cheque just handed to me, for $3,201.98, in settlement of my $2,500 Fifteen Year Endowment Policy in your Company. Such a result as this, after the risk on my life has been carried for fifteen years, beginning from forty-five years of age, argues one thing strongly, namely, that the management of the North American Life must be in competent hands. The other options you have offered me, viz.: a Paid-up Life policy for $3516.09, or a Life Annuity for $401.90, are, I presume, equally liberal, and it affords me much pleasure to recommend your Company to my friends or any one desiring insurance.

Biliousness, dyspepsia, loss of appetite, disturbed sleep, nervousness, headache, giddiness and drowsiness, wind and pain or fullness of the stomach after meals, cold chills and flushings of heat, shortness of breath—these are the blank cheques of physical bankruptcy. Take them to a physician and he will fill them up with the name of some more or less serious disease. Every time that you carry one of them to him you draw out some of your funds in the Bank of Health. Keep it up, and there will soon be no funds in the treasury.

The man who suffers from these disorders and neglects them will soon be in the relentless grasp of some fatal disease. If he is naturally narrow chested and shallow lunged, it will probably be consumption; if his father or mother died of paralysis or some nervous trouble, it will probably be nervous exhaustion or prostration, or even insanity; if there is a taint in the family blood, it will be blood or skin disease; if he lives in a new or a low, swampy country, it will be malaria; if he lives a life of exposure, it may be rheumatism. There is just one safe course for a man to follow who finds himself out of sorts and suffering from the symptoms described. It is to resort to Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. This medicine makes the appetite keen, corrects all disorders of the digestion, renders assimilation perfect, invigorates the liver, purifies and enriches the blood and builds firm, healthy flesh and nerve tissue. It cures almost all diseases that result from insufficient or improper nourishment of the brain and nerves. Bronchial, throat, and even lung affections, when not too far advanced, readily yield to it.

"I took Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery for Eczema," writes J. W. Barnhart, of No. 446 De Witt Street, Buffalo, N. Y., "and it completely cured me."

THE LOVER.

[Japanese.]

It is dark and lonesome here
Beneath the windy eaves,
The cold, cold ground my bed,
My coverlet dead leaves,
My only bedfellow
The rain that wets my sleeves!

If it be day or night
I know not, cannot say,
For I am like a child
Who has lost his troubled way
Till I see the white of the hoar frost.
Then I know it is day.

I touch the silent strings.
The broken lute complains.
The sweets of love are gone,
The bitterness remains
Like the memory of summer
In the time of the long rains.

A few more days and nights
My tears will cease to flow,
For I hear a voice within Which tells me I shall go
Before the morning hour frost
Becomes the night of snow.
—R. H. Stoddard in Harper's Magazine.

ON THE BRIDGE.

The night was dark. Overhead the few sad stars were shining dimly, buffeted by the clouds, and the water underneath hurried between the arches with a strange rush past as if fearing a sudden despairing burden from above. On the bridge were two shadows, two only in the bitter wind.

* * * * * * *

"My dear Charlotte, why did you do it?"

"I had to. One must be civil."

"But why tonight? I cannot eat or drink while this goes on, and I am famishing."

The hostess bent over across the flowers and murmured sagely, "Dear, when I asked him, I was morally sure that he had a vestry meeting," and then she drew back a little remorsefully.

Mrs. Chatterton had invited one too many, and this one was doing all the talking. The hungry blank before dinner had been filled with his sonorous voice, and the same voice, in its mass meeting tone, was thundering down the table, compelling the frivolous to attend. The very servants appeared to feel that they had no business to offer anything to eat.

The Rev. Johnson was an earnest man, and these men have no compunction. He had few other opportunities of touching such worldly people, and his thin, kind, quiet face was eager. He had been holding forth upon the awful desolation beyond these doors.

"Not so very far," he was saying—and his soup was cold—"others, men and women, are seeking shelter, wandering in the night. They watch the glimmer of lamps, houses lit like yours, and their despair becomes more bitter to endure when they think of the happiness beyond" ("Which you are properly diminishing," said Colonel Somebody to himself). "It's not fair, it's not right. It is your task to change it. Not with a guinea here and there, but with earnest, honest help. Go and look and you will believe it. Think of it, here hundreds of happy homes" (a woman under her breath said "happy!"), "there hundreds shut out—shut out, do you understand?—from all but the pain of life. That very bridge yonder! Mrs. Chatterton, you know it, but only in the sunshine, when the water ripples gladly enough. Your carriage rattles over it hastily in the dark. These others know it in the night. They creep there, hungry and weary, to hide themselves in the shadows, dark on the bridge, and darker upon the water, with the darkest of all shadows in their hearts. Do you ever think of that, Mrs. Chatterton?"

The hostess put both hands up to her fair, wild hair—a habit of hers when troubled. The look of airy satisfaction had left her face.

"Poor things!" said she. "I don't like going to stare at them when they are reclaimed like convicts. I wish I could go there some dreadful night and carry them all off and make them happy."

"A pity it should only be a wish," said the Rev. Johnson, glancing dryly across the pretty wilderness of silver and ferns and glasses. He did not believe in Mrs. Chatterton. She was like a rose leaf whirled over the grass by the summer winds and quite as careless. Then he bent quietly to his plate, but after one mouthful he began again to impress these people, most of whom did not often hear his words elsewhere.

Mrs. Chatterton was clasping and unclasping her fingers nervously, as if she were to blame for all. Mr. Peterson, at the other end of the table, was only thinking that this dinner was a fiasco. He was the father of a little girl who had died—yes, but he was not frivolous. He was also the father of many sons, and some men have few ideas, letting the sad ones slip. These do not need distractions—trifles. The Rev. Johnson principally addressed himself to Mr. Peterson.

Mr. Butterfield was getting all the attention of the servants. He was almost the only person who did not keep things waiting at his elbow, but then he was a rich man and a hard man, rumor said, and perhaps he was not lightly moved. Miss Lavender, on his left, was an authoress. She was handsome and tall and brilliant, and her mouth took on a sarcastic twist whenever she had to listen to other people's views. It seemed this time as if her patience failed her. She turned to Mr. Butterfield all at once and in a rather high voice inquired what he thought of a certain play. The Rev. Johnson looked earnestly at them both and judged them.

* * * * * * *

It was dark on the bridge, and the wind was bitter. Mr. Butterfield had taken a strange way home.

He, the hard man of the world, could hardly account for the way in which he had been stirred by facts he had already heard more than once. He had meant to walk to his own house across the square, but his feet had almost unconsciously led him hither, "to have a look," he assured himself uneasily, shivering in the cold. On either side down the water was a wavering line of lights; in the distance the rumbling of a carriage; on the bridge nothing.

"It is a strange thing," the Rev. Johnson had said in parenthesis, "how these waifs vary in their haunts! Some nights the bridge is lined with despairing men, and on others it is deserted."

Mr. Butterfield shivered again and whistled.

"There is me," he muttered grimly.

His mind wandered to his neighbor of that spoiled dinner party, the clever Miss Lavender. He admired her, had always admired her, with all her independence and startling ways—and yet—something in her that night had jarred. A woman who could hear unmoved the pitiful stories that had been urged upon them, who could turn impatiently and interrupt with a vain talk of plays, was hardly the woman a man would want—for his wife.

It troubled him more than he would have thought, and he tried to shut out the fancy, leaning over the parapet to gaze into the awful water. There was a great darkness underneath, and in it he could imagine dead faces rising, eyes wide with a fixed despair.

Suddenly he started. There was a thing gliding past—a woman.

With a strange, rapid motion she wandered to and fro. Her hands were clasped as if in distress of mind, and her face, dimly visible in the starlight, looked thin and haggard—a woman surely with a ruined life.

Mr. Butterfield could not watch her calmly. Up till then he had contrived to believe himself actuated by an impartial spirit of investigation, but something in her gait, in her averted face, reminded him of another woman, and that lent a curious pain to his disturbed regard. At first he had thought a little whimsically of bringing this waif—with a check—to the Rev. Johnson, to be penned in one of his institutions. Would the parson feel remorseful when he saw the man at whom he had glared reproachfully march up thus? But the half smile faded, and he put away the fancy. He could only think of the woman.

She was leaning over the parapet as he had leaned, and gazing as he had gazed (but with, alas, how much more horrible fascination!) into the lightless water. How black, how fatal it was, and yet how quiet! Watching her, he began to fear that any instant might find her disappearing into its awful depths, but if he were to hurry forward would not alarm and the instinctive terror of being frustrated cause the poor, mad, despairing soul to fling herself into the river?

Anxiously, prudently, he sidled along the wall as if contemplating the rushing water, with his right hand ready to grip her arm. He was near at last, and she lifted her eyes with a wild glance at him. What should he do if she fought for the chance of leaving a bitter world? How could a man unused to violence control a desperate woman? What if she would not hear him, would not be rescued and led away?

There was a sound of wheels. If only Providence would send that late cab across the bridge! Failing the police, who were all away, he could enlist that driver. But had he the wherewithal? Mr. Butterfield felt in his trousers pockets and knew he had. With straining ears he listened to hear if the wheels were indeed approaching.

The woman grew agitated. She was getting her arms free of her long black cloak. Mr. Butterfield started forward, and then she sprang at him and clutched him by the coat.

He saw her face clearly then. Her eyes were glistening, and tears were running down her cheeks.

"Don't despair!" she cried. "Oh, don't despair! Life is worth living if you will be brave."

Mr. Butterfield was dumb.

"Oh, I am glad I came," she went on, still holding his coat in a tight clutch, unable to see distinctly through her tears. "I thought at first it was one of the nights when the bridge is deserted, and I was going back to my maid, and then I saw you. Poor man! I watched you, and I feared—I knew what you would attempt. But I stopped you in time—in time."

The voice and the daring of the expedition, without the sight of her face close to his in the starlight, would have told him it was Miss Lavender. He listened, speechless, with all his ideas overthrown. He had been judged, and, though admiring her, he had judged her also. In his utter astonishment a single thought was all that his brain could hold. After all, she was the woman a man might want for a wife.

The wheels had not been idle, and a carriage came hurrying up the bridge. It stopped, and a lady got impetuously out and walked toward the two. Surely Mrs. Chatterton's eager, excited face!

"Poor souls! Poor souls!" she cried impulsively. "I could not sleep. I knew there were others houseless in this bitter night. Life has been hard for you, hard and cruel, but I will change it. What money can do—and pity!"

Then Mr. Butterfield found speech.—Windsor Magazine.

TWIN TORTURERS!

Lumbago and Rheumatism made Harmless by Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Lumbago and Rheumatism cause endless pain and suffering. Every man and woman who runs chances of getting wet, or catching cold, is liable to suffer from one or both. Our hospitals are full of sufferers from these diseases; none are more painful. Every nerve is on fire; every joint is a centre of agony; every muscle an area of torture. To move hand or foot makes the victim shriek with agony.

Rheumatism makes more cripples than all the railroad accidents that ever happened. Twisted, mis-shapen caricatures of humanity, who cannot walk without misery, are to be seen every day. The kidneys are to blame. If they are healthy you needn't fear Rheumatism or Lumbago. Dodd's Kidney Pills keep the kidneys healthy and cure Rheumatism and Lumbago.

Dodd's Kidney Pills ALWAYS CURE.

Could do no Work.

Large sores broke out on my body, head and limbs, and also on my hands, so that I couldn't do any work, and my hair came out. My trouble was called eczema. I began taking Hood's Sarsaparilla. When I had taken several bottles the sores and itching disappeared and I was cured." Mrs. J. G. Brown, Brantford, Ont.

The Glamour of Art.

Do you think that Greek art ever tells us what the Greek people were like? Do you believe that the Athenian women were like the stately, dignified figures of the Parthenon frieze or like those marvelous goddesses who sat in the triangular pediments of the same building? If you judge from the art, they certainly were so. But read an authority like Aristophanes, for instance. You will find that the Athenian ladies laced tightly, wore high heeled shoes, dyed their hair yellow, painted and rouged their faces and were exactly like any silly, fashionable or fallen creature of our own day. The fact is that we look back on the ages entirely through the medium of art, and art, very fortunately, has never once told us the truth. —Boston Journal.

Gold was known much earlier than silver, and was at first the cheaper of the two metals, but the price of silver was lowered by the discovery of silver mines in Cilicia, Spain, and Laurium.

According to the registrar general's latest blue book, Scotland still contains many more women than men.

20 YEARS OF BONDAGE

Dr. Chase's K.-L. Pills Loose the Shackles of Constipation and Stomach Disorders.

In summing up the causes of human misery it will be found that by far the greatest sources of disease originate in derangement of the Stomach and Bowels. People will abuse their stomachs and neglect the calls of nature till they bring on themselves her vengeance To get back to nature's paths, to have the Stomach and Bowels once more fulfilling their function properly, to clear the system of all the results and consequences of poisons accumulating and circulating in the Blood is the work of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills.

Mr. Thos. Miller, Lucknow, Ont., says that he was afflicted with Stomach Trouble and Constipation for about 20 years, during which time he tried almost everything he heard of, but to no purpose. Mr. H Day, the popular druggist, sent him a sample of Dr. Chase's K.-L. Pills. The first dose he took did him good, and they have proved so effectual in his case that he recommends them to all those afflicted as he was.

He Emptied His Pockets.

The Comte de Corbieres, minister of the interior to Louis XVIII, while working in the king's cabinet one day became absorbed in his work and so far forgot himself as to place his snuffbox on the king's desk after taking snuff.

The king observed this unheard of familiarity from the corner of his eye, but said nothing. Presently the minister whipped out his pocket handkerchief and placed it beside the snuffbox.

"M. de Corbieres," remarked the king at last, "you appear to be emptying your pockets."

"Perhaps so, sire," was the calm response, "but that is much better than filling them."

The king smiled at the clever hit at the corruption of some of the minister's predecessors. Corbieres was noted for his scrupulous integrity.

ALMOST A MIRACLE.

OTTAWA, Sept. 9th, 1896.

To the Phrenoline Medicine Co., Ltd., Ottawa:—

GENTLEMEN,—I hardly know how best to express my appreciation of your valuable rheumatic remedy, Phrenoline. My son Gordon, who is 9 years old, has been a sufferer from inflammatory rheumatism for the past two years; was so bad at times that he had to be carried about on a mattrass; was attended by two city doctors apparently without the slightest benefit; spent 10 days at Caledonia Springs, came home with no marked improvement; took three bottles of a Homeopathic remedy now being extensively advertised, which did not relieve him in the least. I was beginning to give up all hope of his recovery, when by chance I mentioned the case to a friend who strongly advised me to give Phrenoline a trial.

I did so, with the result that when my boy had taken only half a bottle he was able to get on his bicycle and ride like any other boy around the block.

I certainly feel that I cannot say too much in praise of your medicine, and shall do all I can to make known its value to others.

Yours very sincerely,

CANADA LIFE
Assurance Company.

ANOTHER PROSPEROUS YEAR.

Large Increase in Surplus.

The fifty-first annual report of the Canada Life shows this old established Company to be in a most flourishing condition. The annual meeting was held yesterday. Following is a synopsis of the report:—

A PROSPEROUS YEAR.

In presenting to the Shareholders their 51st Annual Report, the Directors are gratified in announcing that the Company has fairly shared in the somewhat improved condition of the business of the country, as will be seen by the Statements and Accounts now submitted. By these it will be observed that the Company has transacted a larger business than during the previous year, and has increased its clear surplus by no less than $497,093 05.

NEW BUSINESS.

The applications for new assurances during 1897 numbered 3,066, for the sum of $6,185 906, of which, however, 206 for $521,000 were declined, the lives not appearing up to that standard which it is in the interest of the company's other assurers should be maintained, and as 191 applications for $373,366 were not carried out, the issue of the year was for $5 291,636, under 2 669 policies, exceeding 1896 by 573 policies for $798,980.

The total business in force at the close of 1897 was $72,719,555 29 of Assurances, under 33 407 policies, upon 24,460 lives.

POLICY CLAIMS.

The claims by deaths paid during 1897 amounted to $770,168 45, and Endowment policies for $128,846 92, having matured, these sums, as well as $218,481 29 for profits, $145 411.18 for surrenders, and an annuity of $400, making in all $1,263,307.84, were paid to policyholders during the year.

INCREASE IN ASSETS.

The Income receipts of the year were $2,963,272.83, and deducting therefrom all payments to policy-holders for claims by death, for profits, and for matured Endowment policies, as well as other outlay, including expenses of management, there was left the sum of $1 272,480 05, which increased the Company's Assets to $18,678,915 67.

SURPLUS.

As appears by the Abstract of Assets and Liabilities, after providing fully for the necessary reserve for all policies of the Company, and for all its other Liabilities, there is shown a Surplus of $1,564,082 05.

THE PRESIDENT'S ADDRESS.

The President, Mr. A. G. Ramsay, in moving the adoption of the report, said:

The Directors' Report and the usual accounts and statements have for some days been in your hands, and have now been taken as read. While the report is brief, it contains, I think, along with the various published accounts, all that is required to enable those interested in the Company to judge of its progress and success in the past year. The addition during 1897 of nearly half a million dollars to the surplus or profits fund is a large and satisfactory one, and without invidiously comparing it with the figures of any other particular Company, I may say that it is more than was attained by all the other Canadian companies combined. The new business of the year was, you will observe, of satisfactory and gratifying amount, and in excess of the previous year, and you will be pleased to know that it is of that desirable class which will result more to the profit of the Company than would a larger amount obtained at heavier expense, or from less desirable regions than the healthful climate of Canada, and the four Northern States to which we have thus far deemed it judicious to confine the operations of the Company. The existing assurances are $72,719,555 or nearly twice as much as they were 12 years ago. The death claims of the year continued of very favourable amount, and being well within what was calculated upon, that fact testifies to the care observed in the selection of the lives, and to the judicious limitation of the business to the healthful climates already alluded to.

The recent lamentable failures of some of the companies doing business on the assessment system, and the anxiety felt as to the others which are based upon the same fallacious principles lead me to point out that these occurrences are only the inevitable results, which were from the first predicted by those whose knowledge and experience enabled them to judge of what the future of companies of the kind must be. At our meeting in 1887, when concerns of the kind were making strenuous efforts to establish themselves in Canada, I alluded to the miserable failures they had been in England and in America, and I said that their "ephemeral existence indicates how useless the assessment system of assurance is as a family provision. It can only offer the uncertain hope of a cheap assurance for a few years, till the company breaks down. It cannot afford any guarantee that a definite amount of assurance will certainly be paid to a widow or children after an assurer's death, whether that occurs at an early day or a distant one, and without such a guarantee as that, which our own and other sound companies offer, life assurance must be a fraud and a delusion." I added that "I was aware that agents and managers of companies of the kind pointed to the names of prominent business and professional men who have joined them, or who act as their directors, but as some of them at all events allow their names to be employed in that way, simply because policies have been gratuitously given to them, one can judge how little weight should attach to the names of the gentlemen thus used to decoy others to join such companies." One cannot envy the feelings of the prominent gentlemen alluded to, who induced persons to take policies in companies of the kind, from which they are now driven out by their failure, or by the levy of such high payments as they are unable to meet.

As the accounts show, the year's income was within a trifle of three million dollars, and the assets of the company were increased to the very considerable amount of nearly nineteen million dollars, and yielding, after deducting liabilities of every kind, a net surplus or profit of $1,564,082 for allocation at the end of next year, along with whatever addition there may be made to it between now and that time, and as the management and other expenses by which the profits to policy-holders are very largely influenced continue to be on a more moderate percentage than that of other Canadian or American companies, he prospects for our assurers are of a favourable character.

It is anticipated that legislation will be introduced by the Government, modifying the present 4½ per cent. rate of interest prescribed by law as the basis for Life Assurance Reserves, and adopting the new mortality Tables based upon the observations and large experience of the British Insurance Companies, in course of compilation by the Institute of Actuaries of Great Britain, and I may say on behalf of the Board in reference to the amendment to the charter, alluded to in the Directors report of last year, that the Directors purpose to avail themselves of the occasion of that legislation to seek such amendments to the law as may meet the Board's requirements.

The motion was seconded by Mr. F. W. Gates, Vice-President, and unanimously carried. A hearty vote of thanks was tendered to the agents, officers, medical and legal advisers of the company, Mr. Adam Brown speaking in eloquent terms of their services rendered to the Company.

Mr. Leggat moved and Lieut.-Col. McLaren seconded a hearty vote of thanks to the President and Directors for their attention to the interests of the Company during the past year. Brief and interesting addresses were also made by Sir George Kirkpatrick and Sir George Burton, the latter of whom was heartily congratulated upon the recent honour conferred upon him by the Queen.

The retiring Directors, Chief Justice Sir George Burton, Col. Sir Casimer Gzowski, K.C.M.G., and Mr. N. Merritt, were re-elected. At a subsequent meeting of the Directors, Mr. A. G. Ramsay was re-elected President and Mr. F. W. Gates Vice-President.

The meeting passed off very harmoniously, every one present being gratified with the progress and continued prosperity of the Canada Life, which, as Sir George Kirkpatrick remarked, was easily leader of all Companies in the Dominion.

A UNION MEETING

Of St. Paul's and St. Andrew's Churches Endeavour Societies Held Monday Evening.

St. Paul's and St. Andrew's Christian Endeavourer Societies held another very successful union meeting Monday night in St. Paul's church, the occasion being the study of the Scottish Covenanters.

Arrangements had been made for Scotch music, and after devotional exercises Mrs. Mein sang very sweetly "The Land o' the Leal." Mr. T. H. Martin, chairman, spoke of the pleasure it gave to meet in such union service, and called upon Miss Faulkner, of Tweed, who sang very pathetically "Came ye by Athol?"

The Rev. J. G. Potter then gave an address on "The Scottish Covenanters," which was listened to with much attention. He referred to the rise and progress of the Covenanters—to their indomitable courage and to their great seal. He outlined the history of the many scenes and incidents in the period covered by the reigns of James I, Charles I, Charles II and James II. till the advent in 1688 of William of Orange.

Touching references were made to the manner in which the people of Scotland had been forced into the position of defence, and the noble, heroic spirit with which they bore bitter prosecution. Through all their persecutions the Word of God and and especially the Psalms was to them more than food. Upon that Word they trusted, knowing that it would never perish. We do not claim infallibility for the Covenanters, but what courage, zeal and steadfast abiding in the faith of God and in the light of the Reformation. They anxiously sought for the glory and honour of Christ alone and ever rejoiced in the motto "For Christ's Crown and Covenant." They sought for and desired spiritual freedom, the preservation of the reformed faith, the supremacy of the Lord Jesus Christ as the only King and head of the church.

The profound reverence they had for God expressed itself in deep piety and rugged Christian character. They believed that the truth that had been won by the blood of the martyrs since the time of the Reformation, and had made them a free people, was worth handing down to succeeding generations to bless and influence the world.

They were strongly convinced that upon that priceless treasure, maintained it may be by the personal struggles, depended the destiny of the church and nation, and, therefore, sacrifice was sweet.

Well might we take courage and go forward, believing that as all Christians seek to maintain the truths obtained under the guidance of God from the mediæval ages, so shall all Christendom be led into a grander unity and a triumphant harmony.

At the close of the address Miss Patterson and Miss Cameron sang "I am far frae my Hame," which was very well rendered.

The meeting closed with a dismissal hymn and prayer by Mr. T. A. Rodger, of of Toronto.

A Running Sore Pronounced Incurable by Eight Doctors—Cured by Dr. Chase.

Mr. R. D. Robbins, 148 Cowan Ave., Toronto, says:—"I had a bad leg which was simply unsightly. From below the knee to the ankle was one great sore. Eight doctors treated me without benefit. I was induced to try Dr. Chase's Ointment Which cured me, and all that remains to be seen are the scars."

Crick in the Back.

Doan's Kidney Pills will take it out quicker than anything you know of. Mr. George Durand, Hamilton, Ont., says:—"Doan's Kidney Pills have made me stronger, removed the tired feeling and cured my weak kidneys and aching back."

DEANERY MEETING.

The Clergy Who Were in Attendance—Subjects of Discussion.

The work of the Deanery of Northumberland was commenced Tuesday morning with a celebration of the Holy Communion at 8 o'clock.

After breakfast the following clergy assembled at St. Luke's Rectory. Revs. Rural Dean Webb, Canon Sprange, W. E. Cooper, J. C. Davidson, E. V. Stevenson, W. L. Armitage, G. Warren, A. L. Weaver, G. Scott, H. Graeme, J. Gibson and H. Symonds. Messrs. R. Maconochie, Booth, J. Bushell and Barton Earle were als present.

Rev. W. L. Armitage introduced the first subject of discussion, which was the "Commission to Clergy on their Ordination to the Priesthood," after which a paper on Maurice's "Kingdom of Christ" was read by Rev. H. Symonds. Both of these papers provoked a full discussion.

The meeting then adjourned for luncheon, which was provided in the school house by some of the ladies in the congregation. In addition to those mentioned above there were present Messrs. Peter Campbell, E. A. Peck, F. Adams, Col. H.C. Rogers, H. T. Strickland.

Mr. Maconochie moved a hearty vote of thanks to the ladies, which was seconded by Rev. E. V. Stevenson and unanimously carried. Rev. G. Scott returned thanks on their behalf. The Rural Dean then warmly thanked Mr. Maconochie for his interesting address the evening previous. He hoped he would be able to speak in many of their towns and villages. Mr. Maconochie suitably responded.

In the afternoon Rev. G. Scott read a paper, giving an account of the mission of Warkworth, after which the programme for the next meeting was arranged.

HEART BEAT NEARLY STOPPED.

Nerves Almost Shattered

A Lindsey lady writes an open letter about the new cure:—

Gentlemen,—Dr. Ward's Blood and Nerve Pills are the most efficacious medicine I have ever taken, and in fact the only medicine or treatment that has done me any good. For the past eight years I have practically been an invalid, suffering with kidney and heart troubles. My health became very much impaired. I was subject to frequent fainting spells. My heart was very weak, causing me great anxiety and fear. Its action was unnatural. It lacked force, and beat spasmodically—fast for a few moments and then suddenly stopping, when I would swoon, coming to in a complete state of physical prostration, which lasted for hours. I had no strength, and any exertion took my breath away, and I felt as if I was dying. My pultse would be almost imperceptible, it was so weak. I could not sleep well, often not being able to sleep at all on account of suffocation. I often woke up in the night fighting for breath, my heart beating so fast that I thought I could not live a minute. I was in a constant state of nervous apprehension. My appetite left me. I became emaciated, I lost all color and would have been glad if I had no nerves, I suffered so much from nervousness. My memory became impaired, and I could not have been in a worse state of health than I was when I began taking Dr. Ward's Blood and Nerve Pills, nine weeks ago. During the eight years I have been suffering I have been treated by three doctors and have taken a number of medicines without obtaining any relief. On the contrary the symptoms constantly developed and grew worse. From the time I commenced taking these pills I have not had a fainting spell. They restored my heart to strong, healthy action. I sleep well, and my sleep is not disturbed by smothering. My appetite is good, my blood is healthy and strong, and I have a healthy color. They have made my system healthy and strong, thereby removing all nervous, heart and kidney troubles. The change from physical and nerve collapse to health and strength in the short space of nine weeks caused by your pills, has been so wonderful that I would not have credited it if I had not had the good fortune to experience the effect of your great medicine. They accomplished in the short space of two months what doctors and medicines failed to do in eight years.

(Signed) I am, yours truly,
MRS. EDWARD BURKE

OBITUARY.

DEATH OF MRS. JAMES BAXTER, OTONABEE.

On Tuesday, May 10th, one of the pioneer settlers of Otonabee township joined the great majority on the other shore of the shining river. The deceased lady, who was eighty-one years of age, was of Irish descent. She was counted among the earliest settlers of Otonabee township, and during her long residence in the township, endured all the hardships incident to an early settler's life in the almost unbroken wilderness of four score years ago. Her last hours were hours of peacefulness. She really died of old age, no special ailment being detected. The wheels of life simply stood still and her passing away was without pain—like a peaceful sinking into sleep. Mr. Baxter's maiden name was Abigail Hall. and she was united in marriage to her late husband James Baxter, (who departed this life at the age of 73, in 1887.) in the year 1839. Mrs. Baxter was a member of the Methodist persuasion and worshipped, in her years of activity, at Salem church. She leaves behind her four sons and one daughter. The sons are James, of British Columbia; Frank, of Ashburnham; Robert, of Harvey street, Peterborough, and Isaac, of Otonabee. Miss Baxter resided with her mother till the time of her death.

The funeral takes place on Thursday, May 12th, from the homestead residence. lot 26, in the 10th concession of Otonabee, to the Little Lake Cemetery.

TRUE AS GOSPEL.

3 STUNNERS For Bargain Day= THURSDAY.

GOUGH BROS. Store is the focus for all eyes. There is neither slow pace nor dull pace about this business organization. In harmony with the spirit that prevails this store is the embodiment of action. We are always to the front with flying colours—and everybody knows it.

Ever since the opening of our New Clothing Emporium in Toronto, which is admitted to be the largest exclusive Clothing Concern in the country, we have been more than ever confirmed in the view that we are in reality what we have always claimed ourselves to be:—"The Greatest Clothing Providers in Canada."

Being sandwiched in between the biggest Departmental Stores, of Toronto, and the big crowds they draw benefitting us by drawing grist to our mill, we find it an easy matter to Out-class these pretentious concerns.

Why?

Because the claim has been made and repeatedly proven, that Gough Bros. buy and sell Clothing, Hats, Boots, Underwear, Neckwear and Outfittings of every description for men, cheaper than any other merchant in the land. That fact is absolute.

Because such buying power—such close connections with leading manufacturers—such ability to handle large quantities of goods necessary for eight associate stores—furnishes convincing proof of our leadership. That fact is undeniable.

Because our money is made in the advantage we secure in buying big lots. We cut the rich manufacturers' profits down when we get to them with a big Order in one hand and Cash in the other. If one won't take it the other will. That fact is indisputable.

THIS WEEK'S PROGRAMME:

Now comes the climax of Bargain-giving in the choicest of hand-picked goods for our Peterborough Customers.

This week we are ready with a fresh grip on the reins, and start out on our summer campaign with an invincible fleet of Little Prices. Rare price-concessions every day of the week, and a rarer Bargain Day on THURSDAY—forming a programme that will discount and double discount any and every Bargain Day inducement that has yet seen the light of day.

The story is short. A big purchase of Summer Shoes, Suits and Neckwear came into our hands the other day, at prices that are only possible from the advantages obtained by the combined buying power of many stores. And the Ultimatum is this:—

1 TIES

1200 Ties 4-in-hands, Bows, Ascots, Oxfords, Club Stripes, Plaid Knots, regular 25c fast sellers; but on account of the war scare Canadian cash was worth more than American Ties. ALIEN LABOR AGENTS

Announcement of Their Appointment Made in the House.

M.P.'S WHO ASKED AND RECEIVED

The Interesting Question of Postal Savings Bank Deposits and Withdrawals —Bills Read a Third Time— Tributes by Premier and Others to the Late D'Alton McCarthy.

Ottawa, May 12.—There were some very interesting questions answered in the House yesterday, chief among which was the list of appointments under the Alien Labor Act. The old matter of an alleged petition to Rome by Liberal members was revived, but this was overshadowed by the sad news of the death of Mr. D'Alton McCarthy, and after tributes from the leader of the Government and Opposition and Mr. Wallace the House adjourned.

Mr. Tarte informed Mr. Davin that no penalties were imposed on the contractors for the piers and abutments of the Edmonton bridge.

Mr. Davin was informed by the same Minister that Mr. Gisborne had been deposed from the position of inspector of Government telegraph lines in the North-West on the ground of inefficiency.

The Postmmaster-General, replying to a question by Mr. Bennett, said that Mr. J. P. Cockburn had resigned the postmastership of Gravenhurst, Ont., and Charles A. Cockburn, age not known, was appointed in his place on the recommendation of Mr. H. H. Cook of Toronto.

P. O. Savings Rate of Interest.

Mr. Davin asked what was the effect of the announcement of reduction in the rate of interest in post-office savings banks—had deposits decreased and withdrawals increased?

The Finance Minister, in reply, said that so far the announcement did not appear to have had any effect. He added, however, that, as usual in April, when money is withdrawn to use in business, by the returns to date withdrawals had exceeded deposits. But the chartered bank returns for last April showed a decrease of deposits of over $3,000,000.

In reply to a question by Mr. Davis (Liberal, Saskatchewan), Mr. Sifton said Mr. Thomas McKay of Prince Albert had been employed as Rebellion Claims Commissioner for the Government for 645 days at $15 a day, Sunday included, and expenses, receiving altogether $14,898.

Agents for Alien Labor Act.

Mr. Clarke was informed that the following agents have been appointed to date to enforce the Alien Labor Act: A. C. Paterson, Acting Sub-Collector of Customs, North Portal, N. W. T.; H. Tennant, Acting Sub-Collector of Customs, Coults, N.W.T.; J. A. Martin, Acting Sub-Collector of Customs, Huntingdon, N.W.T.; A. Lawrence, Acting Sub-Collector of Customs, Grotna, Man.; S. J. Mather, Acting Officer, Grotna, Man.; G. G. Allen, Preventive Officer, Emerson, Man.; W. Mills, Acting Officer, Emerson, Man.; W. F. McCreary, Immigration Commissioner, Winnipeg, Man.; James Lawson, Collector of Customs, Fort Erie, Ont.; Robert Rush, Provincial Constable, Sault Ste. Marie, Ont.; A. Boyle, Collector of Customs, Niagara Falls, Ont.; James H. Kenning, Collector Inland Revenue, Windsor, Ont.; F. Spain, Bracebridge; W. B. McMurrich, Toronto.

Read a Third Time.

Bills respecting the Government harbors, piers and breakwaters, respecting the protection of navigable waters, and the Senate bill to amend the Companies Act, were read a third time and passed.

On a motion to go into Committee of Supply, Mr. McDougall (Conservative, C.B.) brought up the matter of the letter to the Pope in connection with the Manitoba school question.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier's reply was brief, and in effect was that the encyclical was not addressed to the Canadian Government, but to the world at large and the document was one the Government could have no official knowledge of.

Mr. Bergeron then took up the discussion and reviewed the political aspect of the question.

D'ALTON McCARTHY DEAD.

The Premier, Sir Wilfrid Laurier, Moves an Adjournment.

After Mr. Bergeron sat down Sir Charles Tupper, on a sign from the Premier, met him at the clerks' table and they conferred together for a moment or two, while the House waited in silence. Both gentlemen returned to their places and then the Premier arose and spoke as follows: "It is my very sad duty to convey to the House the intelligence, which perhaps is not altogether unlooked for, but which will be at the same time received, I am sure, with great sadness by this House. I have just been informed that our colleague, Mr. D'Alton McCarthy, died a few minutes ago. Under such circumstances, Mr. Speaker, I am sure I am but anticipating the wishes of the House, and in this I have the concurrence of my hon. friend who leads the Opposition, in moving the adjournment of the House. We have just lost one of the most eminent men in Canada, one of the most important members of this House, a man who added dignity to public life, and who was an authority in his profession. Those who have been in Parliament in former years are aware that Mr. McCarthy hold a unique position in this House. He had been for a long time a Conservative, he had differed sometimes from his party, though he had never been closely allied with the Liberal party. He had his own views and ideas, and of those who may have differed from him upon many questions, I am sure that no one who knew him, no one who heard him, but respected his character, respected his views and respected his opinion. The country has met with a great loss; the House has met with a great loss; and, as I a moment ago said, I believe I am only anticipating the wishes of the House in moving that we proceed no further with this sitting, and that the House do now adjourn."

A Tribute From Sir Charles.

Sir Charles Tupper, who spoke under stress of evident feeling, said "I rise to second the motion made in such appropriate terms by the leader of the House. It is but as yesterday that Mr. McCarthy was here in the enjoyment of all the health and vigor, both physical and intellectual, that we knew characterized him. To-night he has forever left this earthly scene. It shows us what shadows we are and what shadows we pursue. I regret to say that my relations with that hon. gentleman were not of the intimate character of those of the leader of the House, but every man in this House cannot but recognize that the profession to which he belonged has lost one of its most distinguished ornaments, and we all long since recognized the great ability he brought to the discussion of public questions in this House. I believe his untimely and lamented death will be received with universal regret, not only in this House, but throughout the country."

Mr. McCarthy's Earnestness and Sincerity.

Mr. Wallace—I wish to add a word to the remarks made by the First Minister. During the last few years the late lamented member for North Simcoe and myself were brought more closely together than we had for years previous, and as I became more closely intimate with him I was led to admire above all other qualities his great earnestness and sincerity. He had strong convictions, which he followed out, no matter whither the conclusions led him. I think it is one of the distinguishing features, and an admirable feature, in any man's character. This country will sustain a very great loss by the death of this eminent citizen of Canada, because he set an example to Canadians of earnestness and of uprightness in his public career. It is a singular coincidence that his death should have occurred when this House was engaged in a discussion of a question on which no member took a warmer or deeper interest than the late lamented member for North Simcoe. I wish to add my tribute to his worth and the loss which this House and country will sustain by his death.

The House adjourned at 10 p.m.

D'ALTON McCARTHY

His Injuries of Sunday Night Prove Too Much for Him.

THE END CAME TO HIM SUDDENLY

A Sketch of the Career of the Dead Statesman, Brilliant Lawyer and Man of Sterling Character—The News in Parliament—A Great Canadian Has Passed Away.

Toronto, May 12.—At 9.10 p.m. yesterday a great Canadian passed away in the person of D'Alton McCarthy. His demise was comparatively sudden, as during the day the earlier bulletins were reassuring. The thunderstorm in the afternoon was malign in its influence, and he never fully recovered from it. The tidings of his death was received with unfeigned regret by all classes of the community.

In Mr. McCarthy's demise Canada loses a brilliant lawyer, a conscientious statesman, an eloquent advocate and a man of sterling uprightness. Toronto especially will feel the loss of one who was ever forward in all that concerned the city's interests. In many and varied circles Mr. D'Alton McCarthy will be greatly missed. He was an enthusiastic sportsman and evinced much interest in the Royal Canadian Yacht Club, the Country and Hunt Club and the meeting of the Ontario Jockey Club. Of late years Mr. McCarthy derived his principal amusement and exercise from horseback riding, of which he was very fond.

In social circles he was ever welcome, and his geniality and brilliance were here as conspicuous as in the higher professional spheres in which he moved. Full of health and spirit but a few days ago, his death comes to many as a bolt of the blue, and it was fitting that the House of Commons, the scene of many a brilliant oration, should adjourn last night immediately on receipt of the news of his death.

The End Came Suddenly.

Dr. W. H. Pepler, who is the family physician, said that immediately after the accident on Sunday night it was seen that Mr. McCarthy had received a severe shaking-up. His right side was badly bruised, a severe injury was sustained to the right lung, several ribs having been broken and bent in upon the lung so as to perforate it. There was a gash in the patient's head, but this was thought to be trifling; while the dislocated finger of the right hand was easily attended to. From the first the doctor anticipated serious complications arising from the injury to the chest and lungs. He even hinted that pneumonia might set in. As the days went on, this anticipation was fully realized, for since Monday the affection of the right lung has absorbed the best skill of Drs. Pepler, Grasett, Graham and McCarthy, who have held several consultations daily.

On Wednesday morning it was thought that the patient was in a fair way to recovery, but along in the afternoon, about the time of the heavy thunderstorm that swept over the city, when the atmosphere became oppressively rarified, Mr. McCarthy took a sudden change for the worse.

At 9 o'clock it was thought he would master the forces against him.

At ten minutes past, however, as suddenly as a gust of wind snuffs out a candle, the spark of life fled from Mr McCarthy's frame.

So sudden was the summons that the members of the family had not time to reach the bedside of their fond parent, till he was no more. Dr. Pepler, Dr McCarthy (the deceased man's brother), and Mrs. McCarthy were the only ones present when the statesman breathed his last.

All afternoon the patient was unconscious and could not recognize his distressed family, and when the dreadful moment came his spirit took flight unconscious of the sorrow around.

The immediate cause of death was the cessation of respiration, consequent upon the injuries to both lungs. Really the pressure of the cartilage and the vertebrae upon the lungs produced suffocation. After respiration had ceased, the heart continued to beat for some time.

All funeral arrangements will be made this morning; the conduction of which has been placed in the hands of Mr. John Young, undertaker, 359 Yonge street.

Telegrams of condolence and inquiry concerning funeral arrangements are pouring in hourly. The whole country takes the sad event as a national loss.

In the House.

Ottawa, May 12.—Like a flash the sad news ran through the Commons chamber shortly after 9 o'clock last night of the untimely demise of the great Commoner, D'Alton McCarthy. The late member for North Simcoe, owing to many professional engagements, has not been in the House much this session, but he was here as recently as Friday and on that evening had a chat on business matters with

EDITORIAL NOTES.

THE bill to remove the unjust exemption from the ordinary process of law enjoyed by civil service employees will not, the Ottawa Free Press remarks, be passed this session. But it is gratifying to note the assurance of the Premier that he approves the principle of the bill and thinks it should become law and would support such a measure. This gives promise far the future passage of such an evidently just provision.

"BY the time the United States takes possession for good of Cuba, the Philippines, Porto Rico, the Canaries, and Hawaii, Canada will be safer than she has been." This is the way the Ottawa Journal elaborates a joke. Canada has never been in any danger of being taken by the United States. The latter country "tried it once" in 1812, and though England was at that time at war with half of Europe, Uncle Sam couldn't fill the contract. If the experiment were to be repeated now there wouldn't in twenty-four hours be as much of the United States seaboard unblockaded as would permit a Yankee to go out into the Atlantic Ocean for a swim.

SIR CHARLES TUPPER, says the Toronto World, a staunch Tory journal, but not a Tory of the Tupper school, has experienced a wonderful re-invigoration since his return to Canada. He looks like a healthy man of 58, has robustness, strength, voice and wind to a marvelous degree, and thinks no more of a three-hour speech than of taking a glass of water. But not not only can he speak for hours, but into the speech he will put ten times, yea twenty times the emphasis used by an ordinary speaker. And not only is his speech long and strong, but the vigor of his adjectives and the copiousness of his expletives are a tax on the vocabulary. If he keeps on he will soon have anathematized every one in the country worth cursing. But whether it is good politics from a Conservative point of view is another question.

SOME of the papers are discussing the morality of a newspaper accepting money for liquor advertisements. Some contend that the newspaper is thereby responsible for the misery alleged to be caused by the intemperate use of the strong drink it advertises. This is is debateable. Whiskey per se, and put to proper use, is as harmless or as beneficial, according to different ways of viewing it, as bread. The use of either to excess is deleterious. One may be used moderately, as a medicine, with beneficial results, and the other as a food with beneficial results also. Strong drink, like any other strong medicine, used to excess is injurious. It seems absurd, therefore, to hold a newspaper to moral responsibility for the results of the abuse of the liquor it advertises as for the results of the abuse of any other article advertised for sale in its columns. A druggist advertises in a paper; he sells some arsenic, and it is used to commit murder. Is the newspaper responsible? A hardware merchant sells a pistol which is used to shoot a man to death, but the newspaper is not adjudged guilty because it contained an advertisement of the hardware shop.

THE Mail and Empire is endeavouring to stir up a feeling of antagonism in Ontario to the Dominion Government's new franchise law on the ground that the voter in Quebec may vote several times while the Ontario elector will have but one vote. It says that the man in Quebec who has six votes will be able to speak six times in Parliament while the man in Ontario who has only one vote can only speak once. What rot! says the Woodstock Sentinel-Review. The number of members from Quebec is fixed, and no matter how many times the Quebec elector may vote it will not increase Quebec's representation in the House or add to the strength or influence of that representation. The question of whether or not a man should have more than one vote is one which may very properly interest the people of Quebec, but the people of Ontario have nothing to do with it. There will be just the same number of representatives from Quebec, no matter how they are elected. It would, no doubt, be better for themselves if the people of Quebec did adopt the principle of one man one vote, but it is purely a matter for themselves to decide. The Ontario man whose one vote goes to elect a member, has just as much say in the House as the Quebec man has whose six votes go to elect a member.

WHAT DOES FRANCE MEAN?

France's military activity at the present time is attracting attention in Europe, where all the nations are wondering what is meant by it, and, if war is meant, who is threatened. A week or two ago the mobilization of her army, which was proceeding quietly but effectively, was the talk of military Europe, and now 'serious' naval preparations are under way. The French squadron at Brest is now on a war footing, and the coast batteries at Brest and Ushant have been fully equipped, supplied and manned as if for hostilities. It seems to be taken for granted that it is Great Britain that is threatened by these preparations 'for a naval war, or at least a serious demonstration.' France's position in West Africa is to be maintained against Great Britain by force, if necessary, according to the Continental alarmists. Great Britain, confident of her strength, has so far paid little attention to the French 'war preparations,' which are believed to be for political purposes only—a military display intended to strengthen the government in the elections now proceeding in France.

THE PHILIPPINE ISLANDS.

Great Britain and Ireland combined have an area of 120,979 square miles. The Philippine Islands embrace almost the same extent of land. Their exact area is slightly uncertain, because in the first place there are some 1,400 islands in the group, rendering an accurate survey somewhat difficult; and in the second place, although the Spaniards have ruled the islands for three hundred years, they have never taken the trouble to thoroughly explore the territory. The total area is estimated to be 114,356 square miles.

Luzon, the largest island is given an area of 40,044 square miles, but Mindanao is almost as large. The area of England is 50,867 square miles. The Philippines will thus be understood to comprise a very large territory, and it is also a populous one. Owing to the looseness of Spanish rule and statistics, there is much more uncertainty about the population than about the area. A census in 1876 made the population 6 173,632, while an estimate in 1882 claimed as many as 10,426,000. The population is certainly much larger than that of Canada, and possibly twice as large. But there are only 10,000 to 15,000 Europeans or whites among the number. There are several hundred thousand Chinese, a few score thousands of negritos or aborigines and several million Malays of various tribes. Thirty languages are officially recognized on the islands.

Manilla, the capital, is estimated to have a population of 175,000 or about the same as Toronto. The next largest city is Lipa, with only 43,408.

The revenue of the islands is about $14,000,000 a year, or one-third that of Canada; the foreign trade is $60,000,000 or about one-quarter of ours. The chief exports are hemp, sugar, coffee, tobacco, cigars and indigo. There are valuable gold and coal mines. It will be seen that the territory which is falling like an over-ripe peach into Uncle Sam's maw is no less than a great kingdom and a possession far more extensive than Cuba. The area of Cuba, for instance, is but 41,655 square miles, barely larger than either Luzon or Mindanao in the Philippines, while the population of Cuba is but 1,631,687. Possibly the trade of Cuba has been more valuable, owing to the great American market at its doors, but that the Philippines have greater natural resources is undoubted. By her crazy treatment of Cuba in spite of all warning omens, Spain has thrown away not only Cuba, like all her other possessions on the western hemisphere, but a greater than Cuba in the eastern hemisphere, and when the war is ended will possibly find herself bereft of every shred of colonial territory, whether in the old word or the new.

A man's health is the rope by which he climbs to success. If he can keep his health, he will go on to success. Yet his health is the very thing he neglects more than anything else. It is easier to keep health than it is to regain it. When a man feels himself running down, when he realises a loss of vitality and energy, he must call a halt. The strands of his rope are parting rapidly. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery has helped thousands of men in just this condition. It makes health, it makes pure, rich blood, it forces out impurities and kills germs. It doesn't make any difference what name you call your trouble by—dyspepsia—kidney disease—rheumatism—consumption—skin disease, the "Golden Medical Discovery" will cure it absolutely. None of these diseases can retain hold on the body when it is full of rich, pure blood.

WARSAW.

From Our Own Correspondent.

Messrs. Fred Morgan and Dick Choate are the quoit champions of the village at present, having defeated Ned Mack and D. Delaney three straights. Is there anyone else that knows the game?

The Klondike flyer struck town on Monday enroute for Hall's Glen, McCracken's Landing and other northern points.

The Warsaw flyers are now in training for the bicycle meet. Several records were broken on Saturday evening.

Mr. John Morgan has been at McCracken's Landing for the past two weeks beautifying the grounds at the Victoria House.

We have every reason to believe that a lineal descendant of Josh Billings is in Warsaw. His awful presence is heard but not seen. No one is safe from the brilliant splashes of humour which burst forth every week in the Norwood Register, " " " This literary prodigy should search for higher fields to vent his outbursts upon, as the people of Warsaw do not possess a sufficiently fine sense of humour to absorb it all.

A RELIABLE OFFER.

Honest Help Free to Men.

The (Peterborough Examiner) is authorized to state by Mr. D. Graham, Box 133, Hagersville, Ont., that any man who is nervous and debilitated or who is suffering from any of the various troubles resulting from overwork, excesses or abuse, such as nervous debility, exhausted vitality, lost vigor, unnatural drains and losses, lack of development, etc., can write to him in strict confidence and receive free of charge full instructions how to be thoroughly cured.

Mr. Graham himself was for a long time a sufferer from above troubles and after trying in vain many advertised remedies, electric belts, etc., became almost entirely discouraged and hopeless. Finally he confided in an old clergyman, whose kind and honest advice enabled him to speedily obtain a perfect and permanent cure. Knowing to his own sorrow, that so many poor sufferers are being imposed upon by unscrupulous quacks, Mr. Graham considers it his duty as an honest man and a firm believer in Christian sympathy and kindness, to give his fellow-men the benefit of his experience and assist them to a cure. Having nothing to sell, he asks for no money, the proud satisfaction of having done a great service to one in need, he rightly considers an ample reward for his trouble. If you write to Mr. Gradam you can rely upon being cured and upon absolute secrecy as well.

Address as above, enclosing a stamp, and refer to the (PETERBOROUGH EXAMINER). No attention, however, will be given to those writing out of mere curiosity, therefore state that you really need a cure.

LIVE STOCK NOTES.

Business in this line has been active for the past few days. Last week Mr. H. P. Kennedy, our heaviest local shipper, shipped out about 450 head of cattle, the majority being stockers for the American markets. He shipped four cars to Iowa and four cars to the Buffalo markets. Among the fat cattle shipped last week were a pair of very fine animals, thoroughbred Durhams, fed by Mr. Michael Crough, of Monaghmore; two Holsteins, which weighed 3,590 lbs. fed by Mr. Thos. Stothart, Smith, and a bunch of fine animals fed by Mr. Wesley Kelley, Bridgenorth.

To-morrow Mr. Kennedy intends loading over 100 head of export cattle for the English markets. Among this number is a bunch of twenty head fed by Mr. John J. McBain; seventeen head fed by Mr. John Johnston, North Monaghan; nineteen head by Mr. John Douglass, Millbrook; ten head from Mr. John Shaughnessy, and about sixty head of Mr. Kennedy's own feeding.

The prices paid for these cattle to farmers range from 3½c to a little over 4½c per pound, and Mr. Kennedy states he is in the market for any good cattle farmers have to offer.

Escaped a Deadly Enemy by the Aid of Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Woodstock, May 9—(Special)—This city is deeply agitated, with joyful excitement, because another popular resident has estaped from the fatal grip of Kidney disease by the aid of Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Everyone knows Mr. H. A. Willis, the genial proprietor of the "Buckingham" hotel. He tells his story thus: "For two years past I have suffered intensely from Lame Back and Kidney Disease. Nothing I ever used helped me.

"My sufferings grew worse daily. I heard so much of Dodd's Kidney Pills that I decided to try them. I got relief from the first box. Three boxes cured me entirely."

Johnny at the Picnic.

"We had an awful time with Johnny Potts at the Sunday school picnic."

"What was the trouble?"

"Why, Johnny wore one of those belts with a metal clasp."

"Yes."

"And after he ate his dinner we couldn't unclasp it."

"Good gracious! What did you do?"

"We tried to file it off and couldn't get at it. Johnny squirmed and yelled like an early Christian martyr all the time. At last Rev. Mr. Gusher hired a man to take Johnny in a boat and row him out to where the water was real rough. Johnny wasn't used to rough water, and in a little while the belt dropped off of itself."—Cleveland Plain Dealer

FOR WEAKNESS AND DEBILITY.

Consumption is often caused by a weak state of the blood, permitting the germs to obtain a foothold. That Dr. Ward's Blood and Nerve Pills cure disease and make the system safe, the following evidence amply proves:

I suffered for two years with what the family doctor claimed was an incurable case of consumption and debility, telling me that my life was but for a few months at the best. As I was about to give up, I picked up your advertisement and resolved thereupon to give Dr. Ward's Blood and Nerve Pills a trial. The first box of them worked such a wonderful change I felt that at last I had struck a medicine that would help me. I continued the use of the Pills, receiving from them day by day flesh, strength and vigor, in fact friends of mine that had not seen me for some time hardly knew me, so great was the change that Dr. Ward's Pills worked. Out of the fullness of my heart in the joy of my being rescued from the grave, comes this testimonial. I shall, as long as God permits me to live, herald forth their usefulness and life-saving power to all afflicted by that monster of disease that almost claimed me for its victim, thereby repaying you in a small measure for the grand, new lease of life Dr. Ward's Blood and Nerve Pills have given me. Yours truly, JOHN P. THORP, Cork St., Guelph, Ont. Dr. Ward's Blood and Nerve Pills are sold at 50c. per box, 5 boxes for $2.00, at druggists, or mailed on receipt of price by THE DR. WARD CO., 71 Victoria St., Toronto. Book of Information free.

D'ALTON M'CARTHY.

Mr. Blair and left him with the remark, "I'll be down on Monday and see you then." Little did he realize that within four days he would be still in death. No matter whether men agreed with Mr. McCarthy's views or not, that he stood in the highest estimation among politicians of all shades of opinion was evidenced by the daily inquiry as to his condition. The tributes paid to his memory will be found in our parliamentary report.

Phenomenal Legal Career.

Mr. McCarthy's great legal career is phenomenal in the history of Canada. The present firm of McCarthy, Osler, Hoskin & Creelman was established in 1877, Mr. McCarthy at that time not being a resident of Toronto, although an active member of the firm. He came here to reside in 1879. The firm attained its 21st year last month. The first members of the partnership were Mr. McCarthy, Dr. John Hoskin, Q.C., the late T. S. Plumb and A. R. Creelman, Q.C., the former and latter still being active members of the big legal firm. Mr. B. B. Osler entered the concern in 1882, from which time the firm name has been known as McCarthy, Osler, Hoskin & Creelman.

Mr. McCarthy's first great case terminated in 1883. It was that of Maclaren v. Canada Central Railway Co., wherein he held the brief for the plaintiff, now Senator Maclaren, and secured a verdict of $100,000 for damages sustained by the burning of a lumber yard at Carleton Place through flying sparks from a locomotive. The case went through all the courts of Canada, and Mr. McCarthy conducted it before the Privy Council in England.

Maclaren v. Caldwell.

His next celebrated case was Maclaren v. Caldwell, in which he acted again for the plaintiff, now Senator Maclaren. This suit commenced in 1879 and terminated in 1884. Out of it arose the famous controversy over the "streams bill," which was disallowed several times by Sir John Macdonald's Ministry and made an issue at two general elections. The plaintiff Maclaren claimed exclusive right to use the Misisquoi River for log driving, and was successful at the first trial in 1880. In 1881 the Court of Appeal reversed the decision, but in 1882 the decision of the Court of Appeal was reversed by the Supreme Court. In 1884 the Privy Council gave judgment that a stream which had been rendered navigable by private expenditure became a public stream and thus the decision of the Supreme Court of Canada was reversed.

In 1884 Mr. McCarthy appeared before the Privy Council on behalf of the Province of Manitoba in the case which settled the western boundary of Ontario.

One of Mr. McCarthy's greatest cases was Queen v. St. Catharines Milling & Lumber Company. It was commonly called the "Indian titles case."

Mr. McCarthy's connection with the Manitoba school case, in which he appeared for the Manitoba Government, is still fresh in the memory of the community.

Another of the learned counsel's great cases was that of the contractors, James Conmee and J. D. McLennan, against the C.P.R. Mr. McCarthy held the brief for the plaintiffs and recovered a verdict against the railway company for a sum in the neighborhood of $275,000.

A particularly interesting case in which Mr. McCarthy held a brief was that of Mrs. Fisher v. the Georgian Bay S.S. Co. The case was commenced in 1881, and it arose over the loss of the steamer Waubuno in Georgian Bay near Parry Sound, a wreck which cost thirty lives in 1879.

These are only a few of the cases which helped to build up Mr. McCarthy's reputation as a great lawyer.

His Colleagues Loved Him.

Mr. A. R. Creelman, Q.C., who has been associated with Mr. McCarthy for 21 years, says that all of those connected with him in the firm were simply lost in admiration for him as a lawyer and a man.

Those Who Mourn.

Mr. McCarthy leaves a widow, one son, Capt. D. Lally McCarthy; one daughter, Mrs. James Ince, Toronto, and two stepdaughters, Mrs. F. E. P. Pepler, Barrie, and Miss Mary Fitzgibbon, Toronto. His brothers and sisters are: Judge McCarthy, Orangeville; Dr. McCarthy, Barrie; Mrs. Judge Morgan, Toronto, and Mrs. Patterson, Toronto, widow of the late Fred. Patterson.

At the bedside when the great lawyer and statesman quietly passed away were his wife, son and daughter; his nephew, Leighton McCarthy; Mrs. Fitzgibbon and Dr. McCarthy.

SKETCH OF HIS CAREER.

Some of the More Serious Events of a Busy Life.

Mr. McCarthy was descended from an ancient Irish family. He was the son of the late D'Alton McCarthy, solicitor, by his wife, Charlesizna Hope Mannors, and was born at Oakley Park, Blackrock, near Dublin, Ireland, October 10, 1836. His early studies were conducted in his native country. In 1847 he accompanied his parents to Canada, and was placed at the Barrie Grammar School, where he completed his education. Called to the bar in 1858, he entered on the practice of his profession in partnership with his father and the late D'Arcy Boulton, Q.C., and speedily attained a distinguished and eminent position therein. He was elected a Bencher of the Law Society in 1871 and was created a Q.C. in the following year by the Earl of Dufferin. At a later period he was named an honorary member of the Law Faculty of Toronto University and was elected a member of the Executive Council of the Canadian Bar Association.

In 1879 he removed from Barrie to Toronto, and there established the firm that goes by his name, and which has long ranked among the foremost doing business within the Dominion. Apart from his everyday work, Mr. McCarthy was engaged in many cases of peculiar interest and importance, including a large number of appeals to the Privy Council in England. As a jury lawyer he was not known to have any superior in Canada. "His style," says one of his biographers, "is sharp and incisive, his glance keen and searching, his summing up a model of conciseness and lucidity. While not as suitable as Christopher Robinson or as powerful as Edward Blake, he is not far behind either in substantial ability."

Entrance on Political Life.

Mr. McCarthy was first returned to Parliament Dec. 14, 1876, at a bye-election held in Cardwell, the vacancy being caused by the death of the sitting member, Hon. J. H. Cameron, Q.C. He had previously unsuccessfully contested the constituency of North Simcoe on three occasions. In the House of Commons he immediately distinguished himself in debate, and before the close of his first session was regarded as the rising star of the Conservative party. "His first speech," says Mr. Davin in his "Irishmen in Canada," "marked him as a man for whom all things may be hoped." Sir John Macdonald, the Prime Minister, spoke of him as "the brains of the party," and designated him its future leader. For fifteen years or more no one, with the possible exception of Sir Charles Tupper, possessed the aged statesman's confidence to the same extent. Outside of Parliament he undertook the work of organization for his party, and for a considerable period filled the office of chairman of the Executive Committee of the Liberal-Conservative Union of Ontario. More than once he declined a seat in the Cabinet, and more than once he declined appointment to the highest judicial office in the province.

Jesuit Estates Rupture.

Mr. McCarthy broke with his party in 1889, in consequence of the position taken by the Cabinet on the Mercier Jesuits' Estates Act—a position to which the almost entire Protestant sentiment of the country was opposed. From this time he assumed an independent attitude in politics. He was placed at the head of the "Equal Rights" movement, and in that character fought with courage and resolution for the rights of the people whose cause he espoused. Later, during the Thompson, Bowell and Tupper regimes, he gave battle to all comers on the Manitoba school question.

Commencing in 1893 he made several tours through the Dominion, addressed large audiences, sometimes as many as three a day, in opposition to the policy of his former political friends. He was stigmatized by the leading party organ "Chief of the wobblers," and read formally out of the Conservative party. His efforts, however, did not slacken till the last was heard of Mr. Dickey's Remedial bill with the defeat of the Administration at the polls, in June, 1896. At that election Mr. McCarthy was returned both for North Simcoe (which constituency he had represented since 1878) and for Brandon, in the Province of Manitoba. Electing to stay with his old constituents, he resigned the seat for Brandon.

His work as a politician being done, for the time, he had since the meeting of the new Parliament been heard from but little. Of late his name had been mentioned in connection with a seat in the Laurier Cabinet.

His Political Status.

Politically, Mr. McCarthy called himself "neither a Tory nor a Liberal," but stood to do right. Regarding the trade question, his contention might be summarized as follows: 1st. He had thought, since 1891, that the time had come when, according to the policy laid down in 1877, sufficient opportunity had been afforded to manufacturers to establish their industries, and that a return should be had to the principle of a revenue tariff. 2nd. That he was opposed to any reciprocal relations with the United States which involved discrimination against Great Britain; short of that he was prepared for the freest possible tariff regulations, not merely in natural products, but in manufactured articles as well. 3rd. And chiefly, he was the advocate, and, we may say, the political parent, of the maximum and minimum tariff, giving Britain and our sister colonies the preference, which, under the scheme of the preferential clause, has been embodied in law by the Laurier Administration.

Imperial Connection.

Touching the future of Canada, he had long since reached the conclusion that Canada would find her truest and best development within and as a part of the British Empire, and that Canadians needed no higher aspiration than appertained to that position. His opinion was that nothing short of a great war, in which the Empire would suffer dismemberment, would change the political relations in which Canada stands to the Mother Country. This did not ignore the gradual extension of Canadian political rights until Canadians in all respects would stand on an equality with the Englishman, Irishman and Scotchman.

Filled Many Positions.

He was president of the McCarthy League, was formerly president of the Canadian branch of the Imperial Federation League and member of the Council of the British Empire League. He was also for many years president of the West Simcoe Agricultural Society, and was president of the Country and Hunt Club, Toronto.

Mr. McCarthy was fond of thoroughbred cattle and a good horse, and for some years bred many of these on a farm owned by him in the neighborhood of Barrie.

In religious belief he was an Anglican. He married first Oct. 2, 1867, Emma Catherine, daughter of the late E. G. Lally, Barrie (she died in 1870), and secondly, July 15, 1873, her sister Agnes Elizabeth, relict of R. B. Bernard, Barrie.

DOCTORS COULDNT CURE.

But Mrs. Rowe was Saved by Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Woodstock, May 2—(Special) Woodstock ladies are among the healthiest and prettiest in Canada. When therefore it became known that one of them, Mrs. W. Rowe, was suffering, and had suffered for twelve years, with that curse of womankind—Female Weakness—aggravated by Kidney and Liver Disease, the sympathy of her sisters was freely given her.

The female population of Woodstock are now overjoyed over Mrs. Rowe's recovery.

Dodd's Kidney Pills did it.

The doctor told Mrs. Rowe she could never be cured.

Different "remedies" failed to help her.

A few boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills cured her completely.

Dodd's Kidney Pills record—"Always Cure—Never Fail."

A FALSE REPORT.

He Himself Puts the Statement in Writing That He Is Much Alive.

Toronto, May 12.—In a letter dated Vancouver, May 5, received here last night, H. J. Bray, jr., says the report in the Ontario papers of April 29 was incorrect, and "I was rather astonished to find myself figuring in it as a murdered man. Such is not the case, as I am very much alive, and if you have not been advised of the fact by your correspondent here, I wish you would contradict your item of the 29th, as, after my return from the northern territory, I expect to drop around and see a few of my friends in Ontario."

A SOLDIER'S STORY.

MR. GEO. KINGSTON, who resides at 136 John St. North, Kingston, Ont., is a retired British soldier, who served in India, went through the Abyssinian Campaign and was present at the storming and capture of Magdala, in which King Theodore of Abyssinia lost his life.

The hardships of the Campaign brought on an attack of kidney disease. He was sent to the hospital but after a time was discharged as a hopeless invalid. Sharp piercing pains shot through his back, his urine was unnatural and he was in the greatest misery. Hearing of the wonderful cures made by he went to the drug store and got a box. The first few doses gave great relief and before two boxes were taken the pains had left his back and he felt like a new man. Doan's Kidney Pills he considers the greatest remedy in the world for all forms of kidney disease and urinary troubles.

THE ONLY HOPE!

For Victims of Bright's Disease is Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Not a day passes on which the newspapers do not record the death of one or more persons from Bright's Disease. Already its victims number hundreds of thousands. Day by day the awful total grows larger. No class is safe from this destroyer.

War and intemperance, with all their miseries and fatalities, are not responsible for as many deaths as have been caused by Bright's Disease. Yet, there is a way of resisting it; of drawing its poisoned fangs, and making it as harmless as a summer breeze. That great medicine, Dodd's Kidney Pills, has cured thousands of the worst cases. It never fails to cure, hopeless as the case may seem.

Would you safely shield your loved ones from the fatal grip of this curse of mankind—Bright's Disease? Then use Dodd's Kidney Pills, the only cure on earth for this disease.

Court Chemong Notes.

Court Chemong is flourishing these days and a substantial increase in members is recorded. Mr. Geo. N. Brown, General Deputy of the Eastern High Court has been giving the boys a helping hand, and during his short stay he has met with wonderful success, having written about 25 applications, which record outstrips the organizers of former years. There was a well attended special meeting held on Monday night, and a number of new members were initiated. Mr. Brown has by his kindly and courteous manner won for himself many new friends, who will regret that his time in town is limited, and who will bid him welcome at some future time.

Court House Park.

The enclosures were removed from Court House Park to-day and Caretaker Cobb and his assistants are at work putting this beautiful spot in shape. The bulbs in the beds are in bloom and the place is being put into summer garb. The public have a deep interest in this park, especially, and their co-operation is asked to protect it from the misconduct of those who are inclined to do injury. In the past flowers and shrubs have been stolen and broken and the omnipresent boy is addicted to throwing stones upon the sward to the serious interference of the work of the lawn mowers and the giving of unnecessary work to the staff of removing them. To-day Mr. Caretaker Cobb is getting notices printed forbidding the throwing of stones, uprooting or stealing of flowers or other wilful injury to the park.

THE DONS SCORE AT CARDENAS.

The Americans Have Five Killed in This Affair.

THE FIRST IMPORTANT SET-TO IN CUBAN WATERS.

The Bombardment of San Juan, Porto Rico is Now On.

COMMODORE DEWEY STILL IN DEEP WATER.

The Philippines in a State of Anarchy—Dewey Powerless Both With Friend and Foe—Spain's Phantom Fleet Still "at sea"—Spain's Internal Condition Explosive.

Special 3 p.m. dispatch to the Examiner.

Sad Condition of Porto Rico.

St. Thomas, West Indies, May 12—There have been 200 political arrests in Porto Rico. The shipping is suspended and there are no customs receipts. Hunger and smallpox are spreading throughout the country, and 200 families are starving. Two women died out of sheer fear of bombardment by a suspicious looking vessel at sea, and one case of suicide from the same reason has occurred. Spanish authorities are confiscating the coal of private individuals.

Deep Discontent in Spain.

New York, May 12—A Berlin special says: The gravest news from Madrid is expected hourly. The return of the Spanish squadron to Cadiz has disgusted the Germans. Newspapers indulge in bitter invectives against Spain, which they claim has completely relinquished her West Indian possessions without a blow. It is expected the return of the fleet will be followed in Spain by a popular upheaval, which will seal the doom of the Alfonsist Dynasty. The friends of Don Carlos say that he is absolutely certain of the throne.

Four Americans Killed at the Battle of Cardenas.

Key West, May 12.—There was an engagement off Cardenas yesterday, near Mantanzas. The United States cruiser Wilmington, the torpedo boat Winslow, and the auxiliary gun boat Hudson were engaged. One officer and three men were killed and several were wounded.

The Spanish Fleet Still "At Sea."

New York, May 12th.—A World's London special says: It is doubted here whether the Cape Verde squadron has returned to Cadiz. The authorities of the Castle Line South Africa steamers which call regularly at the Canaries and Cape Verde, say that the squadron was not seen by any of their incoming steamers.

Report that Queen Victoria has Intervened.

It is rumoured in well informed circles that Queen Victoria has personally appealed to the Queen Regent to sue for peace on the ground that the longer the war continues the more her son's prospects will be jeopardized.

Shady Rumour of a Naval Battle.

New York, May 12—A Herald despatch from Key West says: Your correspondent was informed by the captain of the Vicksburg when he hailed that vessel Wednesday, that news had reached the blockade fleet of an action between Real Admiral Sampson's fleet and the Spanish Cape Verde fleet East of Hayti, in which the latter had sustained a crushing defeat.

The American Dead at Key West.

Kew West, May 12—The United States gunboat Hudson arrived this morning with the five bodies of those killed on the torpedo boat Winslow in yesterday's engagement in Cardenas Harbour. Capt. Bernandow, of the Winslow, was wounded slightly, also several of the crew. The engagement took place inside the harbour of Cardenas.

Philippines Anarchy—Dewey, the Victorious, is Powerless.

Hong Kong, May 12—Greenwich time, May 12.—The British second class gun vessel Lynnel has arrived here with news from the Philippine Islands. She left Manila Monday last and reports that the insurgents are uncontrollable. The whole country, it appears, is in a state of anarchy, and Rear Admiral Dewey is powerless to restore order. A large force will be needed to restore order in the interior. Admiral Dewey is unwilling to bombard the town of Manila, although the Spaniards refuse to submit. He hopes to starve them into submission, but the Spaniards are confident of being able to hold out. The U. S. could not do a more useless thing than send a small force to the Philippines. 25,000 men should be landed in Manilla and no troops should be sent until autumn. Unacclimatized troops will die off like flies during the summer.

The Killing Confirmed.

Washington, May 12.—The killing of Ensign Bagley and three men at Cardenas has been confirmed.

The Canadian "Spanish Spy" Hangs Himself.

Washington, May 12—George Downing, the Spanish spy, arrested here several days ago, hung himself this morning.

Details of Cardena's Engagement.

Key West, Fla., May 12—It was difficult for the Hudson to get near enough to throw a line to the disabled Winslow crew so terrible was the fire all about her. The task, however, was accomplished. Ensign Bagley and six men were standing in a group on the deck of the Winslow when the line was thrown at the same moment a shell burst in their midst. Bagley's face was completely torn away and the UPPER PART OF HIS BODY SHATTERED.

The Hudson finally started to tow the Winslow out of the deadly range when the line parted and both boats were at the mercy of the Spanish fire. Ensign Bagley, who was killed, is a native of North Carolina; his mother resides at Raleigh, N. C.

Bombardment of San Juan Now on.

New York, May 12—Special from Fort De France, Martinique, says American squadron, with nine ships is now bombarding San Juan.

Details of the Cardenas Affair.

Key West, May 12.—The engagement took place inside the harbor of Cardenas. The Cruiser Wilmington, the torpedo boat Winslow and the gun boat Hudson were the only vessels engaged. They entered the harbour for the purpose of attacking some Spanish boats which were known to be there. The engagement commenced at 2 a.m. and lasted for about an hour.

The Dead Brought to Key West.

Key West, May 12.—When the U. S. gunboat Hudson came up to the Government dock at 8 o'clock this morning the bodies of five dead men were lying on her deck. They were the remains of Ensign W. Bagley and four others of the crew of the torpedo boat Winslow, who were killed in an engagement in Cardenas Harbour, yesterday afternoon; the bodies were covered by the Stars and Stripes. In the cabin of the Hudson was Capt. John B. Bernardow, of the Winslow, who is slightly injured in the left leg and several others of the Winslow crew, who are slightly wounded.

The Sittings Concluded Last Evening at Half past Six.

Hosiery Chance For Men and Women.

You'll never get a better chance to buy hosiery than McComb & Co. offer. Prices are from 9c to 50c. Such variety and excellence for the price you never beheld. Our 30c embroidered stockings take the eye.—MCCOMB & Co, 325 George street, 3 doors from Charlotte street.

Don't forget the concert by Mr. F. Warrington, in the Y.M.C. A. Hall to-night. Tickets 35c.

Early Closing.

The grocers clerks are agitating for early closing during the summer months, as is done in the dry goods and other stores. All the merchants have signed the agreement but one or two, and it is hoped that these can be persuaded to fall into line, as unless they do so all others will remain open also.

A Record Breaker.

Twelve thousand ties were placed on sale this morning in Gough Bros. at five cents each, together with stacks of dollar boots and shoes, and a special lot of boys' suits, and as the sale had been well advertised, the onslaught was something terrific, beginning as soon as the store opened, and lasting until night, by which time the entire lot had been cleared out. This was undoubtedly the record breaker in the way of Peterborough bargain sales, nothing like it ever having been seen here before. The jam in the big double store was something terrific while it lasted. While the phenomenally low prices undoubtedly acted as powerful inducements to attract buyers to this sale, much of the secret of this success can be attributed to the firm's persistent and effective advertising. Occasionally one hears the remark that nobody reads the advertisements. The "epidemic" of to day for Gough's special bargains proves the contrary, and no one is more willing to admit this view than the proprietors of this hustling firm themselves. The live business man who is determined to pound his name and his store news into the people's usual succeeds. But the advertiser who "flies off the handle" when things do not come his way every time he advertises, will play a poor second to the man who can smile as he sees the other fellow rake in the chips.

THE STREET RAILWAY DEAL.

Work May Begin Any Time on the Lakefield Branch.

Although little mention is now made of the new electric railway deal, the scheme is not by any means dead, but is simply being allowed to stand until the Spanish American difficulties are settled, as the capitalists backing the new railway are also vitally interested in American stocks and are too busy watching the market to give their attention to any new venture at present.

Mr. Starr is anxious to go on with the transformation of the Lakefield branch at once, and is now in Montreal urging the feasibility of the scheme on the stockholders.

FAVOURABLY RECEIVED.

The Mud Lake Bridge Matter Brought to the Attention of the Dominion Government.

The local deputation which went to Ottawa on Tuesday to ask the consideration of the Government in regard to giving a grant towards the construction of a new bridge across Mud Lake, has returned home well satisfied with the reception accorded them by the Minister of Railways and Canals.

The deputation was introduced by Mr. John Lang, M. P. for East Peterborough, and the matter was laid before the Minister by Mr. J. R Stratton, M.P.P.

Hon. Mr. Blair gave the deputation his promise to look into the matter thoroughly and if the claim made could be substantiated to recommend that a grant for the purpose asked be placed in the estimates.

THE LYRIC COMEDY COMPANY.

A Fine Programme Well Put on at the Opera House Last Night.

Last night there was only a wet-weather audience at the Opera House, but the excellent bill put on by the above company was in every way worthy of a crowded house, which will doubtless greet this accomplished company to-night. The programme is a happy combination of clean, clear-cut, high-class, sparkling comedy and of music, instrumental and lyric. The programme opened with a Godard pianoforte selection—"Au Rouvet"—which was very cleverly performed the mimetic features, the whirr and drone of the spinning wheel being very faithfully produced. It was encored. Mr. Mills is a clever pianist and in his subsequent selections, as well as in his accompaniments, showed the artistic instinct. Mr. N. Doyle's two songs, which were both well sung, were redemanded, and his second encore number was the best singing he did during the evening. He has a rich powerful baritone voice kept well in hand and used with cultured skill. But the charm of the evening to many were the two delightfully brilliant and clever comedy sketches presented by Mr. Wilkes Steward and Miss Nella Robinson. Both were admirably put on and the comedy element rich and lively, was fetching as well as refined. The second little sketch, "The Silent System," was charmingly given, though Miss Robinson, like the average dutiful wife under such circumstance, bore the brunt of the work. Mr. Robinson's monologue for the third act, "Scene 3 of Richard III," was a splendid piece of reading. It had a suppressed fine and true knightly dignity as far away from the average stage rant as a canvas by Murillo is from fence painting. He was compelled to reply to an encore. Miss Robinson's monologue was given with charming spirit and versatility. The entertainment throughout was a happy one and deserves a big house at its repetition to-night.

—Dainty morsels, put up in a clean place, will be found at the Spot Cash.

DESTROYING FLOWERS.

Children are too Fond of Those which do not Belong to Them.

A citizen dropped into the EXAMINER Office to-day to complain about the manner in which flower beds were being ravished this spring by the school children.

Two fine beds of tulips and hyacinths were totally destroyed, even the roots being torn up out of the ground as the flowers were hastily snatched by the ruthless young thieves.

Naturally the citizen feels very indignant at having his lawn despoiled, and he offers as a suggestion that one neighbour assist another if children are seen taking the flowers.

While a citizen may not be able to command a view of all his own grounds from a window, he can frequently have an open view of the lawn of his neighbour, and by a little trouble could exercise a guardianship over it.

OBITUARY.

The Late Mrs. Henry Eastland.

Yesterday Mrs. Henry Eastland, who enjoyed the distinction of being next to the oldest resident of the town, passed away at the age of 80 years. The deceased lady came to Peterborough from Port Hope nearly seventy years ago. She has resided upon the same lot upon which she died, opposite the Lock Works on Simcoe street, sixty-nine years, though, of course, the dwelling has been renewed. The cause of Mrs. Eastland's death was an attack of paralysis. She will be well remembered by many of the citizens, though the number of those who were her fellow-citizens and acquaintances in the early history of the town is sadly thinned by death. The funeral takes place from the family residence on Friday (to-morrow) at ten o'clock.

DEATH OF D'ALTON McCARTHY.

A prominent figure in the personal, professional and political life of Canada passed away yesterday in the death of D'Alton McCarthy. As a man he occupied a position that commanded the respect of all who value uprightness of life and honesty of principle; as a lawyer he ranked amongst the leaders of the profession and as a politician, while he had a comparatively small following, those most bitterly opposed to him could not fail to recognise the honesty of purposes that animated him. In the presence of death, the great leveller, discordant elements should rest and forgetfulness of little faults should merge into the recollection of the greatly predominate good that entered into the life and character of the statesman who has passed away.

INEXCUSABLE INDIFFERENCE

It is greatly to be regretted that there was not a larger attendance at the admirable lecture of Mr. J. J. Kelso in the opera house Tuesday evening upon the work of the Children's Aid Society. The limited number present would seem to indicate that in this town greater importance is attached to theoretical than to practical Christianity. There is no more practical application of the precepts, and no greater respect for the example, of our Blessed Lord than the work of the Children's Aid Society. We have our Sunday schools in abundance. No one will deny the necessity of the work they are accomplishing. But while we gather into the fold and tenderly foster the "ninety and nine," do we not practically neglect to obey the divine injunction to seek the "one" which has gone astray? The spirit of the mission of the founder of the Sunday school was to look after the lost sheep—the neglected, the waifs and strays, the degraded in condition who were brought into life amidst vicious surroundings, and grew up in the same mephitic moral atmosphere. But we have changed all that; and it is unfortunately true that our Sunday schools have now, generally speaking, no place for the children who should be looked after. Christian parents who would not acknowledge themselves touched with a little of the leaven of Pharisaism, object to their dear children associating with children ill-clad and physically and morally unclean, in the Sunday school. The very children that should be reached are not reached. The work of the Children's Aid Society is to remedy the consequences of this neglect. The Children's Aid Society in the results of its work creates material for the Sunday school, rescues children from homes and haunts of vice and converts them into inmates of pleasant Christian homes. Therefore the work of the society is directly of interest to Sunday school workers. Yet, though we have about a dozen Sunday Schools in the town with about an average of ten teachers each, these teachers were, the majority of them, not present on Tuesday night to assist in the work the evening was intended to advance. The Sunday school is selected for special mention because it is a type of the indifference that prevails in the sphere of church activity to the great work of the Children's Aid Society. The Opera House should have been packed with representatives of the congregations of all our churches. The Ministerial Association would be doing a good work if it organized a movement for impressing upon Christian congregations the duty they owe to the society under remark.

THE TENT CATERPILLAR.

This Scourge Did not Succumb to the First Attack.

When, with all the efforts made by the town council to destroy the caterpillar bracelets we still see numerous clusters of newly-hatched worms on the maples and other street trees, one can have some faint idea of the ravages these pests would have made had not millions of them been destroyed in the egg. Mr. John Best brought into the EXAMINER Office this morning two terminal twigs of maple standing at the south-east corner of the cathedral, close on Hunter street. Clustered under the leaves were hundreds of these newly-hatched worms that had just escaped from the bracelet a few inches away. It was inevitable in the late crusade that with the greatest care many bracelets escaped destruction. Now they are hatched out and the worms can be seen in a dark cluster on the under sides of the leaf, upon which they have already began their destructive work.

If the town authorities would send a man to take another tour of the town thousands of these clusters could be secured and destroyed. No one will object to the little expenditure necessary to preserve our shade trees from destruction and our walks from being made hideously filthy from crushed worms.

The council should not adopt Spanish-American war tactics, but attack the worms at once. Delay means destruction of our shade trees.

LACROSSE.

An offer was received from the Orangeville team this morning for a game here on the 24th, but the local team prefers to stick to its deal with Brampton, as the latter club has a reputation second to none in the Province. Brampton is not in the C. L. A. now, but it held the championship for the last three years it was connected with the League, which is a sufficient guarantee of its strength.

A full practice of both senior and junior lacrosse teams is called for Friday evening on the grounds. On Saturday evening the boys will take a run in the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium and a bath.

Any player who wishes may turn out to-night, but it is not intended that it will interfere with the regular practice to-morrow night.

THE SOCIAL REVOLUTION.

The Italian Socialists Desire to Form a Republic on the Swiss Model—Almost Civil War in Italy.

Lugano, Switzerland, May 11.—The workmen at Creva, near Luino, numbering several thousands, struck work yesterday and a fight occurred with the customs officers. The Duke and Duchess of Saxe-Meiningen, who were attacked by brigands outside of Rome a couple of years ago, were driving through Luino, when they found themselves between the rioters and the customs officers as the latter fired a volley. The Duke and Duchess were not hurt, but a dozen of the rioters fell. The ducal party returned here at a gallop.

To Found a Socialist Republic.

The Italian Socialist, Deputy Rondani, has arrived here from Bellinzona. He declares the Italian revolutionists desire to found a federated republic like the Swiss Republic.

The rioters' demonstration at Luino began on Sunday. The mob leaders demanded a reduction in the price of bread, which the local authorities conceded. Yesterday the rioters attacked the carbineers in their barracks and also attacked the prison. The police fired on the mob, killing several persons and wounding a number of others.

Serious Slaughter.

London, May 11.—The Daily News publishes a despatch from a point beyond the Italian frontier, confirming the censorized telegrams from its Milan correspondent as to the fighting at Milan. According to this communication between 100 and 200 were killed on Saturday, more on Sunday and still more yesterday (Monday). Hundreds are wounded and dying, the new bullet used by the troops having the effect of explosive balls.

A STATE OF SIEGE.

Six Provinces, Including Florence, Proclaimed by the Government.

Rome, May 11.—A state of siege has been proclaimed in the Province of Florence and at Livourne, Pisa, Siena, Massa and Grossete, and also in the town of Spezzia, the naval port of Spezzia being excepted from the decree.

At Messina a crowd of women and children proceeded to the town hall, demanding food. They were dispersed by the police and the crowd then began breaking street lamps and tried to sack a provision store. The proprietor shot one of the rioters with a gun, which increased the disturbance. Troops are now occupying the town.

Government Paralyzed.

London, May 11.—The Rome correspondent of the Times says: "It is believed that matters are steadily growing worse. The Government is clearly unequal to the difficulties of the situation and great anxiety prevails in political circles."

Rebels Besieging Milan.

The Milan correspondent of the Daily News, telegraphing Tuesday night, says: "I am unable at this moment to send you more than a few words. Fresh and more rigid measures have been adopted in the censorship of telegrams. The forced silence is most ominous. Any official accounts of the restoration of order must be received with all reserve. The rebels are besieging Milan."

In a State of Siege.

London, May 11.—According to a special despatch from Rome 28 provinces in Italy are virtually, though not formally, in a state of siege. Rumor has it that the trouble is fomented by the clericals, who have chosen the moment for an attack on the monarchy. No proof of this exists, but King Humbert and his entourage are greatly distressed at the turn of events.

The Rioting at Naples.

Rome, May 11.—The rioting at Naples yesterday was widespread. It was started by big bands of students, armed with sticks and revolvers, who operated in various quarters. They were soon joined by others and stone throwing became general. The police frequently charged and dispersed the rioters, who, however, re-formed and overturned horse cars, with which they attempted to build barricades in several streets, but they were unable to withstand the charges of the cavalry.

Disturbances are also reported from various points in the Province of Naples.

General Malmacahi, the military commandant at Naples, has been appointed Royal Commissioner with full power to restore order

Excitement at Berne.

Berne, Switzerland, May 11. — The news of the uprising in Milan has greatly excited the Italian workmen who abound in Switzerland.

At Lauzanne yesterday 1,000 Italian workmen paraded the streets, carrying a red flag, draped with crape at the head of the procession, singing the "Marseillaise," and cheering for the revolution. The outbreak at Milan appears to have been fully organized. One of the leaders here exhibited a telegram announcing, "The revolution is triumphant in Turin. The city has been burned."

The men who took part in the demonstration appear to have plenty of money.

Many Italians have started for the north of Italy in response to a circular bearing the words: "To the frontier; let us start for Italy."

200 Rioters Arrested.

Rome, May 11.—Advices received from Milan yesterday give details of the arrest of two hundred rioters in a monastery there. It appears that the students from Pavia, who joined in the disturbances, entrenched themselves in the monastery, and, while a detachment of troops was passing, the students fired upon the soldiers. The military authorities then sent two field guns to the scene, opened fire on the monastery, made a breach in its walls and entered the building. The students escaped. All the monks were arrested.

LEGISLATORS V. LABORERS.

The Trades Union Label Bill Knocked Out by the Senate.

Ottawa, May 11.—The Senate has knocked out the bill giving trade union labels the same protection as trade marks. This is the bill which Mr. Bertram had charge of in the Commons.

On the motion for the second reading of the bill in the Senate yesterday, Senator Boulton said there was not sufficient demand for this legislation. He believed in labor organizations being recognized, but this was an aggressive measure which would compel employers to submit to having their goods stamped with the trade marks of a labor organization. It was conceived in the spirit of monopoly, and might be used by labor organizations as a means of enforcing a boycott against employers of labor. The principle of the bill was a dangerous one. He moved that the consideration of the bill be postponed sine die.

Hon. David Mills thought this was rather a heroic method of dealing with this bill. The legislation was asked for by a large section of the laboring community. A much better method of dealing with the objections to the bill would be to read it a second time and make amendments in committee. A clause could be inserted providing that these marks should not be placed on any goods or employers without their permission.

Senator Drummond thought there was too much ambiguity about the bill. It would be most unfair to employers of labor that their employes should have the power to force them to place marks on private property which they were paid to manufacture.

Senator Ferguson said a bill of this kind should have emanated from the Government, who were the proper parties to assume the responsibility of such legislation.

Senator Boulton's motion to postpone the consideration was adopted on a vote of 32 to 15.

GEN. GASCOIGNE'S SUCCESSOR.

Lord Strathcona's First Imperial Work—A Canadian Competitor.

London, May 11.—Lord William Seymour, the new commander of the Imperial forces in Canada, leaves Liverpool on the steamship Parisian on June 2. He will land at Quebec and not at Rimouski, as had been previously arranged.

The War Office has received many applications for the vacancy created by the resignation of General Gascoigne from the Canadian militia. Regarding the Canadian suggestion that Colonel Denison be selected for the position, it is pointed out that the Act requires the officer chosen to be a colonel of the Imperial army.

Lord Strathcona's First Imperial Work.

Lord Strathcona and Mount Royal has undertaken, after much pressure, but with the full sanction of the leading colonists in London, to pilot, in the House of Lords, the bill legalizing in the United Kingdom colonial marriages with a deceased wife's sister. This will be Lord Strathcona's first step as an Imperial legislator.

A Canadian Competitor.

Lieut. Penant of the Canadian Artillery, at present quartered at Aldershot, has entered for several of the competitions at the Royal Military Tournament to be held at the Agricultural Hall, Islington, from the 19th of May to the 2nd of June.

THE MONITOR.

Ericsson's Historic Ironclad and Its Trip to Hampton Roads.

The Monitor had been formally commissioned on Feb. 25, 1862, under command of Lieutenant John L. Worden, U. S. N. Twelve officers and 45 enlisted men comprised her personnel. Chief Engineer A. C. Stimers, the superintendent of construction, went to sea in the vessel to observe her performance and give the officers the benefit of his knowledge. He was, as stated by Colonel W. C. Church in his "Life of John Ericsson," "the only man on board who thoroughly understood the characteristics of the vessel."

The voyage to Hampton Roads was eventful, and almost ended the career of the Monitor, and with it the fate of ironclads for an indefinite time. Rough weather was encountered, and water broke over the smoke and blower trunks, nearly putting out the fires and stopping the pumps from lack of steam for four or five hours on one occasion. Loss by foundering was imminent at this time, because of the great quantity of water that got into the vessel under the base of the turret and through the hawse pipes. The blowers stopped because the belts got wet and the engine and fire-rooms filled with noxious gas from the fires and had to be abandoned. In trying to remedy this trouble the chief engineer, Mr. Newton, and his assistants were overcome by the gas and were carried to the top of the turret, where they revived, though they were thought dead when dragged out of the engine room. Trouble and danger also resulted from the wheel ropes jumping off the steering wheel and becoming jammed.

After two days of toil and peril the Monitor escaped from the dangers of the sea into the presence of a new enemy. Late in the afternoon of March 8 she passed in at the capes of Chesapeake, and from the sound of shotted guns knew that her time for action had come thus early in her career. The Merrimac was abroad that very afternoon, and wreck and destruction fouled her wake. A rude improvised ironclad herself, she marked a new era in naval warfare, and before her lay a large fleet of supposedly formidable ships of war as helpless as a flock of sheep assailed by a wolf.

Night fell before the Monitor came up to the seemingly doomed Union fleet in Hampton Roads. The Merrimac had glutted her thirst for blood for the day and was at anchor and at rest, but in her silence in presence of the ships that she meant to attack in the morning she stood for all that men understand by the dominion of the seas. Lighted by the burning wreck of the frigate Congress, the Monitor moved up toward Newport News and anchored near the stranded Minnesota, upon which vessel, it was certain, the first blow of the morrow would fall.

From either a historical or a theatrical point of view the stage settings were now complete. With the night the curtain had fallen upon the last of a long series of glorious deeds, performed under an order of seamanship or sea tactics that had already long passed its meridian, but which for romance and chivalry excelled any that had preceded it, and, it must be admitted, excelled that which was now to rudely supplant it. A new type of sea warrior and a new type of warship were about to appear upon the waters. The engineer's machine of John Ericsson was to face the fabric that represented the engineering ingenuity of the American south, and the result of the encounter would inflict fright upon the romance of the sea and transform the masted navies of the world into useless relics in a day.—F. M. Bennet, U. S. N., in Cassier's Magazine.

The Cake Walk Is French.

The cake walk properly had its origin among the French negroes of Louisiana more than a century ago. There is little doubt that it is an offshoot of some of the old French country dances. It represents several of them in form. From New Orleans it spread over the entire south and thence north. It was found of convenience to the plantation negroes. They were not wedded by license, and it was seldom that the services of a preacher were called in.

At a cake walk a man might legitimately show his preference for a woman and thus publicly claim her for a wife. In effect the cake walk was not different from the old Scotch marriage, which required only public acknowledgment from the contracting parties. So this festival became in some sense a wooing, an acceptance or rejection and a ceremony. This explains its popularity with the blacks outside of its beauties, with the accompaniment of music, which is competent at all times to command negro support.

Cake walking has improved, as do most things that are constantly practiced. It has lost its old significance in the south. Negroes now get married, when they marry at all, in the white folks' fashion. It has, moreover, become a pantomime dance. Properly performed, it is a beautiful one. The cake is not much of a prize, though the negro has a sweet tooth.—New Orleans Times-Democrat.

Making Sandwiches.

Ninety-nine women in a hundred making sandwiches for company expected in the evening, and wanting them crustless, will cut the crust off after slicing the bread. Take a whole loaf of bread, cut the sides and top crust off, leaving the bottom crust on. Then, having squared off one end, spread on your deviled ham, sardine paste or whatever and cut a thin slice back to the bottom crust. Release the slice by running your knife down just inside the bottom crust. Then neither the bread nor your temper is crumpled.—New York Tribune.

A Shunned Coal Hole.

Down on South Clark street, about 100 feet north of Madison, there is on the west side of the street a coal hole shaped like a coffin. Originally the opening was not different from any other coal hole. It was of ordinary size, and was closed with a hexagonal cover. Then a large piece of the stone was broken off the sidewalk, enlarging the hole to a great extent. When the stone was replaced by a sheet of iron, the hexagonal opening was elongated, so that the shape of a coffin was formed. Then the pedestrians along South Clark street had their troubles.

It is asserted that attention was first called to the ominous hole in the sidewalk when a man had his leg sprained by a misstep on the cover. A number of persons witnessed the accident, and at the same time noted the peculiar shape of the cover. It was not long before everybody seemed to be aware of the casketlike figure. Now, any one who watches the crowds that daily pass along Clark street, near Madison, will be attracted by their actions when they walk near the coal hole. All the men keep a safe distance from the awe inspiring object, while the women carefully raise their skirts as they walk shyly away from the cover. To the casual observer these pecular antics are unexplainable, but the men and women who are acquainted with the history of the coffin shaped cover are too wise to place themselves in the power of "the evil eye."—Chicago Inter Ocean.

CURED THROUGH THE USE OF
Dr. William's Pink Pills

A CRIPPLE RESTORED.

From the Echo, Wiarton, Ont.

The Echo presents to its readers the following plain statement of fact, with the simple comment that a medicine that can perform so remarkable a cure is invaluable, and it is no wonder that the aggregate of its sales throughout the country is enormous.

I, Richard B Collins, make the following statement, which can be confirmed by many witnesses in this section. I first began to complain about five years ago. I had been working in a fish shanty, and was wet the whole time. I was confined to the house for three months. On getting better I commenced work again and continued at it until the next January, when I took a much worse attack. The doctors pronounced it rheumatism, and after treating me for that disease until about the first of May, they discovered that my trouble was disease of the hip joint, and advised me to go to a hospital. I went to Toronto and stayed in the hospital five weeks and then returned home. I did not recover and was compelled the following summer to go back to the hospital, where I remained three months, getting worse all the time. I was told I could not be cured, and when I left was only able to walk by the aid of crutches. I then came home and was not there long before I was taken to my bed. I remained in this state until January following, when I was advised by several friends to try Dr Williams' Pink Pills. I took their advice, and before I had finished the fifth box I began to improve, and by the time I had completed a dozen boxes I was able to walk without cruches, and have never used them since. I was able to do light work in a short time, and in January last (1897) I commenced working in the woods and have no trouble from the hip unless over exerted. During the last three years I have spent $300.00 in doctors' bills and medicines, but without any good results until I took Dr Williams' Pink Pills to which I owe my restored condition, as the doctors gave up all hope of ever seeing me out of bed alive and well. I may say that before I began taking Dr Williams' Pink Pills during my last attack I put in many a night so bad that I never expected to be alive in the morning.

IN ST. JOHN'S HOSPITAL

Among those who speak in terms of gratitude of Dr Williams' Pink Pills is Mr Lemuel McCrady, of Shannon, N B. He says:—"A year ago I was taken with a pain in my hip, which gradually worked down to the knee, where it settled. At first I thought it an attack of rheumatism and treated it with the medicine ordinarily used for that trouble, but with no benefit. The knee began to swell and the pain became excruciating. I wasted away to a mere shadow, and was no better than a cripple. I then consulted a physician, but got no relief. Then I went to a hospital at St. John. The physician who examined me there said my trouble was consumption of the blood, and that it might be necessary to amputate my leg. Thoroughly discouraged, I returned home. Then my mother urged me to try Dr Williams' Pink Pills. After using two or three boxes I found the pain greatly diminishing, and by the time I had taken seven boxes the limb had regained its normal condition, the pain had disappeared, I had gained greatly in flesh and was as well as ever I had been in my life. I feel very grateful, for I believe Dr Williams' Pink Pills saved me from a life of helplessness."

A YOUNG LIFE SAVED.

Mr. Wm. Stoughton, a farmer living near Barryvale, Ont, tells of his daughter's recovery to health as follows:—"In 1893, my daughter, then a picture of health and strength, went to Ardock, North Dakota. In April of that year she caught a severe cold, which brought her to the verge of the grave. The cold was followed by headache, dizziness and palpitation of the heart, and she became so pale and emaciated that her doctors there said she was going into consumption, and advised her to return home. She was so weak as to be almost helpless, and we decided that the best thing to be done was to send her to the Kingston hospital, where she could have better treatment than was possible in our country home. She remained for two months in the hospital, gradually growing weaker instead of stronger, and as it seemed to us that there was no hope of recovery, we brought her home. At this time she was so weak as to be scarcely able to walk across the room. She was pale and terribly emaciated, and had constant pains in her back and limbs, had no appetite, and was to all appearance gradually sinking. My wife and I had read much of the cures wrought by the use of Dr Williams' Pink Pills and as all else had failed, we decided to try them. Words cannot express how thankful we now are that we came to this decision. We got six boxes, and before they were all gone there was a decided improvement. Hope returned, and we procured another six boxes. She took them, and the story is now summed up in two words—was cured. She now feels neither pain nor ache, her color has returned, she is strong and healthy, and does not now look like one who had ever seen a day's sickness. And this great change was brought about by the use of twelve boxes of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, after months of medical treatment had failed, and at a time when death was thought to be not far off. We will always sound the praises of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and we hope that some other sufferer reading this will take hope and find renewed health in this wonderful medicine."

HOSPITAL TREATMENT FAILED.

The Fort William, Ont., Journal relates the cure of Mrs Jane Marceille, of that town, as follows:—Nervous prostration, heart disease, consumption, and other names were given to her malady by physicians, but months passed, during which she suffered untold agony, without finding any relief. Palpitation of the heart, dizziness, extreme pain in the chest, loss of appetite and nervousness were some of the symptoms of the disease; gatherings that caused excruciating pain formed at the knee joints and other parts of the body, and at last she became perfectly helpless and unable to walk or even sit up. At this stage she was advised to enter the hospital, that she might have the benefit of skilled nurses as well as best medical treatment; but after spending some time there without obtaining any relief the poor woman gave up all hope of recovery and asked to be taken home. So emaciated and weak had she become that her friends were shocked at her appearance, and so utterly hopeless was her condition that it was like mockery to speak hopefully of her ultimate recovery. What then was the astonishment of all who had known her dreadful condition to hear that she had at last found a remedy whose magical power at once demonstrated the fact that where is life there is hope. The name of this remedy that worked such a wonderful change in such a short time was Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and after taking five boxes she was able to walk about and visit her friends. Her strength gradually but surely returned, and in a few months from the time she began using the medicine she was able to resume her work.

WASTED TO A SKELETON.

Mr Jas. Davis, of Vittoria, Ont., says:—Knowing that I am a living monument of the wonderful curing properties of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, I deem it my duty as a grateful man, to give my testimony for the aid of such as are afflicted as I was. I am a resident of the village of Vittoria. Three years ago I was stricken with and partially paralyzed by rheumatism, and after being under the care of two physicians I was given up to die. I wasted away to a skeleton. I lost the use of my limbs entirely and food was given me by a spoon, and such an existence was indeed miserable. I was persuaded by my friends to try medical treatment in the General Hospital in Toronto and after spending several weeks there came home disheartened and even worse than before. While writhing in the pangs of pain discouraged and ready to die, I heard of Dr Williams' Pink Pills. While doubting that they would cure me, I was prevailed upon to take them. The effect was marvellous. For two long years I had not enjoyed a single night's rest, and I then slept a sweet sleep, which seemed like heaven to me. I revived, could eat, and gradually grew stronger, and as I gained strength my hope of living increased. I have taken forty-one boxes, which may seem a large quantity, but be it remembered I had taken many times their value in other medicines and had been declared incurable by doctors. The result is I am now able to undergo hard physical exercise. The fact is beyond a question that Dr Williams' Pink Pills as a last and only medicine proved successful in reaching the germs of my disease and saved me from a life of misery and pain.

Moralists may prate, and doctors prose, and science shout from the housetop, but just so long as the birds sing and the flowers bloom, and a maiden's lips are cherry-red, and a young man's eyes look love, just so long the lads and lassies will kiss—and kiss again.

And where, good men, is the harm if the kissers and kissees be healthy, and true love stands sponsor. It is only when ill-health has blasted the sweet cleanliness of youth that death lurks upon its lips. The deadly germs of dread consumption are as harmless as June-time butterflies to the young man or woman who is thoroughly clean, sweet and healthy in every fiber and tissue. The germs of disease only attack that which is already partly decayed.

There is a great medicine that is a sure and certain protection against all germs and a speedy cure for all germ diseases. It is Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It gives youthful zest to the appetite. It corrects all faults of the digestion. It aids assimilation. It fills the blood with the vital, life-giving elements of the food. It builds sweet, clean, healthy tissues in every part of the body. It drives out all disease germs. It cures 98 per cent. of all cases of bronchial, throat and lung affections if taken in time. All good medicine dealers sell it, and have nothing "just as good."

Mr. Jos. Henderson Dirblun, of 544 Josephine Street, New Orleans, La., writes: "I was ailing for some two years, suffering from dyspepsia, a tired feeling, and loss of energy and appetite. I tried one bottle of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and found great relief. I took two more bottles, three in all, and one or two vials of the 'Pellets,' when I was in good health again. I recommend Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery to do all that it is claimed to do."

A man or woman who neglects constipation suffers from slow poisoning. Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets cure constipation. One little "Pellet" is a gentle laxative, and two a mild cathartic. All medicine dealers sell them. No other pills are "just as good."

THE FAIR LITTLE MAIDEN.

"There is one at the door, Wolfe O'Driscoll,
At the door, who is bidding you come."
"Who is he that wakes me in the darkness, Calling when all the world is dumb?"

"Six horses has he to his carriage,
Six horses blacker than the night,
And their twelve red eyes in the shadows
Twelve lamps he carries for his light,

"And his coach is a coffin black and moldy,
A huge black coffin open wide.
He asks for your soul, Wolfe O'Driscoll,
Who is calling at the door outside."

"Who let him through the gates of my gardens, Where stronger bolts have never been?"
"'Twas the father of the fair little maiden
You drove to the grave so green."

"And who let him pass through the courtyard
By loosening the bar and the chain?"
"Oh, who but the brother of the maiden
Who lies in the cold and the rain!"

"Then who drew the bolts at the portal,
And into my house bade him go!"
"She, the mother of the poor young maiden
Who lies in her youth so low."

"Who stands, that he dare not enter
The door of my chamber, between?"
"Oh, the ghost of the fair little maiden
Who lies in the churchyard green!"

MEHMED'S LUCK.

Mehmed Agha was one of the most shiftless and useless of the refugees from Bulgaria who came to Constantinople after the Russian war made that region a Christian country. He was strong in build, he was good looking, and he seemd fairly intelligent. But do what he would he could find no steady work. At almost any hour of almost any day his bright yellow waistcoat and crimson girdle gleamed among the shadows of the dingy little coffee house by the carriage stand at Beshiktash, for there he lounged away his time, waiting for something to turn up. At night he wrapped himself in his brown homespun cloak and slept on one of the coffee house benches, barely tolerated by the coffee house keeper, because he, having been a refugee himself, knew the pitiful bitterness of the refugee's lot. How Mehmed lived no one knows. He was never seen to eat, and people looked at him askance, as though he had mastered the chameleon's secret. At last Mehmed's long and patient expectancy was justified. Something did turn up, and from that moment the man's character as well as his life was revolutionized.

What turned up was a very simple and pleasing solution of his difficulties. One day the stout and jolly old imam of the parish received a visit from Melek Hanum, a buxom widow living nearly opposite the little coffee house by the carriage stand. She held her white veil modestly over her face, and, with a certain amount of hesitation and incoherency, she asked the astonished old gentleman to obtain for her the hand of Mehmed the refugee in marriage. She explained that, being a lone woman, she needed a husband, and that Mehmed Agha, being a good looking man who had nothing in particular to occupy him, she fancied that he might have been destined by fate for the vacant post in her house. "Of course it will amount," she said, "to my doing everything for him, but then the poor fellow needs to have some one to take care of him."

The good imam had not quite that right of disposal of Mehmed Agha's hand which Melek Hanum seemed to ascribe to him. Nevertheless as pastor of the parish he had more than once performed similar favors for anxious and hopeless ones. He therefore saw no reason to refuse to act as wooer of Mehmed for the widow, and, thanks to his wise diplomacy, a match was quickly arranged.

Not long after the marriage Melek Hanum casually remarked to her husband that she knew how to make very good beurek pastry cakes. "There is no reason," she said, "why you should not go out early in the morning and sell my beurek cakes on the streets. People will buy them for breakfast, and we shall make on them at least enough to pay for our coal." This seemed unimpeachable sense. Thus Mehmed Agha became a beurekji, rising early every morning and peddling the toothsome cakes from house to house in a little tray slung about his neck. The profits reconciled him to the inconvenience of regular duties.

After the trade in pastry cakes had become an established and successful enterprise Melek Hanum one day hailed her husband with a new proposal. "Oh, Mehmed, soul of my soul," she said, "it is no shame to work if we can get money in that way to pay the baker's account. The neighbors have just told me from their window that Yusuf, the school porter, has gone away. He is to be stableman at Kiamil Pasha's. Run quick to the imam and ask him to let you be school porter. Your beurek cakes are sold off long before it is time to take the children to school. You might do this work as well as not."

The imam was kindly disposed, and so the next day, after selling his beureks, Mehmed Agha began his new duties, gathering up all the little children of the quarter and taking them and their dinner tins under his protecting shadow to the school.

After a few weeks there came again a day when the good imam knocked at the door of the little house opposite the coffee shop and called for Mehmed Agha. "May God give you endless days!" said he. "A may whom I put into the Bezestan as broker has died. If you like, I can get you his place. Perhaps you might make a little money out of the business."

Before Mehmed Agha had a chance to answer a gentle voice from behind the screen where Melek Hanum had taken refuge on the arrival of the imam said: "Certainly, Mehmed, you ought to take this position. Fortunately the Bezestan does not open until the middle of the forenoon. You will not have to hurry at all after taking the children to school. It is not every day that you can get a chance to take up a business which will pay the rent of the house." Needless to say, Mehmed Agha became a Bezestan broker. Every day after selling his beurek cakes and taking the children to school he hurried over to Stamboul and spent three or four hours in perambulating the bazaars, now with a watch and again with a copper kettle or perhaps an amber cigarette holder in his hand for all to see, while he cried aloud the amount of the last bid and accepted new ones. He succeeded pretty well, for the Bezestan merchants liked his looks and his manner of talking and gave him plenty of opportunities to make his commission.

One evening when Mehmed Agha returned from Stamboul he found his wife in a state of great excitement. Hamid, the night watchman of the district, was an old man. He had now been taken sick again and had been forced to acknowledge that he could no longer perform the duties of his office. "It is a rare chance for you, Mehmed," said Melek Hanum. "I have told the imam to recommend you to the captain of the guard for the place. The work will not interfere with your other business, and it will bring us in at least enough to pay for our clothes."

Mehmed Agha looked rather ruefully at this new development of his good luck, but the very next night saw him installed as night watchman. He had to sally forth about two hours after sunset, wrapped in his brown homespun overcoat and with his feet incased in enormous boots, with toes sharp and upturned, like the bows of a caique. All night long with the iron shod parochial club he had to pound out the hours in regular succession on the rough cobblestones of the pavement. A short time before daybreak he would return to his abode and take a short nap until it was time for him to begin a new day's work with slinging his tray to sell his beurek cakes about the streets.

The good old imam was a true friend to Mehmed Agha. Before very long he found a new way to help him. One of the muezzins of the mosque of Mihrimah, near the Adrianople gate in Stamboul, was going back to his home at Aleppo. "You have a good voice," said the imam, "and you might just as well do the work of this muezzin. Happily the Bezestan closes early. There will be plenty of time. All you have to do is to run over to Mihrimah after you get through at the Bezestan. There you give the call for afternoon prayers from the minaret and sing in the choir at the service, and then you come home as comfortable as a cat that is licking her chops over the last of the little chickens."

This was becoming serious, and Mehmed nearly said that he could not undertake any more work. But as soon as his wife heard of the proposal she said: "You are already in Stamboul in any case, my lion, and you might just as well earn this money too. It will provide for our tobacco." So Mehmed Agha became muezzin at the mosque of Mihrimah in addition to his other duties.

One day after the Bezestan had closed Mehmed Agha was making all speed to reach the mosque in time, when in crossing the square in front of the mosque of Bayezid he squarely ran into a man. What was his amazement to find that this collision had brought him face to face with Osman Agha, a friend of his boyhood at his old home in Lovcha in Bulgaria. Mehmed Agha had not seen his friend since the war but established immediate connection.

Osman Agha called after him to stop a moment, but Mehmed Agha answered "No; I am in a great hurry, and I cannot stop."

"Man alive," cried Osman Agha, "I have just come from your father's house, and you pass me like a cabinet minister, with a wave of the hand!" These words were uttered in a somewhat disjointed and jerky fashion, for Osman Agha was running after Mehmed. When he had caught him firmly by the coat collar, Osman added, "Well, how are you, and what are you doing for a living?"

Mehmed Agha made no attempt to break away and replied: "I am all right. For some time I had no work, but a woman married me, and she has found work for me, and now let me go and do it."

"But what kind of work is it that will not let you even stop to have a cup of coffee with your oldest friend?"

"Oh, it is many works. First thing in the morning I am beurekji and sell beurek cakes at Beshiktash. Then I am school porter there and have to take the children to school as soon as the beurek cakes are sold. As soon as the children are safely at school I have to hurry off to Stamboul, for I am broker in the Bezestan while that is open, and I sell auction goods about the bazaars. As soon as the Bezestan closes I am muezzin at the mosque of Mihrimah, and now I must go there to call the people to afternoon prayers. After the service I go home, and as soon as I get home I am night watchman until it is time to sell the beurek cakes again. My wife has found me work, you see! Why, man, I do not even have time to eat."

"Well," said Osman Agha indignantly, "all I have to say is that if I had a wife who made me work like that I would divorce her before sunset!"

"That is what I would like to do," said Mehmed Agha, now for the first time recognising his grievances. "Yes, it would be best to divorce this woman. But, then, I would have to go to the court to tell the judge that I have divorced her and to give security for the dowry money. Mercy! Don't you see, Osman? It would never do in the world. It would take at least two hours' time! I really haven't time to be divorced!"

So saying, Mehmed Agha broke away from his friend and rushed off to the mosque of Mihrimah to call the faithful to prayers.—New York Tribune.

Personal Feeling In Battle.

Writing about the personal feeling of a commander in battle, General Schofield says in his "Forty-six Years In the Army" that in his own experience the greater the actual danger the less it was thought to be. The responsibilities of a great battle drive out all thoughts except those that are likely to influence the final result.

At the battle of Nashville General Thomas and General Schofield sat together on horseback on ground overlooking nearly the entire field. Occasionally when a shell exploded near and caused Thomas' horse to make a slight start the only change visible in that calm, stout hearted soldier was a slight motion of the bridle hand to check the horse. General Schofield's own gray charger was fearless, but Thomas never noticed what effect the explosion of a shell produced on either the gray horse or his rider.

Thomas would frequently reach for Schofield's glasses, saying they were the only fieldglasses he had ever found of much use to him. After looking long and earnestly he would return the glasses with what seemed to be a sign of irritation or impatience.

Late in the afternoon, after using the glasses for the last time, he said to Schofield with the energy that battle alone could arouse in his calm nature:

"Smith has not reached far enough to the right. Put in your troops!"

Natural combativeness is so strong in some generals in battle that they regret—General Schofield confesses he did several times—that rank prevents their from using a musket in the ranks.

"I have seen this passion so strong," writes General Schofield, "that a major general commanding an army corps would dismount and set the part of gunner to a fieldpiece, apparently oblivious to the battle raging all along the line of his corps."

DEAR SIR,—Please accept my thanks for your cheque just handed to me, for $3,991.98, in settlement of my $2,500 Fifteen Year Endowment Policy in your Company. Such a result as this, after the risk on my life has been carried for fifteen years, beginning from forty-five years of age, argues one thing strongly, namely, that the management of the North American Life must be in competent hands. The other options you have offered me, viz: a Paid-up Life policy for $3510.00, or a Life Annuity for $401.90, are, I presume, equally liberal, and it affords me much pleasure to recommend your Company to my friends or any one desiring insurance.

Yours truly,

A. P. COCKBURN.

CANADA LIFE
Assurance Company.

ANOTHER PROSPEROUS YEAR.

Large Increase in Surplus.

The fifty first annual report of the Canada Life shows this old established Company to be in a most flourishing condition. The annual meeting was held yesterday. Following is a synopsis of the report:—

A PROSPEROUS YEAR.

In presenting to the Shareholders their 51st Annual Report, the Directors are gratified in announcing that the Company has fairly shared in the somewhat improved condition of the business of the country, as will be seen by the Statements and Accounts now submitted. By these it will be observed that the Company has transacted a larger business than during the previous year, and has increased its clear surplus by no less than $497,093 05.

NEW BUSINESS.

The applications for new assurances during 1897 numbered 3,066, for the sum of $6,185,906, of which, however, 266 for $521,000 were declined, the lives not appearing up to that standard which it is in the interest of the company's other assurers should be maintained, and as 191 applications for $373,369 were not carried out, the issue of the year was for $5 291,636, under 2 609 policies, exceeding 1896 by 573 policies for $798,980.

The total business in force at the close of 1897 was $72,719,555 29 of Assurances, under 33,407 policies, upon 24,469 lives.

POLICY CLAIMS.

The claims by deaths paid during 1897 amounted to $770,168 45, and Endowment policies for $128,846 92, having matured, these sums, as well as $216,481 29 for profits, $145 411.18 for surrenders, and an annuity of $400, making in all $1,263,307.94, were paid to policyholders during the year.

INCREASE IN ASSETS.

The Income receipts of the year were $2,953,272.83, and deducting therefrom all payments to policy-holders for claims by death, for profits, and for matured Endowment policies, as well as other outlay, including expenses of management, there was left the sum of $1 272,486 05, which increased the Company's Assets to $18,678,915 67.

SURPLUS.

As appears by the Abstract of Assets and Liabilities, after providing fully for the necessary reserve for all policies of the Company, and for all its other Liabilities, there is shown a Surplus of $1,564,082 05.

THE PRESIDENT'S ADDRESS.

The President, Mr. A. G. Ramsay, in moving the adoption of the report, said:

The Directors' Report and the usual accounts and statements have for some days been in your hands, and have now been taken as read. While the report is brief, it contains, I think, along with the various published accounts, all that is required to enable those interested in the Company to judge of its progress and success in the past year. The addition during 1897 of nearly half a million dollars to the surplus or profits fund is a large and satisfactory one, and without invidiously comparing it with the figures of any other particular Company. I may say that it is more than was attained by all the other Canadian companies combined. The new business of the year was, you will observe, of satisfactory and gratifying amount, and in excess of the previous year, and you will be pleased to know that it is of that desirable class which will result more to the profit of the Company than would a larger amount obtained at heavier expense, or from less desirable regions than the healthful climate of Canada, and the four Northern States to which we have thus far deemed it judicious to confine the operations of the Company. The existing assurances are $72,719,555 or nearly twice as much as they were 12 years ago. The death claims of the year continued of very favourable amount, and being well within what was calculated upon, that fact testifies to the care observed in the selection of the lives, and to the judicious limitation of the business to the healthful climates already alluded to.

The recent lamentable failures of some of the companies doing business on the assessment system, and the anxiety felt as to the others which are based upon the same fallacious principles lead me to point out that these occurrences are only the inevitable results, which were from the first predicted by those whose knowledge and experience enabled them to judge of what the future of companies of the kind must be. At our meeting in 1887, when concerns of the kind were making strenuous efforts to establish themselves in Canada, I alluded to the miserable failures they had been in England and in America, and I said that their "ephemeral existence indicates how useless the assessment system of assurance is as a family provision. It can only offer the uncertain hope of a cheap assurance for a few years, till the company breaks down. It cannot afford any guarantee that a definite amount of assurance will certainly be paid to a widow or children after an assurer's death, whether that occurs at an early day or a distant one, and without such a guarantee as that, which our own and other sound companies offer, life assurance must be a fraud and a delusion." I added that "I was aware that agents and managers of companies of the kind pointed to the names of prominent business and professional men who have joined them, or who act as their directors, but as some of them at all events allow their names to be employed in that way, simply because policies have been gratuitously given to them, one can judge how little weight should attach to the names of the gentlemen thus used to decoy others to join such companies." One cannot envy the feelings of the prominent gentlemen alluded to, who induced persons to take policies in companies of the kind, from which they are now driven out by their failure, or by the levy of such high payments as they are unable to meet.

As the accounts show, the year's income was within a trifle of three million dollars, and the assets of the company were increased to the very considerable amount of nearly nineteen million dollars, and yielding, after deducting liabilities of every kind, a net surplus or profit of $1,564,082 for allocation at the end of next year, along with whatever addition there may be made to it between now and that time, and as the management and other expenses by which the profits to policy-holders are very largely influenced continue to be on a more moderate percentage than that of other Canadian or American companies, he prospects for our assurers are of a favourable character.

It is anticipated that legislation will be introduced by the Government, modifying the present 4½ per cent. rate of interest prescribed by law as the basis for Life Assurance Reserves, and adopting the new mortality Tables based upon the observations and large experience of the British Insurance Companies, in course of compilation by the Institute of Actuaries of Great Britain, and I may say on behalf of the Board in reference to the amendment to the charter, alluded to in the Directors report of last year, that the Directors purpose to avail themselves of the occasion of that legislation to seek such amendments to the law as may meet the Board's requirements.

The motion was seconded by Mr. F. W. Gates, Vice-President, and unanimously carried. A hearty vote of thanks was tendered to the agents, officers, medical and legal advisers of the company, Mr. Adam Brown speaking in eloquent terms of their services rendered to the Company.

Mr. Leggat moved and Lieut.-Col. McLaren seconded a hearty vote of thanks to the President and Directors for their attention to the interests of the Company during the past year. Brief and interesting addresses were also made by Sir George Kirkpatrick and Sir George Burton, the latter of whom was heartily congratulated upon the recent honour conferred upon him by the Queen.

The retiring Directors, Chief Justice Sir George Burton, Col. Sir Casimer Gzowski, K.C.M.G., and Mr. N. Merritt, were re-elected. At a subsequent meeting of the Directors, Mr. A. G. Ramsay was re-elected President and Mr. F. W. Gates Vice-President.

The meeting passed off very harmoniously, every one present being gratified with the progress and continued prosperity of the Canada Life, which, as Sir George Kirkpatrick remarked, was easily leader of all Companies in the Dominion.

CANADIAN GENERAL ELECTRIC WORKS.

BUSINESS IS APPARENTLY BOOMING THERE.

A Local Concern Which is Turning Out a Large Number of Orders for all Parts of the Dominion.

An idea of the work which is being turned out at the Canadian General Electric Works can be gained by the following paragraphs taken from the current issue of the Canadian Engineer :

The Canadian General Electric Co. has sold to Alex. Dobson, of Beaverton, Ont., a standard 20-K.W. Edison dynamo.

Larkin & Sangster, contractors, Iroquois, Ont., have purchased from the Canadian General Electric Co, a 35-light arc dynamo with lamps.

The Canadian General Electric Co. has put in the last of the four 4,000-light single phase alternators ordered by the Toronto Electric Light Co.

The Canadian Pacific Navigation Co., Victoria, B.C., has purchased from the Canadian General Electric Co., for one of their steamers, a multipolar direct connected set with marble switchboard.

The B. C. Bullion Extracting Co. has made a contract with the Canadian General Electric Co., to supply a 100 horse-power synchronising motor, and a 50 horse-power induction motor for their works, which are about a mile and a half from Rossland, B.C.

The Canadian General Electric Co. has a contract for supplying three direct-connected units for the C. P. R. steamers which are to go on the Stickine route. These units will consist of a 4-kilowatt, 70-light incandescent dynamo, direct-connected to a vertical high-speed engine, running at 600 revolutions per minute.

The Halifax Tramway Company has installed two 5,000-light monocyclic alternators from the works of the Canadian General Electric Company.

The Canadian General Electric Co. is furnishing to the Linde British Refrigerating Co., Montreal, two 50 h.p. and one 15 h.p. induction motors.

The British American Corporation, Vancouver, B.C., has ordered a 100-light dynamo, with search light and engine, from the Canadian General Electric Co.

The Canadian General Electric Co. has closed a contract with the corporation of Port Arthur for a railway car body equipped with G.E. 1,000 motors.

D. Maxwell & Sons, St. Mary's, are installing an electric plant for lighting their factories, and have purchased for the purpose a 200-light Edison dynamo, manufactured by the Canadian General Electric Co.

The Manitoba Gas & Electric Light Co., of Winnipeg, has ordered from the Canadian Electric Co., a 6,000 light direct-current generator to run at 150 revolutions a minute, also a 125 light brush arc machine.

The Canadian General Electric Co. has closed a contract with the Laurentide Co., at Grande Mere, Que., for two 55-kilowatt moderate speed direct current dynamos with marble panels and instruments complete.

The Ontario Rolling Mill Co., Hamilton, is rapidly rebuilding the works recently destroyed by fire; they intend installing the most modern system of electric lighting throughout, and have placed an order with the Canadian General Electric Co., for one of their latest types of multipolar direct current dynamos having a capacity for 200 lights.

W. Doherty & Co., Clinton, Ont., have commenced work on their new factories, which they expect to have completed early in May. The new works are to be lighted throughout by electricity, and for this purpose they have closed a contract with the Canadian General Electric Co., for a 500-light dynamo, two 10 h.p. motors, and all wiring material required.

L. A. Campbell, for several years chief engineer of the Canadian General Electric Company, has been appointed general manager and electrical engineer of the West Kootenay Power and Light Company. Under the superintendence of Mr. Campbell, this company has already installed 2,000 horsepower for delivery to Rossland, B. C., and has a waterway developed for 7,000 horse power altogether. This company supplies power to the celebrated War Eagle mine.

The Manitoba Gas and Electric Co., Winnipeg, is making extensive alterations and additions to its plant, and have placed an order with the Canadian General Electric Co. for a 300-kilowatt alternating generator of their monocyclic design, and one 125 light brush arc dynamo to be direct connected to vertical engine. The Canadian General Electric Co. is thoroughly overhauling the outside construction work, and equipping the system with their standard type H. transformers throughout.

J. R. Scott, an enterprising citizen of Napanee, has closed a contract with the Canadian General Electric Co. for a 100 K. W. 4,000 volt, three phase generator of the revolving field type, for the purpose of supplying light and power to Napanee from a water power eight miles distant. He will also supply light and power to intermediate points, such as Napanee Mills, Camden East, and Newburg.

The Montreal Cotton Co., of Valleyfield, Que., has just placed an order with the Canadian General Electric Co. for two 600 h.p. three phase generators to be directly connected to turbines. This installation is a duplicate of the generators installed by the Electric Company over a year ago, and which have given entire satisfaction. With these four generators and station apparatus the company will have one of the most modern power stations on the continent.

The Electric Reduction Co., of Buckingham, Que., is putting a 1,000 h.p. three-phase generator for electrolytic work. This machine is wound for a potential of 60 volts, and is of the revolving field and stationary armature type. It runs at 160 revolutions per minute, 75 volts, and is direct connected to a water-wheel. The equipment is of the same type as that furnished by the Canadian General Electric Co. to the West Kootenay Power & Light Co.

The Canadian General Electric Co. is installing a Direct Connected Lighting unit on board the C.P.R. steamship Athabasca, consisting of a 500 light incandescent dynamo, direct connected to a 50 h.p. high speed "Ideal" engine. This unit, which is very compact, occupies a floor space of less than 6 ft x 9 ft. The dynamo is of the latest steel frame multipolar type, with ventilated armature. A marble switchboard, on which are mounted a standard equipment of instruments, is also part of the new equipment, which when finished will be the most complete on any of the steamers now running on the upper lakes.

FROM JERUSALEM.

A Letter Received From the Far East a Few Days Ago.

Mr. John Proctor, of the local Customs House staff, has just received a letter from his nephew, Rev. John F. Kerr, who is in the Holy Land on a trip. Besides being a well known divine, Mr. Kerr is also a newspaper man, and when recently living in Western Michigan owned and edited the Michigan Record as well as occupied two pulpits. His letter which will be found most interesting, is appended :

JERUSALEM, April 16th, 1897.

Mr John Proctor, Peterborough Ont :

DEAR UNCLE,—I arrived safely in the promised land and have been rambling over the mountains of Israel for about three weeks. I need not tell you how my health has been when I make known the fact that in one day I walked from Haifa to Nazareth, in another from Nazareth to the Sea of Galilee, and in two days from Nazareth to Jacob's Well, and in one day from there to Jerusalem. In one day I visited on foot Jericho, the Dead Sea and the fords of Jordan, having left Jerusalem in the morning at 6 o'clock. The following day I dipped seven times in the Jordan. At sunrise and about 3 o'clock in the afternoon was on the top of the Mount of Olives, and a little later on Mount Calvary. Since arriving in Palestine I have walked about 200 miles. Yesterday I made a trip to Bethlehem in the forenoon, and in the afternoon visited the quarries under Jerusalem in company with Mr. Revell, the brother-in-law of D. L. Moody. He is of the firm of Fleming & Revell, book publishers of Chicago. Several other Americans were with him. On my way here I visited Gibraltar, Marseilles, Naples, Genoa, Rome, Sicily, Crete, Athens, Alexandria, Cairo and Port Said. I did not go to Beyrout or Lebanon as I at first thought of, since I found that there are no boats running that way from Greece. I did not find cousin Alex. in Rome. I expect to leave here on the 20th for Ceylon and China, and will probably reach California about July 1st. I am editing a paper called The Jerusalem News, and have just sent away the matter for the first number which will be printed in New York. I have ordered a copy sent to you, and in it you will find a detailed account of my tour in Palestine. It has not been convenient for me to write on the Mount of Olives, but I send you some flowers and olive leaves from there. There is scarcely any grass in Gethsemane, so I send you some rose leaves from there.

Hoping you are all well, I remain
Your affectionate nephew,
JOHN F. KERR.

The "Alex." referred to in the letter is Mr. Alexander Proctor, the sculptor who designed the models for the animals of North America in bronze, shown at the World's Fair. He also is a nephew of Mr. John Proctor's.

THE WOOL QUESTION.

A Circular to the Farmers from the Trade.

Mr. W. H. Wrighton, town, has received the following circular, which will be of interest to those having wool to dispose of :

HAMILTON, ONT., May 10th, 1898.

DEAR SIR,—The following is the United States duty on Canadian wool, viz.:

Washed Combing Fleece	12c per lb.
Unwashed "	12c "
Tub washed, all grades	36c "
Unwashed clothing	11c "
Washed "	22c "
Cotted, burry, seedy and black	12c "

Please give this information to the farmers through your local papers, or otherwise, and impress on them the fact that only wools well washed on sheeps' back can be exported. The duty of 36c per pound on tub-washed, 12c on inferior grades of washed and unwashed combing, and 22c on washed clothing, prohibits their being sent to the United States.

Owing to the Spanish trouble and the probable disturbance of the money market, we cannot give you values, but trust we can do so before the clip is harvested. In the meantime we advise caution.

Yours truly,
LONG & BISBY.

THE FALL OF SAN JUAN

Fort Morro Reduced to a Heap of Ruins in a Few Minutes.

MEAGRE BOMBARDMENT DETAILS

Good Shooting by the American Battleships—Little Response From the Fort—If the Fall Is Complete Admiral Sampson's Feat Will Be Almost as Dashing as Dewey's.

Port au Prince, May 13.—The American fleet, under Rear-Admiral Sampson, bombarded San Juan de Porto Rico yesterday. The following are the details of the bombardment thus far received:

The bombardment began in the morning. Rear-Admiral Sampson, with nine warships, arrived before San Juan just before sunrise. As a signal the battleship Iowa fired the first shot, which took effect.

Then the battleship Indiana opened fire, and in a few minutes Morro Fort was reduced to a heap of ruins.

The fort made little effort to respond, and was silenced almost immediately.

The Spanish steamer Rita was captured by the United States auxiliary cruiser Yale, which took her crew on board.

Thousands of the population and the foreign consuls sought refuge in the interior of the island.

As Dashing as Dewey's Feat.

London, May 13.—The bombarding of San Juan de Porto Rico is held here to indicate the Rear-Admiral Sampson has a pretty accurate knowledge of the whereabouts of the Spanish squadron, at any rate that it is too far distant to interfere with his proceedings. No definite news, however, is yet obtainable as to the locality of Admiral Cervera's fleet, although it is believed to be at the Canaries, waiting to join the Cadiz ships at some predetermined rendesvous.

"The news is fully expected to-day of the fall of San Juan and that Admiral Sampson has sufficient forces handy to land and hold the place. If so his feat will be regarded almost as dashing as Dewey's. It is supposed that the news that bombardment has begun was despatched by some one who had command of the wires at San Juan or permission to send a message. The Spanish reports recently have said that the San Juan forts had been much strengthened, but, looking to the state of affairs at Manila, little credit is given to this report and it is judged that Admiral Sampson's task will not be very difficult.

The Cardenas and Cienfuegos affairs are not regarded as very serious except as showing that an invasion of Cuba will not be a walkover, although if San Juan has fallen it will be utterly impossible for the Spaniards to do much to prevent the invasion.

A Set-Back Acknowledged.

Washington, D.C., May 13.—The setback received by the American blockading squadron in the engagement in Cardenas harbor and the loss of five lives on board the torpedo boat Winslow, had a sobering effect on the element in the navy which is crying out for rapid action and attempts at destroying batteries with unarmored ships. There probably will be some sort of inquiry instituted to ascertain the responsibility for sending such unprotected shells as the Winslow against fortified ports.

The San Juan Bombardment.

Notwithstanding the multitude of rumors that came from all parts of the West Indies as to the bombardment of San Juan de Porto Rico and other sanguinary engagements between Sampson's battleships and the Spanish forces, the Navy Department was in official ignorance of any such event. At the close of office hours it was said that nothing had been reported.

ENGAGEMENTS REPORTED.

An American Force Beaten Off From Cienfuegos With Serious Loss.

London, May 13.—A special despatch from Havana says: "Four American ships opened fire on Cienfuegos Wednesday morning and attempted to haul men and arms in barges. The American guns destroyed the cable station.

"A second attempt to land was also frustrated. Altogether, 14 Spaniards were wounded.

"The Americans must have lost heavily. The fighting continued eight hours."

These Accounts Agree.

Madrid, May 13.—The following despatch has been received from Havana:

"Early yesterday morning four American warships fired repeated cannon shots at Cienfuegos. In the meanwhile, several steamboats, towing eight large boats loaded with arms and ammunition for the rebels, approached the shore. Several battalions of infantry, drawn up on the shore, fired upon the boats, which speedily retreated. At the same time the batteries of the forts and others along the coast fired upon the Americans, who retreated, but again attempted to make a landing on the banks of the River Tremac. The Spanish again repulsed them by hot volleys, inflicting heavy losses. Fourteen Spaniards were wounded."

LOCATED AT LAST.

The Spanish Cape Verde Fleet Is at Port of France, Martinique.

London, May 13.—The Madrid correspondent of the Daily Mail, telegraphing late Thursday night, says:

"Admiral Bermejo admitted to-night that the Cape Verde squadron is now at Port de France, on the west coast of Martinique, French West Indies."

The Cape Verde Fleet.

London, May 13.—The Madrid correspondent of the Daily Mail says: The Government has received information that Admiral Cervera's voyage to Martinique was uneventful. The route to be taken to Porto Rico is not known here, but it was embodied in Admiral Cervera's secret instructions.

Incensed Against the British.

London, May 13—The Hong-Kong correspondent of the Daily Mail says: "The Spaniards at Manila are incensed against the British because it is believed that the Esmeralda piloted the Americans into the bay. It is feared that the Spanish soldiers, who are unpaid, will attack the British factories. The British gunboat Linnet brought from Manila both the Spanish and American mails. The Spanish authorities and Admiral Dewey have been equally courteous in permitting communication with the land and sanctioning the forwarding of letters and documents by any and all means which offered themselves. But the Spaniards have made up their minds to hold out to the last.

"They are in a position to give the Americans a deal of trouble. There are 25,000 Spanish soldiers in the garrison at Manila and 100,000 volunteers enrolled. Scores of coasting steamers are imprisoned on the River Pasig, which is blocked at the mouth by some sunken schooner.

DEWEY HAS NO SINECURE.

He Cannot Control the Rebels in the Interior of the Philippines—Manila Will Not Surrender.

Hong-Kong, May 13.—The British second-class gun vessel Linnet has arrived here with news from the Philippine Islands. She left Manila on Monday last, and reports that the insurgents are uncontrollable. The whole country, it appears, is in a state of anarchy, and Rear-Admiral Dewey is powerless to restore order.

The officers of the Linnet add that, even if Spanish rule is abolished, it will require a large force, with special training, to restore order in the interior. In the meantime the Spaniards in Manila refuse to submit, and Admiral Dewey is unwilling to bombard the town. He hopes to starve the place into submission, but the Spaniards are confident of being able to hold out. They allege they have ample supplies for 25,000 regular troops and thousands of volunteers, beyond the range of the United States warships, and they are defying the Americans in the hope of European intervention.

Two German warships, one French warship and a warship of Japan are now at Manila. A Russian vessel is expected there shortly. A strong anti-British feeling exists among the populace at Manila, and the people are desperate and starving.

Transports for Manila.

San Francisco, Cal., May 13.—The Government has finally arranged for the chartering of the steamers Conemaugh and Ohio, which arrived from Philadelphia a few days ago. This makes five steamers that have been chartered by the Government to be used as transports to Manila. They are the City of Sydney, the City of Peking, the Australia, the Conemaugh and the Ohio. The last two named were to have been engaged in the Klondike trade. It is also reported that the Monterey has been ordered to Manila.

A Flag of Truce Flying.

London, May 13.—For the following information I am indebted to Mr. Wildman, the American Consul here, who tells me, that, according to his dispatches, a flag of truce is flying over Manila and the people are allowed to proceed freely to and from the ships in the harbor. The Americans are on duty night and day, on the lookout for boats which endeavor to run the blockade with food supplies. The hospital is supported by the Americans. The Spaniards are boasting that their big battleship Pelayo is coming and will demolish the Americans in 10 minutes.

Spaniards Spit at an Englishman.

London, May 13.—There was a stormy meeting between the British residents and the British consul over the delay in obtaining protection. Commodore Dewey had taken coal from three British vessels, allowing others to load hence. For a few days popular animosity toward Englishmen was intense. The Spanish soldiers spat at all Englishmen and used foul language. When the incident came to the knowledge of Governor-General Augusti, he wrote an ample apology to the secretary of the English Club, threatening to shoot any officer or soldier who repeated the offence."

Alleged Spy Suicided.

Washington, D.C., May 13.—George Downing, alias Rawlings, the man arrested last Sunday under suspicion of being a spy in the service of Spain, hanged himself at the Washington Barracks yesterday shortly after 9 o'clock. A towel and silk handkerchief were used as the instruments of death. He was an Englishman by birth.

New Spanish Cabinet Before Sunday.

London, May 13.—The Madrid correspondent of the Standard says he expects the new Cabinet will be formed before Sunday. Senor Sagasta is still trying to induce Senor Gamazo and Senor Maura to accept portfolios; both are reluctant to compromise their personal prospects and the head of the Liberal party by joining a Cabinet certain to be beset with difficulties and short lived.

A SPANISH VICTORY.

Hot Battle in the Harbor of Cardenas, Island of Cuba.

U.S. LIEUT. AND FOUR MEN KILLED

Spanish Gunboat Antonio Lopez and the U. S. Torpedo Boat Winslow Disabled—Spanish Have a Sergeant and Seven Soldiers Wounded—Capt.-Gen. Blanco's Congratulations—The Details.

Madrid, May 13.—A despatch from Havana says: "At 8 o'clock yesterday morning three large and three small American ships appeared off Cardenas. A small boat was detached with some marines, who landed near the fort and seized it. They also seized the semaphore station, taking the coast guards prisoners.

"In the meanwhile the warships began a furious cannonade. Cardenas does not possess defences of any kind, and only the little gunboats Ligeria and Antonio Lopez were in port. They replied to the attack. The Antonio Lopez was disabled. But 300 volunteers defended the town, prevented a landing and compelled the American ships to retire with considerable loss. A Spanish sergeant and seven soldiers were wounded.

"Captain-General Blanco has congratulated the authorities of Cardenas."

Remey's Official Account.

Washington, May 13.—Sad news came to the Navy Department yesterday, in the following brief telegram addressed to the Secretary of the Navy. It read as follows: "In action in Cardenas harbor yesterday between Spanish gunboats and shore batteries and the blockading vessels, the following named men were killed on the torpedo boat Winslow: Worth Bagley, ensign U.S.N.; John Varveres, oiler; J. Denefe and George B. Mosk, firemen, first-class, and Elijah B. Tunnell, cabin cook. The wounded are: J. B Bernadou, lieutenant, commanding Winslow; William Patterson, seriously, but not fatally; Daniel McKeon, quartermaster, first-class, slightly hurt. Dead and wounded arrived on U.S.S. Hudson this morning. Dead will be buried to-day. (Signed) Remey."

THE ENGAGEMENT.

Detailed Account of the Repulse of the Winslow by the Spaniards.

The engagement took place inside the harbor of Cardenas. The cruiser Wilmington, the torpedo boat Winslow and the gunboat Hudson were the only vessels engaged. They entered the harbor for the purpose of attacking some Spanish gunboats which were known to be there. But the latter were not discovered by the American force until the Spaniards opened fire. The land batteries of Cardenas supported the fire of the Spanish gunboats.

The engagement commenced at 2 05 p.m., and lasted for about an hour. The Wilmington and the Hudson were struck and opened fire on the Spanish boats, which were lying at the docks. The firing began at a range of 3,500 yards.

A few minutes after the firing began the Winslow came up and also opened fire. In an instant the entire attention of the Spanish gunboats and land batteries were directed upon her. From all sides shot and shells seemed to pour in upon the little torpedo boat. The Wilmington and the Hudson still kept up their fire, but they could not turn aside the terrible storm of fire and death pouring in upon the torpedo boat.

The crew of the Winslow, however, never faltered for a second. But at 2 35 p.m., a solid shot crashed into the hull of the Winslow and knocked out one boiler. In an instant she began to roll and drift helplessly.

Then there was a moment of awful suspense. A fierce cheer of triumph went up from the Spaniards on the gunboats and the firing was renewed upon the helpless boat. The gunboat Hudson, which was lying near by, started to the assistance of the Winslow. She ran alongside the torpedo boat and tried to throw a line to the imperiled crew.

It was difficult for the Hudson to get near enough to throw a line to the Winslow's crew, so terrible was the fire all about her. Finally, after trying for about 20 minutes, the Hudson approached near enough to throw a line.

Death of Ensign Bagley.

Ensign Bagley and six men were standing in a group on the deck of the Winslow. "Heave her, heave her," shouted Bagley, as he looked toward the commander of the Hudson and called for a line. "Don't miss it," shouted an officer from the Hudson, and with a smile Bagley called back: "Let her come, it's getting too hot here for comfort." The line was thrown and at the same instant a shell burst in the very midst of the group of men on board the Winslow.

Bagley was instantly killed, and a few others dropped about him. Half a dozen more fell groaning on the blood-stained deck.

The Winslow is badly damaged and will be sent here as soon as temporary repairs can be made.

Mrs. Burnett a Free Woman.

Washington, D.C., May 11.—Judge Hagner, late yesterday signed a decree granting Frances Hodgson Burnett, the novelist, a divorce from Dr. S. M. Burnett, a well-known oculist of this city. She is permitted to resume her maiden name of Hodgson.

26 Years in Prison.

Chatham, Ont., May 12.—John Twohey, the man who attempted to kill Police Magistrate Houston a few days ago, came up for trial yesterday before Judge Bell. He was found guilty and sentenced to twenty years in Kingston penitentiary.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

COMMODORE DEWEY'S glory is all of a piece. He has been almost made a demigod as well as admiral for his attack on Manilla and "putting to sleep" a few Spaniards, who were comparatively defenceless. Now his worshippers have unearthed an early piece of heroism on Dewey's part. He met a drunken sailor, who was doubtless an easy prey for a sober man, and Dewey thrashed him because he was a disgrace to the navy. Dewey was fined $25 and the gushing report of the affair says 'he paid it.' Dewey is no doubt a cool, capable officer, who showed considerable tact and courage in the attack on Manilla, but it must be remembered that his victory which is belauded ad nauseam et ad infinitum, was gained over a surprised, unready, weak, inefficient, ricketty Spanish fleet, and crumbling forts armed with the most antiquated and useless guns. The most real heroism and bravery was shown by the Spaniards, who fought to the last and refused to be beaten. The Spanish officer who nailed his flag to the mast and went down fighting for his ship, was a type of deliberate courage and pluck in the face of certain defeat. If "Bob" Fitzsimmons should pass down the street when the schools were out for noon and "knocked out" the children he met, he would have little to boast about. The victory at Manilla over the Spanish is somewhat of kidney.

PORTO RICO.

San Juan, the chief city of Porto Rico, which is now being bombarded, according to the latest despatches, has a population of 25,000, occupies an island connected with the mainland by a bridge and a causeway, and is completely enclosed within massive walls of stone and hardened mortar, with a height in places of from 50 to 100 feet. Like Havana, it has its Morro or citadel (literally a round Moorish tower), and the fortifications are on a comprehensive scale, with bastions and drawbridges. It is about 1,000 miles, as the crow flies, from Havana to the harbour of San Juan, Porto Rico, the course being due south-east. San Juan is the capital city of the island. The harbour is one of the finest in the West Indies, large, sheltered and capable of accommodating any number and the largest ships, giving anchorage in from three to six fathoms. But San Juan is only one port of the island, and there are some harbours that are as fine, if not as large, and as landlocked. One other one the north coast is Arrecibo; on the east are Humacao and Fajardo; on the west Aguadilla and Mayaguez—as beautiful as the heart of man could desire, with their gushing springs and background of pointed mountains, and on the south coast are Aeroyo, Guayanilla and Ponce. This last is the largest city, the place have a population of about 35,000, with a vast export trade, chiefly in sugar and molasses. A fine post road connects it with San Juan, running digonally across the island, with a daily diligence between the two. A system of railways is in course of construction that will soon connect all the chief coast cities and open all portions of the interior.

The island is about 120 miles in length by fifty or sixty in breadth, and as nearly rectangular as nature will allow in its coast line. The interior is one vast congeries of mountains, presenting the appearance from a steamer's deck of a limitless sea of hills with rounded summits, and with such gentle slopes as to be susceptible of cultivation to their very summits. The highest mountain of the great central range is called Luquillo, and attains an altitude of 4,000 feet. Then there are innumerable other hills and mountains, between which are rich valleys and rivers large and small though none navigabie even at their mouths. The soil everywhere is very fertile and cultivable, even to the mountain crests, the hill pastures of Porto Rico being celebrated for their succulent grasses, upon which feed cattle and horse, which are are favourites throughout the islands south. These are shipped in large numbers, and constitute the chief wealth of a great many people engaged in the business. Among the hills, also, are thousands of cafetales, or coffee estates, for here the coffee finds congenial soil and climate for its perfect development, and is a source of profit to the many planters who prefer a life of comparative, leisure to the bustle of the town and city. In the valleys grow the sugar cane, cacao, bananas, plantains, and in fact, all sorts of tropical fruits. As the banana industry has been vastly increased in the Island of Jamaica during the past decade, and has rescued many a planter there from ruin, so it will be in Porto Rico, which has every essential for its profitable cultivation and facility for shipment. With its beautiful scenery, its almost perfect climate, its boundless exuberance and range of vegetable products, and consequent facilities for subsistence, with the minimum of labour, Porto Rico may well be termed an earthly paradise.

ONTARIO STATISTICS.

The Ontario report of municipal statistics, just issued by the Department of Agriculture, shows that the population of Ontario in 1896 was 1,972,236, with a total assessment of $814,917,633, a decrease of 7½ millions. The population has increased 14,996. Each man in a municipality pays $6.15 taxes. The debenture debt has not diminished. The municipal bonded debt is $51,805,391, or $26.51 per head. The interest paid on the debt amounted to 21 per cent of imposed taxes. In townships there are 1,112,000 persons, in towns 305,010, in villages 133,442, in cities 420,934. All but villages increased. These fell off by 3,000. Toronto's population is said to be 178,185. The total assets of township municipalities is $5,072,063. The liabilities are $4,380,228. In towns, the assets total $10,925,675; the liabilities, $10,119,105. In villages, assets are $2,192,016; liabilities, $1,376,508. In cities, the assets amount to $41,913,806; liabilities, $39,144,950. The grand total is, assets, $64,803,530; liabilities, $57,730,120.

THE BREAD RIOTS IN EUROPE.

The so-called bread riots in Spain and Italy have already caused more loss of life than the Spanish-American war. In the strict sense of the term they are not bread riots, for the lack of bread was not the primary cause of the disturbances. In both Spain and Italy the high price of breadstuffs was simply made an excuse by revolutionists who wished to overthrow the existing dynasties. In Spain Republicans, Carlists and Weylerites, each having different motives, have incited the people to demand cheaper bread, and in Italy there seems to have been a well-planned revolution. The high prices of breadstuffs cannot be justly attributed to the war, although it has undoubtedly had some influence. It must be noted that the rapid increases have taken place since it became apparent that there is little if any danger of communication being interrupted between Europe and the United States, and no probability of a world war. The calling out of large bodies of volunteers in the United States should make very little difference in the production of breadstuffs in that country, for nearly all the volunteers are taken from the large cities. It has been pointed that the early wars of the United States were fought by farmers, but this one is to be fought by the city boys if there is any fighting to do on land. The probability is that the rise in prices is in a large amount due to the fact that with the outbreak of the war the countries of Europe made a more careful enquiry than usual as to the quantity of breadstuffs on hand, and found there was real danger of a shortage.

JUDGES GET A RAISE.

Not an Opportune Time to Reopen Newfoundland Negotiations.

WORK ON THE CORNWALL CANAL

Manitoba School Question, as Set Forth by Mr. Bergeron, Furnishes Mr. N. Clarke Wallace With a Chance to Make a "No Popery" Speech—Sir Wilfrid's Reply.

Ottawa, May 13.—An important Government notice was presented to the House last night by the Solicitor-General. It gives the junior County Court judges of Ontario the increased remuneration for which they have been asking for years. At present the senior judges receive salaries ranging from $2,000 to $2,300 each, while the junior judges get $1,800 each. All the judges, however, receive traveling allowances of $200 each.

The new resolution reads: "That on and after July 1 next the salaries of the judges and junior judges of the County Courts of Ontario, other than the judge of the County Court of York, shall be $2 000 per annum during the first three years of service, and after three years of service each $2,400 per annum."

Questions and Answers.

The first enquiry was by Dr. Roddick, who asked if it were the intention of the Government to re-open negotiations with the Government of Newfoundland with a view to bringing the island into Confederation.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier replied that, in the opinion of the Government, the moment is not opportune to re-open these negotiations.

Replying to a question by Mr. Broder, the Minister of Railways said the work to be done on the upper entrance of the Cornwall Canal under the tenders advertised for April 8, 1898, is to allow large vessels entering the canal to clear themselves from the cross current and prevent their being carried over the Long Sault Rapids. The reason for having the work done at present is to have a safe entrance for large vessels upon the opening of the canals for 14-foot navigation.

The School Question Revived.

Mr. N. Clarke Wallace resumed the debate on the resuscitated Manitoba school question, remarking at the outset that Sir Charles Tupper had fought the battle single-handed as a Minister in Ontario; that the issue had been accepted by both parties; that Sir Wilfrid Laurier had won on his policy, a fact which many Conservatives accepted with composure. Sir Wilfrid Laurier had won on the promise of no coercion of Manitoba. If he had made other promises elsewhere, let him settle it with those whom he is alleged to have deceived. The country at large had nothing to do with that. But after all this there came mysterious missions to Rome, the missions of Abbe Proulx, of Chevalier Drolet, of Mr. Charles Russell, the Government's own official agent, all trying to get the Pope's acceptance of this settlement. He thought the people of this country, having settled this civil question for themselves, there was no need to go to the Pope of Rome or any other foreign potentate for his approval of it. It was impossible, he argued, for the Government to escape from the charge by urging that in this they acted in their private individual capacities.

The country had been informed that the Laurier-Greenway settlement was a final one, but such did not appear to be the case, judging from the fact that the Government had to send its emissaries to the Pope to get it out of a difficulty. Undoubtedly the Dominion will be called upon to pay the expense of Mr. Russell's trips to Rome. There were still £1,712 unpaid to Mr. Russell's firm.

The Solicitor-General said that not a single item in these bills was on account of the trips to Rome.

Mr. Wallace—Why, of course. Do you suppose Mr. Russell would charge in his account "trips to Rome, £100?"

Continuing, he objected to any body of men in Canada asking that a papal delegate be sent to this country. The people of this country would resent the interference in Canadian affairs of a delegate from the Pope of Rome. Canadians had enjoyed responsible Government for 50 years, and they did not want any dictation from a foreign potentate.

Sir Hibbert Defends Mr. Russell.

Sir Hibbert Tupper said he knew Mr. Russell well, and would never suspect him of a dishonorable act. He had rendered signal service to Canada in connection with the Behring Sea fisheries at Paris. If he went to Rome he didn't think he would charge for his services indirectly. In his opinion it was quite likely that Mr. Russell, having had a great favor conferred upon him in being appointed legal representative of Canada in London, felt that he ought to do his friends a good turn, and accordingly he proceeded to Rome.

The Premier's Speech.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier said that there was a noticeable contrast in the speeches of Mr. Wallace and Mr. Bergeron. Mr. Bergeron, by his inuendos and comments, had prepared a brief for Mr. Wallace, and given him the opportunity of delivering a No Popery speech in Parliament. Mr. Bergeron pretended to advocate the cause of the Roman Catholic minority in Manitoba, but he had made it plain to everybody that his professed friendship was a betrayal, and nothing more nor less than a case of Judas. Once more they had seen a repetition of Conservative tactics—one speech for Quebec and another for Ontario. Yesterday Mr. Bergeron had charged that he (Sir Wilfrid) had appealed to the Holy See on the Manitoba school question and that his colleagues in the Government were not aware of it. He denied that he had ever sent the memorial to Rome. He was a Roman Catholic and a British subject He had no other temporal sovereign than Queen Victoria, but, belonging to that church and acknowledging the Pope of Rome as its spiritual head, he had the right to appeal to Rome if he so desired. The only document which he had ever signed that was sent to Rome was that prepared in the fall of 1896, in conjunction with the Catholic senators and members of Parliament.

Sir Wilfrid here read the famous appeal to Pope Leo XIII., and maintained there was not a word in the document invoking the aid of His Holiness on the Manitoba school question.

The only thing complained of in that document was the attitude of the clergy. Never in the whole of his career had he permitted any person to interfere with the legitimate exercise of the electoral freedom of the people of this country, and when the bishops sought to so interfere he and his associates decided to appeal to the head of the church to pronounce whether they were at liberty to exercise their civil and political rights, just as did their Protestant fellow-countrymen. The memorial which Mr. Bergeron had read was prepared in order to vindicate the position which the Liberal party had taken on the Manitoba school question in favor of conciliation as opposed to coercion. He sent it to about a dozen persons all told, some friends, some opponents. It found its way to Rome along with all the other documents contained in the volume, but he (Sir Wilfrid) had not sent it. If Mr. Bergeron had looked at the memorial carefully he would have seen this first foot note of the compiler, who appeared on the first page:

"We will add no commentary on this memorial of the First Minister addressed to his friends, to his opponents, to all men of good will. This document speaks for itself by its calm dignity and candid frankness."

Continuing, the Premier said that if Mr. Bergeron wanted to resurrect the school question he would be prepared to meet him on his own ground. If he wanted to challenge the policy of the Government he was prepared to meet him and to vindicate that policy. The Government had effected a settlement of this question, whether perfect or imperfect. He had asked the Manitoba Government to be generous towards the minority, to give by conciliation what they would have refused under coercion. That request had been granted to a considerable extent, so as to meet the demand for reform by the Catholic minority of the province. (Cheers.)

Mr. Bergeron ridiculed the idea of his preparing a brief for Mr. Wallace or any one else on this question. He resented the epithet of Judas.

Dr. Sproule strongly reprobated the idea of any interference in the affairs of Canada by any representative sent from Rome, as would be the case doubtless if a Papal delegate came to this country.

Mr. McNeill's Protest.

Mr. McNeill protested against these appeals to Rome to vindicate the political freedom of the people of Canada. The people of this country were able to take care of their own freedom, and if it were imperiled it was the duty of the Government of Canada to attend to it.

Sir Adolphe Caron thought Mr. Wallace had missed the point in issue when he condemned Catholics for appealing to Rome. The real trouble in Quebec had been the sense of injustice done to fellow-countrymen in the far west. That feeling Sir Wilfrid Laurier had done his best to inflame; while in Ontario his cry was "Hands off Manitoba."

Mr. LaRiviere concluded the debate on the school question.

The House in Supply.

The House, having gone into committee of supply, the Public Works estimates were taken up, and the Minister, in reply to Mr. Clarke, said the $7,000 for Toronto public buildings would be expended as follows: Examining warehouses $1,700, custom house $650, Inland Revenue office $2,875, post-office and branches $1,775, incidentals $500.

The House adjourned late.

PORTENT OF THE FUTURE.

A European Combination Is Said to Be in Process of Formation Against Great Britain and America.

London, May 13.—The St. James Gazette says yesterday afternoon: Important signs of the uneasiness of Europe, of its fear of anarchy at home and aggression abroad, are reflected in London financial circles. Russia is raising a loan of twelve millions, and more significant still, she is raising it in Germany. The Bank of England is directing its energies to the accumulation of a gold reserve, a fashion without recent precedent, while Japan, not content with the vast sums she received from China on Saturday, is preparing for a fresh loan of fifteen millions. The rapprochement between Germany and Russia and Austria is very marked.

The St. James Gazette believes all this portends a combination against America and Great Britain, as "we are universally regarded as forming part of this trans-Atlantic aggression on Europe," and warns Great Britian to "prepare for a struggle which may involve the most important events since the fall of Napoleon."

In conclusion, the St. James Gazette remarks: Europe believes America is trying her strength on Spain, and that her inevitable victory will be followed by similar acts of aggression towards other powers with interests in the Atlantic and in the Pacific.

Unmistakable Signs.

London, May 13.—There are unmistakable signs that the continental powers have already taken steps to share in the fruits of the American victory at Manila. Germany, as intimated to the United States, it is said here, expects to have a voice in the disposition of the Philippine Islands, basing her claim on German interests in those islands. If the United States takes possession of Hawaii during the present war with Spain, it is believed Europe will endeavor to insist that the occupation of Hawaii was an incident of the war, and the continental powers will desire to include Hawaii in the apportionment of territory, perhaps as a partial offset against the Philippine Islands. In the best informed circles confidence is expressed that the United States will not be permitted to acquire such strength in the Far East as is involved in the occupation of the Philippine Islands and Hawaii, without reckoning with the powers. Great Britain, on the contrary, as the Associated Press has the best grounds for asserting, desires the United States to retain the Philippine Islands even in preference to taking them herself.

THE FUNERAL ARRANGEMENTS.

Last Tribute to the Late D'Alton McCarthy Will Take Place Saturday.

Toronto, May 13.—Arrangements for the funeral of the late D'Alton McCarthy, so far as made, are that the funeral will take place at 2 o'clock on Saturday afternoon from the deceased's residence, 174 Beverley street. There will be a service held in St. George's Church, John street, conducted by Rev. Canon Cayley. The remains will be interred in a large plot on the hillside in the northeast portion of St. James' Cemetery. The plot is right next to the one owned by Judge Moss. Though no definite announcement has been made yet, it is probable that the remains will lie in state at the house on Saturday morning.

A STRONG ARGUMENT.

Wm. McCabe, Esq., Managing Director, N. A. L., Toronto:

DEAR SIR,—Please accept my thanks for your cheque just handed to me, for $3,291.93, in settlement of my $2,500 Fifteen Year Endowment Policy in your Company. Such a result as this, after the risk on my life has been carried for fifteen years, beginning from forty-five years of age, argues one thing strongly, namely, that the management of the North American Life must be in competent hands. The other options you have offered me, viz.: a Paid-up Life policy for $6510.00, or a Life Annuity for $401.90, are, I presume, equally liberal, and it affords me much pleasure to recommend your Company to my friends or any one desiring insurance.

Bad Blood Will Out.

Can't help but come to the surface in the form of Ulcers, Sores, Boils, Pimples, Eczema and Rashes of one kind and another. Especially is this so in the SPRING. At this time of the year the Blood needs purifying and enriching, the System needs cleansing. Nothing will do it with such perfect success as

Burdock Blood Bitters

Jessie Johnston, Rockwood, Ont., writes:—

"I had boils very bad and a friend advised me to try Burdock Blood Bitters, so I got a bottle. The effect was wonderful—the boils began to disappear, and before the bottle was done I was totally cured. As an effectual and rapid cure for Impure Blood B.B.B. cannot be equalled."

May Fashions in Millinery

Every week is a stepping stone to better Millinery and a keener discernment of public needs.

The first week of May our Store will be enriched with many new features, and every Lady interested in the newest and most elegant Millinery Fancies for Summer Wear should attend.

There is not a Shape; there is not a Colour or Shade; there is not a Flower or piece of Foliage, sanctioned by the best Millinery Experts that is not in our New Summer Stock.

OUR TRIMMED HATS

will hold the attention of many a fair reader of THE EXAMINER, who wishes a Stylish Summer Hat at a moderate price.

There have been recent happenings in our millinery transactions which make some remarkable prices on some very fine trimmed Street Hats. You will be unable to see where the saving lies, for the materials used are the very finest of their kinds—distinctly high-cost kinds, too—and the make-up of the hats is the best.

Our Trimmed Hats represent the latest fancies from the wide domain of fashion, embracing all the New Shapes tastefully and effectually trimmed with a profusion of Flowers, Feathers, Chiffon, Spray, Dotted Net and Ornaments.

The component parts of a high-class hat may be fairly given as follows:—One part straw, ten parts flowers and feathers, eighty-nine parts genius.

A Curious Fish.

In a shipment of fish received from Wiarton, Georgian Bay, a few days ago Mr. J. B. Oke found a specimen of the finny tribe, which, though he is an authority on fish food, he was unable to classify. The fish, weighing a couple of pounds, was covered with a number of bony shields, each one surmounted with a needle-like point, there being a row of these along the back bone, and two parallel rows on each side of same. The fish was an object of curiosity to many yesterday. A well known north end dentist, however, after examining it carefully, pronounced it a rock sturgeon, and had it sent up for breakfast.

A Sharp Game.

A sharper has been working a dodge in Deseronto, by which he has picked up several five dollar bills, and the local police were notified this morning to look out for him. He would go into the store and ask for a five dollar bill for small bills. When he got the five he would put it in an envelope, as though to send it away, and then bring out small bills in change, but would discover he had not enough money. He would then hand back the envelope for the person to keep while he went for more money, but invariably it only contained a piece of paper, and he got away with the five dollars.—Belleville Intelligencer.

The adjourned regular meeting of the Town and County Historical Society was held at the Victoria Museum last night.

The President, Col. H. C. Rogers, occupied the chair. Mr. T. A. S. Hay, Secretary, Messrs. Wm. Yelland, E. Elcome, J. H. Burnham, J. B. McWilliams, Mr. Edwards, Mr. Yokome, Mrs. Birdsall, Miss Dunlop, Miss Stewart, Miss Hay, Miss Watt and Miss Maggie Watt were present.

The secretary read a letter from the Pioneer and Historical Association of Ontario, stating that the annual meeting will be held this year in Brantford on June 1st and inviting the local society, which is in affiliation, to send a delegate. The matter of appointing a delegate was referred to the President and Secretary to make a nomination.

It was brought to the attention of the meeting that articles that had been loaned to the museum had been removed without the consent of the authorities and it was decided to instruct the carstaker to permit no articles to be taken from the museum without the consent of the authorities.

In view of the resignation of Messrs. Cluxton and Dumble as members of the Executive Committee, Dr. Bell and Dr. Burnham were appointed in their stead. Circulars, a copy of which was recently published in the EXAMINER, were distributed among the members present. The circular impressed upon them the necessity of using their influence to acquire gifts of articles to the museum.

Mr. Elcome, taxidermist, was present and stated, in answer to a request made by the secretary, that it was incompatible with the interests of his business to remove his collection to the museum; but he was willing to loan it for special occasions. In regard to preparing a collection for the use of the museum, Mr. Elcome said that the cost of a complete collection such as he would furnish, of the fauna of the town and county, and of much of the province — including mammalia, birds, fishes, reptiles and fishes—would be $400. Mr. Elcome also said that all were welcome to visit his collection, and remarked upon the educative uses such collections could be put to. Already teachers had borrowed his specimens, which he had the greatest pleasure in loaning, to practically illustrate lessons upon natural history which they were teaching. He was glad to do so, because he wished to be the means of doing some good as well as earning a living.

The matter of making arrangements with Mr. Elcome in reference to the procuring or preparation of a complete collection, was referred to the Museum Committee.

After a little conversational discussion upon subjects of interest to the society, the meeting adjourned.

THE BALLAD CONCERT.

It Proved a Complete Success in the Y.M.C.A. Hall Last Evening—A Large Audience Present.

Mr. Warrington is certainly deserving of congratulation for the manner in which his pupils have developed during the winter term, which closed yesterday. Besides an amount of new talent of undoubted quality which has been brought forward, a most marked improvement is noticeable in the voices of those who have sung in public before.

His choral class this year was composed of Mrs. R. Mein, Mrs. W. A. Sanderson, Mrs. Turner, Misses Annie M. Hall, M. D. Rackham, E. J. Aldridge, E. Tully, Etta Montgomery, Rev. W. L. Armitage and Messrs. Herb. Morphet, R. Mein, Harold Cluxton, W. F. Skitch, Jas. Dawson, W. J. Squires, T. R. Lang and Jas. Wyer.

In the rendering of the choruses last evening the training of Mr. Warrington was perhaps more apparent than elsewhere. The attack, phrasing and handling of the fugue passages was very closely watched, by reason of the fact that a great deal of vocal music by massed voices has been given during the season, and in consequence the efforts of the class as a whole could be summed up without the personality of the singers influencing the verdict, as might be the case in solos or duet.

Though the audience was composed largely of those possessed of trained ears, the class came through the ordeal with flying colours, reflecting the greatest credit on their capable instructor, handling most difficult passages with delightful ease in Rossini's "Carnival," Caldicott's "Where are you going my pretty Maid?" and Macfarren's "You stole my love."

Mr. Herb. Morphet who has been heard on several occasions lately, excelled himself in his pleasing rendition of "Queen of the Earth." Hawley's "Because I love you dear" was taken with feeling by Miss Annie M. Hall, who made her first public appearance last evening, and promises to develop a soprano voice of unusual quality and sweetness, combined with considerable range.

Mrs. R. Mein in "La Fafaletta," had something which seemed particulary suited to her very pleasing voice. The runs and trills were taken with delightful ease, and later on her voice was heard to equal advantage in the duet, "Master and Pupil," with Mr. Warrington.

Miss M. D. Rackham was another debutante in the musical world, last evening, for although she has for several years been a valued member of St. John's choir, yet her voice has not been heard in solo work. Her initial number last evening was a joint rendering with Mr. Warrington of "The Crookit Baubee," which proved a most popular selection. Miss Rackham's voice is a mezzo-soprano, just verging on alto, with a vibrato sufficiently marked to make its quality one of richness and taste. She has it well under control, and the duet certainly deserved the unlimited amount of applause which was so freely contributed. Mr. Harold Cluxton gave a spirited rendering of "Jack's the Boy" and Mr. W. F. Skitch's handling of Mozart's "Qui Sdegno" was skilful. Lyne's "He was a Prince" was taken by Mrs. W. A. Sanderson in irreproachably clear rich voice and it was an exquisite piece of work, meriting the unstinted applause which it received. Her duet with Mr. Warrington was also handled most ably.

Mr. Jas. Dawson has a voice which is rapidly developing into one of great possibilities. He took Trotere's "Boys in Blue" with remarkable ease and his voice will be heard again with pleasure by those who listened to it last evening.

Mr. Warrington's splendid voice, which is losing none of its strength and sweetness, was heard to advantage in Smete's beautiful "Creole Love Song" and in a recall number he gave a happy rendering of "Father O'Flynn."

The accompaniments were all most ably taken by Mr. J. Crane, organist of St. Paul's church.

HEART BEAT NEARLY STOPPED.

Nerves Almost Shattered

A Lindsey lady writes an open letter about the new cure:—

Gentlemen,—Dr. Ward's Blood and Nerve Pills are the most efficacious medicine I have ever taken, and in fact the only medicine or treatment that has done me any good. For the past eight years I have practically been an invalid, suffering with kidney and heart troubles. My health became very much impaired. I was subject to frequent fainting spells. My heart was very weak, causing me great anxiety and fear. Its action was unnatural. It lacked force, and beat spasmodically—fast for a few moments and then suddenly stopping, when I would swoon, coming to in a complete state of physical prostration, which lasted for hours. I had no strength, and any exertion took my breath away, and I felt as if I was dying. My pultse would be almost imperceptible, it was so weak. I could not sleep well, often not being able to sleep at all on account of suffocation. I often woke up in the night fighting for breath, my heart beating so fast that I thought I could not live a minute. I was in a constant state of nervous apprehension. My appetite left me. I became emaciated, I lost all color and would have been glad if I had no nerves, I suffered so much from nervousness. My memory became impaired, and I could not have been in a worse state of health than I was when I began taking Dr. Ward's Blood and Nerve Pills, nine weeks ago. During the eight years I have been suffering I have been treated by three doctors and have taken a number of medicines without obtaining any relief. On the contrary the symptoms constantly developed and grew worse. From the time I commenced taking these pills I have not had a fainting spell. They restored my heart to strong, healthy action I sleep well, and my sleep is not disturbed by smothering. My appetite is good, my blood is healthy and strong, and I have a healthy color. They have made my system healthy and strong, thereby removing all nervous, heart and kidney troubles The change from physical and nerve collapse to health and strength in the short space of nine weeks caused by your pills, has been so wonderful that I would not have credited it if I had not had the good fortune to experience the effect of your great medicine. They accomplished in the short space of two months what doctors and medicines failed to do in eight years.

WILL GO TO KINGSTON.

The Battalion Decided Visit the Limestone City on May 24th.

On Tuesday evening after drill an explanation was made to the members of the 57th by Lt.-Col. Bell regarding the proposed trip on May 24th. He stated that through certain circumstances the invitation which Ottawa had extended to the Bangers had to be recalled by that city, but that the invitation from Kingston, which was received at the same time, was still open.

The officers and men unanimously decided to visit the Limestone City on the Queen's Birthday and at drill this evening orders will be issued regarding the time at which the Battalion will leave and other details.

It is hoped now that the trip has been definitely decided upon that not a man will lose a drill between now and the 24th, as in a military town like Kingston the criticism will be very keen.

The Kingston News speaks as follows concerning the visit of the 57th:

The Secretary of the 24th of May Celebration Committee received a letter this morning from the Colonel commanding the Peterborough regiment, which says: "If you can furnish us with a suitable camp ground and we can get the necessary camp equipage from the militia stores, we will go into camp for three days. We propose to leave here at a late hour on Saturday night, via. C. P. R., and arrive in Kingston early on Sunday morning, and go under canvas at once, and remain until late on Tuesday night. The quartermaster and a squad of men will go down on Friday and have our tents pitched on Saturday. I suppose there can be lights arranged in the camp ground and a suitable supply of water, etc. We do not expect you to go to any extra trouble or expense on our account, more than if we were with you for the one day. The extra time is purely a regimental outing. Perhaps we might arrange to give my men a sail down the river on Monday afternoon if a suitable boat can be obtained without too great expense. We will not go down very strong, probably about 230 or 260. However, two or three of my officers will go down to Kingston a few days prior to our visit, and arrange all details."

A church parade will take place on Sunday morning, in which the 14th Battalion will be asked to take part.

Saturday evening the members will take light exercise in the Y.M.C.A. gymnasium, followed by a plunge bath.

A big turnout of all players on both junior and senior teams is expected this evening on the P.A.A.A. grounds as some hard practice is needed for the games here and in Marmora on the 24th. As many as possible should turn out and get out on Saturday afternoon.

BASEBALL.

It was found to be too wet for the Y. M. C.A. baseball team to practice last night, but it is hoped that all the boys will be out on Saturday afternoon.

Strength and Quality.

Where is the economy in buying a 25 cent tea and then using three times the quantity that would be required of Ram Lal's Pure Indian Tea. You can't get a good quality of liquor out of a cheap tea no matter how much of it you use. You may get a strong bitter taste but not the delicate flavor and fragrant aroma that comes only from the tender leaves. Ram Lal's Tea is grown under European supervision. The tea is manufactured on the gardens in India and comes in sealed packets with all the strength and freshness retained.

WOMAN.

THE HEALTH OF A NATION DEPENDS ON THE HEALTH OF ITS WOMEN.

22 POUNDS GAINED.

I had been a sufferer like a great many other women with a disease peculiar to my sex. I tried every thing I could read or think about to help me, but was getting worse instead of better. My condition was terrible—I was losing flesh and color, and my friends were alarmed. I consulted a doctor of this town and he said I would never get better; that I would always be sickly and delicate, and that medicines were of little use to me. Hearing what Dr. Ward's Blood and Nerve Pills had done for others I determined to try them myself, and to-day I weigh one hundred and forty pounds, while before I weighed only one hundred and eighteen pounds, and I now have a constitution that is hard to beat. I have not suffered any pain in months, and earnestly hope that Dr. Ward's Blood and Nerve Pills will reach every woman suffering as I did.

Sincerely yours,

THE RETIRED BURGLAR.

An Impediment Placed In a Pursuer's Way That Helped Instead of Hindering.

"When I saw the gate at the top of the stairs," said the retired burglar, "of course I knew there was young children in the house. It was put there to keep 'em from falling down stairs. It was low, I guess about two feet and a half high, and it swung when closed from the post at the top of the stairs across to a strip nailed to the wall opposite.

"I noticed this gate when I went up, particular, because a man in my business notices everything, and because I thought that this would be a handy thing to shut in case anybody should get after me in the house; that shutting that gate in front of 'em might stop 'em long enough to let me get away comfortable. It wasn't more'n a year before I had a chance to try it.

"There was a long hall on the second floor of this house, with this stairway pretty near at the front end of it. I went into a room way back at the other end, and while I was looking around there I upset something on the bureau and woke up a man in the bed.

"'Well,' he says, 'what's the matter now?' And I didn't wait to hear any more. I didn't even turn the light on him. I didn't need to. You could tell all you wanted to know about him by his voice. He was a resolute, ablebodied citizen that I could hear getting out of bed.

"I made a break for the door and sprinted along the hall, throwing my light and catching sight of that gate again and smiling to myself as I saw it. I swung it around shut after me as I passed and went on down the stairs, leaving the man up stairs coming along the hall overhead with a rush.

"'But it's all right,' I says to myself; 'the gate'll stop him long enough for me to get out easy.' But, by snakes, it didn't stop him at all. On the contrary, it helped him. Just as I was stepping down from the last step on to the floor of the hall below the man fell on my back. He'd been coming along the hall above so fast that he couldn't stop himself, and he fell over the gate, turned a summerset in the air on the staircase and came down a heap faster'n I did and landed on me. Instead of breaking his own back he pretty near broke mine.

"We rolled over and over on the floor in the hall, the man laughing fit to kill. That's the sort of a man he was. It was the funniest thing he'd run up against in a long time.

"He never once thought of stopping me, not once, but he says, when he was letting me out, 'If you should come again, don't shut the gate.'"—New York Sun.

A man's health is the rope by which he climbs to success. If he can keep his health, he will go on to success. Yet his health is the very thing he neglects more than anything else. It is easier to keep health than it is to regain it. When a man feels himself running down, when he realizes a loss of vitality and energy, he must call a halt. The strands of his rope are parting rapidly. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery has helped thousands of men in just this condition. It makes health, it makes pure, rich blood, it forces out impurities and kills germs. It doesn't make any difference what name you call your trouble by—dyspepsia—kidney disease—rheumatism—consumption—skin disease, the "Golden Medical Discovery" will cure it absolutely. None of these diseases can retain hold on the body when it is full of rich, pure blood.

General Miles Leaves for Tampa, Florida, at Once.

SPAIN WILL ATTEND TO DEWEY

Concerted Effort All Along the Line to Expel the Spanish From Cuba—U. S. Government Determines to Act—5,000,000 Rations Ordered—Spain After Dewey.

Washington, D.C., May 12.—The army movement on Cuba is now fairly launched and to-day will be developed a concerted effort all along the line to begin aggressive operations on a big scale for the ejectment of the Spanish troops and government from the pearl of the Antilles. An order given yesterday by the War Department for the purchase of 5,000,000 rations is an earnest of the scale on which preparations are making for invasion of Spain's territory. Of this vast quantity, one-fourth is to go to the Philippines by way of San Francisco, and the balance to go to Cuba. For some reason that was not discoverable, there appeared to be a temporary check in the practical working out of the plans of the War Department for this Cuban movement. After everything had been made ready for departure last night, General Miles was detained and for a time the rather gloomy prospect of an indefinite postponement of the first military expedition was presented. Later on, however, the obstacle, whatever it was, was removed, and it was again announced that the commanding general, with a numerous staff, would leave Washington to-day, directly for Tampa.

Spain After Dewey.

London, May 12.—Special despatches from Madrid says it is officially declared that the Government of Spain has no intention of allowing Rear-Admiral Dewey to rest upon his laurels. About 40,000 men of the reserves of the Spanish army have been order to rejoin the colors, and it is added that a formidable expedition is being organized for despatch to the Philippine Islands.

WILL WHEAT REMAIN HIGH?

Factors Which Seem to Prove That the High Prices Will Not Continue Until the New Ontario Crop Is Harvested.

Toronto, May 12.—Speculation is being indulged in as to whether the present high prices in wheat or any increase thereof will continue long enough to enable the Ontario farmer to dispose of his incoming crop at an unusually good figure. As the harvest in this province takes place largely in the latter end of July it is interesting to note what wheat crops will be due before then. During the coming month of June the crops will be harvested in Turkey, Greece, Italy, Spain, Portugal, Southern France, and in the chief Southern and Western States of the American Union. While July will bring in the crop in the South of Russia, Austro-Hungary, Roumania, Bulgaria, Germany, Switzerland, France, the South of England, Nebraska, Minnesota, Wisconsin, Iowa, Indiana, Michigan, Ohio, New York and the New England States. As the prospects for big yields in many of these countries are good, wheat values may have largely declined before the Ontario crop gets on the market late in August, or early in September.

The Daily Market Report.

Wednesday Evening, May 11.

Speculation seems to-day to have been partially transferred from May and July wheat to the September option, and the prospect is that henceforth considerable interest will centre in the latter and the December future. At Chicago to-day May wheat declined an extreme 10c per bush, and closed at $1.79, 6c below Tuesday's last figure, while May showed a loss of 3½c for the day, selling at the wind-up at $1.10½. On the same market, September wheat rose 1⅝c to 91⅝c and December 1⅛c to 87c. On the other American markets similar declines occurred.

At Toronto, in view of the irregularity at Chicago, nothing was done to-day, and it is difficult to give reliable quotations for this market. On 'Change, No. 2 red was nominally quoted at from $1.13 to $1.15, and No. 1 Manitoba hard at from $1.55 to $1.65. Millers refuse to buy in the present state of the market, and nothing is being done in the way of exporting. On the street, the farmers who were bringing in a little "held" wheat received as high as $1.18 for red.

THE CAPTURE OF CLAUS.

The Man Alleged to Have Murdered Burns and Hendricks in the Northwest.

Vancouver, B.C., May 12.—Malcolm McLean, a Yukon police officer, formerly of Vancouver, has written to his brother here: "I captured the alleged murderer, Joseph C Claus, after an exciting chase lasting two days and a half. I traveled night and day with an Indian and dogs, taking no rest, and covered ground the alleged murderer took six days to cover." Claus did not give himself up or confess the murder, as reported. McLean found in his pockets the purses of the murdered Canadians, Burns and Hendricks, who, it is thought, were killed while they slept, by Claus, who broke their skulls with an ax, near Glenora, and was frightened away while attempting to sink the bodies in the river. Claus is a native of Belgium, coming to Canada 10 years ago. He has a wife and child in Wellington, B.C. He lived on a farm at Manoos Bay for some time and worked for some years at Vale Colliery, N.S. Claus will be brought to Vancouver or Victoria for trial.

A Winnipeg Suicide.

Winnipeg, May 12.—Fred. McDougall, a clerk in the post-office, attempted suicide yesterday afternoon by shooting himself in the right temple with a revolver. The doctor was unable to find the bullet. McDougall was then removed to the General Hospital, but hopes of his recovery are faint. He is about 50 years of age, and has a wife and family, who are residing in the east. His friends are unable to attribute the cause for the rash act, saying he had never had business troubles that they knew of, while the post-office people say everything had gone smoothly with him there. The unfortunate man was, however, believed to be an opium eater, and it is believed that he was under the influence of this drug when suicide was attempted.

Mankind needs a herald, like the heralds of old, to proclaim so that all may hear, the vital importance of health. The average man of to-day thinks it beneath his dignity to bother about his health until it is gone. Even then he only takes measures to restore it in an indifferent, contemptuous sort of way.

Men cannot learn too soon that health is the most important thing in life—in fact, is life. Without it the most brilliant man will be a failure, and the most robust man will rapidly become a physical wreck. The man who neglects the little headaches, the loss of appetite and sleep, nervousness, hot flushings, cold chills, heavy head, lax muscles, and the multitude of bad feelings that are the heralds of approaching sickness and disease, must pay a tremendous penalty. For men who suffer in this way there is no medicine equal to Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It sharpens the appetite, corrects all disorders of the digestion, invigorates the liver, makes the assimilation of the food perfect, purifies the blood and enriches it with the life-giving elements that build new, healthy flesh. It is the great blood-maker and flesh-builder. It cures 98 per cent. of all cases of consumption and is the best of all known remedies for nervous troubles. Thousands have told, over their own signatures, the stories of the wonders it has performed. Honest dealers will not urge a substitute for the sake of a little extra profit.

Thomas Fletcher, of Clifton Station, Fairfax Co., Va., writes: "I suffered terrible torture for ten years with 'gastralgia' (pain in the stomach). I then took six bottles of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, which completely cured me."

When the bowels are regular the body will feel good and the mind will be active. Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets cure constipation. One little "Pellet" is a gentle laxative, and two a mild cathartic. They never gripe. All good dealers sell them and have nothing else "just as good."

A NOCTURNE OF RUBINSTEIN.

What now remains, what now remains but night?
Night hopeless, since the moon is in her grave.

Late came a glorious light,
In one wide flood on spire and field and wave.
It found a flowing way
To secret places where the dead leaves lay.
It won the half hid stream
To shy remembrance of her morning gleam,
Then on the sky's sharp shore
Rolled back, a fading tide, and was no more,
No more on spire and ivied window bright,
No more on field and wave.

What now remains, what now remains but night?
Night hopeless, since the moon is in her grave.

—Helen Gray Cone.

THE ORGANIST.

Though Jeremy Dodd was a good man, respected by many, I never felt it possible to receive him into the inner circle of those for whom respect is tempered with affection. The reasons were many, but chief of all was this principal offense, that Jeremy, though by trade a smiter of iron and a shoer of horses, on the Sabbath day led the singing at Bethesda chapel upon an aged instrument of much harshness.

This harmonium, one of the most contrary and difficult of an obstinate race, was, despite its quite ordinary accouterment of walnut and green baize, regarded by the people with a veneration through whose mystic haze shone Mr. Dodd himself—a veritable maestro.

Jeremy strongly shared the popular musical tendency to illustrate words and ideas by different shades of sound, but while at the mention of death many organists cause doubts of the blower's faithfulness to his trust by the sudden faintness of their utterings, Jeremy always greeted such references with the most strident of tones. Our instrument was rich in such and never failed him.

Occasionally, however, when we sang of the valley of the shadow of death he reverently drew his favorite stop, and the realistic results thus produced had been known so to affect Farmer Robinson's wife that she gave up her morning gossip in the porch and went quietly home.

When first I knew him, Jeremy Dodd had been for three years a widower. He was a sad man, morose in manner and scanty of speech, and at first in sympathy I thought him the bearer of a hidden sorrow, but his neighbors enlightened me on that point, giving of the late Mrs. Dodd a brief biographical sketch remarkable for its lack of good deeds and denying to its subject even the redeeming quality of good intentions. Nobody could be found to say of Sarah Dodd that she even meant well. For Dodd himself, though he was not beloved, there were many to say that and more if need be.

His voluntaries were mostly in the minor key, and though he frequently gave us simplified arrangements from the best known oratorios he was indefatigable in his search for the sadder and more wailing airs.

But gradually into this cheerless life a light came, and he began slowly but surely to reflect its radiance and its warmth. The style of his playing and the setting of his hymns were new. No longer was our departure from the morning service hastened by minor chords long drawn out and doleful. Dodd actually learned a new march to take the periodic place of "Hill's," and gave of it to us freely.

For three weeks I saw increasing signs of humanness in our organist, and then I learned its cause.

"It is not unlikely but that Mr. Dodd will want you to play for him a bit in a week or two," said my landlady one night, and I selfishly and maliciously, though in perfect ignorance, answered, "So I suppose, Mrs. Bell."

The poor woman's disappointment was so sudden that she nearly dropped the cheese, and I, repenting, added, "What have you heard about it?"

"Well, sir, it is said that Mr. Dodd is walking out most regular with Mary Kitson, the foundling girl what Mr. and Mrs. Withers adopted, having none of their own, more than 20 years ago."

"Mrs. Bell," I said, "what you tell me is very interesting and quite news to me, except that for some weeks past I have noticed a great change in Mr. Dodd, which I now understand."

Thus was Mrs. Bell appeased, and her news received with honor and distinction to herself.

Within two months of that discovery Jeremy Dodd took unto himself Mary Kitson to wife, and all the village was glad. But what honeymoon they had was taken quietly at home, and my services were not required for a long time to come.

It was indeed a sight to see Jeremy coming up the little chapel with his bonny young wife, full of pride at his husband's position and prowess, and the faces of both showing kindness and good feeling to all.

The leading soprano, a large woman, with a larger voice, both past their prime, showed signs of rebellion when Mary took her place next the organist, and in olden times there would have been a storm, but after Mary Dodd had walked the length of the village street with Margaret Henson they were closest friends. Jeremy, who used to be at strife with his choir, and they in turn with the congregation, now played in sympathy with them both, but he was much less conspicuous than before, for his wife's young, fresh voice rang out above the rest and seemed to lead us all.

Out of the way folk who "couldn't attend reg'lar," as they said, came to hear her sing a solo, an event too infrequent for me, but savoring of ritualism to the rustic mind. All the praise was now to his wife, none to Jeremy, save indirectly, but he seemed surprisingly content, and day by day his face grew softer, his eyes relaxed their sternness and, above all, his walk, most truthful index of the mind, was changed.

Many are the stories I have heard of the kindness of heart of Mary Dodd, stories of a clever head as well. Many were the children that remembered her as mother or as sister—what they needed most she gave them—and to the old and lonely might one yet go confidently for tales of watching and cheerful nursing, tales that they tell slowly between their smiles and tears.

For nearly a year there was peace and great contentment in that household, and then I missed Mrs. Dodd from her place one Sunday and stopped to ask for her. Jeremy told me she was not very well and was staying at home a spell.

During the week that followed the countryside was startled and concerned by the sudden death of the squire, for, though he had not been a man given to religious exercises, he had helped the people with their chapel, and they were not ungrateful.

On the Saturday evening my landlady announced Mr. Dodd, a thing she had never had to do before, and I, looking up, saw a changed man, with a sad, weary face. He began to speak without looking at me.

"I suppose you've heard how bad my wife is. It seems as though she was giving her life for the little 'un. It's just like her—she's been that unselfish all through. But I can't bear this, be it God's will or not. I've been a God fearing man—I have indeed—but I cannot put up my prayer and say, 'Thy will be done.' It's no use, it cannot be done, and I won't do it." Suddenly he stopped and drew himself together, adding quietly: "I came to ask if you would play for me in the morning. I wouldn't have minded sparing the bit time, and Mary, she likes me to do it, but it's only fitting that the 'Dead March' be played for Squire Hunter, poor man, and I could not play it with the wife lying nigh to death a few yards away. I haven't strength for it. Mebbe the watching at nights is telling on me."

And so on the morrow I took his place for the first time since his marriage.

Now, the cottage of the Dodds stood in a little garden next to the chapel, and so when the time for the funeral march came near I told the chapel keeper to close the windows, which he did unwillingly enough, for it was very hot. When the march was over, and the people were going quietly away, I asked for the windows to be opened again, and, though my wish was regarded, I fear I gained that day no reputation for knowing my own mind among that simple folk.

Then I played "O Rest In the Lord," beginning with the plaintive recitative and increasing, instead of subduing, the sound as I came to the well known air. This was not a musical effect, but it had other advantages.

I found out from the neighbors what I could, not daring to come between this man and his trouble, and for two days heard that she lived; that was all. Then I received a visit from Jeremy Dodd himself, who had come straight from the presence of the angel of death to tell me of his grief.

"Aye, she's gone. She kissed me for the last time this morning at 6 and says to me quiet and peaceful: 'Jeromy, I be resting in the Lord. You wait patiently, too, dear man, and he will give you"— And then she sighed and left me and the bairn to wait. But it's no use—not patiently—it cannot be! She was right glad to hear you play that bit on Sunday. It filled her mind ever since, and I'm real grateful to you myself." And he gripped my hand as only a good man can, and tears ran down his face, of which only a strong man would not have been ashamed.

Thus in the hour of his sorrow was the tongue of Jeremy Dodd unloosed and the precious fountain of a man's tears made to flow.

"I'll be glad to play for you again next Sunday," I said as he was going away.

"It's very good of you, sir, and I'm not ungrateful—I'm not, indeed—but nobody but me shall play her march—it'll be a bit poor comfort to know I can give her that little honor—it's not much she's had from me." And so it was.

Next Sunday there was a chapel full of sorrowing hearts. At the close of the sermon the preacher, a big hearted fisherman, spoke a few words of lament for our "dear sister departed," dwelling with rough but real eloquence on her life. When he stopped, there was a pause, broken only by the sobs of a bereaved church, and yet through it all, unmoved, sat Jeremy Dodd, and after the benediction he began to play, to me it almost seemed proudly, Handel's greatest march.

I have heard that wonderful measure played in cathedrals on mellowest organs, and again by the best of military bands, but never has it touched me as when, on that summer morning, it stumbled forth, pathetic and heartbroken, from that little wooden case.

I forgot the weakness of the organist, I forgot the harshness of the instrument. With closed eyes I was waiting for the glad chords, telling the mourner as few words can that "death is swallowed up in victory," when the music suddenly died away with a wail, the strong man's strength was spent, and he leaned forward on the desk, bowed down with sorrow and tears.

Quietly and sadly the little company dispersed, and Jeremy was left alone with his grief.

* * * * * * * *

The afternoon was far spent before the neighbors heard him finish his playing and knew that he had been comforted.—Temple Magazine.

SAVE THE MOTHERS

Dodd's Kidney Pills Their Only Safety in Female Diseases.

You have seen a flower nipped by frost, fade and die in the flush of its beauty. That is how women die when attacked by any of the diseases peculiar to their sex.

Woman's burdens are woefully heavy. Her sufferings are agonizing. Her patience is grand. Disease preys upon her. The light dies out of her eyes, her steps become slow and dragging; she loses flesh; grows sallow, listless, droops like a flower. Then she dies. Her family is left to the cold mercy of the world.

"Mother's dead!" What a piteous phrase. What sufferings have been endured before it was used. Why should mothers, wives, sisters suffer so? They need not. Dodd's Kidney Pills will quickly and thoroughly cure all cases of Female Weakness. They never fail. They give health, strength, courage: a new lease of life.

Health is Better.

"I had no appetite and could not sleep at night, and I was so tired that I could hardly walk. I saw Hood's Sarsaparilla advertised and procured four bottles. My health is now better than it has ever been since I was a child, and I have not been sick for a long time." Miss Jessie Turnbull, Cranbrook, Ont.

Hood's Pills are the only pills to take with Hood's Sarsaparilla. Easy and yet efficient.

Plant Culture by Amateurs.

"Amateur florists should study the habits of the plants in their collections in order to give the special care needed by each variety," writes Eben E. Rexford in The Ladies' Home Journal. "Not only does this advice apply pertinently to watering, but to the position in the window. Your plant window may be a southern one which will admit a great deal of sunshine. This will exactly suit geraniums, heliotropes, roses and plants of that class, but begonias, primroses and many other plants adapted to house culture are not particularly fond of strong sunshine—in fact, are often injured by full exposure to it. It is possible to find out exactly what course to pursue and to effect a compromise between these two classes of plants without a change of windows. Find out what plants like partial shade and give them positions in the rear of the sun loving plants. In this way the plants which require sunshine will not be robbed of it, and those which do not require sunshine will not be harmed by having an excess of it."

A BALLADE OF CONFESSION.

The dogeared tomes of ancient sages
Frown at me from the shelves up there,
World famous, ay, for many ages,
Braving the buffets of time and care,
Yet though they breathe Parnassian air,
Go hand in hand with Muses nine,
I pass them all, here's one more rare—
The little book that once was thine!

I know that Horace scowls and rages,
That Homer writhes in vain despair,
That I should seek those pasturages
Where mawkish sentiments rave and tear.
Methinks all Helicon doth stare,
Forgets its hyssop steeped in wine,
To think that I to read should dare
The little book that once was thine!

'Tis only one of all the pages,
The others, Horace, I will swear
Know nought of me, my pilgrimages
Your ire, dear Homer, please forbear!
You frisky Cupid might declare
The reason for this choice of mine,
For Betty, dear, 'twas his affair,
The little book that once was thine!

L'ENVOY.

You sent it with a lock of hair
Pinned to the page's sweetest line
That makes it far beyond compare,
The little book that once was thine!

—Harold Macgrath in Philistine.

CANADA LIFE
Assurance Company.

ANOTHER PROSPEROUS YEAR.

Large Increase in Surplus.

The fifty-first annual report of the Canada Life shows this old established Company to be in a most flourishing condition. The annual meeting was held yesterday. Following is a synopsis of the report:—

A PROSPEROUS YEAR.

In presenting to the Shareholders their 51st Annual Report, the Directors are gratified in announcing that the Company has fairly shared in the somewhat improved condition of the business of the country, as will be seen by the Statements and Accounts now submitted. By these it will be observed that the Company has transacted a larger business than during the previous year, and has increased its clear surplus by no less than $497,093 05.

NEW BUSINESS.

The applications for new assurances during 1897 numbered 3,008, for the sum of $6,185,996, of which, however, 266 for $521,000 were declined, the lives not appearing up to that standard which it is in the interest of the company's other assurers should be maintained, and as 191 applications for $373,360 were not carried out, the issue of the year was for $5,291,636, under 2,609 policies, exceeding 1896 by 573 policies for $798,980.

The total business in force at the close of 1897 was $72,719,555 29 of Assurances, under 33,407 policies, upon 24,469 lives.

POLICY CLAIMS.

The claims by deaths paid during 1897 amounted to $770,168 45, and Endowment policies for $128,846 92, having matured, these sums, as well as $218,481 29 for profits, $145,411.18 for surrenders, and an annuity of $400, making in all $1,263,307.84, were paid to policyholders during the year.

INCREASE IN ASSETS.

The Income receipts of the year were $2,953,272.83, and deducting therefrom all payments to policy-holders for claims by death, for profits, and for matured Endowment policies, as well as other outlay, including expenses of management, there was left the sum of $1,272,486 05, which increased the Company's Assets to $18,678,915 67.

SURPLUS.

As appears by the Abstract of Assets and Liabilities, after providing fully for the necessary reserve for all policies of the Company, and for all its other Liabilities, there is shown a Surplus of $1,564,082 05.

THE PRESIDENT'S ADDRESS.

The President, Mr. A. G. Ramsay, in moving the adoption of the report, said:

The Directors' Report and the usual accounts and statements have for some days been in your hands, and have now been taken as read. While the report is brief, it contains, I think, along with the various published accounts, all that is required to enable those interested in the Company to judge of its progress and success in the past year. The addition during 1897 of nearly half a million dollars to the surplus or profits fund is a large and satisfactory one, and without invidiously comparing it with the figures of any other particular Company. I may say that it is more than was attained by all the other Canadian companies combined. The new business of the year was, you will observe, of satisfactory and gratifying amount, and in excess of the previous year, and you will be pleased to know that it is of that desirable class which will result more to the profit of the Company than would a larger amount obtained at heavier expense, or from less desirable regions than the healthful climate of Canada, and the four Northern States to which we have thus far deemed it judicious to confine the operations of the Company. The existing assurances are $72,719,555 or nearly twice as much as they were 12 years ago. The death claims of the year continued of very favourable amount, and being well within what was calculated upon, that fact testifies to the care observed in the selection of the lives, and to the judicious limitation of the business to the healthful climates already alluded to.

The recent lamentable failures of some of the companies doing business on the assessment system, and the anxiety felt as to the others which are based upon the same fallacious principles lead me to point out that these occurrences are only the inevitable results, which were from the first predicted by those whose knowledge and experience enabled them to judge of what the future of companies of the kind must be. At our meeting in 1887, when concerns of the kind were making strenuous efforts to establish themselves in Canada, I alluded to the miserable failures they had been in England and in America, and I said that their "ephemeral existence indicates how useless the assessment system of assurance is as a family provision. It can only offer the uncertain hope of a cheap assurance for a few years, till the company breaks down. It cannot afford any guarantee that a definite amount of assurance will certainly be paid to a widow or children after an assurer's death, whether that occurs at an early day or a distant one, and without such a guarantee as that, which our own and other sound companies offer, life assurance must be a fraud and a delusion." I added that "I was aware that agents and managers of companies of the kind pointed to the names of prominent business and professional men who have joined them, or who act as their directors, but as some of them at all events allow their names to be employed in that way, simply because policies have been gratuitously given to them, one can judge how little weight should attach to the names of the gentlemen thus used to decoy others to join such companies." One cannot envy the feelings of the prominent gentlemen alluded to, who induced persons to take policies in companies of the kind, from which they are now driven out by their failure, or by the levy of such high payments as they are unable to meet.

As the accounts show, the year's income was within a trifle of three million dollars, and the assets of the company were increased to the very considerable amount of nearly nineteen million dollars, and yielding, after deducting liabilities of every kind, a net surplus or profit of $1,564,082 for allocation at the end of next year, along with whatever addition there may be made to it between now and that time, and as the management and other expenses by which the profits to policy-holders are very largely influenced continue to be on a more moderate percentage than that of other Canadian or American companies, he prospects for our assurers are of a favourable character.

It is anticipated that legislation will be introduced by the Government, modifying the present 4½ per cent. rate of interest prescribed by law as the basis for Life Assurance Reserves, and adopting the new mortality Tables based upon the observations and large experience of the British Insurance Companies, in course of compliation by the Institute of Actuaries of Great Britain, and I may say on behalf of the Board in reference to the amendment to the charter, alluded to in the Directors report of last year, that the Directors purpose to avail themselves of the occasion of that legislation to seek such amendments to the law as may meet the Board's requirements.

The motion was seconded by Mr. F. W. Gates, Vice-President, and unanimously carried. A hearty vote of thanks was tendered to the agents, officers, medical and legal advisers of the company, Mr. Adam Brown speaking in eloquent terms of their services rendered to the Company.

Mr. Leggat moved and Lieut.-Col. McLaren seconded a hearty vote of thanks to the President and Directors for their attention to the interests of the Company during the past year. Brief and interesting addresses were also made by Sir George Kirkpatrick and Sir George Burton, the latter of whom was heartily congratulated upon the recent honour conferred upon him by the Queen.

The retiring Directors, Chief Justice Sir George Burton, Col. Sir Casimer Gzowski, K.C.M.G., and Mr. N. Merritt, were re-elected. At a subsequent meeting of the Directors, Mr. A. G. Ramsay was re-elected President and Mr. F. W. Gates Vice-President.

The meeting passed off very harmoniously, every one present being gratified with the progress and continued prosperity of the Canada Life, which, as Sir George Kirkpatrick remarked, was easily leader of all Companies in the Dominion.

CARE OF THE AGED POOR.

LACK OF PROVISION FOR THEIR PROPER CARE.

Toronto Council of Women Discuss the Question—A Proposal to Establish County Almshouses.

The Council of Women called a conference of those interested in charitable work in the Normal School theatre, Toronto, the other night, to discuss the treatment of the aged and infirm poor. Mrs. Willoughby Cummings, first vice-president, occupied the chair, and made a short address in opening the meeting. The conference, she explained, was for the purpose of discussing the treatment of the aged poor and the advisability of establishing a bureau of associated charities. Upon the platform were Professor Goldwin Smith, Professor Clark, of Trinity, Rev. Father Ryan, Miss Cox, Mrs. Grant Macdonald, Miss Caley, Mrs. S. G. Wood, Lady Thompson, Miss Dickson and Mrs. Charles Gzsett.

Letters were read by the Secretary from H. C. Dixon, Dr. Parkin and the Rev. Mr. Gagen, of Hamilton, urging the taking of some steps towards preventing the casting of aged poor into prison.

Miss Cox read a report from the committee upon the housing of the aged poor. They had visited the various old folks' homes in the city, and reported very favourably regarding their work. They advised that the vagrancy law be so revised as to give magistrates power to commit the poor people to the poor homes instead of to the jail. They advised that better accommodation be procured for the helpless ones, and that a comfortable house be secured in the suburbs of the city in which married people could spend their last days together, and not be separated by man. They proposed also that a conference of the various charitable institutions be called to arouse public interests in these questions.

The Rev. Father Ryan moved a resolution that the vagrancy act should be so amended that the Magistrates should have poor to commit aged and infirm poor to the power house instead of to the jail. He spoke shortly of the great advantages which would accrue from this step. Poverty, he said, we, as a Christian people, believed was not a crime, and so the poor should not be criminally treated. The innocent poor were subjects of charity, and should not be treated otherwise. There were two classes of houses for the poor, he said, houses where something had to be paid, and houses where nothing had to be paid by the inmates. He argued that the formation of such an association as would be proposed would need the possession of some sort of compulsory power to provide for the care of those who did not want to be looked after.

Prof. Clarke seconded the motion, and said he knew of no more disgraceful defect in our social organization than that the innocent poor should be treated as criminals. He had held these opinions for some time. The remedy, he thought, would be very simple. There were now in Ontario no less than nineteen voluntary houses of refuge for the poor. But, he said, every county should be compelled to have such houses of refuge for the protection of the aged poor, and he would be very much disappointed if he did not live to see some effective measures taken to remedy this great disgrace.

Mrs. S. G. Wood, Mr. J. E. Pell, secretary of the St. George's Society, Mrs. Forsythe Grant, Mr. Allworth, Mr. Hall of the city missions, and the Rev. John Gillespie spoke to the question.

Professor Clarke proposed in addition to the resolution, that houses of industry should be provided for the purpose proposed in all the counties of the Dominion.

Mr. J. E. Pell, in speaking to the motion criticized the unsuitability of the House of Industry for the performance of its work, a fact which, he said, was due to its board being composed of ministers of the Gospel.

The Rev. J. Gillespie vindicated the character of the House of Industry, and said he thought the house fully capable of attending to the city's aged poor. An addition had been made to the house and further additions would be made in the fall, so that they would be able to accommodate 100 more inmates. Therefore, he suggested that the council should confine its efforts towards aiding the House of Industry. Mrs. S. G. Wood pointed out, however, that we must take into consideration the whole Dominion, not Toronto alone.

Mr. Willoughby Cummings, in putting the motion, spoke of Dr. Chamberlain's opinions on the matter. He had said that the present vagrancy law was passed at the conclusion of the American war in order to operate against the tramps from the United States and was never intended to be used as a vagrancy law for our own aged poor. The resolution was unanimously carried.

Dr. Clark, of the Asylum for the Insane, spoke shortly of the class of aged people who were in their dotage. These people, he said, should not be placed in jail. He made several practical suggestions such as the farming out of such people, that is, placing them out on farms where their days might be passed in peace. The meeting closed with the singing of the national anthem—Globe.

A GREAT BLOOD MAKER.

Dr. Ward's Blood and Nerve Pills.

GENTLEMEN,—I most heartily endorse what has been said in the public print in regard to the merits of Dr. Ward's Blood and Nerve Pills. For 15 years my blood has been in a weak impoverished condition—I had so little blood that the veins in the back of my hands could not be seen. I had no physical strength, was run down and felt tired all the time. Two months ago I saw in the papers a testimonial signed by the Messrs. Holden, of Omemee, giving in detail what Dr. Ward's Pills had done for them. Knowing these gentlemen well, also knowing that they would not put their names to an untruth, I commenced taking Dr. Ward's Pills with astonishing and pleasing results. They have filled my veins with plenty of rich blood, and healthy at that, so that they stand out prominently. They have given me strength instead of weakness. In consequence of taking them I am well, Strong and feel first rate.

They are a great blood maker and strength restorer.

BAPTIST MISSIONS.

Annual Meeting of the Women's Society.

THE YEARLY REPORTS PRESENTED.

Missionaries Tell of their Experiences—Many Addresses Made on Missionary Topics—Miss Nicholls Elected a Member of the Board.

The convention of the Women's Baptist Home and Foreign Missionary Societies of Ontario began in Bloor street Baptist church, Toronto, yesterday morning, it being the twenty-second annual meeting of the society. The local delegates are Murray street church — Mrs. A. T. Dykeman, Mrs. T. F. Matthews, Mrs. Hunter and Miss Cochrane; Park Street Church —Mrs. O. C. Elliott and Mrs. Mowry. The visitors were cordially welcomed by Mrs. C. A. Eaton, wife of the pastor of the church.

Mrs. Booker, of Woodstock, the President presented her annual address, in which was reviewed the work of the year. She spoke hopefully of the prospects for the coming year and expressed the belief the deliberations of the convention would result in much benefit to the delegates.

The first business of the meeting was the presentation of her annual report by Mrs. Buchan, the secretary.

LITTLE ADVANCE MADE.

A portion of the report read as follows: Twenty-two years ago the Baptist women of this province banded themselves together to carry the Gospel to the women and children of heathendom, especially to the women of our mission among the Telugus. Their enthusiasm was great, and their work steadfast. Success crowned their efforts. Year after year the board was able to report at the annual meeting additional interest in the work, increased offering and new work on the field undertaken. The growth was steady until 1894, when the circles reached the number of 213, and the income of the society amounted to the sum of $8,421.72. Since that time, although God has wonderfully blessed the work in India, no advance has been made by us in the home land. This year, however, we are thankful to say that things are becoming more hopeful, 200 circles having reported to the treasurer as against 191 last year, while 18 circles that gave nothing to foreign missions last year have made returns this year, and of nine circles that did not report during this year two have sent offerings since the treasurer's books were closed. Fifteen circles have been organized, or re-organized, during the year. Seventy-nine circles have increased their offerings, but about 80 have fallen off. We are yet far from the penny-a-week from every Baptist woman for foreign missions; only four circles have reached that standard. There are 12,735 women in church fellowship reported this year, and only 3,823 contributors; but in four of the small churches there are more contributions than women in the church."

GENERAL REPORTS.

The Prayer Union, the members of which pray for the success of missions each day, is said to have 432 members. The report told of the work in the mission field, and the success of the labours of missionaries. More funds were needed for the support of workers in India and elsewhere.

The Treasurer's report showed a decrease in the gross income of $673 89. Including a balance of $2,101.56, the report gave the receipts for the year at $9,230.59. The disbursements aggregated $7,525.25. The report of the year's work of the Link, the Baptist mission paper, was presented by Mrs. (Dr.) Newman, and another encouraging statement for the year was made by Mrs. King, of Kingston, in charge of the bureau for the circulating of missionary information and general missionary literature.

The reports were adopted. The morning session was enlivened by an address on her labours in Rangoon, Burmah, by Miss Armstrong, a lady missionary.

FOREIGN MISSION WORK.

The proceedings of the afternoon were made very interesting by a description of the Baptist mission, the "Caste Girls' School," at Cocanada, India, by Miss Simpson, a missionary in that country. A very vivid picture of the work in the education of girls in India was given by Miss Simpson. Another missionary returned from India, Miss Rodgers, described foreign mission work upon the subject of "The Field," and kindred topics. "The Call" and "Individual Responsibility" were treated by Mrs. D. K. Clarke, of Woodstock, and Mrs. G. W. Barber, of St. George.

A general discussion followed on the matter of mission band work, the topic being introduced by Mrs. Halkett, of Ottawa. The talk on the methods of band work was led by C. W. King, of Kingston, and many delegates participated in it.

The election of officers for the coming year took place during the day, and the following ladies were elected:

President—Mrs. Booker, Woodstock.
First Vice-President—Mrs. E. B. Freeland, Toronto.
Second Vice-President—Mrs. M. T. Harris, Toronto.

SAMPSON'S VICTORY.

First Bombardment of San Juan Failed to Silence Her Guns.

VICTORY WAS LATER SNATCHED

Two Americans Killed and Seven Injured, While Four Spaniards Went Under With Many Wounded—Details of the Fighting—The Coming Naval Battle—General War News.

New York, May 14.—A Fort de France, Martinique, special says: The American flag flies over San Juan, Porto Rico. It is believed that Admiral Sampson made a second attack on the place before the Spaniards capitulated.

DETAILS OF BOMBARDMENT.

American Loss Two Men Killed and Seven Injured—Spanish Return Brisk Fire for Fire.

On board the flagship Iowa, off San Juan de Porto Rico, May 12.—(Via St. Thomas, Danish West Indies, May 13.)—The forts of San Juan de Porto Rico were bombarded by part of Rear-Admiral Sampson's fleet this morning. The enemy's loss is believed to be heavy. The American loss is two men killed and seven men injured.

After three hours' firing, the Admiral withdrew the fleet, and, heading for Key West, he said: "I am satisfied with the morning's work. I could have taken San Juan, but I have no force to hold it. I only wanted to administer punishment. This has been done. I came for the Spanish fleet and not for San Juan."

The men killed were: Seaman Frank Widemark of the New York, Gunner's Mate —— of the Amphitrite. The latter died from the effects of the extreme heat. Of the injured men, three were on board the Iowa and four on board the New York.

The American ships were uninjured. The engagement began at 5.15 a.m. and ended at 8.15 a.m. The enemy's batteries were not silenced, and the town in the rear of the fortifications probably suffered.

The Ships Which Took Part.

The ships taking part in the action were the Iowa, Indiana, New York, Terror, Amphitrite, Detroit, Montgomery, Wampatuck and Porter. The enemy's firing was heavy, but wild, and the Iowa and New York were probably the only ships hit. They went right up under the guns in column, delivering broadsides, and then returned. The line passed twice in front of the forts, pouring tons of steel on shore.

It is impossible to judge the amount of the damage done to the buildings and forts. They appeared to be riddled with shot, but the Spaniards were plucky. The after turret of the Amphitrite got out of order temporarily during the engagement, but she banged away with her forward guns. After the first passage before the fort the Detroit and the Montgomery retired, their guns being too small to do much damage. The Porter and the Wampatuck also stayed out of range.

Morro the Point Attacked.

Morro battery, on the eastward arm of the harbor, was the principal point of attack. Rear-Admiral Sampson and Captain Evans were on the lower bridge of the Iowa and had a narrow escape from splinters, which injured three men. The Iowa was hit eight times, but the shells made no impression on her armor. The weather was fine, but the heavy swells made accurate aim difficult. The broadsides from the Iowa and Indiana rumbled in the hills ashore for five minutes after they were delivered, clouds of dust showed where they struck, but the smoke hung over everything. The shells screeching overhead and dropping around were the only signs that the Spaniards still stuck to their guns.

An Early Morning Fight.

At 3 o'clock in the morning all hands were called on the Iowa, a few final touches in clearing ship were made, and at 5 "general quarters" sounded. The tug Wampatuck went ahead and anchored her small boat to the westward, showing ten fathoms, but there was not a sign of life from the fort, which stood boldly against the sky on the eastern hills, hiding the town. The Detroit steamed far to the eastward, opposite the valtern. The Iowa headed straight for the shore. Suddenly her helm flew over, bringing the starboard battery to bear on the fortifications. At 5.16 o'clock the Iowa's forward 12-inch gun thundered out at the sleeping hills and for 14 minutes she poured starboard broadsides on the coast.

Meanwhile the Indiana, the New York and other ships repeated the dose from the rear. The Iowa turned and came back to the Wampatuck's buoy and again led the column, the forts replying fiercely and concentrating on the Detroit, which was about 700 yards away, all the batteries on the eastward arm of the harbor. Thrice the column passed from the entrance of the harbor to the extreme eastward battery. The wounded were quickly attended to, the blood was washed away and everything proceeded like target practice. At 7.45 o'clock Admiral Sampson signalled: "Cease firing, retire," and the Iowa headed from the shore. The Terror was the last ship in the line, and, failing to see the signal, banged away alone for about half an hour, the concert of shore guns roaring at her and the water flying high around her from the exploded shells. But she possessed a charmed life and reluctantly retired at 8.15.

As at Matanzas, the unsatisfactory condition, the smoke and the distance, prevented any important conclusions being drawn. The town of San Juan must have suffered, although protected by the hills, as the high shots must have reached it. No traces of the bombardment were discernable on the fort, except small fires, which were apparently extinguished before the fleet left.

THE SPANISH STORY.

Loss Insignificant—Four Men Killed and Several Wounded.

Madrid, May 14.—An official despatch from San Juan de Porto Rico says: "The American squadron was repulsed off Porto Rico. Although 11 warships bombarded the place, the attacks were gloriously beaten back.

"The Spanish batteries armed with six-inch Krupp guns were especially effective."

The victory of the Spaniards has aroused great enthusiasm here.

Caused Only Slight Damage.

Madrid, May 14.—Another official despatch from Porto Rico says: "The bombardment only caused slight damage to the barracks. Four soldiers were killed and several wounded. The squadron retired, having received severe injuries. One big warship had to be towed."

Blanco Hears of It.

Havana, May 14, via Kingston, Jamaica.—Captain-General Blanco has received a despatch from General Macras, the Spanish commander at Porto Rico, reading as follows: "Eleven of the enemy's ships appeared during the early hours (Thursday) before Porto Rico and opened fire without giving warning. The port battery replied and a severe cannonade was continued until 9 o'clock in the morning. The damage done was inconsiderable and the loss is insignificant."

From an English Source.

London, May 14.—The Evening News yesterday afternoon publishes a despatch from St. Thomas, Danish West Indies, saying San Juan de Porto Rico surrendered at 6 o'clock Thursday evening.

The despatch adds that immense damage was done to the city and that a number of important buildings collapsed.

The Iowa and the Detroit, according to this despatch, fired 430 shots with terrible effect. The Americans did not attempt to take possession of or destroy the town, beyond razing the fortifications.

The Flying Squadron Sails.

Newport News, Va., May 14.—The Flying Squadron weighed anchor at 3.40 p.m. yesterday and moved out to sea, the flagship Brooklyn leading.

Sampson Ready and Waiting.

London, May 14.—The despatch from St. Thomas, Danish West Indies, to the Evening News of this city, winds up with announcing that the American fleet, under Rear-Admiral Sampson, is now outside of San Juan de Porto Rico, awaiting the coming of the Spanish fleet, commanded by Admiral Cervera, which was last reported off Fort de France, Island of Martinique, French West Indies.

THE COMING NAVAL BATTLE.

Facts About the Spanish and American Fleets Soon to Meet in West India Waters.

Washington, May 14.—The Cabinet meeting yesterday lasted only three minutes, the shortest of the year. The news, which is regarded as entirely authentic, that the Spanish fleet had been sighted off Martinique Island, clears the atmosphere, and from this time forward the Government's line of action will not be clouded by any uncertainty as to the location of this formidable enemy.

Martinique is a French island, lying 500 miles east of Porto Rico, and 700 miles from the eastern coast of Cuba. It is one of the outposts of the West Indies, and is the natural point at which the Spanish fleet, coming from Cape Verde, would first make a landing. It must now pass the French island of Guadaloupe, to the west; the Danish island of St. Thomas, a little further west, and then its course is open to Porto Rico unless Admiral Sampson's fleet shall engage them before. As they stand now, the two fleets are about 500 miles apart, which, by hard sailing of both fleets, would cover one day, or by the sailing of one fleet, would bring them together in two days. The Spanish squadron is made up of seven first-class ships, of which four are armored cruisers and three destroyers. This is as near the exact strength as can be stated, for the reports from Cape Verde and from Cadiz have caused much doubt as to the exact strength of the Spanish squadron. But, allowing for the torpedo boats and other craft which returned to Cadiz, there is little doubt that the Spanish squadron off Martinique has at least seven warships of formidable dimensions. These are: Armored cruisers Vizcaya, Almirante Oquendo, Infanta Maria Teresa and Cristobal Colon, and the torpedo destroyers Terror, Furor and Pluton.

GUSSIE EXPEDITION A FAILURE.

Spanish Troops Drive Back the American Invaders of Cuban Soil.

Key West, Fla., May 14.—The transport steamer Gussie, which left here with a big expedition for Cuba on Wednesday night, had a lively engagement with the Spaniards at Cabanas, Province of Pinar del Rio, yesterday, but failed in accomplishing her mission.

The Gussie, which came here from Tampa, carried 7,000 rifles and a large quantity of ammunition intended for the Cubans. The expedition was directed by Capt. J. H. Dorst of the U. S. Cavalry, who took with him over 100 members of the First Infantry and 10 Cuban scouts.

After a rough voyage, the Gussie was met off the Cuban coast by the auxiliary gunboats Wasp and Manning, who escorted her in. As they approached the shore a large body of Spanish soldiers opened fire upon the expedition, and the gunboats replied with effect, enabling the expedition to land. On shore the battle was renewed. The Spanish troops had retired to their works and to the woods and directed a constant fire upon the landing party, compelling the invaders to retire.

One of the American party, a newspaper man, was shot in the arm. The Spanish loss is not known, but must have been heavy.

WORTHY OF HIS STEEL.

Commodore Dewey Tells Admiral Montejo That He Fought Gallantly Under Most Unequal Conditions.

London, May 14.—The Hong-Kong correspondent of the Times says: "I had a conversation with Admiral Montejo, who admitted that his chief object was to seek the protection of the Cavite forts. He fought in the Reina Maria Christina till she was on fire, fore and aft, and had 52 killed. He transferred his flag to the Isla de Cuba, and after two and a half hours' fighting he gave the signal to scuttle and abandon her. Commodore Dewey ceased fire and asked permission of the forts to destroy the burning ships. Admiral Montejo replied: 'The ships are at your mercy; do as you like.' The American fire was then resumed till the Spanish squadron was completely annihilated.

"The captain of the Boston, who carried the flag of truce, said: 'You combatted us with four very bad ships, not warships. We have never seen braver fighting under such unequal conditions It is a great pity you exposed your lives on vessels not fit for fighting.'

"Commodore Dewey sent a message to Admiral Montejo as follows: 'I have pleasure in clasping your hand and offering my congratulations on the gallant manner in which you fought.'

Blames the Government.

"Admiral Montejo attributes the responsibility of his defeat to the Government in Madrid. He had only obsolete vessels, though he had requisitioned the Government for ships. He had no torpedoes except some which he himself had constructed out of ineffective material. His original intention was to remain at Subic and offer battle, but he returned to Cavite because the Subic forts were inadequate.

"During the bombardment of the Cavite arsenal Commodore Dewey ceased fire at the request of the Spaniards to allow the women and children to be removed to a place of safety. I witnessed the second bombardment. The American vessels were admirably handled. The rebels looted Cavite immediately, the Spaniards flying to Manila. The Spaniards are not expected to capitulate Commodore Dewey has Manila at his mercy, but it would be useless to bombard the city without a sufficient force to hold it."

HOPE REVIVED.

The Spanish Successes at Cardenas and Cienfuegos Has This Effect.

Madrid, May 14.—The entire press greets the "success" of the Spaniards at Cardenas and at Cienfuegos as being a good augury for the future, and hope is also revived on the subject of Manila, the belief being expressed that the port may be recovered owing to the time which must elapse in preparing the reinforcements for Rear-Admiral Dewey, which fact will give time for the Spanish relief expedition to arrive at the Philippine Islands.

A majority of the newspapers express satisfaction at the arrival of the Spanish squadron at the Island of Martinique, while others question the wisdom of exposing the Spanish ships to an engagement with Rear-Admiral Sampson's fleet, which is admitted to be superior to the Spanish fleet The naval and military men in this city say they would have preferred to have Admiral Cervera steer direct for the coast of the United States and bombard American ports.

FATAL RAILWAY ACCIDENT.

Mr. Philip Kennedy of Perth Was Caught Between Two Cars and His Head Smashed to a Jelly.

Perth, Ont., May 14.—A terrible accident happened at the Canadian Pacific Railway company's shops here between 3 and 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon, in which Mr. Philip Kennedy lost his life. The shops are being run to their full capacity, in consequence of which there is always a great rush. Mr. Kennedy, who had completed his part of the work on a car, had taken a drink and was talking to two companions engaged in adjusting the couplings to the almost finished car, another box car almost completed was eight feet distant on the same track, and deceased's head was in a line with the couplers when, without the slightest warning, the shunting engine struck the train of cars, sending the two together with great force. The couplers caught his head, smashing it to a jelly. Several other workmen narrowly escaped with their lives. Deceased leaves a wife and family. An inquest will likely be held on Monday.

A TWENTIETH CENTURY MILLION

Rev. Dr. Potts, Methodist Educational secretary, has proposed to raise a million-dollar fund for connexional purposes of the Methodist church to symbolize the opening of the twentieth century. In the abstract, supposing that Methodist liberality were equal to the task, and its past record gives reason to believe that it would be, yet its beneficial effect upon the people of that church is regarded by many as problematical. By special effort the people by more or less self-denial, according to circumstances, might raise the sum, but it isquestioned by some whether giving under the impulse of a sentimental, instead of a purely devotional motive, would be a spirit that would meet the approval of Him who judges the heart—whether the giving would be done ad majorem Dei gloriam, or to the glory of having the biggest connexional fund of any church body in Canada. Moreover, others urge that if such a fund were secured the effort might result in taking the life out of the members of the connexion, so far as it is represented by the spirit of giving; and succeeding generations with the motive to self-sacrifice in the matter of giving removed, would be inclined to rest on their oars and develop an apathy in the matter of contributing to other causes not covered by the field in question. We know of a church that had a large debt. The congregation willingly, or, at least, actually did contribute enough to pay the interest and also a similar sum to meet current church expenses. The church debt was paid off clean by a friend of the congregation, and lo, next year the congregation not only did not (there being no necessity) contribute to the interest fund, but failed to raise enough to pay current church expenses. What was the reason of this condition unless the sense of the duty of effort was paralyzed by the idea of the duty of giving having been done by proxy. However, no man is deterred by a feeling of possible demoralizing consequences from accepting a legacy that will make him independent of the struggle involved in making a living, and no church can be expected to decline a benefaction which will furnish the means of widen and more aggressive work.

The leading spirits of the Methodist church claim that some of their connexional funds strengthened by an endowment of of a million would equip the church for the stronger and more aggressive work which she feels called to perform; and, when one remarks the enthusiasm and sustained efforts which have contributed under the divine blessing, to the extraordinary progress the Methodist church has made in the past hundred years, which covers the principal period of its existence as a distinct ecclesiastical organization, it does not seem impracticable or improbable that if the Methodist church sets itself the task of raising a million dollars for the purposes of its work, it will, with comparative ease, accomplish a task which will be a crowning achievement of the many triumphs that have marked the nineteenth century march of Methodist progress. The latest census gives the numerical strength of the Methodist body in Canada as 847,765 a number so close to a million as to make a contribution of a dollar from each require only the addition of a cent or two on the dollar to make up the required million. If the Methodists undertake the business of raising the million with the earnestness and co-operative unity that usually marks their attitude to a duty to be performed, the end will doubtless be reached. The thinking men of the church see in the proposal ground for serious consideration and deliberation. Doubtless the subject will be discussed exhaustively in the several district meetings of the several conferences; and the full measure of the responsibility to be assumed fully canvassed before the proposition will be passed under the purview of the annual conferences and the general conference which meets this year in Toronto, in the light of a full expression of popular and congregational opinion and feeling. If the demand is made upon the loyalty of the membership of the church to its objects, the response will not, it is safe to say, be doubtful.

SPAIN'S SIDE OF THE CASE.

Senor du Bosc, in his lecture at Toronto, told the story of the Cuban trouble as Spain sees it. The historical part of his remarks is not news to those who have read. Cuba is near to the United States and rich, and there have always been those at Washington who would have been glad to acquire it, if not peaceably, as Florida and Louisiana, then otherwise, as California and New Mexico and Arizona were wrenched from old Mexico. It is also true that the United States has not been always a pleasant neighbour. Raiders from her borders have troubled more than the Spaniards in Cuba. In Cuba's case especially, there are two reasons why the revolutionists would receive U S. sympathy. Many read the Munroe Doctrine to mean that there should be no monarchial power on this continent, and so disliked Spain. Some thought that independence would lead to annexation. Some expected what has happened. So revolutionists on the islands always had sympathy and frequently help as well. The The rebellion gave Spain a grievance against the United States, rather than the United States a grievance against Spain, Senor du Bosc has logic with him when he says there was no just cause for war at the time it was declared. Spain had ordained a peaceful revolution in the administration of Cuba. A free parliament had been called into being to rule over a self-governing island. It met only the other day, for the first time. There was not given time to test it, to see if it met the approval of the majority in Cuba. Other things deemed necessary to the humane ruling of the island has been acquiesced in. In connection with the Maine disaster, the moving cause of the war, Spain had offered to submit the dispute between the two sets of experts to the decision of an unprejudiced outsider. But time for this also was refused, and hostilities began. Senor du Bosc omits reference to some things that gave real cause for U. S. feeling against Spain, as U. S. writers and speakers omit many things that go to justify Spain. When some U. S. historian tells the truth about the war with Spain as some have told the truth about the war with Mexico, much that Senor du Bosc alleges will be admitted and condemned, but Cuba will have been lost to the motherland of its people.

LOCAL LEGAL.

In the Court of Appeal in Toronto yesterday before Burton C.J.O, Osler Maclennan, Moss J.J.A., the following cases of local interest were heard:

Davidson v. Cochrane—Poussette, Q C, for Hugh D. Cochrane, an infant, appealed from an order of Boyd, C., in Chambers (18 C.L.T., Occ. N. 183), dismissing an appeal by the infant from an order of the local Judge at Peterborough directing that garnishees should pay the judgment creditor the moneys due from them to the judgment debtor, and barring the claim of the appellant to such moneys. The judgment debtor was the mother of the appellant: the moneys in question were in the Canadian Bank of Commerce to the credit of a savings bank account kept in the name of the mother; an entry of an assignment of the moneys to the infant was made in the savings bank book, but the account was still allowed to stand in the name of the mother, and the book itself was held for her, and she had the absolute control of it. No notice of the assignment was given to the infant or to the bank. The mother intended the money to be her son's and to be given or sent to him on his next birthday, when he would be of age. The Chancellor held that there was no completed gift. R. R. Hall (Peterborough) for the judgment creditor. The court affirmed the Chancellor's decision, and dismissed the appeal with costs.

Brisbois v. Corry.—D. O'Connel, (Peterborough) for plaintiff, moved to set aside verdict and judgment in favour of defendants as to the main part of plaintiff's claim and for a new trial, or in the event of a new trial not being granted, to reverse the order of the trial judge as to costs. The action was for damages for breach of contract to accept gravel, and was tried before Ferguson, J., and a jury at Peterborough. The plaintiff was allowed $61.50 with Division Court costs only, and the defendants were allowed the excess of their costs over Division Court costs to be set off pro tanto. The defendants were contractors for the building of a line of railway in the township of Douro, and the plaintiff made a contract with them to supply gravel. The main question in the action was whether under the terms of the contract, the defendants were bound to accept a specified quantity from the plaintiff, or so much only as they required for the railway ballasting. Watson, Q. C., and Moore, (Peterborough) for defendants, contra. Not finished.

The evidence in the case proves Hood's Sarsaparilla cures scorfula, salt, rheum, boils humors and all eruptions.

Throat lined with Ulcers

A Young Lady Cured of Long Standing Catarrh and Catarrhal Sore Throat by Dr. Chase's Catarrh Cure.

Miss Anna A. Howey, of Eden, Ont., says that she suffered from Catarrh for ten years, used a number of remedies advertised, but was always disappointed in the result.

Last fall she suffered intense pain in her head and her throat was lined with ulcers. The doctors called it Catarrhal Sore Throat, but did not cure it. She saw that Dr. Chase's Catarrh Cure was being highly recommended, so procured a box from C. Thomson, druggist, Tilsonburg, Ont., and commenced its use. Soon the ulcers cleared away from her throat, the pain in her head ceased. She says that Dr. Chase's Catarrh Cure does not cause distress or sneezing when being used, and is the most effective catarrh remedy she ever tried.

Mr. J. D. Phillips, a Justice of the Peace, declares that he knows Miss Howey and her mother, and can vouch for the truthfulness of her statements.

Dr. Chase's Catarrh Cure, sold by all Dealers. Price 25 cents, complete with blower.

Dr. Bell, coroner, Lakefield, held an inquest on Saturday at Apsley on the body of Richard Lane, who was found on the roadside near Burleigh in an insensible condition, and who died soon after being found. The body, owing to some misunderstanding, was removed to Apsley, causing a great deal of inconvenience to all concerned. Dr. J. R. Fraser of Lakefield made a thorough post mortem examination, and informed the jury that death was not caused by any maltreatment of the deceased but by "alcoholism and exposure, assisted by a diseased condition of the kidneys," and the jury rendered a verdict accordingly.

HIGHEST PLACE IN THE TEMPLE OF FAME.

Paine's Celery Compound the Hope of the Civilized World.

A MARVELLOUS CURE IN ST. JOHN'S, NFLD.

Another Proof that Paine's Celery Compound Cures When Doctors Fail.

To gain admittance to the Temple of Fame, honour, reputation, worth and wondrous achievements must be some of the necessary qualifications.

Paine's Celery Compound has gained all of these in its work of life-saving in the world. It has saved husband, wife, sister, brother and child to the family after the efforts of the best physicians proved unavailing.

Paine's Celery Compound is doing its grand work every day, bringing joy and happiness to thousands of homes.

The cure of Mr. E. Landy, of St. John's, Nfld., is worthy of the attention of all sick and suffering people. The results as described by Mr. Landy should induce every suffering man and woman to use Paine's Celery Compound at once.

Wells & Richardson Co.,—

Gentlemen—With great pleasure I make known what your Paine's Celery Compound has done for me. Last December I was sick and suffered from a heavy cold. My doctor said I was run down, and advised me to give up my work (the tailoring business) as he thought it was not conducive to my health. He gave me medicine for my trouble, also for indigestion and nervousness. The medicines, however, produced no good results, and I was reduced to a mere skeleton, and came to the conclusion that I was going to die.

Through the influence of an old friend who came to see me, I was prevailed upon to use Paine's Celery Compound, which he said would soon set me on my legs again. After using the first bottle, and the pills that go with the Compound, I had such good results that I continued with the medicine until I had taken seven bottles, when I found myself as strong and healthy as ever before in my life. I am able to work at my trade as well as in former days, and see no necessity for giving it up. From the results that have blessed my efforts with Paine's Celery Compound I would strongly advise every sick person to use the great medicine which has no equal in the world.

Edward Landy,
32 Plank Road, St. John's Nfld.

EDICT AGAINST PIE.

Because it Causes Dyspepsia and Misery to Thousands.

But Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets Digest all Foods—Pie Included—and Thus Prevent or Cure Dyspepsia—They Never Fail.

"There'd be less Dyspepsia in Toronto if people would eat less pies."

A Toronto baker advertised this way in the papers last week, and he advised people to quit eating pies, and to eat his bread only.

People won't quit eating pie. They like pie. They will eat it. And they are right. They have discovered that they can eat pies of any kind, without the slightest shadow of danger of Dyspepsia, if they simply take one or two of Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets after each meal.

Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets digest the food—all kinds of food. There can then be no indigestion.

Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets tone and strengthen the stomach. In this way they fit it to digest the food itself, without their aid.

Many medicines must be used continually—all the time. A few weeks' treatment with Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets does away with all need to use them any longer.

The small brown tablets that go with every box of Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets, regulate the bowels and carry off waste matter.

Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets positively cure Indigestion, Dyspepsia, Biliousness, Headache, and all other diseases of stomach and digestive organs.

If you don't believe it, test them. They'll convince you by curing you.

Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets are sold by all druggists at fifty cents a box, six boxes $2 50, or sent, on receipt of price, by The Dodd's Medicine Co., Limited, Toronto.

SHE BOUGHT IN TORONTO

And Now a Lindsay Woman is Sorry for it.

An experience in going to Toronto for bargains will likely give a lawyer a job pretty soon. Two weeks or so ago a Lindsay woman saw an advertisement in one of the Toronto newspapers quoting prices which a big firm there were going to sell on the Friday following. She sent an order and the cash. Among other things she ordered two pairs of towels and twenty-five yards of five-inch lace. When the stuff arrived she found but one pair of towels and a quantity of one-inch lace. She sent the whole back without opening the lace to see how much there was in it, and demanded the return of her money. Some days later she received a note which clearly insinuated that before returning the lace she had cut off ten yards and had returned only 15. This insinuation of stealing she did not like, and has demanded an apology. The only excuse the firm offers for not filling the order as sent was that the purchaser did not specify that she was ordering advertised bargains.—Lindsay Post.

Heart Disease had Him at Death's Door—Dr. Agnew's Cure for the Heart Worked Almost a Miracle.

C. A. Campbell, Mountiron, Minr., writes:—"I laid just at the point of death from most acute heart disease, and with hardly a hope that any remedy could reach my case I procured a bottle of Dr. Agnew's Cure for the Heart. I believe this great remedy got to me just in time. The first dose gave me great relief inside of thirty minutes, and before I had taken a bottle I was up from what I thought was my death bed. I was cured, and I consider my cure almost miraculous." Sold by H. S. Macdonald.

French Gunners at Havana.

New York, May 13.—A Washington special says the Navy Department has information that the French liner Lafayette carried 80 French artillerymen to Havana, besides a large amount of supplies. This may cause grave complications with France. The steamer has left Havana. If caught now on the high seas, it is believed she would be a legitimate prize of war.

A STRONG ARGUMENT.

Wm. McCabe, Esq., Managing Director, N. A. L., Toronto:

Dear Sir,—Please accept my thanks for your cheque just handed to me, for $3,991.98, in settlement of my $2,500 Fifteen Year Endowment Policy in your Company. Such a result as this, after the risk on my life has been carried for fifteen years, beginning from forty-five years of age, argues one thing strongly, namely, that the management of the North American Life must be in competent hands. The other options you have offered me, viz: a Paid-up Life policy for $3510.00, or a Life Annuity for $461.20, are, I presume, equally liberal, and it affords me much pleasure to recommend your Company to my friends or any one desiring insurance.

Yours truly,

A Picturesque Landmark Removed.

The picturesque octagonal tower situated north of the Grand Trunk station on the lawns, is being dismantled and removed. Mr. R. Dickenson has purchased the material, and in a day or two Baron von Hugel's folly, as this water tower, which by the way has never had water enough in it to make a lemonade, is called, will disappear. The removal of this structure is in line with the policy of the new management of the Grand Trunk, represented by the removal of numerous unsightly and useless structures. The removal of the tower mentioned will give a clear view of the station platform from Charlotte street, and permit the greater improvement of the already beautiful station gardens.

VICTORIA HOUSE, McCRACKEN'S LANDING.

Opening of the New Stony Lake Summer Resort for the Season of 1898—Many Improvements made Since Last Year.

Mr. John Morgan of Warsaw, proprietor of the new summer resort at McCracken's Landing, re-opened his house this week. The demand for rooms began so early, and the requests for May engagements came so thick, that the house was opened earlier than contemplated. Mr. Morgan expects to have a busy season. Almost every mail brings letters from Canadian and American tourists enquiring about the accommodation and date of opening. Several parties have already visited the house, making personal enquiries, and numbers of sporting parties from Peterborough and other places have registered. On Thursday a fishing party from Peterborough under the charge of Commodore Geo. Fitzgerald, and numbering among the party a lot of jolly good fellows, made things interesting for the fish in the vicinity as well as assisting in the opening ceremonies at the hotel. The local experts with the rod enjoyed their expedition immensely—the sport being interesting and the pull-in good. The visitors greatly enjoyed a spin over Stony Lake on board the fleet little steam yacht "Tramp," which Mr. Morgan has purchased for the accommodation of his guests at the hotel. The "Tramp" was built by the Peterborough Canoe Co., and as she is a speedy craft, will prove a great acquisition to the visitors at this popular resort.

The Victoria House and grounds has been considerably improved since last season. The large verandah on the second story has been roofed in all round and will now afford ample shelter and shade to visitors who wish to sit out and enjoy the fresh air and fine view and be exempt from the hot rays of the sun or the rain in wet weather.

A staff of men has been engaged all spring increasing the number of walks and improving the surroundings. Flowers and plants adorn the grounds and new spots of interest are to be found situated in various pretty points near the house.

Another important improvement has been the erection of a new wind mill by the Toronto Windmill Co., which supplies water to the whole house. It is erected near the lake shore, and works to perfection.

Mr. Morgan has also built a neat cottage a short distance from the house, which be used by a small family or party who prefer to be separate from the hotel. The cottage contains four rooms—two upstairs and two down stairs, it is 37 feet long with neat verandah and fronts the lake. Other improvements are in progress which will add to the pleasure and comfort of guests.

Mr. Arthur Choate, of Warsaw, expects to open his general store at the landing about the middle of next month.

DELIGHTFUL LITTLE DRAMATIC ENTERTAINMENT.

The Great Moral Melodrama, "Snowdrop." Admirably Presented at St. John's School House—A Beautiful Dramatization—The Juvenile Performers Display Precocious Proficiency—A Crowded House.

Last night St. John's School House was filled as an egg with meat, with an audience assembled to witness the presentation of the old fairy tale, "Snowdrop," a story of vanity and retribution, and to say that those present were amply repaid by what they saw and heard, is to exemplify the inadequacy of words to express feelings. The story was beautifully and skilfully dramatized by Miss Alma Frances McCollum, who has in similar productions and in other ways, shown that she is endowed with a liberal share of the dramatic afflatus, as well as possessing, to a high degree, the gift of graceful literary expression. St. John's is especially indebted to Miss McCallum for many similar services on her part which have had substantial as well as highly interesting results. Mr. Percy Owens, organist of St. John's, who arranged the music to Miss McCallum's libretto of the little operetta of Snowdrop, is to be congratulated upon the success with which he adapted it to the spirit of the occasion. The libretto was brisk and sparkling and the music was of a similar character.

The performance is presented in seven scenes in three acts which may thus be summarized:

Act I—Scene 1—A room in king's palace. Vain Queen is convinced of Snowdrop's superior beauty and commands Goldevil to kill her.

Act 2—Scene 1—In dwarf's home. Snowdrop is presented to fairies and dwarfs. Scene II—In king's palace. Queen plans for Snowdrop's destruction. Scene III—In dwarf's home. Snowdrop poisoned by Queen.

Act III—Scene 1—In king's palace. Queen rejoices over Snowdrop's death. King discovers her crime and throws her into a dungeon. Scene II—In dwarf's home. Snowdrop lies dead in a glass case. Enter Prince Scarlet who restores her to life. Scene III—In king's palace. present king and attendants. Snowdrop returns. Wicked queen dances in red hot shoes till she dies. Goldevil appears and restores queen to life, claims to have caused all evil doing, now brings peace. All is forgiven, to they lived in peace and died in greece and were buried in a pot of ashes.

It is impossible to deal in detail with the manner in which the several characters were presented, but it would be disrespectful to ignore the royal personages, the royal protege, Little Snowdrop and other important characters. Miss Banks Clementi, as King of Allshadie, capably took the part of a royal husband, somewhat in subordination to, not to say henpecked by his royal consort, who was remirably represented by Miss Hazel Dean. Miss Addie Armstrong well sustained the character of the wicked fairy, "Goldevil." A special word of praise is due to Miss Geraldine Billington, who so prettily personated Snowdrop. It could not have been done better, and she had her reward in gaining, in the development of the plot, as a husband, the Prince of the Dwarfs, Master Holden Blackwell, who was exceedingly clever in his admirable presentation of his part.

One can't take the space to give a word to each of the little stars that played their parts so well, so they may be grouped in a constellation, as expressed in this list of dramatis personæ:

King of Allshadie		Banks Clementi
Walter, Cuthbert	attendants on King	Rhea Boddy, Roxy Houston
Queen of Allshadie (stepmother to Snowdrop)		Hazel Dean
Phyllis (attendant on Queen)		Clarissa Clementi
Snowdrop (daughter of King)		Geraldine Billington
Goldevil (a fairy wise in wicked ways)		Addie Armstrong
Mabel Godfrey, Lillie Dean, M Summerville, Kathleen Kincaid	attendant fairies	L Sumerville, Chas Dean, G McClellan, Muriel Burritt
Jumble, Rumble, Stumble, Mumble, Fumble, Tumble, Grumble	the red dwarfs	B Blackwell, Alan Campbell, Charley Kingan, W Blackwell, Bailil Sawers, G Campbell, Philip Billington

The costumes were of regal splendour and the fairies were indeed little fairies in look and action, while the little dwarfs made up in mischief and funny antics what they lacked in size. The music was very pleasingly sung, the "scenery" was effective, and altogether a delightful entertainment was given. The incidental music was contributed by Miss Margaret English, and in the second act by a well played violin solo by Master David Parker. The duet by Miss Aileen Fair and Miss Hurley was very brightly given. Miss Margaret English as pianist deserves a word of praise, and the Managing Committee, Mrs. Greenwood, Miss Margaret English, Miss Alma McCollum, Miss Helen Boucher, and Miss Dollie Comstock, and indeed all concerned, deserve to be congratulated upon the great success of last night's entertainment, and the substantial results in the interests of the Mission Band of St. John's.

AN ELOPING COUPLE FROM FENELON FALLS.

THEY ARE CAUGHT AND LOCKED UP HERE.

When the Husband Arrives on the Scene a Reconciliation Takes Place Between Him and His Wife and They Return Home Together.

The old story of an erring wife and forgiving husband was re-enacted at the police station shortly before noon to-day, when W. H. Stevenson, of Fenelon Falls, overtook his spouse who was eloping with another man, and persuaded her to return home.

The circumstances leading up to the reuniting of husband and wife differ little from the details connected with similar affairs which happen every day.

Early this morning the woman left her husband and family and eloped with Geo. Kennedy, a man of 32 years, who was just fourteen years her junior. The pair drove to Lindsay and took the morning train for Peterborough, arriving here at 7 a.m. In the meantime the husband started out after his wife and traced her to Lindsay. From there he telephoned to Peterborough and arranged for the detention of the couple until his arrival by the next train. Officer Stewart was detailed for the duty and had no trouble in spotting the giddy young elopers and escorting them to the police station, where they were placed in separate cells.

Mr. Stevenson came on over on the 11.45 train, accompanied by one of the children, a boy about ten years of age. On confronting his wife she broke down and, with sobs and promises of reformation, begged to be reinstated in her place in the household. The husband consented, and a few minutes after his arrival in town the chief escorted Kennedy and the husband and wife to the Grand Trunk station, where the baggage of the eloping couple was separated and Kennedy allowed to proceed on his trip alone, whilst the repentant wife and her better half repaired to a hotel to wait for the next train home.

GRAND TRUNK RAILWAY.

Change of Train Time to Take Effect on Monday.

A new schedule of train time on the Grand Trunk Railway takes effect on Monday or—to use the scrupulous phraseology of the railway exactness—on Sunday morning at 12.01 a.m. The changes are not very great, but sufficient in some cases to make a traveller accustomed to the old time table lose a train.

The morning train from Belleville now arrives at 7.55 a.m instead of 8, as formerly. The evening train arrives as usual, at 8 40. The leaving time in the morning for the Belleville train is 8 10 instead of 8 20, and in the afternoon the train leaves at 12 15 instead of 12 35.

The Port Hope morning train will arrive on and after Monday at 8 01, instead of 8 03, and will depart for Toronto at 8 05 instead of 8.10 The evening train from Port Hope arrives at 5 33 p.m. and leaves for Toronto and intermediate points at 5 35 p.m. instead of 5 25 p.m. and 5 30 p.m., respectively, as before. The Toronto train, via Lindsay, arrives at 11 43 a.m. and leaves for Port Hope at 11.45 a.m., instead of 11 55 a.m and 12 noon, as before. There is no change in the evening train from Toronto and Lindsay, the time being 8 45 for arrival and 8 55 for departure. The local for Lindsay in the evening leaves at 9 10 p.m., instead of 9 p. m., the old time. The morning train arrives at 7 a. m. On the Lakefield branch the morning train leaves as before at 8 25 a m. There is a change in the midday departure, the train leaving at 12 05 p.m., instead of 1.45 p.m. The morning train from Lakefield arrives at 9 55. The evening train arrives from Lakefield at 5 p.m., instead of 4.50 p.m.

On and after June 20th, when the summer service begins, a train will leave Peterborough at 6.30 p.m. and arrive from Lakefield at 8.05 p.m.

BATTALION NOTES.

The Next Parade Will be on Monday Instead of Tuesday Evening.

The appended orders were issued at the drill of the 57th last evening:

HEADQUARTERS,
Peterborough, May 13th, 1898.

Orders by Lieut-Col. R. W. Bell, Commanding the 57th Battalion of Infantry Peterborough Rangers.

1. The Battalion will parade on Monday evening, May 16th, at 8 p. m., instead of Tuesday evening.

2. The non-commissioned officers will parade at 7.30 Monday evening.

3. The Commanding Officer has been pleased to make the following promotions:

To be Orderly Room Sergeant, Colour Serg't W F Green, of B Company; B Company, to be Col-Sergt, provisional. Col-Sergt J W Edwards. These promotions are antedated from March 29th, 1893. F Company, to be corporal, provisional, Pte Wm Revoy and Pte Geo Hounsel, vice J B Belleghem, resigned.

By order,
H A MORROW,
Capt and Adjutant.

It is probable that the 57th will not be the only Battalion visiting Kingston on May 24th, as the Whig intimates in the following paragraph: Mayor Livingston has written to the Minister of Militia urging that permission be granted the 30th separate company of the 71st United States regiments, stationed at Watertown, N.Y., to visit here with arms on the Queen's Birthday. The company is seventy-six strong, and the officers have accepted the invitation extended them to visit Kingston. Captain Boyer is in command.

In 1861 the 40th company from Rome visited here, acting as escort to the Prince of Wales. Also during the occasion of the visit of Princess Louise to the city, the Oswego citizens' corps visited here with arms. It is hoped the Minister will give his consent to the Watertown company landing with arms.

Accident.

On Friday evening Councillor G. W. Fitzgerald, of Smith, met with a severe accident. It appears he was returning home from Lakefield on the evening in question, and in opening the gate his horse, a young one started off. Mr. Fitzgerald held on to the lines, and the horse dragged him some distance before it was stopped. As a result he is laid up with a bad shoulder, and besides was pretty severely shaken up.

LACROSSE.

Hastings has invited the juniors to go down for a practice game on Wednesday next and the team will be picked from the following players:—W. Crossley, W. Wilson, Bert Dolan, Mein, J. Sheridan, M. McDonough, T. Robinson, V. McWilliams, Arthur McClelland, Halpin, Dineen, Overend, McGrath and W. Mowry. This will be the first game that the juniors have ever played together as a team and as they are unaccustomed to each other it will take some hard playing on their part to win. The game is to be played more as a practice than anything else in order that an idea may be gained of how to place the men for the game on the 24th in Marmora.

Every junior must turn out Monday night without fail, as the team for Hastings will then be picked.

While in Toronto yesterday President Lennox told The News that all C.L.A. clubs had no alternative than to adopt the use of the goal nets. "I have received upwards of sixty communications relative to the innovation, and all association clubs might as well conform with the regulation without further delay, as the nets will be used in all championship matches, but I think it would have been a wise move to have made the adoption optional with the competing teams."

Peterborough has ordered the nets.

Twenty-nine players turned out to practice last evening and a scratch match was in progress for over an hour. The boys are rounding into fine shape. After practice a number of them took a plunge bath at the Y.M.C.A.

At a meeting of club representatives held in Orillia yesterday afternoon the following schedule for the Northeastern Intermediate District of the Canadian Lacrosse Association was drawn up:

July 12, Midland at Peterborough; 20, Orillia at Beaverton; 20, Peterborough at Midland; 29, Midland at Orillia; 29, Beaverton at Peterborough.

August 5, Peterborough at Beaverton; 5, Orillia at Midland; 12, Beaverton at Orillia.

Orillia and Peterborough, senior schedule:—

August 25, Peterborough at Orillia.

September 9, Orillia at Peterborough.

Mr. B. R. Kean, of Orillia, secretary of the district, occupied the chair, and the following members were in attendance:—W. Phelan, Peterborough; A. M. Cameron, Beaverton, Thomas Thompson, Orillia, and H. McConachy, Midland. Official referees appointed—Midland, H. McConachy, H. L. Patterson; Peterborough, Lionel King, W. Phelan; Beaverton, A. W. Hamilton, A. M. Cameron; Orillia, B. R. Kean, Thos. Thompson. Mr. Phelan failed to catch his train last night, but doubtless passed an agreeable evening with the Orillia boys.

Y. M. C. A. SPORTS.

Members of the Y. M. C. A. who are interested in out door sports, baseball, running, jumping, etc., are asked to be on the P. A. A. A. grounds this evening to practice at 6.30 sharp.

The Late Fred Rutherford.

The sudden and unexpected death of Mr. Fred Rutherford at such an early age, with life prospects so bright, is peculiarly sad, says the Norwood Register. A deep gloom has been cast over the High School and Norwood as Fred was a general favourite. He entered Norwood High School in September, 1889, and spent three years, taking a full course, and passed the commercial, primary, leaving and matriculation examinations, ranking among the the first in his classes. After teaching a year he entered Toronto University and chose political Science as his special department. He took honours in each year, and last year—his third year—ranked first in first-class honours. He was a lover of sport, was a first class football player, and in every sense a right good fellow. His amiable disposition and his sterling moral worth won for him the highest esteem. Fred was one of those graduates of the high school, who not only reflected credit in every way on the institution, but kept in touch with it after entering on his academic career, and was always willing to aid the boys at football, or in any way most cheerfully to further the interests of Norwood. At the University he was beloved by his fellow students for his estimable qualities. Stricken down with consumption at the early age of 24 he leaves behind many sorrowing friends and an example of Christian living rarely found in one so young. The pupils, ex-pupils and citizens of Norwood extend to the sorrowing family their heart felt sympathy.

RESTORE THE SNAP,
VIM, ENERGY AND STRENGTH
YOU HAVE LOST.

Dr. Ward's Blood and Nerve Pills have been a great boon to my daughter Maggie. Prior to taking them she had been suffering from excessive nervousness for a long time, and her nerves were in a terribly shattered condition. The action of her heart was so weak that it did not have strength to perform its functions, causing violent palpitation and smothering after retiring. Frequently, on account of this suffocating sensation she was afraid to go to bed. Slight exertion exhausted her and caused shortness of breath. Her blood was impoverished and lost vitality, and she had no appetite. She was wasting away and was very hypochondriacal, feeling dejected all the time. Last December she began taking Dr. Ward's Blood and Nerve Pills, and she improved at once. Her blood became healthy and strong, and in six weeks her impaired nervous system was restored to its normal healthy condition. Her heart responded to the healthy condition of her blood and nerves and resumed its strong and healthy functions. She now sleeps without any of the dangerous, distressing, smothering and choking spells; her appetite is good, and she has gained in flesh. Healthy color has replaced pallor, and she is now well and strong, thanks to Dr. Ward's Blood and Nerve Pills. I thank you, gentlemen, for the remedy that has restored my daughter to health. A. The London Daily Mail devotes an editorial to the railway development of Canada, and says it would be a much better policy for the Canadian Government to subsidize railways and waterways through habitable tracts of country, instead of aiding roads in a profitless territory like the Yukon.

Talk to me about what a college education does for a girl! What do you suppose Matilda said to me the first day she came? She said:

"I'm so glad to meet you, aunty! You accent your name on the Aunty Penultimate, don't you?"

Mr. Mulock's Bill Imposing Postage on Newspapers.

TRADE OF THE YUKON COUNTRY

The Postmaster-General Makes a Very Full Explanation of His Bill and Asks the House to Assist in Getting a 2c. Postage Rate and no Department Deficit.

Ottawa, May 14.—The trade of the Yukon has drifted somewhat into American channels, as was feared by the Government, through the rejection of the bargain to build a road by Messrs. McKenzie and Mann. Sir Charles Hibbert Tupper was complaining that the Government was sending supplies from Seattle to Selkirk. Dr. Borden clearly and explicitly explained that the supplies, aggregating 250 tons of freight, were being sent by the Boston & Alaska Co., but 150 tons was to be shipped from Vancouver. The contractors had asked and had been permitted to so divide their contract, and Sir Charles Hibbert was only playing the game of the Seattle people in giving such prominence to the question. Sir C. H. Tupper persisted, and asked what about the C.P.R. Navigation Co. Dr. Borden's reply was a crusher, when he replied that that company asked higher terms and gave less favorable terms besides. It hardly needed the settler administered by Mr. Sifton that this necessity for sending supplies by Seattle proved conclusively the absolute necessity of the Stikine-Teslin Railway to save the Yukon trade for Canada to complete the discomfiture of the doughty knight. The debate was continued by Messrs. Wallace, McMullen, Montague, Maxwell and Morrison.

Mr. Mulock's Postal Bill.

Mr. Mulock moved the second reading of his postal bill, which proposes to permit the free transmission through the mails of books for the blind, decentralizes the dead-letter branch, imposes postage on newspapers, and couples with that a reduction in letter postage from 3c to 2c when the Government sees fit to make the changes.

The Postmaster-General explained that the reduction in the letter rate to 2c would mean an annual loss of revenue of $650,000, but it was fair to assume that this loss would soon be made up by increased business. He quoted a mass of statistics showing the effect of reduced letter rates in Great Britain, the United States, France and other countries. Adverting to the question of newspaper postage, he said that in 1897 the weight of papers carried free was 16,557,490 pounds, an increase in eight years of 77 per cent. This last quantity had been carried free, while the people were charged for the carriage of 5,000,000 pounds of letters. Half a cent per pound on sixteen and a half million pounds of newspaper would give a revenue of $82,000, most of which the daily newspapers would have to pay. One paper, conducted in the interests of the liquor trade, stood at the head of the list of those now carried free, he said. He stated that, even if the newspaper subscriber had to pay a little more for his paper, he would get the benefit of the reduced letter rate. By Jan. 1 next he expected the department would be self-sustaining. Was it not better to have a 2c letter rate than the old rate of 3c, and a deficit of $750,000 yearly?

Sir Charles Tupper asked for information regarding the proposed reduction in postage on letters to points within the Empire.

Mr. Mulock replied that he was not free to make any announcement, as the question was now under consideration with the Imperial authorities.

Mr. Mulock, replying to the ex-Finance Minister, said he had proposed to reduce the postage to Empire points under the authority that every member of the postal union had, but its operation was suspended at the request of the imperial authorities.

Sir Charles Tupper criticized the bill at length. He denounced the measure as unjust and ill-considered. The Government was here proposing to take $250,000 out of the consolidated revenue of Canada and increasing the duty on sugar, which would fall upon the poorer classes, while the reduction on postage would most benefit the well-to-do classes. The Postmaster-General's contention against the free carriage of newspapers, because of their weight, quite failed in applicability, when it was considered that, while letters were sent 4,000 miles for 2c, the same amount was charged on drop letters.

Mr. John Ross Robertson favored the bill. He thought the newspaper rate of 1c a pound should never have been abolished and was only done through the desire of a good-natured old gentleman in the Senate to gain popularity. Mr. Mulock's mistake in contravening the provisions of the Berne postal convention wasn't any worse an error than the Conservative Government made in assenting to the Berne copyright convention, without consulting Parliament. If there was any department of the Government which showed life, reform and progress it was the Post Office Department. He claimed the newspaper was a commercial venture, and only of an educational influence incidentally. His own paper would not be affected to the extent of more than $100 a year by the bill, but there were three newspapers in Toronto which kept half the staff of the post-office employed at the public expense. Newspapers were no more entitled to consideration as an educational influence than coal oil, because the newspaper would be no more use as an educator in the country without coal oil than coal oil without the newspaper. He condemned free transmission of newspapers as affording a business opening to every fakir in the land.

Sir Adolphe Caron condemned the imposition of newspaper postage as a retrograde step. He protested strongly against the decentralization of the dead-letter office, because the treatment of such letters at headquarters in Ottawa gave assurance of secrecy and confidence as to their contents, which would be destroyed if they were permitted to be opened at local points.

The bill was then read a second time, and the House rose at 10.25 o'clock.

The Bill Finally Killed.

Ottawa, May 14.—By a vote of 9 to 14 the Senate yesterday refused to reinstate on the order paper, as moved by Senator Templeman, the bill to give trades union labels the legal status of registered trade marks.

GRAIN AND LUMBER BURNED.

Over a Million Dollars' Worth of Property Destroyed in Chicago.

Chicago, May 13.—Grain elevator D, belonging to the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy Railroad, was destroyed by fire yesterday afternoon. Losses on building and contents will aggregate about $1,200,000. The elevator contained 1,115,000 bushels of grain, valued at $890,000, the property of P. D. Armour. The grain was fully insured.

The fire was a most exciting one. There was an explosion of grain dust in elevator D, which wrecked the interior, before the flames had made much progress. The grain handlers at work in the elevator were compelled to slide down the chutes used for loading grain into the cars.

Elevator D, which was used by P. D. Armour as a storehouse, contained 100,000 bushels of wheat, 625,000 bushels of corn, 200,000 bushels of oats, 150,000 bushels of flax and 40,000 bushels of rye.

At 2 p.m., when the fire was practically under control, there were four acres of lumber piles still burning.

Dennis Sweenie, the veteran chief of the fire department, was seriously injured. His face was severely burned.

William M. Atherson, engineer of the elevator, and his fireman, Dennis O'Connor, are missing.

The man who stands idly by and sees the life fading out of his wife's face, sees her health going, sees her becoming old and faded and wrinkled when she should still be in the perfect enjoyment of vigorous, useful health, is either less than a man or else does not know of the one remedy which will bring her back to health and strength. Perhaps her husband cannot persuade her to go to her doctor, because she naturally dreads the inevitable "examinations" and "local treatments." He can persuade her, if she needs persuasion, to take Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. This truly wonderful medicine has cured hundreds of women after the best physicians have failed. It has been in constant use and tested every day for thirty years. It isn't an experiment, there are no chances about it. It is a certain cure for all the derangements, weaknesses, irregularities and displacements of internal organs peculiar to women.

The Petition Stands.

Toronto, May 11.—Judgment was given by Mr. Justice Osler yesterday for dismissing the motion recently made to invalidate the election protest filed against Berkley Powell, Conservative member-elect for Ottawa, because no notice of the intended presentation of the petition had been served upon the Conservatives.

More Tuberculous Cattle Killed.

Kingston, Ont., May 13.—Five more head of cattle were slaughtered yesterday at Rockwood Hospital for the Insane, making fourteen in all. The entire herd will be exterminated, the stalls fumigated and thoroughly cleansed and made ready for a new herd. The cattle being killed off were mixed, some coming from the west and others being picked up locally.

The dread and foreboding which almost invariably comes over a young wife, just ere the advent of the first little darling who shall call her mother, is one of the unnatural burdens which civilization has imposed upon the privilege of motherhood.

There ought not to be such an overwhelming sense of depression and weakness as a woman feels at this time and there would not be if she was in a perfectly strong and healthy condition. In thousands of cases motherhood has been divested of all its dangers and a large proportion of its pain by the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, which is the most marvelous remedy ever discovered for restoring complete organic health and strength to the delicate special structure involved in motherhood. Taken early during the prospective time it makes the mother strong, energetic and cheerful and carries her through the period of trial with comparative comfort and ease. It increases the baby's natural, constitutional vigor and adds to the joys of motherhood the supreme satisfaction of a strong, robust, lusty infant. "Favorite Prescription" is also the best supportive tonic for nursing mothers. Every expectant mother will appreciate what is said by Mrs. Fannie M. Harry, of Galesburg, Ills., (545 Churchill Ave.) In a letter to Dr. Pierce she writes:

"I have used your medicines in my family for a long time, and find them to be all that is claimed. I cannot recommend them too highly. My confinement was made easy, as I experienced none of the pains such as others have at that period, and the first born the one that mothers fear so much. Besides, the medicine has helped me in many other ways. I would recommend all afflicted women to try Dr. Pierce's valuable medicines, and thus become well and strong."

COURAGE.

It is not they that never knew
Weakness or fear who are the brave—
Those are the proud, the knightly few
Whose joy is still to serve and save—

But they who in the weary night
Amid the darkness and the stress
Have struggled with disease and blight
With pitiful world weariness,

They who have yearned to stand among
The free and mighty of the earth,
Whose sad, aspiring souls are wrung
With starless hope and hollow mirth,

Who die with every day, yet live
Through merciless, unbrightened years,
Whose sweetest right is to forgive
And smile divinely through their tears.

They are the noble, they the strong,
They are the tried, the trusted ones,
And though their way is hard and long,
Straight to the pitying God it runs.

A RELIABLE OFFER.

Honest Help Free to Men.

The (Peterborough Examiner) is authorized to state by Mr. D. Graham, Box 133, Hagersville, Ont., that any man who is nervous and debilitated or who is suffering from any of the various troubles resulting from overwork, excesses or abuse, such as nervous debility, exhausted vitality, lost vigor, unnatural drains and losses, lack of development, etc., can write to him in strict confidence and receive free of charge full instructions how to be thoroughly cured.

Mr. Graham himself was for a long time a sufferer from above troubles and after trying in vain many advertised remedies, electric belts, etc., became almost entirely discouraged and hopeless. Finally he confided in an old clergyman, whose kind and honest advice enabled him to speedily obtain a perfect and permanent cure. Knowing to his own sorrow, that so many poor sufferers are being imposed upon by unscrupulous quacks, Mr. Graham considers it his duty as an honest man and a firm believer in Christian sympathy and kindness, to give his fellow-men the benefit of his experience and assist them to a cure. Having nothing to sell, he asks for no money, the proud satisfaction of having done a great service to one in need, he rightly considers an ample reward for his trouble. If you write to Mr. Gradam you can rely upon being cured and upon absolute secrecy as well.

Address as above, enclosing a stamp, and refer to the (PETERBOROUGH EXAMINER). No attention, however, will be given to those writing out of mere curiosity, therefore state that you really need a cure.

Postage Stamps.

Stamps were put on the market in August, 1847, but were so little used that the government had to pass a law enforcing prepayment of postage, which went into effect in 1855. Before this action was taken scarcely one letter in a dozen was found with a stamp affixed. Today the postoffices of the country sell 4,000,000,000 stamps (counting postal cards, stamped envelopes and stamps of all kinds), valued at $75,000,000, during a single year.

Many English accident insurance companies charge an extra premium when their policy holders travel in Canada or the United States.

The diamond mining companies of South Africa estimate their losses by theft at £1,000,000 a year, of which they recover about one-half.

WHEAT SITUATION.

"After the Storm Comes the Calm," Is as True of the Markets as of the Weather. The Prices.

Thursday Evening, May 12.

"After the storm a calm," may be used to describe the situation in wheat as far as speculators are concerned. After the mad buying and wild fluctuations of the past few days the market seems to have become comparatively dull. Little trading was done to-day, and prices generally showed a partial reaction from last week's abnormal advances. At Chicago May wheat declined an extreme 10c per bushel and closed at $1.05, 14c lower than on Wednesday. July covered a range of about 5 cents, opening at $1.12½, selling down to $1.07¾ and closing at $1.08¼, 2½c lower than yesterday. The September option, after gaining 1⅝c, fell to 86⅝, a loss of 1⅝c for the day. The December future closed ⅞c lower than yesterday. Similar losses were chronicled on the other leading United States markets. At Toronto five and ten car load lots of No. 2 red could be had around $1.10, country farmers on the local market, however, realizing $1.15 to $1.17 for extra quality deliveries.

Toronto Live Stock.

The run of live stock at the Cattle Market was large to-day (Thursday)—52 car loads, composed of 900 cattle, 175 sheep and lambs, 80 calves and about 1500 hogs. The bulk of the cattle offered were for export.

Trade was slow and very little business was transacted; both buyers and sellers seemed to be waiting for Friday's market. Prices were practically unchanged from Tuesday's quotations, with the exception that exporters seemed to be easier.

Montreal Live Stock.

Montreal, May 12.—There were about 650 head of butchers' cattle, 800 calves and 225 sheep and lambs offered for sale at the East End abattoir to-day. The butchers were present in large numbers, but the weather was disagreeable and the supply of cattle too large for the present requirements of the trade. Consequently the trade was slow and prices lower all round. Prime beeves sold from 4c to 4½c per lb., but the latter price was paid only for very choice animals; pretty good cattle sold at 3¾c to 4c, and the common stock at from 2½c to 3¾c per lb., and a few of the leaner beasts would scarcely bring 2¼c per lb. Prices of calves continue very low, ranging from 75c to $5, and a few bringing over $3.75 each. Some five or six hundred calves were sold at the yards yesterday. Sheep were more plentiful than for a long time past; they sold at from 3½c to 4½c per lb. Lambs sold at from $2 to $4 each. Fat hogs sell at about 5c per lb.

East Buffalo Live Stock.

East Buffalo, May 12.—Cattle—Receipts were light and about all consigned through, only a few being on sale; the market was about steady for butchers' stock. Hogs—Receipts were light, fairly active demand and sales were stronger; good to choice Yorkers, $4.39 to $4.40; fair to good light Yorkers, $4.20 to $4.35; mixed packers' grades, $4.35 to $4.45; medium weights, $4.45 to $4.50; heavy hogs, $4.50 to $4.55; roughs, $4 to $4.15; pigs, $4 to $4.15. Sheep and lambs—Receipts were fairly liberal and quite a number held over from yesterday's trade; market very dull and slow; but little was done; what sales were made were lower for lambs and easy on handy sheep; native clipped lambs, choice to extra, $4.90 to $4.95; fair to good, $4.60 to $4.75; culls and common, $4 to $4.40; yearlings, fair mixed to choice wethers, $4 to $4.25; native clipped sheep, choice to selected wethers, $4.10 to $4.20; good to choice mixed sheep, $3.75 to $4; common to fair, $3.60 to $3.80; culls to common sheep, $3.25 to $3.50.

Cheese Markets.

Kingston, May 12.—The first meeting of the season of the Kingston Cheese Board was held to-day. The offerings were 425 boxes white and 155 colored; 7⅞c was bid for selections, but no sales. It is said that after the Board some transactions took place at 7⅞c

Brockville, May 12.—At the Cheese Board here to-day 33 factories offered 512 white and 1481 colored; total 1730 cheese. White sold at 8 1-16c, colored 8⅛c; all sold on board.

Chesterville, Ont., May 12.—At a meeting of the Cheese Board held here this evening 308 boxes of cheese were offered, 46 of which were white and the balance colored; 7⅞c was offered for colored and 92 boxes sold; 8 1-16c offered for white and 22 sold.

Listowel, Ont., May 12.—The first Cheese Fair was held here to-day. Sampson Bennet of Newery factory was elected president for 1898. Five factories boarded 700 cheese. No fodder cheese made in this district this spring. The factories continued making butter and many of them only starting cheese this week. Two or three lots of cheese were sold at 8c and 8 3-16c. Next Fair Thursday, May 26.

British Markets.

Liverpool, May 12.—Spring wheat is firm at 11s 5d; red winter, 11s 4d; No. 1 Cal., no stock; corn, 4s; peas, 5s 9½d; pork, 53s 9d; lard, 33s; tallow, 21s; bacon, heavy, l.c., 34s; light, 33s 6d; do., short cut, 33s; cheese, white, 41s 6d; colored, 43s 6d.

MRS. BLADON TALKS

She Never Knew any Remedy to Equal Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Her Experience has Been With Hundreds of Cases and she Never Knew Dodd's Kidney Pills to Fail in One.

ST. THOMAS, May 13.—Hospital nurses and physicians and never speak in favour of any medicines unless it is one that can confidently be depended upon to do just exactly what it is claimed it will. Under these circumstances, the following letter, written by Mrs. J. Bladon, No. 9 Inkerman street, St. Thomas, a popular and successful professional nurse, has aroused the genuine interest of the people of this town.

Coming, as it does, at a time when the town is talking of several almost miraculous recoveries from supposedly fatal attacks of Kidney Disease, through the use of Dodd's Kidney Pills, the letter is of more than usual weight and importance.

Mrs. Bladon says: "I have been nurse in the Railroad Hospital in St. Thomas for five years, and during that time have come into contact with many railroad men who were suffering from Kidney Diseases. They, and other patients under my care have, to my personal knowledge, used Dodd's Kidney Pills for Kidney Diseases and Urinary Troubles. Ladies who have been in my care have used these pills for female complaints, and in every one of these cases, a complete and permanent cure was effected by these wonderful pills.

"As a professional nurse I can and do say I have never known any other medicine that could equal Dodd's Kidney Pills for the cure of all Kidney Diseases.—MRS. J. BLADON."

Dodd's Kidney Pills are sold by all druggists at 50 cents a box, six boxes, for $2.50, or sent, on receipt of price, by The Dodds Medicine Co., Limited, Toronto.

SMITH'S CAKE.

It Was Something of a Surprise When Served at Dinner.

"Madam, you don't know how to make cake!" exclaimed Mr. Smith, throwing a lump of half cooked dough across the room at the cat. "You never knew how to make cake. I'd rather eat wet sawdust. You ought to have seen the cake my mother made. That was cake!"

"Your mother again—always your mother!" retorted Mrs. Smith. "Pity she didn't teach you something!"

"What do you mean, madam? I'll warrant I'll make better cake myself than you any day."

"Why don't you try? You'll find everything in the kitchen."

"Well, I can."

"Well, why don't you? You are all talk!"

Smith found himself cornered, and felt very uncomfortable, as he had either to surrender unconditionally or to make good his boast. He had never made a cake in his life, had no idea how cakes were compounded, but thought he knew what was in them.

"I'll make the cake," he said.

"Well, come into the kitchen and make it," proposed his wife.

"What, now?"

"Yes, now. I'll get the things for you."

Smith took off his coat, his collar and necktie and rolled up his shirt sleeves. They walked to the kitchen together, and Smith said:

"What shall I mix it in?"

"Oh, you're doing it," Mrs. Smith replied.

"Ah, this will do," he said, taking up a bowl. "Now bring me some water, now some raisins and currants, sugar and ginger and allspice. There, that will do." He put them all into the bowl and mixed them with a spoon. "They don't seem to stick together," he said. "Looks more like a thick soup than anything else. Fancy I've got too much water." Smith drained off some of the water and was about to put the cake into a pan, when his wife said:

"Didn't your mother use flour?"

"Oh, yes—yes—ah, yes—flour, of course." Then he mixed in flour until it was so stiff that he could hardly knead it. "Now," said he, "I'll take this cake round to the baker's and have it baked properly." He started off, and when he reached the baker's he said:

"Will you just throw this stuff away and put in its place one of your best plum cakes?"

That night at supper Mrs. Smith had her mother and sister with her. She had told them of the cake, and they were expecting great fun at Smith's expense. The cake did not come until supper time. Smith took it from the boy and said:

"This is my cake—something like a cake." He carried in the cake and placed it on the table.

"Here's a note in the paper," said Mrs. Smith. "I'll read it:

"DEAR SIR—I am sorry we are all out of plum cake, so I send you a pound cake instead. Yours obediently, S. BROWN, Baker."

ALMOST A MIRACLE.

OTTAWA, Sept. 9th, 1896.

To the Phrenoline Medicine Co., Ltd., Ottawa:—

GENTLEMEN,—I hardly know how best to express my appreciation of your valuable rheumatic remedy, Phrenoline. My son Gordon, who is 9 years old, has been a sufferer from inflammatory rheumatism for the past two years; was so bad at times that he had to be carried about on a mattrass; was attended by two city doctors apparently without the slightest benefit; spent 10 days at Caledonia Springs, came home with no marked improvement; took three bottles of a Homeopathic remedy now being extensively advertised, which did not relieve him in the least. I was beginning to give up all hope of his recovery, when by chance I mentioned the case to a friend who strongly advised me to give Phrenoline a trial.

I did so, with the result that when my boy had taken only half a bottle he was able to get on his bicycle and ride like any other boy around the block.

I certainly feel that I cannot say too much in praise of your medicine, and shall do all I can to make known its value to others.

Yours very sincerely,

CANADA LIFE
Assurance Company.

ANOTHER PROSPEROUS YEAR.

Large Increase in Surplus.

The fifty-first annual report of the Canada Life shows this old established Company to be in a most flourishing condition. The annual meeting was held yesterday. Following is a synopsis of the report:—

A PROSPEROUS YEAR.

In presenting to the Shareholders their 51st Annual Report, the Directors are gratified in announcing that the Company has fairly shared in the somewhat improved condition of the business of the country, as will be seen by the Statements and Accounts now submitted. By these it will be observed that the Company has transacted a larger business than during the previous year, and has increased its clear surplus by no less than $497,093 05.

NEW BUSINESS.

The applications for new assurances during 1897 numbered 3 066, for the sum of $6,185,996, of which, however, 266 for $521,000 were declined, the lives not appearing up to that standard which it is in the interest of the company's other assurers should be maintained, and as 191 applications for $373,300 were not carried out, the issue of the year was for $5 291,636, under 2 609 policies, exceeding 1896 by 573 policies for $798,980.

The total business in force at the close of 1897 was $72,719,555 29 of Assurances, under 33,407 policies, upon 24,469 lives.

POLICY CLAIMS.

The claims by deaths paid during 1897 amounted to $770,168 45, and Endowment policies for $128,846 92, having matured, these sums, as well as $218,481 29 for profits, $145 411.18 for surrenders, and an annuity of $400, making in all $1,263,307.84, were paid to policyholders during the year.

INCREASE IN ASSETS.

The Income receipts of the year were $2,953,272.83, and deducting therefrom all payments to policy-holders for claims by death, for profits, and for matured Endowment policies, as well as other outlay, including expenses of management, there was left the sum of $1 272,486 05, which increased the Company's Assets to $18 678 915 67.

SURPLUS.

As appears by the Abstract of Assets and Liabilities, after providing fully for the necessary reserve for all policies of the Company, and for all its other Liabilities, there is shown a Surplus of $1,564,082 05.

THE PRESIDENT'S ADDRESS.

The President, Mr. A. G. Ramsay, in moving the adoption of the report, said:

The Directors' Report and the usual accounts and statements have for some days been in your hands, and have now been taken as read. While the report is brief, it contains, I think, along with the various published accounts, all that is required to enable those interested in the Company to judge of its progress and success in the past year. The addition during 1897 of nearly half a million dollars to the surplus or profits fund is a large and satisfactory one, and without invidiously comparing it with the figures of any other particular Company. I may say that it is more than was attained by all the other Canadian companies combined. The new business of the year was, you will observe, of satisfactory and gratifying amount, and in excess of the previous year, and you will be pleased to know that it is of that desirable class which will result more to the profit of the Company than would a larger amount obtained at heavier expense, or from less desirable regions than the healthful climate of Canada, and the four Northern States to which we have thus far deemed it judicious to confine the operations of the Company. The existing assurances are $72,719,555 or nearly twice as much as they were 12 years ago. The death claims of the year continued of very favourable amount, and being well within what was calculated upon, that fact testifies to the care observed in the selection of the lives, and to the judicious limitation of the business to the healthful climates already alluded to.

The recent lamentable failures of some of the companies doing business on the assessment system, and the anxiety felt as to the others which are based upon the same fallacious principles lead me to point out that these occurrences are only the inevitable results, which were from the first predicted by those whose knowledge and experience enabled them to judge of what the future of companies of the kind must be. At our meeting in 1887, when concerns of the kind were making strenuous efforts to establish themselves in Canada, I alluded to the miserable failures they had been in England and in America, and I said that their "ephemeral existence indicates how useless the assessment system of assurance is as a family provision. It can only offer the uncertain hope of a cheap assurance for a few years, till the company breaks down. It cannot afford any guarantee that a definite amount of assurance will certainly be paid to a widow or children after an assurer's death, whether that occurs at an early day or a distant one, and without such a guarantee as that, which our own and other sound companies offer, life assurance must be a fraud and a delusion." I added that "I was aware that agents and managers of companies of the kind pointed to the names of prominent business and professional men who have joined them, or who act as their directors, but as some of them at all events allow their names to be employed in that way, simply because policies have been gratuitously given to them, one can judge how little weight should attach to the names of the gentlemen thus used to decoy others to join such companies." One cannot envy the feelings of the prominent gentlemen alluded to, who induced persons to take policies in companies of the kind, from which they are now driven out by their failure, or by the levy of such high payments as they are unable to meet.

As the accounts show, the year's income was within a trifle of three million dollars, and the assets of the company were increased to the very considerable amount of nearly nineteen million dollars, and yielding, after deducting liabilities of every kind, a net surplus or profit of $1,564,082 for allocation at the end of next year, along with whatever addition there may be made to it between now and that time, and as the management and other expenses by which the profits to policy-holders are very largely influenced continue to be on a more moderate percentage than that of other Canadian or American companies, he prospects for our assurers are of a favourable character.

It is anticipated that legislation will be introduced by the Government, modifying the present 4½ per cent. rate of interest prescribed by law as the basis for Life Assurance Reserves, and adopting the new mortality Tables based upon the observations and large experience of the British Insurance Companies, in course of compliation by the Institute of Actuaries of Great Britain, and I may say on behalf of the Board in reference to the amendment to the charter, alluded to in the Directors report of last year, that the Directors purpose to avail themselves of the occasion of that legislation to seek such amendments to the law as may meet the Board's requirements.

The motion was seconded by Mr. F. W. Gates, Vice-President, and unanimously carried. A hearty vote of thanks was tendered to the agents, officers, medical and legal advisers of the company, Mr. Adam Brown speaking in eloquent terms of their services rendered to the Company.

Mr. Leggat moved and Lieut.-Col. McLaren seconded a hearty vote of thanks to the President and Directors for their attention to the interests of the Company during the past year. Brief and interesting addresses were also made by Sir George Kirkpatrick and Sir George Burton, the latter of whom was heartily congratulated upon the recent honour conferred upon him by the Queen.

The retiring Directors, Chief Justice Sir George Burton, Col. Sir Casimer Gzowski, K.C.M.G., and Mr. N. Merritt, were re-elected. At a subsequent meeting of the Directors, Mr. A. G. Ramsay was re-elected President and Mr. F. W. Gates Vice-President.

The meeting passed off very harmoniously, every one present being gratified with the progress and continued prosperity of the Canada Life, which, as Sir George Kirkpatrick remarked, was easily leader of all Companies in the Dominion.

CHEMIST AND OPTICIAN,

UNCLE SOL

Has Appendicitis.

On Tuesday my wife and I, that is Maria and me, went up street to increase our 'ardor, or as the man said, to replenish our larder.

When we got to the butcher shop I simply told Maria I couldn't go a step farther without some sausage, and she had the audacity, in her nice kind way, to tell me I was saucy enough; that just nerved me on and in I went, followed by the old woman of course. Well, I bought the sausage, about a yard of it, and presented m' money, but he wouldn't take it, and handed me a nice blue bit of paper with some fancy scrolling on it.

"Well," says I, "this 'ere town is the funniest place I've struck: last Saturday I was landed plump into the perlice station for taking a single copper from a man that held out his hand full of money; and now young man you want to trap me again, I'm feared, and land me plumpety-ker-chuck into [illegible] mill. But he seemed a nice sort o' fellow, so he 'splained that I presented that blue paper at the cash office and paid my money there.

I looks 'round and starts towards the back of the shop, as it was the only office I could see, but that 'ere fellow called me back. I guess he thought I was bound to get into his blooming sausage machine, and showed me a little cubby-hole against the wall. And if there wasn't my Maria plump against it with her head in through the hole. I'm free to confess I was skeered lest it might turn out to be some trap or other, so I jerks her away and takes a peep in m'self. Well, I'll not tell you what happened, but I paid m' money and had a nice little chat 'bout nothing in particular, but things in general.

After Maria had become a wee bit tired we directed our weary footsteps homeward. But we couldn't go apast those 'ere oranges in the fruit store window no more than we could fly; of course we couldn't fly, so we had to go in.

I say, says I, "What are your oranges?"

"Those are seedless oranges," says the man," and will sell them for 25 cents a dozen."

"I'll take a dozen," says I, "if you'll promise they have no seeds, for I hear of so many people dying of appendixes I'm kind o' skeered to eat anything now." So away home I went with Maria on one arm and seedless sausage and a yard of orange on the other. When we got home we didn't do a thing to those oranges and sausage; one difficulty was they didn't seem to hit well together in my poor stumach, which I knew to my sorrow later on.

You talk about yer Cuban war, but if that orange and sausage didn't have a squabble it's nobody's biz.

In the night I screamed in my dreams for a brad-awl to loosen the pains; but Maria thought I yelled for Dr. Bradd, so away she goes in the middle of the night and fetches him to the house.

My, what a jolly fellow! When I saw him come into the room I says "O, me, me!" "Why that's where I came from. Uncle Sol," says he. Well I was bad off to know just what he meant about that time, but I was no wiser than before. At last, thinking, I guess, that I was thick like (my wasn't I sick), he told me that he had lately moved from Omemee to Peterborough.

Now, that doctor didn't give me any medicine, but somehow or other I was better when he was gone. I like a doctor like that, one that can make ye better without drugging ye to death.

But ah! me; they didn't do a thing with me next day. Dr. Bradd, dear fellow, kinder perlitely told me that I'd have to have a holiday at the hospitable for the rest of the week. And away they took me to the ambulance house in a cab, (so help me, I was taking so much pains in my stomach that that I didn't see what was going on outside) and then I underwent a rigid exam. (as the boys call it) by several doctorr.

Well, what has gone on since I know not. They tell me I had appendisitses, but I know I had a magnifrous pain. I understand too they had an operation on me, but know one thing, and that's not two, I have an aching void somewhere just at the present time.

Yesterday I was favoured with a call from Mayor Davis, dear fellow; he had me placed in a private ward with a special nurse. (I tell you it is nice to go to the hospitable only for the aches and pains.) He told me there were several people coming up to call on me, and he wanted to have me in a fine room to receive my visitors. He also invited me, when well again, to come to the council meetings, (and you bet I am.)

NOTE.—I will have to ask the kind indulgence of the readers of the EXAMINER if you do not receive the other side of the Cuban question this week, as was requested by the editor. The fact is I was married this week, and my spare moments have been so taken up looking after my new hubby, I haven't had time to read it up.—MARY ANN.

This condition of weakness and lack of energy is a natural consequence of the coming of warmer weather, which finds the system debilitated and the blood impure.

A good spring medicine is a necessity with almost everyone. Hood's Sarsaparilla is what the millions take in the spring, Its great power to purify and enrichen the blood and build up health is one of the facts of common experience.

RAILWAY NOTES.

Sparks From the Wheels—Cinders for the Eye.

A number of new men were taken on the G.T.R. last Saturday, as brakesmen, the older brakesmen being placed in charge of specials.

President Pusey, of the I. B. & O. R. R., hopes to lay rails into Bancroft this fall. Over 50 men are at work clearing the right of way, and have now advanced as far as Bird's Creek, about four miles from the village.

Every freight wheel on this division was turning Monday. No less than twelve heavy corn-laden trains passed through from Midland to Belleville. The majority of the trains consisted of 22 cars, but three sent out with two engines attached were made up of 35 cars each. The rush is unprecedented, and is due to the early arrival of the grain fleet. As four or five vessels have already arrived, and others are on the way with large cargoes, it was absolutely necessary that the elevator should be emptied as speedily as possible, hence the Sunday rush.

The rush of grain from Midland to Belleville continues unabated. Another large vessel arrived from Chicago on Tuesday with a cargo of 250,000 bushels of corn, and others are en route. At the outset of the rush trains of 35 cars, with two engines attached, were run through to Belleville, but orders have been issued to divide the trains in Lindsay in future, as the grades on the Campbellford division are so steep, and the line so crooked, that trains constantly break apart owing to the snapping of the link pins.

The Grand Trunk has issued an order whereby all enginemen, conductors and trainmen have to provide themselves with standard watches, seventeen jewelled, adjusted to temperature, etc. The men have until June 18th to get them. An inspector will be appointed whose duty it will be to inspect the employees' watches every week, and a certificate sent the superintendent of time. Any watches now carried by the men which do not come up to the requirements will have to be laid aside. The company does not care where or from whom the watches are bought so long as they pass inspection.

GOLD IN HALIBURTON.

A Quartz Vein Being Developed Near the Village.

There has been a new development in Haliburton gold mining. Within a mile the village a quartz rock has been found containing gold in large quantities. It is a well developed vein of a volcanic rock.

This has been secured by a company who have abundant capital, and who have decided to work the mine thoroughly. Operations have already commenced and whatever may be the ultimate result it seems certain that the mining will furnish employment for a dozen men for the next three or four months.

Mr. D. Keith has the management of the company's business and is arranging for the immediate introduction of the machinery. The prospects are very bright at present, for not only is there work proceeding on the Haliburton mine, but the Harburn gold mining is proceeding with increased vigour.

Hat Style!

"You may crush, you may shatter the Hat if you will,
But the STYLE of the maker will cling to it still."

The name on a Hat is like the mint mark on Gold—it stands for Quality, for Correct Shape and for the general excellence of STYLE which the wearer of a good Hat knows so well. The careful buyer knows that he cannot be too particular in the selection of his Hatter—and many a man has proven that his hat bills have been reduced one half by wearing a Hat with a reputation behind the name.

The Hats we sell are the very best products of the best makers in the world and THEY DO NOT COST ANY MORE than the hat without a name. When we tell you that we can sell you Hats that are made by Christy & Trees, of London; Stetson & Roelofs, of Philadelphia; and many other makers whose names represent the very highest standard of quality known to the Hat trade, for the same price as the unknown makers, it is not difficult to see wherein the saving comes. This week we are making a special display of PEARL FEDORAS, the very newest shapes, Plain or Fancy Band, and the prices begin at $1.25.

A HARVEY BEAR HUNT.

Arthur Dewdney Has a Narrow Escape, But Secures a Fine Bear Skin.

Mr. Arthur Dewdney, of Harvey, had quite an experience this week in the hunting line. Last fall he had to kill one of his horses, so he drew the animal out into the woods, about a mile from his house, and left it for bait to catch foxes. The rush of the spring work being over, he thought the other morning that he would take his breach loading rifle and take a stroll in the direction of the old horse.

As he proceeded he began to notice that there was something more than crows in the air, and the further he went the more decided the impression forced itself on his attention. It was the remains of the horse unmistakably. The location came abruptly into view, and he observed something move. As a sportsman he halted and brought his rifle to position. Then there was another movement, and he saw the head of an animal. In an instant he ran his eye along the barrel and let fly. A deep growl, and a mighty bound, and Mr. Dewdney perceived that it was a huge bear. It was at least 75 yards off, and Mr. Dewdney let another ball go whiz. This time the bear discovered his enemy, and with a howl of pain and rage leaped towards him.

Mr. Dewdney felt for another cartridge, and to his dismay found that he had but one more left. There was no room for any chances, so he stood still until the bear was was within a dozen paces, and then, without a tremor of nervousness, aimed at the head of the infuriated animal. Crack went the rifle. The bear sprang in the air, and swerving to one side rushed by Mr. Dewdney as he slightly dodged the other way. Mr. Dewdney glanced over his shoulder to see that the bear was continuing his mad rush, and hastened towards home to get more cartridges. Returning in a short time to the spot, he had not to go many paces when he discovered the bear laid out dead. It was a tremendous animal, the fur being long, thick and heavy, and the pelt when stretched out to dry looked like an ox skin.

The last ball had struck a trifle high, entering the back of the neck and running along the spinal column. The least bit higher and Mr. Dewney would have had a hot time. It was a close enough call.

Trent Valley Canal.

The works on the Canal near Bobcaygeon are at present at a standstill. The dredge, clam digger, drills, etc., were shipped to Burleigh on Wednesday in charge of the steamer Empire. A pier is to be put in at the wharf, as soon as timber is on hand, and then it is understood the work will have to close for a time, owing to the exhaustion of the appropriation. If this is the case an effort should be made to obtain the amount necessary to finish the breast-work for it will be exceedingly inconvenient to scramble over the rocks all summer to the boat wharf.—Bobcaygeon Independent.

Have Been Mustered Into the U. S. Regular Army.

BUDGET OF NEWS FROM DEWEY

Capture of the Spanish Gunboat Callao at Manila—Food Scarce in the Blockaded City—Neither the Insurgents Nor Commodore Dewey Have Attacked the City Yet—War News.

Washington, May 16.—Sixty-five thousand volunteers have been mustered into the regular army up to the present time.

A Running Fight.

Key West, May 16.—Late advices from the south coast of Cuba report an engagement after the bombardment of Cienfuegos, between the mosquito boat Eagle, and a Spanish gunboat, further east, off the mouth of San Juan River. The gunboat came out from Cienfuegos and, finding the Eagle alone, gave chase. The Eagle was steaming eastward, exchanging only occasional shots with the gunboat. The officers on the Marblehead, which was near at hand, heard the firing and turned back to reinforce the Eagle. The Eagle was struck several times, but her injuries were trifling. None of her men were killed or wounded.

Wounded Doing Well.

Puerto Plata, Dominican Republic, May 16.—All the wounded of the United States fleet are doing well. There has been no firing by the United States warships since the bombardment of the forts at San Juan de Porto Rico. The cable connecting San Juan de Porto Rico with the outside world has been cut at St. Lucia.

The Spanish torpedo gunboat Terror is being docked at Fort de France, Island of Matinique.

NEWS FROM DEWEY.

He Has Not Yet Attacked Manila But Holds a Strict Blockade and Has Plenty of Coal.

Hong-Kong, May 16.—The United States despatch boat Hugh McCulloch arrived here yesterday from Manila, with despatches for the United States Government. She reports that the Spanish gunboat Callao, from the Caroline Islands, recently entered the port of Manila, being ignorant of the outbreak of hostilities between Spain and the United States. An American warship fired across her bows and signalled her a demand for her surrender. The demand being disregarded, the American ship fired direct at the Spanish gunboat and the latter surrendered.

The populace of Manila is reduced to eating horse flesh and the prospect of relief seems far distant.

The McCulloch also reports that the Philippine insurgents applied to Rear-Admiral Dewey for his approval of an attack by them upon the city. The Admiral, it appears, approved of the plan, providing no excesses were committed. The insurgents then pleaded that they had no arms, with the exception of machetes, to which the Admiral replied: "Help yourselves at the Cavite arsenal." The city of Manila, however, has not yet been attacked. About 5,000 Spanish troops are guarding the road leading from Cavite to Manila. There is no truth in the reported massacre of a number of Americans. There has only been a trifling incident during police duty and nobody was hurt.

Official Despatch From Dewey.

Washington, May 16.—The following despatch was received by the Secretary of the Navy from Admiral Dewey Sunday afternoon:

Cavite, May 13, via Hong-Kong, May 15.—Maintaining strict blockade. Reason to believe that the rebels are homming in city by land, but have made no demonstration. Scarcity of provisions in Manila. Probable that the Spanish Governor will be obliged to surrender soon. Can take Manila at any moment. Climate hot and moist. On Tuesday, 12th, captured gunboat Callao, attempting to run blockade. Had plenty of coal. One British, one French, two German, one Japanese vessel here observing. (Signed), Dewey.

SPANISH CABINET RESIGNS.

Sagasta Will Reconstruct the Ministry and Will Continue to Prosecute the War.

Madrid, May 16, via Paris.—All the members of the Spanish Cabinet have resigned. Senor Sagasta last night communicated the situation to the Queen Regent, who will entrust him with the task of forming a new Ministry.

It is officially denied that the Cabinet changes are connected with a peace movement. On the contrary, it is officially declared that Premier Sagasta's Ministry, when the new Cabinet forms, will continue to prosecute the war with the full resources of the country. The Spanish Cabinet, which has just resigned, was composed as follows: President of the Council, Senor Sagasta; Minister of Foreign Affairs, Senor Gullon; Minister of Finance, Senor Pulgcerver; Minister of the Interior, Senor Capdepon; Minister of War, General Correa; Minister of Marine, Admiral Bermejo; Minister of Agriculture and Commerce and of Public Works, Count Xiquena; Minister of the Colonies, Senor Moret. The Liberal Cabinet, under Senor Sagasta, was formed shortly after the assassination of Senor Canovas del Castillo, who was assassinated on Aug. 5, 1897, by an Italian anarchist named Golli.

IN HAVANA, CUBA.

The Inhabitants Have no Knowledge of the Outside World, and Believe That the Blockade Will Soon Be Over.

City of Mexico, May 16.—Leading Spanish residents have reliable news from Havana brought by the steamer Lafayette to Vera Cruz. Governor Blanco has shown great energy in preparing for the expected siege by the American fleet and land forces. The city and forts are provisioned for three or four months. It is believed the mortality among the besiegers in the hot and rainy season will compel the Americans to raise the siege. Havana is now surrounded by entrenchments for 30 miles. The troops in the garrison number 70,000, and a like number are in the interior fighting the insurgents. The condition of the reconcentrados in Havana grows steadily worse. The Spaniards ask them when their Yankee benefactors are coming to relieve them. The mortality is increasing among this wretched class, who have taken to begging for morsels of food. Nobody in Havana except a few higher officers knows that the Spanish fleet was annihilated at Manila, and the story is believed that the Americans were beaten there. Governor Blanco allows no unfavorable news to be circulated. It is believed in Havana that the campaign in the Island will prove enormously fatal to the American troops, and will be prolonged a year. Another account is that food supplies in Havana are good for a much less time, and that Governor Blanco is in a trap unless the Spanish fleet breaks the blockade to allow supplies to come in.

The Havana people continue light-hearted, and the threatres put on pieces ridiculing the American fleet.

Reconcentrados Nearly All Dead.

Key West, Fla., May 16.—Captured Havana fishermen say the reconcentrados are nearly all dead or have been expelled from the city. The latter, it is added, afterwards died in the suburbs.

Madrid Short of Food.

Madrid, May 16.—There is only enough flour left in Madrid to last four weeks.

The "patriotic bull fight" netted $60,000.

The coast lighting from Cadiz to Malaga is suspended.

Torpedo boats are cruising in the Straits of Gibraltar and its vicinity.

The second division of the Spanish navy is still at Cadiz.

Has Arrived at Jamaica.

Kingston, Jamaica, May 16.—The British troop ship Dilwara has arrived here from Halifax with the Leinster Regiment. There is no communication with Barbadoes, St. Vincent, Grenada and Damerara, the cable between St. Vincent and St. Lucia have been cut, as already reported.

A French Cruiser Hit.

St. Thomas, May 16.—In the fight at San Juan, the French cruiser, Amiral Genouilly, which was lying at the wharf, was hit four times by American shot. One of the shells made a hole in the vessel's funnel. The Amiral Genouilly at once put hastily to sea.

The Cable Is Cut.

New York, May 16.—A Kingston, Jamaica, special says: The cable between St. Lucia and St. Vincent, British West Indies, has been cut and with it all communication between the United States and St. Vincent.

TWO YANKEES CAPTURED.

American Newspaper Correspondents to Be Rescued Under a Flag of Truce.

Key West, May 16.—The United States warship Uncas, Capt. Brainard, left soon after midnight Saturday night for Cuba, to attempt the rescue of the two American newspaper correspondents captured by the Spaniards on Friday. Correspondent Knight of the London Times is aboard the Uncas, and the plan is to send him ashore under a flag of truce to negotiate for the surrender of the prisoners in exchange for two Spanish captives taken in one of the prizes. The Americans were carried over by a despatch boat on Friday, and were sent ashore in a small boat, effecting a landing near Mariel. As the small boat approached the land there was no sign of life ashore, and it was thought that the men were safe. Despatches received here yesterday told of the capture of the men by Spanish soldiery almost immediately after their landing and of their imprisonment in Fort Cabanas, as spies. Negotiations with Washington were promptly begun, and orders despatching the Uncas on her mission of rescue came late Saturday night from Secretary Long to Commodore Remey.

But Lost a Man With Several More Wounded.

WARSHIPS AND TROOPS FIGHT.

The Cienfuegos Expedition Ends in a Sanguinary Encounter Between Water and Land Troops—A Hailstorm of Bullets—Spanish Version of the Affair—The American Invaders Repulsed.

Key West, May 16.—The United States cruiser Marblehead, the gunboat Nashville and the auxiliary cruiser Windom steamed up to the harbor of Cienfuegos early Wednesday morning, with orders to cut the cable connecting Havana with Santiago de Cuba. This task was accomplished, but only after a terrific fight between our warships and several thousand Spanish troops, which lined the shore and lay concealed behind improvised breastworks. One man, a seaman named Regan, of the Marblehead, was killed outright in one of the working small boats, and six men were severely wounded. In addition, a large number on board the ship received minor wounds. Captain S. E. Maguire of the Windom believes that several of the six badly-wounded men who were brought to Key West Saturday morning on the Windom cannot recover.

The following is the list of killed and wounded:

Regan, seaman on the Marblehead, killed.

John Davis of New York, badly wounded.

John J. Doran of Fall River, Mass., badly wounded.

Ernest Suntzeanickle, badly wounded.

Herman W. Hochneister, badly wounded.

Harry Hendrickson, badly wounded.

Robert Boltz, Carteret County, N.C., of the Nashville, badly wounded.

Soon after the arrival of the warships off Cienfuegos four boats were launched, and proceeded inshore for the purpose of grappling for the cable, in order to cut it. The warships lay to, about 1,000 yards or more off the harbor. It was observed that the Spanish troops had assembled ashore, but it was not known that the heavy guns had been placed in a masked battery and that the old lighthouse, far out on a neck of land, had been transformed into a formidable fort. The small boats proceeded cautiously, and, for more than an hour, worked unmolested on the cable. Suddenly, just as the work was about completed, the shore battery fired a shell at the boats. It was followed by others, and the Spanish infantry opened fire with their rifles. Then, like a flash, the Marblehead sent a shell inland, and followed it with a perfect shower of shot. The Nashville was quick to follow suit, and the little Windom cut loose with her four-pounders.

In the meanwhile Spanish bullets fell in every direction around the small boats. The attack had come suddenly and fiercely, but the blue jackets were not dismayed, and, protected by the terrific fire of the ships, work was continued until the cable was cut. When the boats returned to the ships, Regan, who was in one of the Marblehead's boats, of which there were two, was found to have been killed and six men were seen to be badly wounded. The Spaniards had by this time suffered severe loss. Their shots from the lighthouse struck the warships several times, and, although they did not do much damage, the fire aroused the determination of the American officers to exterminate the fort. Therefore, for the moment, the fire of the warships was concentrated upon the lighthouse and the improvised fort was blown to pieces. As there were great numbers of Spaniards in and behind the fort at the time, there is no doubt that many of them were killed.

Commander Washburn Maynard of the Nashville was slightly wounded by a spent bullet.

The Spanish Version.

London, May 16.—The Spanish embassies in Europe are circulating an official despatch saying attempted landings at Cardenas and Cienfuegos have been "repulsed with loss to the Americans." The despatch adds that the American fleet has been much damaged and forced to retire from San Juan de Porto Rico before the severe fire of the forts, one vessel being towed away.

FORCED TO RETREAT.

Americans Attempting to Effect a Landing in Cuba Are Compelled to Retire to Their Ships.

Madrid, May 16.—An official despatch received here from Havana, says: "Since daybreak Friday five of the enemy's ships have attempted to cover landings at various points, but the Americans were repulsed and forced to re-embark their troops. As there were no Spanish ships available, the troops followed along the shore the movements of the Americans and prevented their attempts to land.

"Two Americans were captured. A Spanish officer was killed and a few soldiers were wounded.

"The conduct of the Spaniards is worthy of the highest praise, as they fought the enemy while the latter was backed with big guns."

NEWS IN A NUTSHELL.

On Saturday the G.T.R. inaugurated the iced refrigerator car service.

A Toronto firm shipped a consignment of bacon for export on Saturday valued at $13,000.

The French line steamer La Touraine, outward bound from New York on Saturday afternoon, ran down a row boat containing eight United States Government employes engaged in laying submarine mines in the main channel off Sandy Hook. Two of the men were drowned. The steamer proceeded to sea without stopping.

A STRONG ARGUMENT.

Wm. McCabe, Esq., Managing Director, N. A. L., Toronto:

Dear Sir,—Please accept my thanks for your cheque just handed to me, for $3,901.98, in settlement of my $3,500 Fifteen Year Endowment Policy in your Company. Such a result as this, after the risk on my life has been carried for fifteen years, beginning from forty-five years of age, argues one thing strongly, namely, that the management of the North American Life must be in competent hands. The other options you have offered me, viz.: a Paid-up Life policy for $3510.00, or a Life Annuity for $401.90, are, I presume, equally liberal, and it affords me much pleasure to recommend your Company to my friends or any one desiring insurance.

Yours truly,
A. P. COCKBURN.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

The total fire losses in the United States and Canada for April amounted to $8,211,000, against $7,645,200 for Marh, $10,833,000 for April last year and $12,010,600 for April, 1896. The total for the first four months of this year is $37,958,000, against $42,062,400 for the same time last year and $47,620,300 in 1896.

The attack made by Sir Charles Tupper on General Gascoigne was, says the Canadian Farmers' Sun (Patron), a disgraceful breach of the decencies of Parliamentary decorum and social manners. It was doubly disgraceful as an expectoration, which it manifestly was, of private spite. Such an epithet as "cad" applied to a British soldier and gehtleman recoils on the speaker who uses it. Sir Charles Tupper's temper combines with his commercial entanglements to unfit him for the leadership of a political party, as many of the most sensible and respectable members of the party feel. As bulldog to Sir John Macdonald, he may have done the party service, but without hi aster and director, he is always doing i mischief.

The current number of the Canada Law Journal deals with the constitutional aspect of the present war. While friendly to the cause of the emancipation of Cuba from misgovernment, it says: "The attitude of the American Congress prior to the recent outbreak of hostilities seems to have been precisely the reverse of that which the framers of the constitution expected it to adopt. The danger apprehended by those farsighted politicians and jurists was that if the power of declaring war were given to the President, he might involve the nation in a contest against its wishes. They, accordingly, curtailed in this respect the functions usually possessed by the executive department of the Government and provided that it should rest with the Legislature to say whether the emergency was one which called for the 'ultima ratio regum.'" Continuing, the Journal says: "The President and Congress may be said during the last few weeks to have exchanged the roles which they were were to play."

A CHEERING OUTLOOK.

Evidences of the expansion of trade at all points in the Dominion continue to multiply. The bank clearings last week were much larger. In Toronto there was an increase over the same week last year of $1,544,216, at Winnipeg $1,157,000, and at Montreal $1,934,537 over the same week last year. There was a gain in the trade of Toronto last month of nearly a million dollars as shown by the customs returns, the imports being $700,000 more for April than the same month last year and the exports $200,000 greater. At Montreal the total exports amounted to $2,860,020, an increase of $20,000 compared with the same month in 1897. In many lines, particularly in dry goods, millinery, jewellery, etc., sales for every month so far this year show considerable increases over 1897. The outlook for the fall business is considered very satisfactory. Travellers are out with samples for the fall trade, but their attention is so much taken up with the demand for goods for immediate requirements for the country retail trade that they are to some extent neglecting the sales of goods for later delivery. There is apparently going to be no between seasons this year. Everything points to a busy, prosperous season all the way through.—Globe.

WAR NEWS AND WAR NEWS.

"Lloyds" the Hall Mark of Reliability.

When among the war news one reads the words "confirmed at Lloyds," it may be taken for granted that there will be no contradiction later on. Lloyds is the greatest of marine intelligence agencies. The institution had its origin in the enterprise of Edward Lloyd, a London coffee house keeper, who made a specialty of supplying his customers with news of the movements of ships at home and abroad. Lloyd s has eyes at every important harbour in the world always on the watch for news of the coming and going of ships. Night and day before the big blackboard at Lloyds in the Royal Exchange stand anxious owners of ships or of cargoes watching for the white slips to be posted that tell of arrivals or departures of ships insured at Lloyds. When news of importance is received a crier tolls a bell to direct attention to it. The bell has a history appropriate to its place at Lloyds. It is the ship's bell of the Lutine, a British frigate which sank in 1799 at the mouth of the Zuyder Zee with a large quantity of treasure aboard. Attempts were made to secure the treasure, over half a million dollars in gold and silver being recovered between 1800 and 1896. The bell was brought up, too, and after having itself lain in a wreck, now announces the wreck of ships in every sea.

"THE OUTLOOK."

The May Magazine number of The Outlook has on its cover a fine portrait of Commodore Dewey, and nearly twenty pages are devoted to a historical account of the war and to editorial comment thereon. The article on "The Parks and the People," by Samuel Parsons, Jr., ex Superintendent of the New York Parks, is accompanied by numerous charming pictures, now first printed, of scenes in Central Park, Prospect Park and Morningside Park. The fiction for the number is also distinctively of a seasonable character; the author is Maria Louise Pool, and the title is "In Sappin' Time." It may also be specially noted that the month's instalment of Dr. Edward Everett Hale's "James Russell Lowell and His Friends," contains some beautiful photographs, made for The Outlook, of Elmwood in the early spring. Other features of this Magazine Number are: An article on "Mr. Stedman as a Poet," with a full-page portrait; an article by Clifton Johnston on "English Inns," illustrated by photographs taken by the author; an article on "The New Polychrome Bible," by Professor Francis Brown, of Union Seminary; an article on "Municipal Water-Works," by Mr. M. N. Baker, of "The Engineering News;" a readable paper by Mr. Charles M. Skinner on "Animal Life;" and several other light sketches, poems and articles, besides the usual reviews, news departments and editorials. THE CHEESE MARKETS.

A number of the cheese boards of Ontario reorganized the past week for the season. Eleven meetings were held at which 5,678 boxes were boarded and 2,913 boxes sold. Quotations ranged from 7⅞ to 8 3 16 cents per pound. There is very little old cheese left on the market, and the new cheese when the season is well established, should soon be sold on a profitable basis. We append a table containing detailed information of the sales during the week:

THE QUEEN AND THE GYPSY SEER.

Her Majesty Thinks Her Death Will be Contemporaneous With That of Gladstone.

There is a story going the rounds of the press at present to the effect that the Queen's anxiety regarding Mr. Gladstone's health, which causes her to require two telegraphic reports every day, is not based solely on reasons of State. Many years ago, the story runs, the Queen and Prince Albert were walking unattended on a country road, and passed a gypsy camp. Prince Albert laughingly suggested that they should have their fortunes told, and they approached the camp. An old woman appeared, and looked first at the hand of the Prince, but the first glance made her drop it, and she refused to tell what she saw, saying:—"You live with the sun but the dark will soon deepen." Then her Majesty's palm was offered. The gipsy looked and then knelt. "I am in the presence of one who is great in this world," she said, "and I give you homage, though I know not whom you are. Your days shall be long, but sorrow will not spare you, and when your end comes there will be a falling stone." It is said that Her Majesty has occasionally referred to the prophecy, and now believes that Gladstone is the stone indicated, and that her death and his will not be far apart.

THE LATE D'ALTON M'CARTHY.

The Funeral on Saturday the Largest Concourse of People at Any Such Sad Function in Toronto.

Toronto, May 16.—The largest concourse of persons ever assembled in Toronto to pay their last sorrowing tokens of respect to a deceased citizen gathered on Saturday afternoon at and in the vicinity of the late Mr. D'Alton McCarthy's residence on Beverley street. At the house and immediately in front of it thousands of persons were standing, talking in subdued tones of the departed. Toronto's ablest men in every walk of life turned out to pay respectful tributes to the memory of the dead.

Little knots of intimate friends of the deceased, of comrades in the law, of friends and foes upon the political arena, of students-at-law, who had learned to love him, gathered and spoke out their hearts' deepest feeling to one another.

As far as the eye could reach down Beverley street crowds of persons stood waiting, while along all the streets through which the procession was to pass the sidewalks were lined with men, women and children, drawn by various motives, but all respectful and sympathetic.

When the procession turned upon John street the assembled multitude bowed their heads in respectful sympathy for the deceased, while all around was a solemn stillness, broken now and anon by the knell of the funeral bell.

It was fully 3 o'clock when the procession formed up from St. George's Church, wherein the stately service for the dead had been performed, to proceed to the cemetery. The order of the procession was:

The honorary pallbearers—Sir Frank Smith and Dr. Goldwin Smith, Mr. B. B. Osler, Q.C., and Mr. Christopher Robinson, Q.C., Dr. John Hoskin, Q.C., and Dr. Parkin, Mr. A. R. Creelman, Q.C., and Mr. Alexander Bruce, Q.C.

The hearse.

Carriage containing flowers.

The chief mourners—Judge McCarthy, Dr. McCarthy, Judge Morgan, Mr. Lally McCarthy, Mr. Pepler of Barrie, Mr. James Tyee, Mr. Leighton McCarthy, Mr. M. S. McCarthy.

Capt. Wyatt, A.D.C., representing the Governor-General.

The Lieutenant-Governor of Ontario.

Justices of the Superior Courts.

Benchers of the Law Society.

Members of Parliament.

Members of the Ontario Legislature.

Members of the firm and of the office staff of McCarthy, Osler, Hoskin & Creelman.

Private citizens and deputations.

The service at the grave was short, but impressive, and was listened to in respectful silence by the gathered thousands.

Notes.

Premier Hardy arrived at the house shortly before 2 o'clock to pay his last respects.

A contingent from Barrie and Collingwood, numbering 75, arrived in the city at 9 a.m. and left by a special train at 7 o'clock.

Captain Wyatt, A.D.C. to the Governor-General, occupied a carriage in advance of Sir Oliver Mowat.

Mayor Wells of Barrie and Mayor Chamberlain of Collingwood walked at the head of their respective contingents.

CHEER AFTER CHEER

Greeted Mr. Chamberlain's Bold Anglo-Saxon Alliance Speech.

TURNED DEFEAT TO VICTORY.

How the Mother Country of the Anglo-Saxon Race Saved the United States From Having to Fight a Combined Europe—Will Brother Jonathan Be a Grateful Child?

London, May 16.—On the subject of the proposed alliance, Harold Frederic, in cabling to the New York Times, says:

"Another speech, this time from Birmingham, has powerfully moved this people. Seldom since the days of John Bright in that city has such cheering been heard as greeted Mr. Chamberlain's expression of hope that in some great and noble cause the Stars and Stripes and the English flag could wave together over an Anglo-Saxon alliance. These cheers should answer Michael Davitt's imaginings, if, indeed, after all that has passed Davitt's unproved assertions need any answer now."

Mr. Ford cables to the New York Tribune on the same subject as follows:

"Mr. Chamberlain was in an awkward position in Birmingham on the night when the crushing reverse of the Unionists was announced, but he emerged triumphant by making the strongest appeal in favor of an Anglo-Saxon alliance yet heard in England. He knows better than anybody else the quarter from which the wind is blowing in England. If he doubted his political instinct, he was reassured by the loud, prolonged applause which greeted his sympathetic references to America's good and humane cause, and his declaration that the war would be cheaply purchased if the Stars and Stripes and the Union Jack should wave together. No other English statesman has been equally outspoken and the effect upon the audience was fairly electrical."

BRITAIN'S SHARP VETO

Was All That Prevented a Combination of the Powers Against the Interests of Uncle Sam.

London, May 16.—The London correspondent of the New York Sun cabled his paper yesterday as follows:

"Had it not been for the sharp veto of the British Government, the United States would have been confronted, several days ago, with the difficult problem whether to withdraw Dewey ignominiously from the Philippines or fight combined Europe. I make this statement on the authority of two prominent members of the Salisbury Cabinet, and its accuracy is beyond question. Moreover, it falls far short of conveying an adequate idea of the manifold perils, plots and counterplots which the situation contains.

"The proposition to send a demand to Washington to limit the campaign to the West Indies, and to enforce the demand with the combined fleets, came to the British Government from three powers. I speak on the highest authority when I say that it was rejected by the unanimous voice of the British Cabinet. Moreover, I violate no confidence in saying that the Ministry was equally unanimous in favor of granting the United States the fullest British support in resisting any interference from neutral powers.

"It should be explained that the idea of European interference was not prompted by any really friendly sentiments for Spain. Continental Europe is convinced that the complete downfall of Spain is a foregone conclusion. It is expected that she will be stripped of all her possessions outside her domestic borders as the result of the war. The powers are already discussing the division of the spoils between themselves. The only hope is that they may quarrel. The points whereon they agree are that the United States shall retain nothing outside the West Indies, and Great Britain shall get nothing, least of all, the Philippines. In fact, the attitude of Europe may now best be described, not as anti-British, but as broadly hostile to the Anglo-Saxon race.

As to Terms of Alliance.

"It is premature, perhaps, to discuss to-day the details and nature of the alliance which Great Britain desires to make with the United States. The chief point which it is desired to determine at this juncture is whether the public sentiment of America will sanction any alliance. If it will, I do not go too far in saying that the terms can be arranged either now or at some more suitable moment in the near future.

"The British Cabinet has definitely and unanimously committed itself, in principle, to an Anglo-American alliance, if it can be made upon terms honorable and advantageous to both countries. The British Government having committed itself to this radical new departure, has no disposition to drive a sharp bargain. It is probably quite willing that the United States should determine the scope of the proposed partnership, the general desire being to make it as close and intimate as possible.

"There is little doubt that Great Britain will be glad to enter a full offensive and defensive alliance. On the other hand, if America preferred, she would negotiate a partial or contingent alliance, for special purposes of defence and mutual interests.

"The point which Great Britain would probably urge with the greatest emphasis upon America would be that she speedily equip herself as a first-class naval power."

The Sun's Own Comments.

New York, May 16.—Referring editorially to the suggestion made by Mr. Chamberlain of an Anglo-Saxon alliance, the Sun says:

"The Hon. Joseph Chamberlain's speech at Birmingham points more emphatically than any earlier guide post to a harmonious relation between England and America, if need be, as against the rest of the world.

"The statesman on our side of the water who will not consider any proposition of this magnitude with an open mind is unworthy of his influence, if he has any.

"For its proper discussion, all that we need is statesmanship as keen, as alert, as far-seeing and as resolutely intent on guarding the interests of the United States, as Mr. Chamberlain's is in behalf of England."

Robert Kennedy, a machinist at Polson's (Toronto) iron works, had his hand badly crushed in one of the shears on Saturday.

HUMAN SACRIFICES

On the Altar of Diabetes, Saved by Dodd's Kidney Pills, Only.

Hardly a family in the country is free from Diabetes. Great thirst, failing sight, numbness in the thighs, bleeding gums, swollen ankles, emaciation, nervousness, pale or turbid urine, loss of sexual power, decaying teeth, pains in the loins or small of the back, are all positive signs that Diabetes is in the system.

Do you know how it ends? IN DEATH. A premature, horrible, agonized, pitiful death. The victim has no peace, no ease in life. His days are filled with tortures. His nights are waking dreams of agony. He longs to die, yet fears the terrors of his end. He dies, a bloated, fetid, repulsive mass of corruption. That is the only end of unchecked Diabetes. Dodd's Kidney Pills will cure it. They drive it out of the system thoroughly, create new, clean blood, rebuild the diseased kidneys, and restore robust health.

WHEAT DOWN AGAIN.

Sketch of the Market for the Week—Late Options Firmed Somewhat—Local Markets and Prices.

Saturday Evening, May 14.

On Monday and Tuesday of this week wheat continued its phenomenal advance of the week before on the markets of the world. On Wednesday, however, the reported falling off in the European demand and the excellent harvests in June and July caused quotations to recede, with the result that all lines of the cereal from May to December show considerable declines from a week ago. The backward trend of the markets continued to-day. At Chicago May fell 5½c, while July declined 3c, but recovered and closed ½c higher than on Friday. The September and December futures rose 1½c and ⅝c respectively. Similar declines in May and July occurred on other American boards.

On the Toronto board No. 2 red was offered at $1.05, with little demand for export, buyers and sellers being apart on Manitoba hard.

At Liverpool May wheat closed down 2d, July 1½d and September 2½d. At Paris wheat was 5 to 65 centimes lower.

HAPPIEST MAN ALIVE.

Is Mr. F. Stewart, of Ingersoll, Because Dodd's Kidney Pills Cured Him.

Ingersoll, May 16—(Special)—Mr. Francis Stewart, living at 444 King street, this town, is the happiest man alive to-day. He is "good for" many years of healthy, useful life, whereas, only a short time ago, he was in the greatest danger of filling an untimely grave.

Dodd's Kidney Pills cured him. About a year ago Mr. Stewart had an accident, resulting in severe injury to his kidneys. Kidney disease developed. The best doctors failed to help him. Many remedies were tried without avail.

Finally Dodd's Kidney Pills were tried. At once a cure began. A few boxes completed it.

To-day no healthier man exists.

No wonder he's happy. He used Dodd's Kidney Pills.

MR. GLADSTONE'S CONDITION.

The Aged Patient Is Unable to Take Sufficient Food to Maintain Strength.

London, May 16.—A special cable to the New York Sun says: Mr. Gladstone's physicians held a consultation this evening at Hawarden, after which the following bulletin was issued:

"Mr. Gladstone passed a fair night and was comparatively free from pain. There is evidence of increasing weakness and failure of the circulation."

Mr. John Morley Saturday afternoon and Lord Rosebery the same evening visited their old leader and bade him farewell. Afterward Lord Rendel, a life-long friend of the dying statesman, visited him. Lord Rendel said he never expected to see Mr. Gladstone alive again.

The condition of Mr. Gladstone is hourly becoming graver, and he is nearing the end of his suffering. There has been no sudden advance in the local disease, but a new development in his general condition is showing itself, the failure of the circulation, as announced in Saturday night's bulletin. These fresh symptoms create fears of a possible sudden collapse.

Inability to take sufficient food is the main cause of Mr. Gladstone's growing weakness. Though he is occasionally delirious, he is usually in full possession of his senses.

He faces the future with beautiful fortitude and serenity. The racking pain, which, however, the physicians have been latterly able to assuage, has produced a calm willingness, almost anxiety, to surrender the burden of life. He continues to be most solicitous for his wife, family and friends.

The other day, after listening to a resolution of sympathy and affection passed by a foreign press association, he said:

"I charge you to convey my never-ceasing gratitude, though I am myself in extremis."

The Latest Word.

Hawarden, May 16.—At 11 o'clock last night Mr. Gladstone's condition showed no perceptible change.

THE HENDREN CASE.

Preliminary Hearing Now in Progress in the Police Court.

The case of Wm. Hendren charged with stealing from the premises of John Cameron, was before the magistrate this morning.

Mr. R. E. Wood conducted the prosecution, and Mr. G. J. Sherry, of Norwood, appeared for the prisoner.

Mr. John Cameron was the first witness. He stated that he kept a grocery on George street for many years until December, 1894. Wm. Hendren was clerking for him for a year and 7 or 8 months, and left in July, '93, for his holidays. While he was away Mr. Cameron swore out an information against him on account of certain suspicions which he entertained. He went up to the house of Mrs. James Fox, where Hendren boarded, and searched his room. Chief Roesel was with him. A number of articles were found which were recognised, including decanters of wine and brandy and some chromos. A visit was then paid to Hendren's father's house in Norwood, and a large number of articles found, including crockery, etc., which were recognised by Mr. Cameron as coming from the store, and bearing his private mark.

On being cross-examined by Mr. Sherry, the witness was not prepared to swear that Hendren did not put the price of the goods in the till when he took them. The total value of the goods would be about $6 00.

Chief Roesel corroborated Mr. Cameron's evidence as to finding the goods, and stated that Hendren could not be found afterwards, and was not arrested until Constible Iles performed the duty last week.

Mrs. Fox stated that the prisoner had boarded with her for a year and a half. Sometimes she had given him an order for groceries to the amount of a week's board. She might have given him as many as twenty such orders. She dealt at other stores as well. It was her suggestion about the orders, not Hendren's. The goods were delivered openly by the boy from the store.

James Coolihan, who was also employed by Mr John Cameron, delivered some of the goods to Mrs. Fox. The day he left the prisoner asked him if Mr. Cameron inquired if goods had been taken to Mrs. Fox that day to say no. Not sure whether was asked to say "no" as regarding that particular day or generally.

In his cross examination witness stated that when given the goods to deliver to Mrs. Fox, Hendren went to the till. He could not see, however, whether he put money in it. He did not think at the time he was asked to do anything wrong when Hendren told him to deny taking the goods to Mrs. Fox that day.

At the conclusion of Mr. Coolihan's evidence the court rose for luncheon.

The evidence of several other witnesses was taken, after which Mr. Sherry on behalf of his client, entered a plea of "guilty," and asking for a summary trial, urged that clemency be exercised in the case.

The magistrate decided in view of all the circumstances, as the affair had occurred five years ago, and the young man had lived an exemplary life since, to discharge him on payment of the costs, amounting to $20.95.

The father and three brothers, who were before the court charged with obstructing Constable Iles in the discharge of his duty, were also allowed to go.

FELL FROM HIS WHEEL.

Accident to Rev. Mr. Cragg—His Services Conducted by Mr. J. Sutherland.

Last Friday afternoon Rev. Mr. Cragg, of Caran, south, was on pastoral duty and while on his way home riding on his wheel came to a steep hill. While riding along his foot slipped from the pedal, and he was thrown forward and fell, striking a stump and injuring himself severely. Some friends were near and hurried to his assistance and conveyed him to Millbrook. Dr. McKinnon was called to attend him. He is forbidden to take any work for a few days until it is seen what is the extent of his injuries.

Last Sunday was quarterly services at his appointments. The Rev. Mr. Moore, of Ashburnham, had arranged to go down and take the services, and Mr. Cragg to take Ashburnham, but on account of Mr. Cragg's accident Mr. Moore could not go down. Mr. James Sutherland, of Peterborough, took both appointments. Zion at 10 30, preaching service and fellowship meeting, and Fallis' church at 7 o'clock. The church was beautifully decorated with flowers, and the Young People's Society conducted the musical part of the services, which were greatly appreciated. Both churches were filled to overflowing, a token of the respect and love of the people for their esteemed and beloved young pastor.

Wilson's Patriotic "Private Post Cards."

We are in receipt of advance proofs of three very unique Patriotic "Private Post Cards" in colours, issued by the well-known firm of J. C. Wilson & Co, paper makers, Montreal. We anticipate they will be very popular with the trade. The first card represents Britannia with trident and Columbia with olive branch, sitting with the lion and eagle at their respective feet. The Union Jack and Stars and Stripes crossed, the poles of which are joined by a gordian knot, and below the flags two hands clasped, representing "Union is Strength." A Globe, the World, between the flags with the mottos "One Aim, One Goal, Anglo Saxon, Gloria Mundi." The second card represents the mailed figure of Britannia with "trident" sitting with the crouched lion at her feet. In the distance a battleship, England's first line of defence, and the motto, "Britannia, Britannia rules the waves, Britons never, never, never shall be slaves." The third card represents the Union Jack with the words in the Union crosses, "The flag that braved a thousand years the battle and the breeze." These cards will be sold to the trade at $2 50 per thousand. Stamp collectors and private individuals, will no doubt use them extensively for correspondence in these war times. They can be had retail from all stationers and booksellers in Canada and the United States.

A NARROW ESCAPE.

Mr. John Dwyer has a Thrilling Experience at Burleigh Falls.

(Special to The Examiner.)

On Saturday afternoon, at Burleigh Falls, Mr. John Dwyer, foreman for Mr. A. McDonald, of Peterborough, had a thrilling experience at the slide, which he will not likely soon forget.

Your correspondent went up to Burleigh Falls on the steamer Empire, through the kindness of Mr. R B Rogers, superintending engineer of the Trent Valley Canal.

After dinner Mr. Rogers went to see the work going on at the dredge, and your correspondent went down the slide in company with Mr. E T. Smith, of the Public Works Department, Ottawa, and Mr. Rogers two sons, to see the logs running down the slide.

The slide had been blocked by two logs getting cro-sways and Mr. Dwyer, with his gang of men, were trying to get them out. They had fastened an iron dog in the log and a rope was attached with men drawing on it, so that one end of the log would get past the pier. Mr. Dwyer had come over to the opposite side from the men, and taken hold of the other end of the rope, so that when the log swung around he could pull the dog out. The log swung but the rope had in some way got twisted around Mr. Dwyer's ankle, and he was at once drawn into the slide. He grabbed the pier, and was seized by Mr. Chas. Quinn and your correspondent. Mr. Smith called to the men to hold on to the rope to to keep the log from going all the way down the slide. Mr. Dwyer's leg was drawn so tight with the rope that it took all his own exertion with that of those holding him, to prevent him from going into the water and to to his death.

Excitement was the order of the day; an attempt was made to cut the rope with a knife, but this was a failure; then with a cross cut saw, but this also was unsuccessful. A cry was then raised for an axe, but the lumbermen near there had no axe with them. An Indian happened to have his boat at the foot of the slide, and on hearing the cry for the axe came promptly with it, when the rope was cut after three strokes by a man going on to the log in the slide and being held by another man on the pier. During this time Mr. Dwyer was suffering untold agony with the terrible strain on his leg. When the rope was cut he was nearly slipping from the grasp of those holding on to him and he said, "Boys, don't let me go now when you have nearly saved me." Some of the other men came and helped to pull him up on the pier. When he got on his feet he felt as if his stretched leg was about two feet longer than the other. He was also very sore around the chest where he had been lying on the sharp edge of the pier. He was able to get around and see to his men, although feeling very sore. It was a very narrow escape and was very exciting those who saw it.

AT ST. PETER'S CATHEDRAL.

A Mission to Begin in the Cathedral Next Sunday.

The mission to be conducted by the Jesuit Fathers will begin in St. Peter's Cathedral next Sunday. The first week of the mission will be for the women, and the second week for the men.

At Vespers yesterday His Lordship Bishop O'Connor explained what was meant by a mission, and also pointed out the reasons for holding the same, and the preparations the congregation should make for worthily receiving the blessings which follow these missions or retreats.

His Lordship Bishop O'Connor and Rev. Father Scanlan were in Douro yesterday, where His Lordship performed the ceremony of blessing the cemetery.

Mr. Smith, a talented singer of Ottawa, sang two beautiful solos in the Cathedral yesterday.

PERMANENT PAVEMENTS.

The matter of the laying of permanent pavements was then taken up, and as the petition received complied with the statute, whereby the names of two-thirds of the property holders had been secured representing half the value of the property, the necessary resolution was passed as follows, which authorizes the work to be undertaken:

Moved by Councillors McWilliams and Langford, that the town engineer be instructed to prepare plans and specifications for the construction of granolithic pavements six feet wide on the west side of George street, from the C.P.R. station to King street, and ten feet wide from King street to Brock street; also ten feet wide on the east side of George street from Charlotte street to Brock street, and that tenders be asked for the construction of the same.

The resolution was carried and it was afterwards decided to add another clause to it, calling for the continuation of a similar pavement on both sides of Water street between Brock and Murray streets.

BYLAWS.

Councillor McWilliams introduced the bylaw authorizing the raising of $10,000 to defray the cost of erecting bridges and purchasing a steam roller.

The council went into Committee of the Whole on the second reading, when Councillor Robertson asked to be enlightened as to when it had been decided that a steam roller was necessary. He had not even heard of the project and objected to a bylaw being railroaded through before its details were discussed.

Councillor Hamilton stated that he had heard the matter talked over on many occasions and was in favour of the purchase of a roller.

Councillor Dawson said that he had never heard of the scheme before and he proposed to vote against the bylaw. His objection to the clause referring to the bridges was based on the ground that the debentures were to be issued before the cost of the bridges had been ascertained. The bridges should be built and the debentures issued afterwards. The roller was not wanted any more than a cart wanted a third wheel. The ground bottom in Peterborough was of gravel, not mud, and did not need to be packed like the latter. The town had a good roller now, which could be weighted down more heavily.

In speaking of the bylaw, the Mayor stated that he had spoken to a number of the councillors in regard to the matter before he had brought it up in council, but that he had not been able to see all of them. He had asked Mr. Belcher to ascertain the cost of the bridges with iron girders before the bylaw was framed. The three bridges were in a most dangerous condition, and liable to go down at any time and cause an accident, in which the town would be mulcted for heavy damages. The Engineer had placed the cost at $7,000 and the sooner the work was undertaken the better. It was in the interests of the town to have it undertaken at once. The question of the purchase of a steam roller had been brought up more quickly than anticipated, merely in order that the people might vote on the two matters at the same time, and thus save expense. Whilst it had not been discussed formally in council, still it had often been spoken of between the members. The town could not undertake permanent work on the roadways until a fifteen or twenty ton roller was purchased. Ottawa was in the same position as Peterborough. The outlying streets were made of crushed stone and gravel, and when packed down with the heavy roller, made fine roadways at a small cost. In the centre of the city the roadways were of asphalt, and the frontage tax on the stores was about $22 yearly. A day's work out of the town's present roller cost about $14, and if a steam roller was purchased the work would be done at a quarter the cost, and besides it was absolutely necessary to have the surface of the roadways packed so hard that the water couldn't soak through. Steam rollers were possessed by Belleville, Ottawa, Guelph, Hamilton, Brampton and Woodstock.

Councillor Langford begged leave to remind Councillor Dawson that ten years ago when the town was in the same state, as to bridges, that it had been decided to borrow $10,000 to build bridges on Brock, Hunter, Simcoe, Charlotte and King streets, and also to place cribwork around the Little Lake. These bridges had cost little since, with the exception of having to be replanked occasionally. Councillor Dawson had voted for this expenditure. The position of affairs was the same now as then. In regard to the purchase of a steam roller he was of the opinion that good roads could not be obtained without a hard surface.

Councillor Dawson stated that he knew of money which had been raised by debenture which had been spent on things other than that for which it was raised. He wanted to know the cost of the bridges before he would vote for the bylaw.

Councillor McWilliams pointed out the danger of delaying the construction of the new bridges when the old ones were in such a dangerous condition and also pointed out the town's need for a heavy roller.

Councillor Cobb objected to the matter being sprung on the council on a Saturday night.

Councillors Denne and Cobb moved that the committee now rise and ask leave to sit again.

The motion carried and further discussion of the matter has been postponed for the present.

OTHER BUSINESS.

Councillor Langford gave notice of a motion that he would introduce a bylaw calling for the election of one alderman from each 1,000 in the town, to be elected by a general vote, thus doing away with the ward system.

On motion of Councillors Robertson and White the Property Committee was empowered to have the water turned on in the market and some repairs undertaken.

Councillor Denne drew attention to the stench arising from the hog pens on the market square. They could not be cleaned, as a foot or more of stone had been thrown into them for a bottom. At a cost of about $50 an asphalt floor could be put in.

Councillor Hamilton was in favour of having the asphalt flooring put in, when the pens could be flushed out every day.

Councillor Denne objected to having the hogs in town at all.

Councillors McWilliams and Hamilton moved that the matter be referred to the Market Committee.

Mr. J. D. Baptie, market clerk, was heard and urged that an asphalt floor be put in, when he would see that it was flushed every day.

Mr. George Matthews, who was present, was asked for his opinion and stated that his firm had tried every kind of flooring unsuccessfully and were now going to give the asphalt a trial. Constant flushing would be needed to keep down the stench.

Councillors McWilliams and Langford moved that the treasurer be authorized to pay the expenses of the deputation to Ottawa re the Mud Lake bridge.—Carried.

Councillor Robertson asked who had authorized such a deputation to go to Ottawa.

The mayor explained that the council had given the Joint Committee power to act in the matter.

The Street and Bridge Committee will consider the cost of building a sidewalk in Auburn so the east end of the new footbridge.

On motion of Councillors McWilliams and Denne, the Chief of Police was authorized to make the necessary arrangements for securing detectives for the town on July 1st.

Councillor Cobb asked if it was necessary to have detectives to watch a crowd which the council had voted money to bring into town.

Councillor McWilliams stated that he considered such a remark as a slur on all wheelmen. The detective were needed for the protection of the wheelmen as well as of the citizens. It was a well known fact that pickpockets would gather wherever there was a crowd.

The council then adjourned.

WARD'S BLOOD & NERVE PILLS

RESTORE THE SNAP, VIM, ENERGY, STRENGTH YOU HAVE LOST.

WEIGH YOURSELF BEFORE TAKING THEM.

A MARKED GAIN.

GENTLEMEN,—I have been a great sufferer from nervous dyspepsia, with the usual symptoms of stomach weakness, loss of appetite and flesh, accumulation of gas, sour risings, and heartburn. I used various patent medicines and other remedies without any favorable results. They would give temporary relief sometimes until the effects of the medicine wore off, but Dr. Ward's Blood and Nerve Pills overcame all these obstacles. I am better in every way now and have gained several pounds in weight.

NEVER WROTE SUCH A LETTER.

Sir Charles Tupper's Sworn Testimony Before the Drummond County Railway Committee.

Ottawa, May 14.—In the Drummond County Committee yesterday morning.

Sir Charles Tupper gave sworn testimony as to the letter which Mr. Farwell deposed he had an impression Mr. Rufus Pope had received from Sir Charles favoring the acquisition of the railway by the late Government. The ex-Premier testified that Farwell was entirely mistaken, as he had never written such a letter to anybody whatever in regard to that matter. The first intimation he had of the proposed purchase of the road by Mr. Ryan, with a view to its sale by the Government, was a paragraph to that effect in the newspapers during the session. Neither the Government of Sir Mackenzie Bowell, nor that of Sir Charles Tupper himself, had any proposition before it.

To a question by Chairman Lister, Sir Charles Tupper said it was possible Mr. Ivos might have mentioned in conversation that the railway could be obtained, but he had no recollection of it. He had never regarded with favor any large expenditure to extend the Intercolonial Railway to Montreal.

The committee adjourned till Wednesday next, when it is understood the enquiry will be closed.

DOCTORS COULDN'T CURE.

But Mrs. Rowe was Saved by Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Woodstock, May 2—(Special) Woodstock ladies are among the healthiest and prettiest in Canada. When therefore it became known that one of them, Mrs. W. Rowe, was suffering, and had suffered for twelve years, with that curse of womankind—Female Weakness—aggravated by Kidney and Liver Disease, the sympathy of her sisters was freely given her.

The female population of Woodstock are now overjoyed over Mrs. Rowe's recovery.

Dodd's Kidney Pills did it.

The doctor told Mrs. Rowe she could never be cured.

Different "remedies" failed to help her.

A few boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills cured her completely.

"THE TIME HAS COME"

For a Unity of All the Anglo-Saxon Brotherhood

INTO ONE SUPREME EMPIRE.

A Combination of the Powers Against Great Britain Makes the Present Duty of Unity as a Policy for All Concerned Paramount—Comments of the London Press.

London, May 14.—The Right Hon. Joseph Chamberlain, Secretary of State for the Colonies, made an important speech on public affairs at Birmingham last evening.

Mr. Chamberlain, after deprecating the constant assertions in certain quarters that Lord Salisbury was "discredited," and the Government "weak and vacillating," said:

"If foreign nations believe and act upon those statements they will find themselves much mistaken, and that courteous diplomacy and graceful concessions are not incompatible with a firm maintenance of the country's honor and interests."

The Policy of Isolation.

Referring to the policy of strict isolation that England has pursued since the Crimean War, he remarked that this had been "perfectly justifiable," but he added, "the time has arrived when Great Britain may be confronted by a combination of powers, and our first duty, therefore, is to draw all parts of the Empire into close unity, and our next to maintain the bonds of unity with our kinsmen across the Atlantic." (Loud cheers.)

"There is a powerful and generous nation," said Mr. Chamberlain, "speaking our language, bred of our race, and having interests identical with ours. I should go so far as to say that, terrible as war may be, even war itself would be cheaply purchased if in a great and noble cause the Stars and Stripes and the Union Jack should wave together over an Anglo-Saxon alliance." (Prolonged cheers.)

"It is one of the most satisfactory results of Lord Salisbury's policy that at the present time these two great nations understand each other better than they ever have done since over a century ago they were separated by the blunder of a British Government."

The Situation in China.

Mr. Chamberlain proceeded to draw a gloomy picture of the situation in China, "where we have to count with Russia, as in Afghanistan, except that we do not possess an army of a defensive frontier in China and cannot, therefore, injure Russia without an ally. The fate of the whole Chinese Empire is involved and our interests are so enormous that no more vital question was ever presented for decision to the British nation and a British Government. Unless the fate of China is to be decided without England's voice, we must not reject the idea of an alliance with those powers whose interests are similar to ours."

Press Comments.

London, May 14.—The Times, commenting editorially upon Mr. Chamberlain's speech at Birmingham last evening, says:

"Mr. Chamberlain was assurred beforehand of the approval of the whole body of the Unionists when contending that we must draw closer the ties binding us to the colonies. It was almost as much a foregone conclusion that the opportunity should be seized of establishing permanent relations of amity and something more with the United States, whose success in the operations that have lately taken place has been welcomed here as not only justified by the goodness of her cause, but as a tribute to the practical capacity of the Anglo-Saxon race in the business of war, even when no adequate preparation for the struggle had been made."

The Daily Chronicle welcomes Mr. Chamberlain's "brave and historic plea for an Anglo-American alliance."

The Morning Post says: "Mr. Chamberlain insists that it is only his own aspiration when he declared we should seek an Anglo-Saxon alliance, but we doubt whether this open-mouthed diplomacy will suit Lord Salisbury's arrangements at a moment when Spain and America are involved in a contest in which we are neutral."

The Daily News thinks the speech "a strong signal" and believes that "the immediate point of danger is West Africa."

The man who stands idly by and sees the life fading out of his wife's face, sees her health going, sees her becoming old and faded and wrinkled when she should still be in the perfect enjoyment of vigorous, useful health, is either less than a man or else does not know of the one remedy which will bring her back to health and strength. Perhaps her husband cannot persuade her to go to her doctor, because she naturally dreads the inevitable "examinations" and "local treatments." He can persuade her, if she needs persuasion, to take Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. This truly wonderful medicine has cured hundreds of women after the best physicians have failed. It has been in constant use and tested every day for thirty years. It isn't an experiment, there are no chances about it. It is a certain cure for all the derangements, weaknesses, irregularities and displacements of internal organs peculiar to women.

LORD ABERDEEN RESIGNS.

Her Majesty the Queen Has Accepted the Governor-General's Resignation.

London, May 14.—It is officially announced that the Queen has accepted the resignation of the Earl of Aberdeen as Governor-General of Canada, to which office he was appointed in 1893.

The two persons most prominently mentioned recently as likely to succeed the Earl of Aberdeen as Governor-General of Canada are the Earl of Shelbourne, the Under-Secretary of State for the Colonies, and the Earl of Hopetoun, the Paymaster-General. It has been said that the former can have the Governor-Generalship of Canada if he wants it.

Feeding the Fire.

The most powerful engine must stop if the fires are not fed. Man is the most wonderful piece of machinery in the world, yet no matter how strong and well-made his bodily frame may be, if the fire of life within him is not constantly fed his limbs and muscles become powerless and useless.

The reason men become helpless and diseased is because the food they eat, which is the fuel of life, is not properly digested and appropriated by the stomach and nutritive organs. It is not completely transformed into the strength and working power which is to man what steam is to the engine.

That wonderful power-making "Golden Medical Discovery," invented by Dr. R. V. Pierce, chief consulting physician of the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, of Buffalo, N. Y., imbues the human digestive juices and blood-making glands with capacity to extract abundant nourishment from the food. It builds up organic tissue, nerve fiber, hard muscular flesh and working force. It gives a man steam.

What it did for Mr. F. S. Hughes, of Junction, Hunterdon Co., N. J., is given in his own words. He writes: "I received your kind letter, and in reply would say that mine was a bad case of kidney and liver trouble, and that six bottles of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and four bottles of little 'Pellets' effected a complete cure. It is well known that almost every engineer is troubled more or less with kidney trouble, especially on our fast express trains. I run one hundred and forty-four miles on these trains every day in the week, and have had no return of the trouble since taking the remedies, nearly three years ago."

A FALL IN WHEAT.

Speculation Is Therefore Transferred to the Late Options—Large Live Stock Run in Toronto—The Quotations.

Friday Evening, May 13.

Wheat seems to have largely lost its recent phenomenal strength in the markets of the world. The European demand has apparently fallen off, for the time being, at any rate, and this has given the bears a chance, this class of operators being further helped by the prevalence of splendid growing weather in the great crop belts. As a result of these conditions, speculation has to a great extent been transferred from May and July lines to the September and December options. The question as to whether these more remote futures will maintain present prices must depend upon the June and July harvests in Europe and America. Should these be abundant, the scarcity in the world's supply will be overcome, and the market, if responsive to legitimate conditions, will sag. There is, of course, on the other hand, the possibility of a crop failure, which would mean the maintenance of higher prices.

Wheat continued to decline to-day. At Chicago May fell 15c, July 14c, Sept. 12¾c, Dec. 1¾c, and corresponding losses occurred on other leading American boards. At Toronto to-day No. 2 red is quoted at $1.07 to $1.10, with little doing, and some millers holding stocks at $1.16 in hope of higher prices before harvest. No. 1 Manitoba hard is down to $1.47 here. Liverpool recorded a decline of 3d on spot, 2½d on May, 3½d on July and 2d on Sept., while Paris and Antwerp were 25 to 40 centimes lower.

Toronto St. Lawrence Market.

The receipts of grain were larger to-day—2800 bush.

Wheat easier, 1500 bush selling as follows: White, $1.03 to $1.08; red, $1.12; goose, $1.07 to $1.08 per bush.

Barley firm; 100 bush sold at 42c to 43½c.

Oats firm, 800 bush selling at 28c to 30c.

Peas firm; 400 bush sold at 65c to 65½c.

Hay steady; 30 loads sold at $8 to $9 per ton.

Straw firm; five loads sold at $6 to $7 per ton.

Potatoes steady, selling at 70c to 80c per bag.

Dressed Meats—Market well supplied; prices easier, excepting hogs, which sold at $6 to $6.20 for choice lightweights.

Toronto Live Stock.

The run of live stock was exceedingly large to-day—103 carloads, composed of 2050 cattle, 255 sheep, 80 calves and 2500 hogs.

In export cattle, there was an over-supply for shipping space in sight this week, and dealers were not anxious to buy and feed for a week. Trade was slow and prices were easier. Many dealers were glad to get what they paid for their cattle in the country.

Export cattle sold at $4 to $4.40, with a few extra lots at $4.50. Export bulls, light, $3 to $3.25; heavy, $3.40 to $3.75. Loads of good butchers and exporters, mixed, $3.90 to $4.12½.

Butchers' cattle, compared with the exporters, were not nearly so plentiful, and prices were fairly maintained.

Choice picked lots of butchers' cattle sold at $4 to $4.20, lots of good $3.90 to $3.95, medium $3.65 to $3.75, common $3.50 to $3.70, inferior $3.25 to $3.50, and very small inferior rough cows and bulls $3 to $3.20 per cwt.

About 30 milk cows sold at $28 to $40 each. Calves plentiful and cheaper at $2 to $5 each.

Buffalo stockers, yearlings weighing from 400 to 500 lbs. each, sold at $3.75 to $4 per cwt., which is a better price than common butchers' cattle are bringing.

Heavy feeders were selling at $4 to $4.10. There were several farmers on the market to purchase this class of cattle, but prices were too high.

Sheep supply equal to demand; prices remained fairly steady. Ewes, light, sold at $4 to $4.50 per cwt.; ewes, heavy, $3.75 to $4; yearling lambs, $5.50 to $6 per cwt.

Spring lambs plentiful, with prices easier at $3 to $4.

Hogs, fair supply; market weaker; prices unchanged.

East Buffalo Live Stock.

East Buffalo, May 13.—Cattle receipts light. The market was quiet and steady for light grades. Veals were in light supply and stronger. Tops sold at $5.25 to $5.50; others all the way from $4.25 to $5.

Hogs—Receipts to-day were fairly liberal, and with favorable advices from the West the market was stronger. Good to choice yorkers $4.50; fair to good light yorkers, $4.40 to $4.45; mixed packers' grades, $4.35 to $4.45; medium weights, $4.50 to $4.55; heavy hogs, $4.40 to $4.65; roughs, $4 to $4.15; pigs, $4 to $4.15.

Sheep and Lambs—The trade closed up very dull and unsatisfactory on Thursday, with a dull and draggy trade throughout and a large number of the offerings went over unsold, in all 25 car loads, with the immediate future outlook unfavorable. To-day's fresh arrivals were fairly liberal again, and the market was only steady for lambs, with sheep also unchanged. Native clipped lambs, choice to extra, $4.80 to $5; fair to good, $4.60 to $4.75; culls and common, $4 to $4.40; yearlings, fair mixed to choice wethers, $4 to $4.25. Native clipped sheep, choice to selected wethers, $4.10 to $4.20; common to fair, $3.60 to $3.80; culls to common sheep, $3.25 to $3.50.

Cheese Markets.

South Finch, Ont., May 13.—At the regular meeting of South Finch Cheese Board there was a large attendance of buyers; 637 offered; 445 sold for 8c; balance held.

Winchester, Ont., May 13.—The meeting of the Cheese Board last night was well attended and the prices offered were good. Seventy-seven white and 333 colored were offered; 213 colored and 50 white were sold at 8¾c. The prospects of the board are very bright, Winchester being the centre of a large cheese-producing section.

British Markets.

Liverpool, May 13.—Spring wheat is firm at 11s 3d; red winter, 11s 4d; No. 1 Cal., no stock; corn, 4s; peas, 5s 9½d; pork, 53s 6d; lard, 34s 6d; tallow, 21s; bacon, heavy, 1c., 30s; light, 35s 6d; 40s, short cut, 35s; cheese, white, 41s; colored, 43s.

MR. WILLIS, WOODSTOCK,

Escaped a Deadly Enemy by the Aid of Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Woodstock, May 9—(Special)—This city is deeply agitated, with joyful excitement, because another popular resident has escaped from the fatal grip of Kidney disease by the aid of Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Everyone knows Mr. H. A. Willis, the genial proprietor of the "Buckingham" hotel. He tells his story thus: "For two years past I have suffered intensely from Lame Back and Kidney Disease. Nothing I ever used helped me.

"My sufferings grew worse daily. I heard so much of Dodd's Kidney Pills that I decided to try them. I got relief from the first box. Three boxes cured me entirely."

Dodd's Kidney Pills always cure.

HIS LEG IS STILL GROWING.

It Gets Longer and Longer, and He Can't Stop It.

A man out at Rogers park broke his leg a few months ago, and in the setting the doctor made some mistake, or else the patient was at fault, for when it set the bone joined improperly, and when the man came to walk he found that one leg was several inches shorter than it should be. He was naturally very much inconvenienced and bemoaned the fact that he was to be a cripple for life. One day while he was alone at the house a woman book canvasser was admitted. After she had failed to sell him what she had she asked him what the matter was. He told her and said that he feared he would be a cripple for life.

"Humph!" said the woman. "There is no need of that now since Christian science is doing so much."

"I have heard a great deal about Christian science," said the man, "but I never heard that it could cure a trouble like mine."

"Why not?" asked the woman. "It is doing greater things than that every day. You would better go see a healer."

"But there is none here," replied the man.

"Well," said the woman, "I'm something of a healer, myself. I can't stay here, but I'll tell you what I'll do. I'll give you the absent treatment. You just stay where you are, and I'll cure your short leg." And she went away.

The man smiled, but he thought there might be something in it after all. So he began to have faith in the healer. In a few days, however, he had almost forgotten all about it and joked with his wife about the matter. At the end of two weeks he arose to a standing position and discovered to his great astonishment that his short leg was nearly as long as the other. He was delighted.

"That woman was all right," he said to his wife, "and I have done her a great injustice in smiling in my disbelief." In a fortnight more both legs were of equal length. He left his room for the first time in several months and went to business. He proudly showed his leg to all his friends and told every one of the marvelous means by which he recovered. Everything went well for a time, but presently the man made the astonishing discovery that the cured limb was still growing. In another two weeks it was fully two inches longer than the one which had not been broken and that it was the well leg on which he now limped.

This naturally worried him very much. You see, there was no telling where it would end. Then he recollected, too, that he had no idea who the healer was, or where he could find her. He could not even remember the name of the book she was trying to sell. And that is how the matter now stands. The man's leg is still growing. That woman is still padding around the country selling books and giving him the absent treatment. If he does find her, she will have to begin on the other leg, and even then the man will only be fit for the dime museum. The man's faith in the new science is still unbroken, but he feels that the healers should be securely anchored and kept within certain bounds.—Chicago Chronicle.

The Greatest Attribute.

At a gathering of men and women not long ago each one in turn was called upon to cite the attribute he or she considered of greatest worth in the formation of character, each attribute to be followed by the name of some one who best embodied it. For instance, a man gave sterling integrity and as his example Abraham Lincoln; a woman, tact, with Mme. De Maintenon as illustration; another woman, loyalty, adding the name of George Washington. At last it came the turn of a very plain spoken woman, who in loud, clear tones cried, "Honesty, and I know of no example, either living or dead!"—Cleveland Leader.

CANADA LIFE
Assurance Company.

ANOTHER PROSPEROUS YEAR.

Large Increase in Surplus.

The fifty-first annual report of the Canada Life shows this old established Company to be in a most flourishing condition. The annual meeting was held yesterday. Following is a synopsis of the report:—

A PROSPEROUS YEAR.

In presenting to the Shareholders their 51st Annual Report, the Directors are gratified in announcing that the Company has fairly shared in the somewhat improved condition of the business of the country, as will be seen by the Statements and Accounts now submitted. By these it will be observed that the Company has transacted a larger business than during the previous year, and has increased its clear surplus by no less than $497,093 05.

NEW BUSINESS.

The applications for new assurances during 1897 numbered 3 066, for the sum of $6,185,996, of which, however, 266 for $521,000 were declined, the lives not appearing up to that standard which it is in the interest of the company's other assurers should be maintained, and as 191 applications for $373,360 were not carried out, the issue of the year was for $5 291,636, under 2 609 policies, exceeding 1896 by 573 policies for $798,980.

The total business in force at the close of 1897 was $72,719,555 29 of Assurances, under 33,407 policies, upon 24,409 lives.

POLICY CLAIMS.

The claims by deaths paid during 1897 amounted to $770,168 45, and Endowment policies for $128,846 92, having matured, these sums, as well as $218,481 29 for profits, $145 411.18 for surrenders, and an annuity of $400, making in all $1,263,307.84, were paid to policyholders during the year.

INCREASE IN ASSETS.

The Income receipts of the year were $2,953,272.83, and deducting therefrom all payments to policy-holders for claims by death, for profits, and for matured Endowment policies, as well as other outlay, including expenses of management, there was left the sum of $1 272,486 05, which increased the Company's Assets to $18 678 915 67.

SURPLUS.

As appears by the Abstract of Assets and Liabilities, after providing fully for the necessary reserve for all policies of the Company, and for all its other Liabilities, there is shown a Surplus of $1,564,082 05.

THE PRESIDENT'S ADDRESS.

The President, Mr. A. G. Ramsay, in moving the adoption of the report, said:

The Directors' Report and the usual accounts and statements have for some days been in your hands, and have now been taken as read. While the report is brief, it contains, I think, along with the various published accounts, all that is required to enable those interested in the Company to judge of its progress and success in the past year. The addition during 1897 of nearly half a million dollars to the surplus or profits fund is a large and satisfactory one, and without invidiously comparing it with the figures of any other particular Company. I may say that it is more than was attained by all the other Canadian companies combined. The new business of the year was, you will observe, of satisfactory and gratifying amount, and in excess of the previous year, and you will be pleased to know that it is of that desirable class which will result more to the profits of the Company than would a larger amount obtained at heavier expense, or from less desirable regions than the healthful climate of Canada, and the four Northern States to which we have thus far deemed it judicious to confine the operations of the Company. The existing assurances are $72,719,555 or nearly twice as much as they were 12 years ago. The death claims of the year continued of very favourable amount, and being well within what was calculated upon, that fact testifies to the care observed in the selection of the lives, and to the judicious limitation of the business to the healthful climates already alluded to.

The recent lamentable failures of some of the companies doing business on the assessment system, and the anxiety felt as to the others which are based upon the same fallacious principles lead me to point out that these occurrences are only the inevitable results, which were from the first predicted by those whose knowledge and experience enabled them to judge of what the future of companies of the kind must be. At our meeting in 1887, when concerns of the kind were making strenuous efforts to establish themselves in Canada, I alluded to the miserable failures they had been in England and in America, and I said that their "ephemeral existence indicates how useless the assessment system of assurance is as a family provision. It can only offer the uncertain hope of a cheap assurance for a few years, till the company breaks down. It cannot afford any guarantee that a definite amount of assurance will certainly be paid to a widow or children after an assurer's death, whether that occurs at an early day or a distant one, and without such a guarantee as that, which our own and other sound companies offer, life assurance must be a fraud and a delusion." I added that "I was aware that agents and managers of companies of the kind pointed to the names of prominent business and professional men who have joined them, or who act as their directors, but as some of them at all events allow their names to be employed in that way, simply because policies have been gratuitously given to them, one can judge how little weight should attach to the names of the gentlemen thus used to decoy others to join such companies." One cannot envy the feelings of the prominent gentlemen alluded to, who induced persons to take policies in companies of the kind, from which they are now driven out by their failure, or by the levy of such high payments as they are unable to meet.

As the accounts show, the year's income was within a trifle of three million dollars, and the assets of the company were increased to the very considerable amount of nearly nineteen million dollars, and yielding, after deducting liabilities of every kind, a net surplus or profit of $1,564,082 for allocation at the end of next year, along with whatever addition there may be made to it between now and that time, and as the management and other expenses by which the profits to policy-holders are very largely influenced continue to be on a more moderate percentage than that of other Canadian or American companies, the prospects for our assurers are of a favourable character.

It is anticipated that legislation will be introduced by the Government, modifying the present 4½ per cent. rate of interest prescribed by law as the basis for Life Assurance Reserves, and adopting the new mortality Tables based upon the observations and large experience of the British Insurance Companies, in course of compliation by the Institute of Actuaries of Great Britain, and I may say on behalf of the Board in reference to the amendment to the charter, alluded to in the Directors report of last year, that the Directors purpose to avail themselves of the occasion of that legislation to seek such amendments to the law as may meet the Board's requirements.

The motion was seconded by Mr. F. W. Gates, Vice-President, and unanimously carried. A hearty vote of thanks was tendered to the agents, officers, medical and legal advisers of the company, Mr. Adam Brown speaking in eloquent terms of their services rendered to the Company.

Mr. Leggat moved and Lieut.-Col. McLaren seconded a hearty vote of thanks to the President and Directors for their attention to the interests of the Company during the past year. Brief and interesting addresses were also made by Sir George Kirkpatrick and Sir George Burton, the latter of whom was heartily congratulated upon the recent honour conferred upon him by the Queen.

The retiring Directors, Chief Justice Sir George Burton, Col. Sir Casimer Gzowski, K.C.M.G., and Mr. N. Merritt, were re-elected. At a subsequent meeting of the Directors, Mr. A. G. Ramsay was re-elected President and Mr. F. W. Gates Vice-President.

The meeting passed off very harmoniously, every one present being gratified with the progress and continued prosperity of the Canada Life, which, as Sir George Kirkpatrick remarked, was easily leader of all Companies in the Dominion.

Carswell Juvenile Temple in Connection With City Lodge is Doing Well.

Two weeks ago a meeting was called to organize a juvenile Temple in connection with City Lodge I.O.G.T. The result was the organization of Carswell Juvenile Temple No. 69, I.O.G.T., with a membership of ten. This was increased at the second meeting to twenty-four, and the addition of nine new members last Saturday brings the membership up to thirty-three. The meetings, in charge of Sister Bunton, the Superintendent, and an energetic committee from City Lodge, are made bright and attractive, and the boys and girls all seem to enjoy the meetings very much. At the meeting on Saturday, May 14th, there were present twenty-nine juveniles and six adult members. Sides were chosen for a membership contest to commence right away. The sides are captained by Sister Edith Parnell, whose side are known as the "Lilies," and Brother Whitfield Northey, who leads the "Rosebuds." The membership is sure to increase during the next few weeks, as both sides are determined to win the ice cream at the close of the contest.

A SISTER SAVED.

Sickness Banished—Health Restored—Peterborough People Speak.

GENTLEMEN,—Dr. Ward's Blood and Nerve Pills have done my sister so much good that in grateful appreciation I told Mr. Tully, the druggist, I would gladly give a testimonial, unsolicited, as to their merits. My sister, (15 years of age) caught a violent cold—since then she has been in very poor health, lost all colour, was anemic, her blood had no vitality, and she had no physical strength, she became extremely nervous, so much so that she could not stand any exertion or excitement, and it was impossible for her to get restful sleep, she lost her appetite, her heart became very weak, palpitating so violently that she could hardly breathe at the slightest exertion. When she commenced taking Dr. Ward's Blood and Nerve Pills two months ago she was in a state of complete physical and nervous prostration. Her blood was scanty with no more strength than water. Since taking Dr. Ward's Blood and Nerve Pills she has been rapidly mending, her appetite has returned, she sleeps well, her nerves are stronger, and her heart gained strength so that it is able to fulfill its functions. Prior to taking Dr. Ward's Pills she had taken many medicines without any special benefit. Dr. Ward's Blood and Nerve Pills are certainly the only medicine that has done any good. Before taking them she was getting weaker, her heart and nerves losing strength daily. Since she has began taking them she has daily and continuously gained health and strength.

CHURCH CHIMES.

By request Miss Sophie Cameron sang "Ninety and Nine" as a solo in St. Paul's last night.

In St. Paul's last evening the choir sang "Glory to Thee my God this night," Mrs. Mein taking the solo.

As an offertory solo Mr. A. L. Davis sang "Hold the Light up Higher" in the Charlotte street church last night.

Mr. George Schneider presided at the George street church organ yesterday in the absence of Mrs. Howson.

In the Charlotte street church Miss Florence Hall took the solo in the morning anthem, "O be joyful in the Lord."

A very pretty offertory anthem entitled "It is Jesus" was sung by the Charlotte street choir yesterday morning.

Rev. Wm. Bennett occupied the pulpit in St. Paul's church last evening, Rev. Dr. Torrance being a sufferer from sore throat.

Last evening in the Charlotte street Methodist church Mr. Fred Skitch took the solo in the anthem, "The Earth is the Lord's."

The annual meeting of the Park street Baptist church Ladies' Mission Circle will be held to-morrow afternoon and evening. In the evening Miss Armstrong, a returned missionary from Burmah, will speak,

As Rev. O. C. Elliott was ill yesterday, the morning service was taken by Mr. Cornish, of McMaster University, and Rev. C. E. McLeod, of Gilmour Memorial church officiated in the evening in the Park street Baptist church.

Rev. J. E. Moore, of Mark street, occupied the pulpit of George street church last evening and preached a very effective sermon from the text, Romans i., 16. The anthem—"I am He that Liveth," by Caleb Simper,—was rendered in an excellent manner by the choir, as also was "Nearer my God to Thee," during the offertory.

Rev. A. T. Dykeman, pastor of the Murray street Baptist church, took as his text last evening, Jonah I chap, 1-3 verses, and spoke on the subject of duty. Three duties which should not be neglected were 1, political duties; 2, social duties; 3 religious duties. By request Miss Hutchinson sang "O Rest in the Lord," from Mendelssohn's Elijah. Concone's Evening Hymn was sung by the choir in the evening.

A NOTE OF WARNING.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

DEAR SIR,—No little worry is caused to the trainmen and and passengers on the Lakefield train at the great liability to accident through the persistent crowding, along the crossings on certain streets, of school children and the efforts of some to jump on and ride a short distance and then leap off again.

This train passes northward through the town in the morning as the children are gathering for the opening of school, and there are nearly always from half-a-dozen to two dozen, little and big, congregated at two of the principal streets leading to the West and North Ward schools, respectively. Instead of seeing how far they can keep away from the moving train they seem to try to keep as close to it as they can. A slight push would often easily precipitate one of these little ones beneath the cruel wheels, and then!!!!!

While the writer was remarking on this great danger to Brakeman Adams the other evening he pointed over the fence to a little toddler who, he said, barely escaped death just a few weeks since, and while we were talking several youngsters were waiting along the track ready to jump on. The train hands find the parents of these children ready to raise serious objection to their using any degree of force to prevent this trouble. And yet I feel assured that the result of such an accident is felt as seriously and is as painfully regretted by those very trainmen as by any one else in the community, notwithstanding their familiarity with the sources of these troubles.

Yours truly,
PASSENGER.

Naval Officers to Be Permitted to Fight Their Own Way.

TO ABOLISH STRATEGY BOARD.

President McKinley Tired of the Peaceful Blockade Idea—Every Cuban Fort to Be Attacked and Bombarded Until Silenced and Gunboats Sunk—War News in General.

New York, May 17.—A Washington special to the Journal says: President McKinley has abandoned his peaceful blockade idea. Orders were telegraphed yesterday that give Commander Watson the right to fire on fortifications where resistance is offered. Every Cuban fort that is strongly protected will be attacked and bombarded, and kept up until the batteries are silenced and the gunboats sunk. The Board of Strategy is to be abolished and naval officers themselves will map out their line of action and do fighting in their own way, except in so far as the Navy Department may give orders as to policies.

THE THUNDERER TALKS.

Spain's Hopes Revived, But There Is Nothing to Gain by a Prolonged Resistance.

London, May 17.—The Times says: "The indecisive nature of the United States' offensive measures against Cuba and Porto Rico, and the moral effect exercised by the sudden appearance of the Spanish fleet, have restored the confidence of the Spanish people and encouraged them to continue the struggle. We do not believe that Spain will gain anything by prolonging her resistance, which must be overborne by the superior power of the United States, but we are bound to respect the national spirit which contends more for the maintenance of honor than the hope of victory.

"We do not doubt that the people of the United States will be able to wrench Cuba from the grasp of Spain, when they have established their naavl ascendancy in West Indian waters, but they will have to do the work mainly by themselves. The Cuban rebels will give them little help, though it is possible they may be troublesome enough afterwards.

"What is called the bombardment of Manila has led to no satisfactory results whatever. The shelling of Spanish forts in Cuba and Porto Rico has not brought nearer by an hour the surrender of these islands.

"The insurgents have been unwilling or unable to afford any energetic aid to the attacking force. Even small bodies of disciplined Spanish troops have sufficed to repel invasion when the invaders had no organized military forces at their command.

"This is evidently admitted at Manila, where aggressive operations have been practically suspended, until the 12,000 troops now being mobilized at San Francisco can be transported to the Philippines.

"In time, of course, the United States will be able to bring out their immense, almost inexhaustible resources of military and naval strength, but for the moment nothing decisive can be looked for so long as Admiral Cervera's fleet is in being and while the American army is in process of manufacture.

"One fact is abundantly established which must work for peace. The idea of any European intervention to coerce the United States to abandon their demands upon Spain was always scouted in this country, and is now given up by almost all intelligent persons on this side of the Atlantic."

Formidable Vessels.

Washington, May 17.—The Navy Department has authentic information that three Spanish cruisers off Martinique came direct from the Cadiz fleet, and are not a part of Admiral Cervera's squadron. They are said to be the Princess de Austria, the Cataluna and Cardenal Cisneros, all first-class armored cruisers, and among the most formidable in the Spanish navy.

Short of Ammunition.

Washington, May 17.—The Administration has reliable information that General Blanco is short of ammunition. With his present supply he could not maintain a fight for two days. All available troops are being rushed south for the invasion of Cuba. Fifteen thousand troops of the department of the east will rendezvous at Camp Black.

Aid for Admiral Dewey.

Washington, D.C., May 17.—The Navy Department issued the following bulletin at the close of office hours:

"Admiral Dewey was informed that officers, men and supplies would be sent out to Manila by the City of Pekin. About 13,000 troops will go.

"Mr. Knight, correspondent of the London Times, having received the necessary permission from the Spanish Government to land at Havana, if conveyed to that port by a neutral vessel, has been granted permission by the Navy Department to take passage by the German steamer Polaria, which vessel is given permission to pass the blockade. The department hopes to make an exchange of prisoners at an early date."

Telegraph Office Seized.

Liverpool, May 17.—The telegraph office at the Island of Grand Canary, near the centre of the Canary Islands, the chief city of which is Las Palmas, has been seized by the Spanish authorities. All telegrams, except the barest commercial messages, have been stopped.

Kept Under Close Guard.

Atlanta, Ga., May 17.—The twenty Spanish officers and privates, prisoners at Fort McPherson, are kept under close guard.

Col. Cook expects his present colony to be augmented in a few days by the officers and crew of the Spanish barque Rita, now at Savannah.

Newspaper Men Saved.

New York, May 17.—A special despatch from Key West says: The World correspondents imprisoned in Fort Cabanas, in Cuba, are saved. General Blanco has courteously acceded to representations made to him yesterday by U. S. Special Government Agent, Lieut. Brainerd, U.S.A. As quickly as two Spanish officers can reach Key West, they will be taken to Havana under a white flag to be exchanged and the World correspondents will be brought back to Key West by the same special steamer.

The London Times' well-known correspondent, Knight, and the British Consul, Gollin, in Havana, acted vigorously in the matter. It is believed that had Lieut. Brainerd's instructions been more sweeping he could have brought the two men back on the Uncas.

Lieut. Brainerd reports that the docks of Havana were lined yesterday with angry people. Mr. Knight was advised by Consul Gollin not to land for fear of mob violence, because he was brought over by a United States man-of-war.

The war correspondents will likely reach Key West this morning.

STIRRING WORDS.

Mr. Chauncey M. Depew Talks on the War and the Friendliness of the Tight Little Isle.

New York, May 17.—Special patriotic services were held last night in the Union Methodist Church in West 48th street for the Empire State Society of the Sons of the American Revolution. Mr. Chauncey M. Depew, president of the society, in the course of an address, referred to the present war situation and the friendship displayed by Great Britain for the United States.

"A few years ago," he said, "this country and Great Britain faced each other, ready at a nod to engage in mortal battle. To-day the English people stand our staunchest friends. We are facing a mighty problem, and the mighty temptation of national aggrandizement. With Russia, France and Germany all claiming their share of the far East, shall we, too, claim our share? My sympathy is in favor of territorial expansion, but my judgment is against it. This is a problem we must settle for ourselves, however, and we have just had news of an attempted interference. What prevented the concert of Europe from ordering us out of the Philippines, or forcing war upon us; from taking us by the throat as it took Turkey? Only Great Britain and the English people. (Applause.)

"The two great English-speaking countries standing shoulder to shoulder are the most inspiring and magnificent spectacle of the century. We speculate as to the ultimate result of the war. Here already is its result: The Union of the Anglo-Saxon race, of the only nations where there is government by the people and liberty of the people; the nations shall stand together for peace, for liberty, for humanity, for civilization, and for the brotherhood of man." (Great applause.)

REBEL GONZALES ESCAPES.

He Says the Spaniards Are More Cruel Than Ever to the Cubans—Every Able-Bodied Man Must Fight.

New York, May 17.—A Port au Prince, Hayti, special says: Francisco Gonzales, a rebel leader, escaped from Baracoa, on the eastern end of Cuba, in an open boat, landing near Puerto Plata, San Domingo. The Spaniards, he says, are more cruel than ever in Cuba, treating the poor Cubans as allies of the United States, and visiting upon them imprisonment, torture and starvation. Native Cubans will flock to the American standard to fight Spain once troops land in Cuba. The Spaniards are enlisting all men capable of bearing arms.

WHAT ROWAN FOUND.

The Daring Lieutenant Crossed Cuba With a Single Guide.

New York, May 17.—A despatch to the Times from Tampa, Fla., says: Lieut. A. S. Rowan has just completed the report of his daring trip to the camp of General Garcia. The report has just been made to Col. A. S. Wagner, the head of the bureau of information of the army of invasion. Lieut. Rowan ventured a passage by sea of more than 300 miles in an open boat, twice running the gauntlet of the Spanish patrol boats, and going with a single guide across the island, practically in the presence of 40,000 Spanish soldiers. It is said that Lieut. Rowan has brought to the army information that, from a military point of view, is invaluable.

No Coal Delivery.

St. Thomas, Danish West Indies, May 17.—An official announcement just issued by the Governor of the Island of St. Thomas prohibits the delivery of coal to the warships of the belligerent powers without the previous permission of the Governor, who will determine the amount each vessel can receive, and will supervise its delivery.

The Spanish Cabinet.

Madrid, May 17.—Senor Sagasta yesterday afternoon visited the palace and formally handed to the Queen Regent the resignation of the Ministry.

At 9.30 p.m. the Queen Regent charged Senor Sagasta to form a new Cabinet.

Senor Sagasta believes the new Ministry will be formed by Wednesday next. Orders have been issued by Senor Sagasta countermanding the reception which was to have been held to-morrow upon the occasion of the King's birthday, and he has instructed the Captains-General in all districts not to hold their usual receptions.

INSANE FATHER'S ACT

A Winona Man Attempts to Murder His Wife and Son.

PAYING BACK AN OLD SCORE.

George W. Cline Fired Four Shots, Two of Which Took Effect—Bullet Divided With a File, One Half Entering Son's Body—Jailed at St. Catharines.

Hamilton, May 17.—George W. Cline of Winona, at one time a prosperous fruit grower, attempted to murder his wife and son, Vance, yesterday afternoon. He and his son were in an upper room in the Cline residence and got into a dispute. Cline fired twice at his son and one shot struck a three cornered file in his vest pocket. The bullet cut in two, and one half entered young Cline's breast. Mrs. Cline entered the room and Cline fired twice at her, one of the bullets striking her left arm above the elbow, fracturing the bone. Vance Cline had strength enough to throw his father on the floor, and John, a younger brother, ran in and helped Vance to tie his father's arms and hold him until the arrival of Constable House. Cline was quite cool over the affair, and said he had settled an old score. He was taken to Grimsby before Magistrate Forbes, and formally charged with attempting to murder his wife and son. A remand of eight days was granted, and Cline was taken to St. Catharines jail. The affair caused a great sensation in the district. It is generally believed that Cline is insane.

BURNED TO DEATH.

Several Lives Lost at the Burning of the Roman Catholic Metairie at St. Hyacinthe, Que.

St. Hyacinthe, Que., May 17.—A terrible calamity has befallen the St. Hyacinthe Hospital, resulting in the destruction of the splendid building across the river, and in the loss of eight or ten lives. The fire has cast a gloom over the whole community.

Yesterday morning at about 1 o'clock Chief Chenette and the physicians here were informed that the Metairie, as the hospital farm building across the river is called, was on fire. As the building is outside of the city limits, permission had to be secured before the engine could be taken over. When the firemen arrived on the scene it was apparent that the main building was doomed. In the meantime most of the two hundred persons in the building had made their exit, but search was made as thoroughly as possible lest some should have been unable to escape.

The sight was a grand one, as the large building was wrapped in flame, but every heart was sad with the fear that several persons must have perished.

Firemen Fought Bravely.

The work of destruction went on, the firemen bravely fighting against the raging elements until the whole building was consumed. In the morning as soon as there was light enough to see, people set to work, and at the time of writing, six bodies have been found. Among them are the remains of two boys of St. Pie, named Beauchemin, aged 10 and 13. Many people had to jump from the third and fourth stories, and all escaped with but slight injuries, except Dr. Ghagnon's wife, who died a few minutes after jumping from the third story. Dr. Ghagnon himself is in Fall River, where he has been practising for several years.

Three young girls, who were nearly through with their novitiate, and would soon have been nuns, perished. There are also six persons still missing, and, although they may have escaped from the burning building and sought refuge in some house, it is feared that they, too, have lost their lives.

The origin of the fire is unknown. It may have started in the chapel, where lamps were burning all the time, or it may have been set by some coal oil lamp.

The building was valued at $20,000, but was not insured.

The Dead and Missing.

The names of those who perished are: Two Beauchemin boys, Sisters Alexandrina, Philomena and Dos Agnes, and Mrs. Guertin, boarder.

The names of the missing are: Maria Millotte, servant; Nodette Meunier, servant; Mrs. Berthaume, boarder; Sisters Bouvier and Auge.

The work of recovering the bodies from the ruins is proceeding very slowly.

Connected with the main building is a large shed where the ice supply was stored, and here the fire broke out again just before noon, but it was soon put out. One more body has been found, but it is burned beyond recognition. It is thought that it will be utterly impossible to identify the remains that will sooner or later be found.

TUESDAY, MAY 17, 1898.

OUR PRAIRIE KLONDYKE.

DURING the past dozen years the EXAMINER has insisted upon the importance of peopling our Great Northwest—and upon the beneficial results that would accrue therefrom to the older portions of Canada—in the way of creating a demand for the manufactured products of the older portions of the Dominion. While the late Government was coquetting with the red parlour magnates and applying hot-house methods to the development of our manufacturing industies, they were neglecting the great field that stretched in limitless expansion and limitless fertility in the Northwest. Instead of encouraging the settlement of the vacant lands, a system of administration was pursued that had the effect of discouraging settlement and of inciting residents to the point of rebellion. Instead of using these lands to yield a market for manufactured products, the manufacturer was encouraged to seek for remuneration from profits artifically enhanced by a high tariff. With a new Government new conditions have been created, and we can now look upon our great Northwest as becoming, if it has in a great degree not already become, the most prosperous section of the Dominion. Contented settlers, such as are now found there, thriving and happy, are the best magnet to attract immigrants; and we now have a tide of immigration setting into the great Northwest from various quarters, from the United States to the south and from the congested countries of the old world, where competition is too keen, or where the conditions of government and the absence of civil liberties are such as to make a country, where there is room for millions on a soil of unexampled fertility, where the best guarantees of just government constitute irresistible attractions, a most desirable place of settlement. Happily the highway to our golden, but frozen, Klondike lies over the rich-soiled prairies of the Northwest, where the surest wealth, in the form of the golden grain, lies on the surface—golden grain whose acquirement bring health, happiness and comfort to the producers. Under good government, under wise administration, both of which we happily now have, and with the blessing of divine Providence our Northwest will be the land of promise to millions who will yet cross the swelling Jordan of the Atlantic to possess it.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

A writer in the Arena declares that 500,000 men now do the work, with the aid of machinery, which needed 16,000,000 persons to do a few years ago. This is one way to look at the matter. On the other hand, the use of machinery has cheapened food, clothing and supplies of all kinds to all the people and by permitting of cheaper materials and facilitating new manufactures has given employment to millions in ways not dreamed of a generation ago.

SIR CHARLES TUPPER has a happy faculty of audacious impudence. He is equally facile in insulting attacks upon a general or a governor-general. His insolence has the merit of impartiality, which is, however, gravely offset by selecting a place and time which render it impossible for either to defend himself—if indeed either could so far forget his dignity as to condescend to notice a vulgar vituperator.

SHOULD the spelling be vituperation or vitupperation.

DURING the month of March Clyde shipbuilders have, says The Engineer of London, put into the water close upon 40,000 tons gross register of new shipping, as compared with 29,000 tons last month, and 33,000 tons in March of last year. The present output, in fact, has only been exceeded on three previous occasions. The tonnage mainly consisted of large and medium-sized cargo steamers for over-sea and coasting trade, and a number of steam trawlers and fishing craft. Three of the steamers were between 5,000 and 4,000, three between 4,000 and 3,000, two were over 2,000, and two over 1,000. It is worthy of special note that 15,000 tons of the output were to foreign account.

THE retirement of Lord Aberdeen from the office of Governor-General of Canada, and the retirement of himself and Lady Aberdeen from the country next fall, is an important event. Although a Governor-General is, under our constitution, chiefly a figurehead, as a representative of our august sovereign, he occupies an important relation to the people he nominally governs. Under a monarchy, the court is regarded as the social centre and the source from which emanate the graces and influences which give tone to social life, and either elevate or degrade society. The court or social centre exercises an influence in the propagation of educational, charitable, industrial and artistic movements that invites a co-operation, and gives them a status, which go far towards ensuring a successful prosecution. Lord and Lady Aberdeen have in all their several relations to the people, official, personal, social and otherwise, won the respect of, and set a good example to, the people of Canada, and in those respects shown themselves creditable representatives of a model sovereign. Discordant notes have, it is true, been heard in the chorus of praise of the rule, life and course of Lord and Lady Aberdeen in Canada, and it is strange to say that they have come almost exclusive-from those members and those journals of a party that arrogates to itself a copyright on loyalty to the Crown and Wood's Phosphodine is sold in Peterborough by John Nugent, druggist.

Empire chose between them in the one case from a fear to graciously accept the verdict of the people, and in the other from a slavish subserviency to party, which did not restrain insulting disparagement of a lady, the highest in the land, for the sake of having an indirect fling at the colonial representative of the Queen. In the hearts of the great mass of the people of Canada, both Lord and Lady Aberdeen have deservedly won a warm place by virtue of the most estimable qualities. They will be enrolled alongside the long list of vice-regal personages who have so successfully governed Canada in the past.

LASSWADE.

From Our Own Correspondent.

We have beautiful growing weather.

The cattle are turned out to roam where they choose, as they get plenty to eat of various kinds of pasture to suit their appetite.

Mrs. Riley Dingman spent Saturday last with Mr. and Mrs. C. N. Dingman. It being her birthday they invited in a number of friends to celebrate the day. They indulged in various games on the lawn before tea. Then in the evening they enjoyed themselves with music on the organ, picolo and harmonica, and with singing.

Mrs. Parcels, a former resident of Chandos, passed away this week at the residence of her son-in-law, Mr. N. Hubble, of Belmont.

Mr. Riley Dingman did not leave Seattle for Alaska until the 25th of April. He wrote an hour before his departure from Seattle to his wife. She expects a letter by to-morrow's mail.

The farmers that took time by the forelock are all through with their spring work. The more easy going ones are considerably behind.

The mosquitoes and black flies are making their appearance to the comfort of the farmers.

Mrs. Riley Dingman and Master Harry have taken in some of the large towns of the back country. They have been to Apsley and Lasswade, and expect to drive to Coe Hill to-morrow with Miss Maud Dingman.

The Sunday school at No. 13 is a grand success, 40 present last last Sunday, 4 visitors and three teachers. The library is a fine thing.

Mr. Nick Dingman had a stone bee on Tuesday of this week, and got a good job done.

FIRING AT THE MOON.

No More Useless Than Trying to Cure Dyspepsia.

Without Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets—They Cannot Fail—Because They Remove the Cause of Disease.

The world's most expert marksman cannot hit the face in the moon. Everybody knows this and no one would be so foolish as to waste time and ammunition trying to do so.

But thousands of people spend years of time and hundreds of dollars in attempts to do what is equally impossible—cure Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Biliousness, etc., without Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets.

Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Biliousness, etc., are caused by undigested food lying rotting in the stomach.

The stomach is too weak to digest it.

Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets digest the food. They strengthen the stomach.

Isn't it plain, then, that they must cure Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Biliousness, etc?

If you find a stream overflowing its banks, and flooding the country in the dry season, you know that the current has been "dammed up."

Remove the dam and the waters return to their course, the overflow ceases.

It's exactly the same with Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Biliousness, etc.

Remove the cause and the disease disappears. Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets remove the cause by digesting the food, just as you stop the flooding of the stream by removing the dam. The effect is equally positive in both cases.

Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets are sold by all druggists at fifty cents a box, six boxes $2.50, or sent, on receipt of price, by The Dodd's Medicine Co., Limited, Toronto.

THAT TRANSFER NOT GOOD.

Sample Scene That Takes Place Daily In Nearly Every City.

The conductors on the Washington avenue line say they have more trouble than anybody else of their calling, especially from Finney and Vandeventer avenues out and in. The discussion heard a few days ago between a conductor and an irate woman will explain why.

"That transfer check isn't good on this car, madam," said the conductor courteously to a large, combative looking woman who had boarded the car with a big market basket.

"What!" she said, tossing her head like a warhorse sniffing battle from afar.

"This transfer check isn't good."

"I'd like to know why it isn't."

"Because it's good only on outward bound cars, and this is an inward bound car."

"The transfer man gave it to me."

"You should have told him in which direction you were going."

"I'd like to know why I should. It's his business to ask me if he wanted to know."

"It wasn't his business to ask you. It was your business to tell him so."

"Oh, it wasn't, was it? I am supposed to tell him where I'm going, am I? Perhaps you expected me to tell him that I was going to market, and what I was going to have for dinner, and how many there are of us to eat, and what we do Sundays, and if I"—

"Your fare, please, madam."

"My fare? Well, you stand there and hold out your hand till the crack of doom, and I'll not pay another fare. There is that exchange check. Take it or leave it, just as you like, but it's all you're going to get out of me. Throw me out if you dare! Your duty to collect fare? Your duty! I like that. You ought to write a tract and call it 'The Faithful Car Conductor; or, True to His Duty.' Just keep on doing your duty and you'll be happy. Sorry I can't help you along by paying my fare a second time. You ought to be on the platform now, attending to your business—your duty, as you call it! I've paid my fare, and I shan't pay it again."

And she didn't.—St. Louis Republic.

A STRONG ARGUMENT.

Wm. McCabe, Esq., Managing Director, N. A. L., Toronto:

DEAR SIR,—Please accept my thanks for your cheque just handed to me, for $3,901.98, in settlement of my $2,500 Fifteen Year Endowment Policy in your Company. Such a result as this, after the risk on my life has been carried for fifteen years, beginning from forty-five years of age, argues one thing strongly, namely, that the management of the North American Life must be in competent hands. The other options you have offered me, viz.: a Paid-up Life policy for $3510.00, or a Life Annuity for $401.90, are, I presume, equally liberal, and it affords me much pleasure to recommend your Company to my friends or any one desiring insurance.

POLO'S DEPARTURE.

Will Leave Canada on Saturday—Preparing for Tom Nulty's Execution.

Montreal, Que., May 17.—Senor Polo y Bernabe gives out officially that he will leave Canadian shores on Saturday next by a Dominion Liner for Madrid.

Affairs With Tom Nulty.

This morning operations on the scaffold will be begun in the jail yard at Joliette right in view from Tom Nulty's barred window. The authorities offered to remove the condemned man to another cell, but he said "No, I have courage enough to stand it all." Michael Nulty took leave of his son yesterday, saying that he would call again three hours after the execution, the old man having been partly promised Tom's body.

Hon. Mr. Mitchell's Condition.

Hon. Peter Mitchell was able to be up yesterday, but the effects of his attack are quite visible.

TRIED AND SENTENCED.

Freeman Halstead Before Spanish Cadi at San Juan—Nine Years' Imprisonment for Taking a Photo.

Ottawa, May 17.—Freeman Halstead, the newspaper man arrested in San Juan de Porto Rico as an American spy, probably owes his life to the fact that he is a British subject and may yet secure his liberty because of the Canadian Government's intervention with the Spanish authorities in the young man's behalf.

Halstead, it will be remembered, was in San Juan as the correspondent of the New York Herald and London Graphic, and while taking a photo of the new forts was arrested on the charge of being a spy. His friends in Canada became anxious for his safety. The last heard of him here was that he had "disappeared." Among those who started enquiries were the Messrs. Freeman of Burlington, Ontario, in whose family Halstead was brought up and with whom he lived till he went to Jamaica in 1890. They wrote to Mr. Henderson, member for Halton, soliciting his good offices with the Government in Halstead's behalf. Mr. Henderson is an active member of the Opposition, but this did not prejudice his case with Sir Louis Davies, Minister of Marine, to whom Mr. Henderson submitted the papers. Sir Louis cabled the British Consul at San Juan as follows: "Please wire available information of Freeman Halstead, a Canadian, lately arrested."

The reply received to-day was: "Halstead arrested for photographing new forts, tried by court martial, sentenced to nine years imprisonment."

The next move will doubtless be representations from the Secretary of State to the Imperial authorities with a view to securing Halstead's release.

Reasonable Uncle Sam.

A copy of the United States regulations regarding the transhipment of goods and passengers at Fort Wrangel, at the mouth of the Stikine River, has been received here. Transhipment of both goods and passengers will be permitted at Wrangel under the supervision of an officer of the United States Customs Department. British vessels plying on the Stikine may touch at places in Alaska for the purchase of fuel or supplies, or if in distress. The United States Customs officer may also permit the temporary landing of passengers on the Stikine in United States territory. No merchandise shall be landed at such places, or no liquor sold or used on such vessels. The Alaska bill, which was signed by the President on Saturday afternoon, grants unconditional bonding privileges on Canadian goods for the Yukon at all ports in Alaska.

SAVE THE MOTHERS

Dodd's Kidney Pills Their Only Safety in Female Diseases.

You have seen a flower nipped by frost, fade and die in the flush of its beauty. That is how women die when attacked by any of the diseases peculiar to their sex.

Woman's burdens are woefully heavy. Her sufferings are agonizing. Her patience is grand. Disease preys upon her. The light dies out of her eyes, her steps become slow and dragging; she loses flesh; grows sallow, listless, droops like a flower. Then she dies. Her family is left to the cold mercy of the world.

"Mother's dead!" What a piteous phrase. What sufferings have been endured before it was used. Why should mothers, wives, sisters suffer so? They need not. Dodd's Kidney Pills will quickly and thoroughly cure all cases of Female Weakness. They never fail. They give health, strength, courage: a new lease of life.

POLLED A LONE VOTE

Patron Rogers Moves Against Rideau Hall Maintenance.

AND VOTED AS HE MOVED, ALONE

A Quiet Day Passed in Steady Work by the Legislators in Committee of Supply—Mr. Davin's Proposition to Get Good Roads for the Northwest—The Senate.

Ottawa, May 17.—The Commons has evidently got down to business, and in Committee of Supply did good steady work yesterday. It is said that both sides are tired of their legislative duties, and that prorogation will come at latest by June 1. The first order of the day was private bills:

Only one was dealt with. The bill to incorporate the Subsidiary High Court A.O.F. was passed through committee without amendment, and was read a third time and passed.

On the motion to go into committee of supply, Mr. Davin suggested that, instead of the Government claiming the return of the sum of $145,235 due the Government for seed grain supplied to farmers in the Northwest Territories, the Government should allow the debtors to work it out in statute labor. The Minister of the Interior promised to look into the subject and think over the suggestion.

In committee the Public Works estimates were taken up, and Sir Charles Hibbert Tupper asked for the promised information in regard to the $14,000 fence around Major's Hill Park, in connection with the item of $4,500.

Mr. Tarte moved to drop the item altogether. There had been a misunderstanding, he explained. It would cost $14,000 to complete the stone fence and iron it both on Mackenzie avenue and St. Patrick street; but what he would do was to complete the Mackenzie avenue side, on which $4,500 had been spent, and would take $700 to finish the work. When the supplemenetary estimates came down they would contain an item of $3,886.50 to complete the stone fence on Mackenzie avenue and put on the railing.

After some debate, the Minister's motion to drop the item carried.

Mr. Rogers, the Patron member, distinguished himself on the next item of $17,000 for maintenance of Rideau Hall, furniture, etc. He claimed Canada was paying too much for the luxury of Rideau Hall, and moved to strike out the item altogether.

Mr. Monk moved in amendment to reduce it to $12,000, remarking that quite as good residences in Montreal were maintained for that figure.

The amendment of Mr. Monk was defeated by 46 to 19. The motion to strike the item out was also defeated, only Mr. Rogers himself voting for it.

The evening sitting was spent in further considering the Public Works estimates. Good progress was made and the House adjourned at midnight.

The Senate.

The bill to incorporate the Toronto & Hudson Bay Railway Company was read a third time in the Senate yesterday, with an amendment proposed by Sir Mackenzie Bowell, suspending the coming into operation of all the clauses in the bill for two years, during which time existing companies have the power to commence the work of constructing a railway over the same route. One clause, empowering the company to enter into an agreement with the existing companies for the construction of the railway jointly, has not been suspended.

The Divorce bill of James Pierson of Toronto was passed.

Senator Casgrain will move that when the Senate adjourns on Wednesday next it stands adjourned until Wednesday, May 25.

Spring humors, boils, pimples, eruptions sores, may be completely cured by purifying the blood with Hood's Sarsaparilla.

ANGLO-SAXONISM.

The Colonial Secretary's Utterance Is Still the Leading Topic of Conversation in Britain.

London, May 17.—The speech of Mr. Joseph Chamberlain, the Secretary of State for the Colonies, at Birmingham on Friday last is still the sensation of the day, and was introduced in the House of Commons last evening. During a question as to the date for the discussion of the Foreign Office vote, the Liberal leader in the House, Sir William Vernon Harcourt, said the country desired "to discuss the new Birmingham foreign policy." The remark caused tremendous cheering. The cheering was intermixed with Ministerial "Ohs!" Mr. Michael Davitt, member for South Mayo, read an extract from Mr. Chamberlain's speech, in which the latter deprecated the value of Russian promises, and asked the Colonial Secretary if he thought such language and sentiments were consistent with the friendly relations between the two countries, but the Speaker refused to allow the question to be put.

AS RUSSIA VIEWS IT.

A Doubt as to Whether Uncle Sam Wants a British Alliance—The Effect.

St. Petersburg, May 17.—The Novoe Vremya, commenting upon the recent speech at Birmingham of Mr. Joseph Chamberlain, the British Secretary of State for the Colonies, says:

"We doubt if the United States desires an alliance, and whether it would be agreeable to the other powers that the United States, after wresting the Philippine Islands from Spain, should afterwards sell them to Great Britain."

The Novoe-Vremya considers such an intention "sufficient to induce the powers to reconsider their neutrality during the present war."

AN EVENT AT PEKIN.

Visit of Prince Henry of Prussia to the Emperor of China—The Emperor Was Nervous.

Pekin, May 17.—The visit of Prince Henry of Prussia Sunday to the Emperor of China was a great event in the history of Pekin. The Prince and his suite went to the summer palace, mounted on ponies, and accompanied by an escort of marines on foot. When the Prince and his companions arrived at the palace they were conducted to the temple, where their clothes were changed. The Prince and Baron Von Keyking, the German Minister here, then visited the Empress Dowager, who asked them innumerable questions. They afterwards visited the Emperor, who received Prince Henry and his whole suite in the great audience hall. The Emperor was nervous and his hand was trembling as he shook hands with the Prince, who offered him a present of some magnificent porcelain. After a short exchange of compliments, the Emperor walked to the entrance hall, where the marines were drawn up. The rattle of the drums caused the Emperor a momentary start and with his suite embarked on board electric and steam launches on the lake and visited the different points of interest. Later the Prince returned to the audience hall, where the Emperor returned his visit, bringing with him most beautiful and valuable presents of vases of Jade cloisonne work, and two fans, painted by the Dowager Empress herself.

Things People Worry Over.

"Some people worry over one thing, some over another," said Mr. Nobbleton, "but I think perhaps that more of us are disturbed by debt than by any other one thing. Troubles of one sort and another we 'rastle with pretty well, especially the troubles of other people. And we get over a sickness and come around again chipper as birds and laughing before we know it. We can stub our toe or receive even more serious bodily injuries, and yet recover our natural buoyancy. But debt is the heaviest load of all. A man in debt uses up all his strength carrying that load, and has none left wherewith to get ahead.

"If I had any young friends just about starting out in life, I should say to them: "'My son, whatever else you do don't get into debt.'"—New York Sun.

Permanent Street Improvements.

Commenting on a recent visit of Roads Commissioner Campbell, the Georgetown (Ont.) Herald says:—"During the past ten years Georgetown has spent about $8,000 on streets and walks. Our streets and walks are in very little better condition to-day than ten years ago. It's time we were getting down to a system that will tell. Mr. Campbell, in his good roads address, was especially forceful, because his remarks were practical to the conditions of this municipality. The impression has prevailed that the system was a high priced one, that only the cities could touch. This impression has been quite erroneous. Permanent streets and walks will be money in the treasury of any municipality in ten years.

RUSSIA DEMANDS AN EXPLANATION.

THE WAITING GAME OF THE SPANISH FLEET.

An American Vessel Reported as Blown Up at Havana.

STILL TROUBLE IN THE SPANISH CABINET.

The Spanish Fleet is Expected at Havana—No War News at all this Afternoon—Flirtation Between the Fleets Continues.

Special 3 p m. dispatch to the Examiner.

The Schemes of the Spanish Fleet.

New York, May 17.—Special to the World from Madrid says: Admiral Cevera's fleet will dodge about the Caribbean Sea and Gulf of Mexico. He will avoid a fight in case he finds himself overmatched. His chief aim is to draw the American squadron away from the Cuban coast so that he may make a dash and get into Havana.

Russia Demands an Explanation.

New York, May 17.—A London special to the World says:—The Russian ambassador has been directed to demand from Salisbury, it is reported, an explanation of Mr. Chamberlain's assertion that Russia is ineligible for an alliance because of her people. Prevailing opinion is now that Chamberlain's speech, in which he advocated an Anglo-Saxon alliance, was a grievous indiscretion.

A Prolonged Cabinet Crisis at Madrid.

Madrid, May 17—The general impression is that the Cabinet crisis will be protracted.

American Vessel Blown up at Havana.

New York, May 17—An unconfirmed report from Havana is printed here to the effect that an American vessel has been blown up while removing torpedoes at Cabanas. The report adds that the entire crew perished.

Spanish Fleet Expected at Havana.

New York, May 17—A Key West special to the World says that Morro Castle at Havana is again showing its light house light, and that naval officers believe the Spanish fleet is expected. No knowledge here of any craft having been blown up.

IT IS BADLY NEEDED.

Citizens of the North Ward Want a Platform on the Lakefield Branch Near Smith Street.

The citizens in the North End are again agitating for a station on the Lakefield branch of the Grand Trunk for their accommodation.

It is felt to be a considerable hardship to have to walk a mile down to the station and then be taken north directly past their own doors. On returning they are again carried past their own doors and taken to the station, only to walk all the way back to the North End again. The inconvenience is felt, of course, far more in the summer months than at any other time of the year, as a great many Northenders patronize the back lakes during the season and half the pleasure is taken from the trip by the enforced walk of a mile to the station.

It has been suggested that a small platform could be erected at very small expense just at the junction of the Lakefield and Chemong branches north of Smith street. The trouble and expense to the railroad company would be small and the concession made to those residing in the North Ward would be greatly appreciated by them.

A Mothers Story—Her Little Girl Cured of Croup.

Having tried your medicine, my faith is very high in its powers of curing cough and croup. My little girl has been subject to croup for a long time and I found nothing to cure it until I gave Dr. Chase's Linseed and Turpentine, which I cannot speak too highly of.

ODDFELLOW'S PRESENTATION.

To Mr. Wm. Quinn, who has Left Town to Take up Residence in Lindsay.

Yesterday afternoon Mr. Wm. Quinn, who has left town to take charge of the Lindsay agency of the Bell Telephone Co., was called to Peterborough by District manager Knapman, at the urgent request of Otonabee Lodge, I.O.O.F. As Mr. Quinn has been one of the most assiduous workers for the good of the Order since his residence in town, the members of Otonabee Lodge felt constrained to mark the occasion of his departure by a substantial remembrance.

On arriving at the Lodge last evening, Mr. Quinn was presented with a very handsome Past Master's jewel by Mr. W. Dickson Jewett, while Dr. Rose read the following address:

Brother Quinn:

We, your brethren of Otonabee Lodge, No. 13, I.O.O.F., desire to express in some slight degree our appreciation of your faithful attention to the duties imposed upon you as a member, both private and official, of this Lodge, and also to give some practical expression to our estimation of your value to the Lodge during your stay amongst us.

It is with feelings of gratification though somewhat mingled with regret, at the necessary separation to follow, that we learned of your late promotion to a position of greater responsibility and corresponding emoluments.

And while we feel like congratulating you, we are convinced that your employers have only accorded you a promotion you have richly earned in their services, while your cheerful, earnest attention to the various duties of life, are but visible evidences of a good, true heart within, actuated by a due regard for the principles of Friendship, Love and Truth.

On behalf of the members of Otonabee Lodge, allow me to present you with this Past Grand's Jewel trusting that you may long be permitted to wear it with that dignity and respect with which it is your nature to adorn any position which you have been called upon by your fellowmen to occupy.

We also wish for you and your good wife, a continuance of the respect and esteem among your new associations, which it has been yours to enjoy among us; and we further assure you of a hearty reception amongst us, should it ever be our good fortune at any future time, to welcome you back to Peterborough and Otonabee Lodge.

ANDREW ROSE N.G.,
W. DIXON JEWETT, V. G.,
FRED J. MIGHT, Sec.

Mr. Quinn replied briefly to the complimentary terms of the address, after which refreshments were served.

The Jewel is a beautiful piece of work. On the face is the inscription: "Presented to Bro. Wm. Quinn on the occasion of his departure from the Town of Peterborough by the members of Otonabee Lodge, No. 13, I.O.O.F., Peterborough, May 16th, 1898." On the reverse side were the three links, intertwining the letters I.O.O.F.

A RECKLESS FOOL.

Fires a Revolver at Point Blank Range Into the Face of his Friend.

A most foolish action whereby a man almost lost his life, was enacted at the boarding house kept by Mrs. Gross, on the corner of Charlotte and Lewis streets last night.

Quite a number of the Grand Trunk construction gang board in the house, and after tea a young fellow named Ruttan loaded his revolver in order to see if he could shoot sparrows with it. After coming in again with the revolver he laid it on the dressing case and went out. Shortly afterwards his brother and a friend came into the room, when the latter picked up the revolver and noting that the chamber opposite the trigger was empty cocked it, and pointing it at Ruttan, snapped the hammer in fun. The chambers, of course, revolved when the weapon was cocked, thus bringing one of the loaded chambers beneath the hammer, and when the trigger was pulled, a No. 22 ball struck Rattan just below the nose in the centre of the upper lip, lodging in the bone, from where it was extracted at the Nicholls Hospital this morning.

If the cartridge had been any larger than a 22-calibre, Ruttan would without doubt have been instantly killed through the reckless foolhardiness of his companion, but fortunately the charge of powder in a 22 cartridge is very small, and the injured man is in a fair way to recovery.

"Our Lady of the Sunshine."

Dr. W. H. Drummond, the writer of the inimitable verses on the "Habitant," whose book by that name received instant recognition last year, and is now in its ninth thousand, has written a fine poem in the dialect employed in that work for Morang's Midsummer Annual, "Our Lady of the Sunshine." The new verses are entitled "The Habitant's Summer," and they describe with inimitable freshness and vigour the life on a Quebec farm in the months that lie between April and October. The Countess of Aberdeen contributes a graceful parable on the life of our Dominion and of the required characteristics of those who are needed to build up its future—a lesson on nation-making that may be read with profit. A capital racing story by W. A. Fraser, and one about a disconsolate lover by Jean Blewett, will also find place in a publication that will be full of interest from cover to cover.

BICYCLE PARADE.

An Appeal to Wheelmen to Wheel Into Line.

"What's the matter with the illuminated bicycle parade? It's alright," and coming off on Thursday evening.

Every rider in town is invited to come and ride whether they belong to a club or not. Ladies and gentlemen are urged to be in the procession dressed in their wheel costumes, but if such is not at hand come as you are and your presence in the ranks will add a hundred per cent to the success and attractiveness to this the first of the season. Lanterns can be fastened to wheels in numerous ways. An easy way is to tie a stick across handle bars with lantern on each end, or placed in front or back by tieing a stick to crossbar. These appliances can be had at the Y.M.C.A. and attached to wheels in a twinkling of an eye. The new torches will be on hand so those who do not care for lanterns can have one or one may want both.

It makes no difference what kind of wheel you ride, high or low, fat or lean, the oldest or newest style, for variety is the spice of life.

Everyone who takes interest in wheeling should turn out and make this the first of the season a grand success. Without the ladies it will not be as bright and cheery as it would be if the ranks were filled to overflowing with them, and to hear their merry voices adds charm and music to the ride. So, young men, do your duty and bring your lady friends, as we want every one in this metropolis to be out and help to make this event one to be long remembered; it being just before our Queen's Birthday it should be a grand celebration. Young and old come and show your colours, helping this the first of the season to be what it should be. Then on July first we will be able to show the wheelmen from all over our province what we can do and that we are not behind the times, but ahead if anything. Come one, come all, and will have a jolly time.

HAD NO DOG TAGS.

Two Citizens are Before Magistrate Dumble Charged With Violating the Dog Tax Bylaw.

Two dog cases were up in the police court this morning.

A woman was charged with not having secured a license for her dog, but on explaining that it was a very young puppy, which she did not know required a tag, she was allowed to secure one for it. In the other case a man was charged with the same offence. He had gone to the Town Clerk and procured a tag after receiving his summons, so was let off with the payment of costs.

The plays are said to be brimful of fun. Enjoyable specialties, novel features and elaborate stage settings make it a more than ordinary pretentious attraction. Seats are now on sale. HE DID NOT REST WELL LAST NIGHT.

Mr. Gladstone Was Somewhat Exhausted This Morning After a Poor Night.

Special to The Examiner.

Hawarden, May 7—Mr. Gladstone did not rest well last night. His sleep was broken, and he is somewhat exhausted this morning, but the patient is not suffering.

London, May 17.—Mr. Henry Gladstone took a special train from this city for Hawarden this afternoon, due to disquieting news received from Hawarden. He said before leaving London that his father was sinking rapidly.

Hawarden, May 17, 5 p. m.—An official bulletin just issued says: Mr. Gladstone has taken a serious turn for the worse. His death may be expected within 24 hours.

Hawarden, May 17—Mr. Gladstone's physician said this afternoon that the end is now near. Mr. Gladstone has taken little nourishment. He breathes heavily for a few minutes, and then his breathing is hardly perceptible. Mrs. Gladstone is with her dying husband. She and others of the family do not leave the room for more than a few minutes at a time.

EPWORTH LEAGUE ANNIVERSARY.

Rev. M. E. Wilson, of Newtonville, Speaks on "Life and Times Before Eden."

The Mark street Methodist church, Epworth League Anniversary, was held last Sabbath, the services being very interesting throughout. In the absence of Rev. C. E. Cragg, through illness, the pastor, Rev. Mr. Moore, preached a strong sermon in the morning on "Activities in Zion," and in the evening Rev. S. J. Shorey, the chairman of Peterborough District, occupied the pulpit and preached with powerful and telling effect. The congregations were good.

Last evening the Rev. M. E. Wilson, Ph. B., of Newtonville, delivered his unique and scholarly lecture on "Life and Times Before Eden." For one hour and a half the audience listened with much interest to things new to the majority of the people. The rev. lecturer spoke upon a Nebula, Incandescent Globe, Eozoic, Palaeozoic and Mesozoic periods, and led his hearers along step by step, and stated that for millions of years, according to Sir William Dawson, the slow process of world-making has been going on. In beautiful language and word pictures he convinced his audience that Canada is the mother of nations and empires, and that the northern rocky region was formed many ages before the Adamic period. By the use of a lantern several remarkable views were shown. The gramaphone pleased the people with several selections.

Rev. Mr. Wilson is no stranger in Peterborough, he having attended the Collegiate Institute here for three years. His old friends will be pleased to learn that he has developed into a speaker of exceptional ability, with doubtless a brilliant future before him.

Rev. W. D. Harrison and Rev. C. E. Cragg presented a complimentary resolution of appreciation to the speaker, which was heartily endorsed by the audience.

LACROSSE.

The best attended practice of the season was held last evening, when thirty players turned out on the P.A.A.A. grounds and put in two hours good work. Quite a few put in their first appearance this year, and having made a start, it is hoped they will be out every practice night.

At a meeting of the senior players held directly after practice, Mr. Jas. McCabe was elected captain for the season.

As the Olympic Club excursion is to be held on June 2nd, an effort is being made to change the date of the Orillia's first visit here in the intermediate series to the following Friday or Tuesday.

Campbellford wants the Juniors to go there on the 24th, but Marmora has been given the date. Campbellford will be visited later on in the summer.

Word was received from Hastings today that it had been found impossible to give the Juniors a match in that village on Wednesday next, so the match has been declared off.

BASEBALL.

All Y. M. C. A enthusiasts are requested to be on hand this evening on the P.A.A.A. grounds to practice.

All members of the Peterborough and Victoria Bicycle Clubs are requested to meet at the rooms of the Victoria Club, Hunter street, on Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock, to make arrangements for carrying out details of the meet, to be held here July 1st and 2nd. A full attendance is requested. Be sure to come. 21

Weigh Yourself before Taking Them.

GAINED 22 POUNDS.

I have more faith in Dr. Ward's Blood and Nerve Pills than anything else I have ever used. Since using them I have recommended them to several of my friends who were troubled as I was, and now they are in splendid health. I had been a sufferer, like a great many other women, with a disease peculiar to my sex. I tried everything I could read or think about to help me, but was getting worse instead of better. My condition was terrible—I was losing flesh and color and my friends were alarmed. I consulted a doctor of this town and he said I would never get better; that I would always be sickly and delicate, and that medicines were of little use to me. Hearing what Dr. Ward's Blood and Nerve Pills had done for others, I determined to try them myself, and to-day I weigh one hundred and forty pounds, while before I weighed only one hundred and eighteen pounds, and now I have a constitution that is hard to beat. I have not suffered any pain in months, and earnestly hope that Dr. Ward's Blood and Nerve Pills will reach every woman suffering as I did. Sincerely yours, MAY COLE, Simcoe, Ont. Dr. Ward's Blood and Nerve Pills are sold at 50c. per box, 5 boxes for $2.00, at druggists, or mailed on receipt of price by THE DR. WARD CO., 71 Victoria St., Toronto. Book of Information free.

SUICIDE OF A BANK TELLER.

Illness Brought on Despondency and Mr. O. Mowat Shot Himself.

Owen Sound, May 16.—The citizens of this town were startled Saturday night to learn that Mr. O. Mowat, for many years cashier at the Bank of Hamilton here, had suicided by shooting himself. The deceased had two bad attacks of heart failure within two months, the last about 10 days ago, rendering him incapable of carrying on his duties as teller. He was last seen alive Saturday morning about 6.30, when he told the porter at the Seldon House, where he has lived over 10 years, that he was going to the bank, and not to keep breakfast for him. When he did not turn up for dinner his room was searched, but he was not there, and everything seemed all right. After tea the junior clerk, who sleeps at the bank, found the place chilly, and entered the basement to put on a fire. He was horrified to find the dead body of the cashier with a bullet hole in the temple. It was evident the deed was done before banking hours. The inspector of the bank paid a visit to this branch during the week, and it is stated his books are satisfactory. Deceased was about 53 years old and unmarried. He was well connected, being a nephew of Sir Oliver Mowat, and was very much respected by the patrons of the bank and those who knew him.

The man who stands idly by and sees the life fading out of his wife's face, sees her health going, sees her becoming old and faded and wrinkled when she should still be in the perfect enjoyment of vigorous, useful health, is either less than a man or else does not know of the one remedy which will bring her back to health and strength. Perhaps her husband cannot persuade her to go to her doctor, because she naturally dreads the inevitable "examinations" and "local treatments." He can persuade her, if she needs persuasion, to take Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. This truly wonderful medicine has cured hundreds of women after the best physicians have failed. It has been in constant use and tested every day for thirty years. It isn't an experiment, there are no chances about it. It is a certain cure for all the derangements, weaknesses, irregularities and displacements of internal organs peculiar to women.

NOTES FROM VANCOUVER.

Stikine River Open Right Up to Glenora —Mr. Jaffray's Movements.

Vancouver, May 16.—Vessels are now running on the Stikine River, right up to Glenora. The Canadian Development Company's steamer Monte Cristo has the distinguished honor of being the first boat to pass the river.

Mr. Robert Jaffray, President of the Toronto Globe Company and one of the directors of the Crow's Nest Coal Company, left for the east on Friday. He has toured through the province, right from Crow's Nest Pass to Vancouver.

Operations at the coal mines are brisk. It is not expected that the demand for coal will be so large as the demand for coke, and in view of this the company has commenced the construction of about fifty coke ovens.

The steamer Centennial, which used to run from Vancouver to Klondike points has been chartered by the United States Government to take troops to the Philippines.

The Canadian Mounted Police have posted danger notices all along the middle trail down the lake, and are prohibiting travel except on the trails near the shore.

MR. WILLIS, WOODSTOCK,

Escaped a Deadly Enemy by the Aid of Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Woodstock, May 9—(Special)—This city is deeply agitated, with joyful excitement, because another popular resident has escaped from the fatal grip of Kidney disease by the aid of Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Everyone knows Mr. H. A. Willis, the genial proprietor of the "Buckingham" hotel. He tells his story thus: "For two years past I have suffered intensely from Lame Back and Kidney Disease. Nothing I ever used helped me.

"My sufferings grew worse daily. I heard so much of Dodd's Kidney Pills that I decided to try them. I got relief from the first box. Three boxes cured me entirely."

Dodd's Kidney Pills always cure.

A Railwayman's Story

Mr. W. Franks, in charge of the Grand Trunk Engine Shops, Port Dover, Ont., says:—"Four boxes of Doan's Kidney Pills cured me of a very bad attack of kidney complaint and lame back."

ANOTHER WHEAT ADVANCE.

The Demand From Europe for Cash Wheat Is Again Strong—The World's Visible Supply—Prices.

Monday Evening, May 16.

Despite the fact that to-day's statistical news for the past week was bearish in character, wheat took another upward turn to-day. The decrease in the American visible supply is small, the world's shipments are large and there is a good quantity of the cereal afloat, but nevertheless there seems to be a renewed European demand for cash wheat and cables this morning were up. At Chicago May wheat rose 5⅛c for the day, July 4¼c, September 2⅝c and December 1⅝. At New York wheat sold up to $1.56 and other United States markets rose in accord.

At Toronto to-day there was quite a renewal of the export demand, but offerings of Ontario wheat fell off. No. 2 red was higher at $1.07 and $1.08 on the board. Street values were easier.

At Liverpool spot wheat closed 2d higher than on Saturday, and futures from 1d to 2d higher. At Paris the market was practically unchanged.

Visible and Afloat.

As compared with a week ago, the visible supply of wheat in Canada and the United States has decreased 534,000 bushels; that of corn has decreased 2,453,000 bushels, and that of oats has decreased 830,000 bushels. Following is a comparative statement for the week ending to-day, the preceding week and the corresponding week last year:

	May 16,'98.	May 9,'98.	May 17,'97.
Wheat, bu.	21,904,000	22,528,000	29,737,000
Corn, bu.	22,460,000	24,913,000	13,898,000
Oats, bu.	8,704,000	9,534,000	9,976,000

To recapitulate, the visible supply of wheat in Canada and the United States, together with that afloat in Europe, is 63,274,000 bushels, as compared with 62,128,000 bushels a week ago, and 48,217,000 a year ago.

THE YUKON MOSQUITO.

Drives Moose and Caribou to the Snow Line and Stings Bears Blind.

Not only do the Yukon mosquitoes attack men and overwhelm them, but they drive the moose, deer and caribou up the mountains to the snow line, where these animals would prefer not to be in berry time. They kill dogs, and even the big brown bear, that is often miscalled a grizzly, has succumbed to them. Bears come down to the river from the hillside in the early fall to get some of the salmon that are often thrown upon the banks when the "run" is heavy.

If bruin runs foul of a swarm of mosquitoes and has not his wits about him his day has come. The insects will alight all over him. His fur protects his body, but his eyes, ears and nose will soon be swollen up and bleeding, and unless he gets into a river or a strong wind he will be driven mad and blind, to wander about hopelessly until he starves to death.

Although the Alaska summer is short, two broods of mosquitoes hatch out each year, and are ready for business from one to ten seconds after they leave the water. It rains a good deal along the Yukon, and rain is welcomed, for it drives the mosquitoes to cover. They hide under leaves and branches until the shower is over; then they come out boiling with rage at the time they have been forced to spend in idleness, and the miner has a harder time than ever after his respite.

Mosquitoes and snowflakes are not contemporaries in the States, but in Alaska it is different. Snow does not bother them so much as rain, and an early snow may fall while they are still on the wing. Fog does not choke them either. They appear to like it. They float about in it as in ambush and take the unwary prospector by surprise.—Denver Times.

"Knowledge is power." There is one kind of knowledge that is power and prestige in the hands of a woman. It is the knowledge of her own nature, her own physical make-up and the home-treatment of diseases peculiar to her sex. There is a great home medical book that teaches all this. It is Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser. Over 1,200,000 American homes contain copies of this work. It used to cost $1.50; now it is free. For a paper covered copy send 21 one-cent stamps, to cover customs and mailing only, to the World's Dispensary Medical Association, Buffalo, N.Y.; French cloth binding, 50 stamps.

This great book tells all about a medicine that is an unfailing cure for all weakness and disease of the delicate organs distinctly feminine. That medicine is Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. During the past thirty years many thousands of women have used it with marvelous results. It imparts health, vigor, virility, strength and elasticity to the organs that bear the burdens of maternity. It fits for wifehood and motherhood. Taken during the period of gestation, it makes the coming of baby easy and almost painless. It completely banishes the pain and misery that are the result of a woman's neglecting her womanly health. An honest medicine dealer will give you what you ask for, and not try to persuade you to take some inferior substitute for the little added profit he may make thereon.

Mrs. Jas. Schaffner, of Freemansburg, Northampton Co., Pa., writes: "It is with pleasure that I write to let you know the great good I have received from your medicines and the local self-treatment at home. I was troubled with female weakness, had pains in my back all the time, sometimes so severe that I could not lie in bed at night. I tried different doctors but they could not help me. Then my husband got Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser, and induced me to try Dr. Pierce's medicines. After taking six bottles of the 'Favorite Prescription' I feel like a new woman."

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets cure constipation. Constipation is the cause of many diseases. Cure the cause and you cure the disease. One "Pellet" is a gentle laxative, and two a mild cathartic. Druggists sell them, and nothing is "just as good."

FAMOUS MAINE TREE.

A HISTORICAL WILLOW THAT FLOURISHES AT FORT KNOX.

Planted During the Exciting Times of 1814 and Often Threatened With Destruction, It Has Had Many Eminent Defenders.

The largest tree in the state of Maine stands on top of a gravelly bank just inside of the walled inclosure surrounding Fort Knox, one of the four granite casemated fortifications which the United States have constructed east of Boston. The old "fort willow," or "war willow," as it is called by the residents, was planted as a sapling to commemorate the day when the English warships sailed up Penobscot river and laid all the towns between Castine and Bangor under tribute to the king of England.

John Pierce, a former fisherman, owned a farm of 160 acres, extending from the narrowest point of Penobscot narrows, a mile back, to the top of Moore's hill and having 80 rods of water frontage, where weirs were set for salmon, shad and other fish. Above the farm the river expanded so that it was half a mile wide opposite Bucksport. Below, the waters dashed between steep rocky banks that nobody could cultivate. In the autumn of 1814 Mr. Pierce, having taken in his weir hedges and harvested most of his crops, mounted his horse and rode five miles south to old Fort Pownal, hoping to get some news of the English troops that were in garrison at Castine. He reached the settlement early in the forenoon and learned that a fleet of warships had lately arrived from England, concerning which there were many reports, some contending that the vessels were about to sail up river and burn all the towns as far as the head of tide water.

While he was discussing the prospect with the people the ships hove in sight above Sears' islands and began to fire shots at the houses on Cape Jellison. Seeing that the fleet was under full sail and making good headway before a southerly breeze, Mr. Pierce started for home to give the alarm. As he passed the house of Daniel French, on the "neck" below Sandy point, a 6 inch shot passed through the top of a big willow which grew in front of the house, covering the ground with broken limbs. Without dismounting, Mr. Pierce reached from his horse and cut a switch from one of these fallen limbs and used it as a whip to urge the horse along. He reached home nearly an hour before the ships appeared around Fort Point, so that by the time they had reached the narrows twoscore of men and boys had assembled on the rocky bluffs with loaded guns to give them welcome. The townspeople fired at the passing ships, and the officers and men, finding their foes out of range, fired volleys of terrible oaths back at their assailants. After shooting all their lead away and killing three men on the ships, the Yankees went back to the house of Mr. Pierce and drank a whole lot of hot rum punch. Then they went out, and, taking the willow withe which Mr. Pierce had used for a whip, planted it butt end down in the loose ground in front of the house.

A white willow will grow almost anywhere. Farmers who cut willow wands for their pole beans to climb upon have to pull them up in the fall or there will be a willow tree growing in every bean hill. The whip stick which Mr. Pierce used to drive his horse ahead of the invading fleet bore leaves the next spring, and has kept doing so every year since. It was only 2 feet tall in the spring of 1815. After the Mexican war, when the United States had bought the Pierce farm and Lieutenant Isaac I. Stevens had been sent to survey the land and lay it out for a fort, the willow was 80 feet high and as big round as a flour barrel. As the tree grew in a gravel bank which was needed to complete the earthworks around the fort, Lieutenant Stevens wished to cut it down, but when he learned its history the willow tree was spared, though the earth was removed so that some of its roots were laid bare.

Before the civil war broke out Lieutenant Stevens was sent away to the Pacific coast, where he rose to the rank of major, and Colonel Joseph G. Totten took his place as commander of Fort Knox. Major Stevens joined the Army of the Potomac at the beginning of the war, and when he had reached the rank of major general he was shot while leading his division in the second battle of Bull Run. In the meantime the casemated galleries of Fort Knox had been completed at a cost of about $2,000,000, and about 100 heavy guns were put in position for service when General Godfrey Weitzel, fresh from the capture of Richmond, came to Maine to finish the structure. The plans called for a wide glacis at the rear of the fort, and to make this glacis the old willow would have to go. The engineers argued out the matter for some years, and the old tree was in great danger until General Grant became president. Then General John A. Rawlins, the secretary of war, gave positive orders that no harm should be done to the tree. In the administration of Mr. Hayes another attempt was made to have the willow cut down and the gravel bank removed, but Colonel James C. Duane, who had charge of the Maine fortifications at that time, defended the aged tree against all its foes.

Though Fort Knox is practically abandoned to the bats and owls, the old willow is growing rapidly. It is now 23 feet around the trunk, and good judges say that it contains eight cords of wood. The parent tree, from which it was torn away by a British shot, is still growing upon Cape Jellison, but the younger tree is much larger and more thrifty than its battle scarred ancestor.—New York Sun.

A RELIABLE OFFER.

Honest Help Free to Men.

The (Peterborough Examiner) is authorized to state by Mr. D. Graham, Box 133, Hagersville, Ont., that any man who is nervous and debilitated or who is suffering from any of the various troubles resulting from overwork, excesses or abuse, such as nervous debility, exhausted vitality, lost vigor, unnatural drains and losses, lack of development, etc., can write to him in strict confidence and receive free of charge full instructions how to be thoroughly cured.

Mr. Graham himself was for a long time a sufferer from above troubles and after trying in vain many advertised remedies, electric belts, etc., became almost entirely discouraged and hopeless. Finally he confided in an old clergyman, whose kind and honest advice enabled him to speedily obtain a perfect and permanent cure. Knowing to his own sorrow, that so many poor sufferers are being imposed upon by unscrupulous quacks, Mr. Graham considers it his duty as an honest man and a firm believer in Christian sympathy and kindness, to give his fellow-men the benefit of his experience and assist them to a cure. Having nothing to sell, he asks for no money, the proud satisfaction of having done a great service to one in need, he rightly considers an ample reward for his trouble. If you write to Mr. Graham you can rely upon being cured and upon absolute secrecy as well.

Address as above, enclosing a stamp, and refer to the (PETERBOROUGH EXAMINER). No attention, however, will be given to those writing out of mere curiosity, therefore state that you really need a cure.

DROPPING FROM A TOP STORY.

An Experience That Was Not Altogether Disagreeable.

A couple of tourists were in the top of the Washington monument the other day, and, as everybody else does at that giddy height, they talked of the discomforts of a fall. At least one of them did. The other listened to him awhile.

"I am willing to admit," he said, "that a drop of 500 feet to a stone pavement is not a pleasant thing to think about, but I am a witness to testify that a more delightful death could scarcely be imagined."

"Were you ever killed that way?" inquired the other in a tone of doubt.

"Not exactly, but I went through all the motions."

"How do you mean?"

"Listen. Fifteen years ago or thereabouts I was holding down a job in the Old Gazette building in Cincinnati, a six story structure, which was considered a skyscraper in those days. I was 25 years old then and not in as good fix as I am now, and I did not kick when the boss told me to wash the windows on the top floor. I was doing very well at it and had got myself seated nicely on the sill, rubbing away at the glass, when I lost my balance in some way and out I went. What I did in going I cannot say. What I thought I cannot say. All I remember was an instant's consciousness that I was falling backward, but where or how was not clear to me. There was certainly no sense or knowledge that I was falling out of a top story window and would be crushed to death below.

"When consciousness came again I was at home, and it was 24 hours after the fall. I did not even know, when I came to, what had happened. They told me I had fallen from the sixth story window and that I had struck on the roof of a low shed in the back area, which had broken the fall and saved my life. This shed roof was made of boards without support except at the ends, and I had gone through them to the pavement below. That I was not killed was only the luck that comes to people sometimes. I didn't even break a bone, but I got a shake up that kept me in bed for two weeks and made me sore for three months. This monument is some higher than that building, but I fancy the feeling in falling is about the same."—Washington Star.

ORIGIN OF LIBERIA.

How the African Colony Came to Be an Independent Nation.

The American Colonization society in 1820 designated 88 negroes to send to Africa, there to found a colony which should be a refuge for American negroes. This government voted $30,000 and a ship for the purpose. A settlement was made on the west coast of Africa. The society framed a constitution for the colony, placing all power in the society's agents. The settlers objected, and from time to time new constitutions were promulgated, until finally only the ultimate veto power was lodged in the society, all other civil powers having been granted to the colonists.

In 1840 disputes arose with the British of Sierra Leone, regarding the payment of duties. Britain took the ground that the colony was no nation, therefore the society surrendered all governmental powers, and soon after, in July, 1847, the negroes of Liberia adopted a declaration of independence and a free constitution. Its independence was acknowledged by all the great nations in 1848-9, this country excepted. Not till 1861 did the United States recognize it as a nation. The name Liberia was given by the society. Its meaning is evident. The government of the republic is fashioned upon our own, with president, cabinet, two houses and a supreme court.—New York Press.

Impure Blood in Spring.

Borrowers of Tobacco.

There are some smokers who do not buy tobacco or cigars more than once a year. There is probably no other article which is so often borrowed and not repaid as tobacco. A wit in this city once said in a newspaper paragraph, "The American people last year used 50,000,000 pounds of chewing tobacco, half of which they borrowed." There is almost as much truth as fun in that assertion. —Chicago Chronicle.

Not So Bad as That.

"Johnny, Johnny, are you smoking the nasty little things again? I thought you had sworn off."

"No'm. I never swear. All I said was that I'd be doggoned if I ever smoked 'em again."—Chicago Tribune.

An Arab Proverb.

Who can affirm that the mule entered the jug?

This proverb is frequently quoted to show that, though one may conscientiously believe in a thing which may seem extravagant in itself, it is better not to repeat it from fear of being disbelieved. It arises from the following Arabic legend: An Arab who denied the existence of genii bought a mule and took it home. When performing his evening ablutions, he saw the mule enter a jug, and this so scared him that he ran shouting to the neighbors and told them what he had seen. They, thinking him mad, endeavored to appease him, but all in vain. He vociferated more and more, so that the authorities sent him to the madhouse. When the doctor came to see him, he repeated the account of what he had seen, whereupon the doctor ordered him to be detained. He continued upon each visit of the doctor to repeat his statement until his friends succeeded in persuading him that if he wished to regain his freedom he must recant. This he did, and the doctor set him at liberty, to the great joy of his family and friends. On making his ablutions as before he again saw the mule, this time peeping out of the jug, but on this occasion he contented himself with remarking to the mule: "Oh, yes, I see you well enough, but who would believe me? And I have had enough of the madhouse." Needless to say that the genii, to avenge themselves for his disbelief in them, had transformed one of themselves into a mule and as such entered the jug.—Cairo (Egypt) Sphinx.

Frightful Precocity.

"Oh, John," exclaimed the fair young mother, "I am glad you're home. I have been so worried."

"Why, dear," he asked, "what's the matter?"

"It's about the baby. I tremble to think of it. You know they say children that are too smart never grow up."

"Yes, yes," he cried; "go on! What is it? Where is our darling? What has happened? Go on!"

"John," she said, putting her arms around his neck and sobbing upon his breast, "he said 'da da' today, and he is only 9 months old!"—Chicago News.

The Ways of Wives.

Beware of the wife who as she kisses you goodby slips a bit of paper into your pocket, saying:

"There's a list of a few little things I'd like you to get on your way home. Please don't overlook any of them. It will only take you a few moments, and I want all of them today. There's a dear."

Jenkins has such a wife. He takes the little slip and says:

"Yes, my dear; I'll get them."

He gives himself ten minutes to catch the train for home, and this is the list:

"Six lemons, a dozen oranges, yard of blue ribbon, dozen shirt buttons, bottle of ipecacuanha, bunch of celery, bottle of vanilla extract, pound of almonds, pound of moist sugar, yard of white cambric, shilling's worth of chamois leather, box of glycerin jujubes for baby's cough, card of hooks and eyes, figs, dates, yard of lace like sample, shoestrings for Johnnie, packet of pins, piece of blue dress braid and something for baby."

He arrives home with two lemons and an orange and looks unutterable things when Mrs. Jenkins says:

"You didn't have time to get the other things? Why, my dear, I could have bought them all in ten minutes."—Pearson's Weekly.

CANADA LIFE
Assurance Company.

ANOTHER PROSPEROUS YEAR.

Large Increase in Surplus.

The fifty-first annual report of the Canada Life shows this old established Company to be in a most flourishing condition. The annual meeting was held yesterday. Following is a synopsis of the report:—

A PROSPEROUS YEAR.

In presenting to the Shareholders their 51st Annual Report, the Directors are gratified in announcing that the Company has fairly shared in the somewhat improved condition of the business of the country, as will be seen by the Statements and Accounts now submitted. By these it will be observed that the Company has transacted a larger business than during the previous year, and has increased its clear surplus by no less than $497,093 05.

NEW BUSINESS.

The applications for new assurances during 1897 numbered 3 006, for the sum of $6,185,996, of which, however, 266 for $521,000 were declined, the lives not appearing up to that standard which it is in the interest of the company's other assurers should be maintained, and as 191 applications for $373,300 were not carried out, the issue of the year was for $5 291,636, under 2 609 policies, exceeding 1896 by 573 policies for $798,980.

The total business in force at the close of 1897 was $72,719,555 29 of Assurances, under 33,407 policies, upon 24 469 lives.

POLICY CLAIMS.

The claims by deaths paid during 1897 amounted to $770 168 45, and Endowment policies for $128,846 92, having matured, these sums, as well as $218,481 29 for profits, $145,411.18 for surrenders, and an annuity of $400, making in all $1,263,307.84, were paid to policyholders during the year.

INCREASE IN ASSETS.

The Income receipts of the year were $2,953,272.83, and deducting therefrom all payments to policy-holders for claims by death, for profits, and for matured Endowment policies, as well as other outlay, including expenses of management, there was left the sum of $1 272,486 05, which increased the Company's Assets to $18,678 915.67.

SURPLUS.

As appears by the Abstract of Assets and Liabilities, after providing fully for the necessary reserve for all policies of the Company, and for all its other Liabilities, there is shown a Surplus of $1,564,082 05.

THE PRESIDENT'S ADDRESS.

The President, Mr. A. G. Ramsay, in moving the adoption of the report, said:

The Directors' Report and the usual accounts and statements have for some days been in your hands, and have now been taken as read. While the report is brief, it contains, I think, along with the various published accounts, all that is required to enable those interested in the Company to judge of its progress and success in the past year. The addition during 1897 of nearly half a million dollars to the surplus or profits fund is a large and satisfactory one, and without invidiously comparing it with the figures of any other particular Company, I may say that it is more than was attained by all the other Canadian companies combined. The new business of the year was, you will observe, of satisfactory and gratifying amount, and in excess of the previous year, and you will be pleased to know that it is of that desirable class which will result more to the profit of the Company than would a larger amount obtained at heavier expense, or from less desirable regions than the healthful climate of Canada, and the four Northern States to which we have thus far deemed it judicious to confine the operations of the Company. The existing assurances are $72,719,555 or nearly twice as much as they were 12 years ago. The death claims of the year continued of very favourable amount, and being well within what was calculated upon, that fact testifies to the care observed in the selection of the lives, and to the judicious limitation of the business to the healthful climates already alluded to.

The recent lamentable failures of some of the companies doing business on the assessment system, and the anxiety felt as to the others which are based upon the same fallacious principles lead me to point out that these occurrences are only the inevitable results, which were from the first predicted by those whose knowledge and experience enabled them to judge of what the future of companies of the kind must be. At our meeting in 1887, when concerns of the kind were making strenuous efforts to establish themselves in Canada, I alluded to the miserable failures they had been in England and in America, and I said that their "ephemeral existence indicates how useless the assessment system of assurance is as a family provision. It can only offer the uncertain hope of a cheap assurance for a few years, till the company breaks down. It cannot afford any guarantee that a definite amount of assurance will certainly be paid to a widow or children after an assurer's death, whether that occurs at an early day or a distant one, and without such a guarantee as that, which our own and other sound companies offer, life assurance must be a fraud and a delusion." I added that "I was aware that agents and managers of companies of the kind pointed to the names of prominent business and professional men who have joined them, or who act as their directors, but as some of them at all events allow their names to be employed in that way, simply because policies have been gratuitously given to them, one can judge how little weight should attach to the names of the gentlemen thus used to decoy others to join such companies." One cannot envy the feelings of the prominent gentlemen alluded to, who induced persons to take policies in companies of the kind, from which they are now driven out by their failure, or by the levy of such high payments as they are unable to meet.

As the accounts show, the year's income was within a trifle of three million dollars, and the assets of the company were increased to the very considerable amount of nearly nineteen million dollars, and yielding, after deducting liabilities of every kind, a net surplus or profit of $1,564,082 for allocation at the end of next year, along with whatever addition there may be made to it between now and that time, and as the management and other expenses by which the profits to policy-holders are very largely influenced continue to be on a more moderate percentage than that of other Canadian or American companies, he prospects for our assurers are of a favourable character.

It is anticipated that legislation will be introduced by the Government, modifying the present 4½ per cent. rate of interest prescribed by law as the basis for Life Assurance Reserves, and adopting the new mortality Tables based upon the observations and large experience of the British Insurance Companies, in course of compliation by the Institute of Actuaries of Great Britain, and I may say on behalf of the Board in reference to the amendment to the charter, alluded to in the Directors report of last year, that the Directors purpose to avail themselves of the occasion of that legislation to seek such amendments to the law as may meet the Board's requirements.

The motion was seconded by Mr. F. W. Gates, Vice-President, and unanimously carried. A hearty vote of thanks was tendered to the agents, officers, medical and legal advisers of the company, Mr. Adam Brown speaking in eloquent terms of their services rendered to the Company.

Mr. Leggat moved and Lieut.-Col. McLaren seconded a hearty vote of thanks to the President and Directors for their attention to the interests of the Company during the past year. Brief and interesting addresses were also made by Sir George Kirkpatrick and Sir George Burton, the latter of whom was heartily congratulated upon the recent honour conferred upon him by the Queen.

The retiring Directors, Chief Justice Sir George Burton, Col. Sir Casimer Gzowski, K.C.M.G., and Mr. N. Merritt, were re-elected. At a subsequent meeting of the Directors, Mr. A. G. Ramsay was re-elected President and Mr. F. W. Gates Vice-President.

The meeting passed off very harmoniously, every one present being gratified with the progress and continued prosperity of the Canada Life, which, as Sir George Kirkpatrick remarked, was easily leader of all Companies in the Dominion.

HELPING PUPILS WITH SCHOOL BOOKS.

MEASURE ADOPTED BY KINGSTON BOARD OF EDUCATION.

Each Pupil Will be Supplied With an Outfit of Books at Small Cost—The Fee to be Collected When the Books are Purchased—The Board's Progressive Ideas.

For a number of years the public school board, and latterly the board of education of Kingston, has been considering the furnishing free to pupils such books as could be supplied without being too great a tax upon the resources of the board. A move in this direction was made a short time ago when the board decided to furnish free to pupils pens, pencils, paper, etc. The matter was again taken up a month or two ago on a resolution to the effect that the cost of supplying a uniform standard of scribblers, etc., to pupils be ascertained. Having secured these figures the committee went a step further and looked into the matter of supplying text books, if not free, at least so near it that the cost would be next to nothing. At last night's meeting of the board of education clause four of the report of the committee of management was to this effect:—

"That the following school supplies be furnished by the board, namely, readers, work books, exercise books, copy books and drawing books at rates varying per pupil from 15 cents to fifty cents, for senior fourth pupils, per term, beginning at the first of September next; and that the finance committee be instructed to submit a scheme for the collection of the fees."

In connection with this recommendation the committee submitted these estimates based on the average number of pupils in each class, the estimated number of books needed, the cost per pupil and the estimated yearly receipts:

Part 1, 600 pupils, 15c each, $90; part II, 350 pupils, 20c each, $58; second class, 350 pupils, 25c each, $87; junior third class, 350 pupils, 35c each, $123; senior third class, 270 pupils, 40c each, $108; junior fourth class 200 pupils, 45c each, $90; senior fourth class, 180 pupils, 50c each, $90. Total for both terms, $1,278.

Regarding this clause R. Meek reviewed the data secured, touching the supplying of free books and the equipment of pupils. So far the annual average cost to the board for the supplies to pupils is $250. Three propositions were presented to the committee for consideration. The one recommended was the best. This would ensure a sum sufficient to cover the costs of the books supplied. The saving to parents will be considerable, and the benefit to pupils from uniformity would be greatly indeed. It is expected that from the amount realized from the sale of books to pupils, even at the low rate, sufficient money will be secured to pay for free books with which the board has to supply the children of poor parents. This is an age of progress, and the board is only keeping up with the march. But advancement must be made cautiously, and in this respect the recommendation to adopt the new scheme had not been made until the cost of the same had been fully gone into.

In answer to a question by Dr. Herald, R. Meek replied that the books and supplies would become the property of the pupils.

Dr. Herald was glad this was to be the case. There was great danger of disease being spread through children using books that had been used by children suffering from disease. He suggested that all the books of pupils suffering from disease be destroyed and a new supply given them upon returning to school.

Mr. Meek thought the suggestion a good one, and hoped the committee on supplies would make arrangements accordingly.

T. Lambert asked if any system had been promulgated for the collection of fees.

Mr. Meek answered in the affirmative. On a certain date pupils might bring money for their books. Pupils will not pay in a bookstore thirty cents for an outfit which the board will supply for fifteen cents. Re-supplies will be furnished to pupils at the cost of the same to the Board.

Dr. Herald pointed out that the rule "no pay no books," might be adopted, and this would insure prompt payment by all pupils.

The clause was unanimously adopted.

TAKE YOUR CHOICE.

We are Sure You Will Select the Diamond Dyes.

There are several kinds of wretched imitation and soap grease dyes that are sold by some dealers for the sake of large profits. These dyes bring consternation and despair to every inexperienced housewife who uses them. The results may be summed up as follows: Mixed, muddy colours, ruined garments and materials, bad temper and a shower of wrath on the dealer who has sold the deceptive dyes.

For long years the women of Canada have had before them the celebrated Diamond Dyes for home colouring work. These chemically pure dyes have carried satisfaction and delight to all who have used them. Old, faded and dingy garments have, by the aid of Diamond Dyes been transformed into new and beautiful creations; money has been saved, and the happiness of families increased. Where directions have been faithfully followed, not a single failure has been recorded.

If you are a novice in the work of home dyeing, you have now presented to you the varied classes of dyes that you can purchase and use. "A Kentucky Cardinal."

This is the title of a book just issued by Mr. Geo. N. Morang, the prolific Canadian publisher. A Kentucky Cardinal is not an ecclesiastic, but a beautiful story, woven like a mesh of delicate, wholesome sentiment around a cardinal grosbeak, whose habitation was the cedars of the teller and hero of the story. The story, told by James Lane Allen, in charming style, is one of love. It is delicately suggestive in its style, reminding one in manner, but by no means in matter or sentiment, of Anthony Hope's "Dolly Dialogues." The pictures of typical personages of a country town involve a keen analysis of character and the story of the wooing and winning of Georgiana is a wholesome change from the namby-pamby, conventional, love-making of the ordinary tale-wright. The first part of the story leads the reader up to the engagement and the second deals with the charming incidents of the preparation for the wedding, the wedding itself and a touching year of wedded life. The book is a mirror in quaint setting, held up to nature and none can read it without having been both charmed and entertained, and made better with broader, sympathies in respect both of the world of nature and of man. Like all of Morang's books this is beautifully printed on paper pleasant to the touch and in clear type with excellent illustrations. Toronto—Geo. N. Morang. On sale at the Peterborough Bookstore.

The new Lacrosse Club Special Cigar is a pure Havana filler. On the market by May 24th.

Mid-May Extras

FOR

THE WEEK BEFORE THE 24th.

We purpose that no store in Canada shall be more liberal in dealing with customers. Preparations have been going on all over the store for doing more bnsiness this week than last. We have arranged to have plenty of extra help to serve the crowds of shoppers, and improvements have been made in the parcel and delivery system. Last Thurseday, especially, there were hundreds of disappointed customers. Of course a good many came late, and some of the advertised goods were sold out sooner than expected. It's as well to remember the old adage, "The early bird catches the worm," and to govern yourselves accordingly. Never was the power of low-priced leaders for Spot Cash so thoroughly exemplified as at our last Thursday's sale of "Specials."

This week will be another week of wonderful value-giving and great money-saving opportunities. It seems incredita'e that we should improve on the Bargain Triumphs we have been offering in Men's and Boys' Clothing, Boots, Shoes, Hats, Caps, Furnishings, &c., but we mean to do it this week—the preparatory week before Queen's Birthday. These are a few of the trade-winners for every day of this week:

TRIUMPHS IN ORDERED CLOTHING

Here's the bargain that should interest dressy men who prefer to have their garments made to order. In the regular way a suit made to your order from extra choice Tweeds and Cheviots, of the newest designs and colourings, would cost you $16 to $20, but for quick sales this week that will bring us the biggest Ordered Clothing trade we have ever known, we offer you your choice of this Special lot of new fabrics just arrived for

$12.70 the Suit
Made to Your Order.

These Suits will be cut and tailored by practical workmen, and perfect fit and satisfaction, or your money back—any day this week.

TRIUMPHS IN FURNISHINGS.

It will certainly not be good form to be out of style on Queen's Birthday. It won't do to be without a new pair of Shoes, a new Hat, a new Shirt and Collar and Cuffs, a new set of Underwear and Hosiery, or any other item of dress that goes to make the well-dressed man. We advise early shopping; many of these items will not last long at these prices:—

Men's $2.50 Fur Felt Soft Hats—newest spring shapes, colours pearl, fawn, drab and black. Special all this week—

$1.45.

Men's $3.50 Boots, Dongola, Kangaroo, Calf, Tan and Chrome, fine smooth linings, newest Toe Shapes, all sizes. Special all this week

$2.25.

Men's Fine Cambric, White or Coloured Shirts, extra heavy material, well laundried. Special all this week

49c.

You will find plenty of bright and attractive chances in every department similar to the above. Every statement of this advertisement will be backed up by the goods.

Hat Style!

"You may crush, you may shatter the Hat if you will,
But the STYLE of the maker will cling to it still."

The name on a Hat is like the mint mark on Gold—it stands for Quality, for Correct Shape and for the general excellence of STYLE which the wearer of a good Hat knows so well. The careful buyer knows that he cannot be too particular in the selection of his Hatter—and many a man has proven that his hat bills have been reduced one half by wearing a Hat with a reputation behind the name.

The Hats we sell are the very best products of the best makers in the world and THEY DO NOT COST ANY MORE than the hat without a name. When we tell you that we can sell you Hats that are made by Christy & Trees, of London; Stetson & Roelofs, of Philadelphia; and many other makers whose names represent the very highest standard of quality known to the Hat trade, for the same price as the unknown makers, it is not difficult to see wherein the saving comes. This week we are making a special display of PEARL FEDORAS, the very newest shapes, Plain or Fancy Band, and the prices begin at $1.25.

Morro Castle Lighthouse Showing a Beacon for Spain's Fleet.

THE CADIZ SQUADRON READY.

An American Boat Containing 18 Men Blown Up by Torpedoes—A Fight Expected at Manila—The Atlantic Fleets and Their Movements—Word From General Gomez.

New York, May 18.—A Key West special to the Evening World says the gunboat Wilmington reports that Morro Castle, at Havana, is again showing its lighthouse light, and that naval officers believe the Spanish fleet is expected.

The Cadiz Squadron.

Madrid, May 18.—A despatch from Cadiz to El Heraldo de Madrid says the port authorities at Cadiz announce that the reserve fleet, composed of the first-class battleship Pelayo, the armored cruisers Emperador Carlos V., and Alfonso XIII., the newly equipped cruisers Rapido and Patria, with the torpedo-boat destroyers Audaz and Procerpina, will be ready for sea this week.

Loss of 18 Lives.

Madrid, May 18.—An official despatch from Havana confirms the previous reports of the blowing up of a small naval vessel off Cardenas, resulting in the loss of 18 lives. The despatch says that the vessel was American.

Fight Expected at Manila.

New York, May 18.—A Hong-Kong special says that United States Consul Wildman has returned from Kowloon Bay, where he took the rebel leader General Aguinaldo in the despatch boat McCulloch, and arranged for the insurgents to storm Manila. A big fight is expected to occur shortly.

Some of the Lost Found.

New York, May 18.—A Washington special to the Journal says: Sampson is waiting in the Windward passage for the Spanish fleets. Schley's squadron is at Savannah. The information given out at the Navy Department that the Spanish fleet is loitering at the entrance to Maracaibo Bay, on the north coast of South America, is not believed. It is thought the Spaniards are making for the south coast of Cuba. As soon as the Navy Department can communicate with Sampson it is understood the monitors Puritan and Amphitrite will be ordered to Havana to maintain the blockade and help the light vessels of the blockading fleet should Cervera escape Sampson and Schley and reach Havana.

Word From Gomez.

Key West, Fla., May 18.—Another commission from General Maximo Gomez, the insurgent commander in-chief, arrived at Key West yesterday. Mr. John F. Jova, the former United States Vice-Consul at Sagua le Grande, who was landed by an American gunboat on the coast of Cuba about ten days ago, was picked up after an exciting experience with a Spanish gunboat, which the American gunboat chased into her harbor. Mr. Jova succeeded in reaching the camp of General Gomez and has brought back despatches from the latter to Commodore Watson. He reports that General Gomez and the several thousand troops with him are in the best of spirits and hopeful of a speedy ending of the present situation. Mr. Jova also reports that Spanish troops are moving westward, keeping in the cities. He made part of the journey along the coast in a small boat and was being chased by a Spanish gunboat when the American gunboat hove in sight.

Spain's New Ministers.

London, May 18.—A despatch to the Morning Leader from Madrid says: "The new Ministers will be Senor Romero Giron, Minister of Foreign Affairs; Senor Aunano, Minister of Marine, and the Duke of Almodovar, Minister of Public Works. The remainder will form a makeshift until the budget has been carried."

Advises a Quick Settlement.

Madrid, May 18.—Marquis Vega de Armijo, President of the Chamber, has advised Senor Sagasta to end the crisis as quickly as possible. Senor Monto Rios, President of the Senate, has offered his support, but does not desire to enter the new Cabinet. Senor Gamazo, who is ill, also declines to enter the Cabinet; but he promises to support any Ministry organized by Senor Sagasta. The general impression is that the Cabinet crisis will be protracted.

Philippine Relief Expedition.

New York, May 18.—A special cable to the World from Madrid says: Preparations for the relief expedition to be sent to the Philippine Islands are being hurried in both the Military and Naval Departments. Five battalions, each 1,200 strong, under 38 officers, are assembled at Cadiz, Barcelona and Valencia all ready or will be ready for embarkation this week.

The force will be commanded by General Camprubi. It is made up wholly of picked men who have served two years. Several batteries will go with the expedition and large supplies of stores and coal.

Warships to convoy the transports will go from Cadiz to Barcelona.

Spaniards Work by Night.

Cape Haytien, Hayti, May 18.—Two Spanish cruisers or gunboats are making their base of operations at Badiquiri or Guantanamo Bay. They are known to be moving every night in the waters between Hayti and Cuba. A Haytian schooner, plying between the Mole St. Nicholas, Jean Rabel and Glatinagua, reports, through an agent of the Cuban insurgents at Port de Paix, having met the Spanish vessels several times the past few weeks. The Spaniards are supposed to hide in the Cuban ports during the day and to go out cruising at night.

Who Is the Stranger?

New York, May 18.—The Evening World has a copyrighted despatch from Santa Lucia, West Indies, May 17. A large strange warship was sighted last night lying off the west coast of this island. Others were also seen to the northward of St. Lucia. These vessels are believed here to be a Spanish squadron watching for the United States battleship Oregon, which may pass close to this island on its way to Key West.

Will Retaliate at Home.

Madrid, May 18.—The newspapers here assert that letters from Spain, even letters containing cheques and other valuables, have been stopped at New York and destroyed. The papers demand that the Spanish Government make reprisals upon American residents in Spain, especially in the case of the correspondents of American newspapers.

Big Contract for Crackers.

St. Louis, Mo., May 18.—Captain Duval of the U. S. Commissary Department has made a contract with local bakeries for 610,000 pounds of army crackers. This is equivalent to 30,000 barrels of flour. On each cracker will be printed the words, "Remember the Maine."

YUKON NUGGETS.

Gold Hunters Bring News—First Vessels to Sail Will Bring Down $25,000,000—Accounts of Accidents.

Seattle, Wash., May 18.—J. G. Wilson of this city and James Wesley of Tacoma have arrived here from Dawson City, bringing with them 800 letters and $10,000 in gold dust.

Mr. Wilson states that the report that W. C. Gates, or "Swiftwater Bill," and three other persons were drowned, is not true. He met them three days after the report was brought to Dyea. A boat was wrecked at Thirty Mile, and all passengers were drowned. It was not known how many passengers the boat contained or who they were. Mr. Wilson estimates the amount of gold that will be brought down from St. Michael on the first steamers at $25,000,000. The bulk of it will be owned by between 100 and 125 men. Alexander McDonald alone will have nearly $3,000,000. The news of the Spanish war had not reached Dawson when Wilson and Wesley left.

AT THE BOTTOM OF THE RIVER

Lies One Half of the U. S. Revenue Cutter Gresham.

Ogdensburg, N.Y., May 18.—One half of the United States revenue cutter Gresham went to the bottom of the St. Lawrence River yesterday morning, and now rests on its side in 25 feet of water. The steamer has been cut in two and pontooned for passage through the Canadian canals to Montreal, where it was to be reunited and sent to join the navy. While waiting for the tugs to start down the river the bow section, 48 feet in length, suddenly careened to one side, forcing the pontoon under the water. The upper pontoon then shifted position, drawing the other pontoon away from the bow section and almost turning it bottomside up. Fourteen seamen were just finishing their breakfast in that end of the boat and were thrown into the water, but all escaped. The accident was caused by overloading the top deck, making the small section top heavy. The work was in charge of Naval Officer James W. Lee of Baltimore. The speedy ironclad steam yacht Commache, belonging to Mark Hanna, passed down the St. Lawrence Canal yesterday, en route to New York, to be turned over to the Government to be used for war purposes.

When Fishers May Fish.

Toronto, May 17.—The close season for fish is: Bass, April 15 to June 15; maskinonge, April 15 to June 15; pickerel (dore), April 15 to May 15; speckled trout, Sept. 15 to May 1; salmon trout, Nov. 1 to Nov. 30; white fish, Nov. 1 to Nov. 30. Both dates are inclusive, and fish may not be legally caught, sold or possessed. After June maskinonge may be caught in Rice Lake.

SILENT SALISBURY.

The Premier Would Not Discuss Mr. Chamberlain's Speech.

WHY WEI-HAI-WEI WAS OCCUPIED

English Opinion Veering on the Colonial Secretary's Anglo-Saxon Alliance Speech, But the Times Thinks His Plain Speaking Has Produced a Good Effect—Crispi's Foresight.

London, May 18.—In the House of Lords yesterday the Liberal leader, the Earl of Kimberley, in questioning the Government as to its intention in regard to Wei-Hai-Wei, referred to the recent speech of the Secretary of State for the Colonies, Mr. Joseph Chamberlain, said the alliance mentioned by the latter could only have been an alliance for mutual defense against Russia, and asked if the matter was so far advanced "that we may soon hear of a great alliance with a European power?" He explained that he could not conceive of an alliance with the United States, because it would be contrary to the policy the latter has always pursued, adding that unless the Government had made such approaches in the direction of an alliance that ere long the House may hear of its conclusion, nothing was more likely to prevent its conclusion than Mr. Chamberlain's speech.

The Marquis of Salisbury, in reply, declined to discuss Mr. Chamberlain's speech on the plea that he did not have it in his hands.

Referring to Wei-Hai-Wei, the Premier declared that port had been occupied "to encourage Chinese reform and to show Japan and Corea our naval power."

The Marquis of Salisbury said the Government's policy was the development of commerce and friendly relations with all nations.

THE LONDON TIMES

Does Not Think Spain's Threat of a General Conflagration Will Scare Uncle Sam Very Much.

London, May 18.—The Times, commenting editorially this morning on the discussions in Parliament yesterday and the Hispano-American situation, says:

"The United States will regard with equanimity the threat of general conflagration in Europe, in which Spain would be reduced to the role of a subordinate actor. It is the danger of any consequence of this kind, indeed, that will make continental powers think twice and thrice before interfering in the Spanish-American quarrel."

The editorial proceeds to refute the arguments offered by Mr. Michael Davitt against an Anglo-American alliance and says:

"In spite of Mr. Davitt's protest we take leave to express our conviction, as well as our hope, that Mr Chamberlain's plain speaking on a subject which has long occupied the minds of thoughtful men on both sides of the Atlantic, has produced a good effect."

MR. CHAMBERLAIN'S SPEECH

Is Now Regarded by Many as Having Been Indiscreet.

New York, May 18.—A special cable to the World from London says: The Russian Ambassador has been directed to demand from Lord Salisbury, it is reported, an explanation of Mr Chamberlain's assertion that Russia is ineligible for an alliance because of her perfidy.

The prevailing opinion now is that Mr. Chamberlain's speech in which he advocated an Anglo-Saxon alliance was a grievous indiscretion. It has excited jealousy and resentment throughout Europe, without promising to attain any compensatory advantage. His indirect calling the Czar "The Devil," is sure, it is believed, to give undying offence in St. Petersburg.

In the city of London (the financial district) yesterday great depression prevailed. Rumors were flying about that the Government proposes to offer a large issue of exchequer bills to form a war fund. A further rise in the bank rate was freely predicted.

Mr. Chamberlain's main and immediate object is known to be to force France to evacuate Broussa, West Africa, even at the risk of war.

Crispi Foresaw It.

New York, May 18.—A cable despatch to the World from Rome says: Ex-Premier Crispi, Italy's able statesman and diplomat, said in private conversation, talking of the British Colonial Secretary's suggesting an Anglo-American alliance: "England, foreseeing America's future prominence among nations, prudently wishes to profit thereby.

"I foresaw the great republic's coming influence years ago, and discussed with Caprivi, when Chancellor of Germany, the advisability of forestalling and stemming it by means of a commercial league of European nations, joint customs regulations and other measures.

"But now the torrent is upon us, and Europe must consent to see her future complications settled by a large admixture of American methods and principles."

Goderich Can't Afford to Wait.

Goderich, May 18.—As the Government refused to give orders for dredging the harbor until an amount is placed in the supplementary estimates to cover the expense, and as the delay is causing much damage to the Elevator Company, the dredge owners have commenced work, depending upon future payment, when the appropriation is made.

The Grand Trunk officials—Messrs. McGuigan, Fitzhugh, Ferguson and Hanna—were here yesterday, closing arrangements for the elevator and harbor track laying, which will begin to-day.

Not Exactly Right

"Not Sick Enough for the Bed or Well Enough For the Table."

A Minister's Wife Aptly Describes a Well Known Condition and Tells How It Was Overcome.

There are thousands of people in all walks of life, particularly at this season, who are "not exactly right" and yet are not sick, for whom a single bottle of Hood's Sarsaparilla would do a world of good, as it has done for others. Business and professional men as well as the busy housewife are especially susceptible to this debilitated feeling. It is the peculiar combination of the best tonic, anti-bilious, diuretic and alterative agents of the vegetable kingdom, carefully and scientifically combined, which enables Hood's Sarsaparilla to reach simple as well as serious ailments when all other medicines fail. Read Mrs. Hunt's letter:

"C. I. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass.:

"Dear Sirs:—I trust that the publication of my testimonial may serve to introduce Hood's Sarsaparilla to many who need physical improvement, and lead them to give it a trial. My husband, is a corpulent man weighing 230 pounds. He has taken Hood's Sarsaparilla every spring for the last eight years with good results. With the approach of spring he has had an indescribable feeling of ill health. 'Not sick enough for the bed or well enough for the table.' In a few words,

Rev. Granville Hunt

He Became Run Down

each year from constant mental and physical action. Hood's Sarsaparilla has relieved and invigorated him in every instance. Last month we purchased four bottles of the medicine. I took two of the bottles, being weak,

Without Appetite and Vigor.

After I had used half a bottle of Hood's I realized quite an improvement and soon felt quite comfortable. I gained so much that I recommended Hood's Sarsaparilla to my nearest neighbor, who has had malarial symptoms. She has also taken the medicine and its effect upon her for good was almost magic. She has now prevailed upon her husband to take it to build him up. I have also given Hood's Sarsaparilla to my two little girls, one nearly 3 years old, who is not strong, consequently languid, and the other, 15 years old, for pimples which indicate bad blood and disfigure her complexion. Both have been helped by Hood's Sarsaparilla which I am glad heartily to recommend." MRS. G. HUNT, 101 West 31st Street, N. Y. City.

EMILY.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

At the May meeting of L.O.L. No. 41, Emily, the following letter of condolence was sent to Mrs. Wm. Jackson on account of the death of her husband:

Emily, May 2nd, 1898.

Mrs. Wm. Jackson:

DEAR MADAM,—We, the officers and members of L.O.L. No. 41, Emily, extend to you and your family our heartfelt sympathy for the loss you have sustained by the death of your dearly beloved husband. But death is something that we all must meet sooner or later, and when you remember that the all gracious God sends all our trouble for some good purpose, we trust your grief will be somewhat appeased.

We, as members of this lodge shall miss his presence sorely, for he was one of our oldest members and always present with us, and ever ready to lend a helping hand if needed. His place in our midst will be hard to fill, but we trust that our motto and yours also shall be "Be content with what God sees fit to do."

Hoping and trusting that our Saviour in His infinite mercy shall protect and help you and your beloved family in your hour of sore bereavement, we remain, your loving friends.

Signed on behalf of this Lodge.

EMILY, May 2nd, 1898.

Mrs J. F. Elliott,

Dear Madam,—We, the officers and members of L.O.L. No. 41, Emily, extend to you and your dear family, our heartfelt sympathy for the loss you have sustained by the death of your dearly beloved son, Robert.

We know that you will feel his loss sorely on account of the suddenness of his demise, but you are well aware that our All-Gracious Father intended it for some good purpose, and we trust that when you look upon it in this way that your grief will be somewhat appeased.

We, as members of this Lodge, will miss him sorely, for his smiling countenance was always welcome in our midst. But we, and you also, should look upon this not as death, but as a short separation, after which we all shall meet, never to part again.

Hoping and trusting that God in his infinite mercy shall protect and keep you and your dear family in this your hour of sore bereavement, we remain, your loving friends.

MUNYON

TALKS ON

Dyspepsia.

HOW TO CURE YOURSELF

In all forms of stomach trouble Munyon's Dyspepsia Cure will promptly cure where there are such symptoms as pain or soreness in the stomach, indigestion or distress after eating, pressure and fullness in the stomach, shortness of breath, poor appetite, coated tongue, sour or bitter rising from the stomach, heartburn, wind on the stomach, constipation, dizziness, faintness and lost energy.

When these symptoms are associated with biliousness, yellow-coated tongue, nausea, bitter taste in the mouth and sallow skin take Munyon's Liver Cure in alternation with the Dyspepsia Cure, an hour apart. Where there is obstinate constipation keep the bowels open once a day by using Munyon's Constipation Cure until they become regular under the effect of the Dyspepsia Cure. When there are troublesome heart symptoms alternate Munyon's Heart Cure with the Dyspepsia Cure. If there is great nervousness or inability to sleep, alternate Munyon's Nerve Cure with the Dyspepsia Cure. If the blood is poor in quality alternate Munyon's Blood Cure and Dyspepsia Cure. By this plan of treatment one can eradicate the worst forms of stomach troubles and their complications, and make the cure permanent.

A separate specific for each disease. Sold by all druggists, mostly for 25 cents a bottle.

Personal letters to Prof. Munyon, 11 and 13 Albert street, Toronto, answered with free medical adice for any disease.

Government Bills.

Mr. Sifton presented a bill to amend the Indian Act, which dealt, among other things, with the cutting of timber on reserves. Indians who did not follow agricultural pursuits would be made liable to statute labor.

Mr. Blair introduced a bill to meet a defect in the Railway Act, by affording the Railway Committee power to prevent discrimination as between a railway and steamship company, as against a steamship company alone. These bills were read the first time.

The Chignecto Ship Railway.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier, replying to Mr. Lister, said the Government had had under consideration the application of the bondholders of the Chignecto Ship Railway for an extension of time in which to complete the road and earn the Dominion subsidy. The Government had come to the conclusion that the bonus could not be revived.

Sir Charles Tupper asked if the Government was not under a promise to consider the question of furnishing some compensation to the bondholders.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier said the Government had been approached by the bondholders with a view to securing some compensation if the bonus could not be revived. The matter was under consideration.

The Franchise Bill.

Sir Charles Tupper, on the third reading of the Franchise bill, moved to recommit it for the purpose of adding a clause providing that in the Provinces of Nova Scotia, New Brunswick and Manitoba an appeal shall be allowed from the final revision to a County Court judge or Superior Court judge.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier acknowledged that the Opposition leader had approached this question in a fair way. It was in no captious spirit, therefore, but for substantial reasons that the Government could not accept the amendment. Its adoption would strike at the very principle of the bill, viz., to accept the provincial lists. Moreover, he had doubts whether the Parliament had the right to adopt such a clause as would interfere with the preparation of the local lists. Personally he favored the system of judicial revision and would be glad to see it generally adopted. The Government, however, could not withdraw from the position it had assumed, but he ventured to think that the provinces themselves would furnish the remedy which Sir Charles had sought.

Mr. Sifton defended the action of the local revisers in Manitoba. He intimated that the Government of Manitoba would prepare a measure for an appeal to the judges from the local revision.

Mr. Fielding said that no grievances existed in Nova Scotia. Both political parties approved of the present system.

In answer to Mr. Davin the Solicitor-General said the amendment was not unconstitutional, but he looked upon it as want of confidence in the provincial authorities.

After some observations from Mr. Powell, Mr. Foster again strongly urged the importance of Federal control of the Dominion franchise, and, failing this, he wanted to see a revision of the lists by a competent court of law.

The amendment was defeated on a straight party vote by 88 to 48.

Mr. Clarke's Suggestion.

Mr. Clarke (West Toronto) said the operation of the bill would have an unfortunate effect in those cities of Ontario where the manhood suffrage boards sat. He urged that when the provincial lists in Ontario were more than six months old and an election was ordered there should be a new revision of the lists.

Mr. Fitzpatrick said Mr. Clarke had touched on a real difficulty in connection with the working of the Act in Ontario. The Government would accept Mr. Clarke's suggestion. Sir Wilfrid Laurier therefore moved to recommit the bill to accept the amendment of Mr. Clarke.

Mr. Ingram objected to the amendment. If it applied to all the cities in Ontario it would involve great hardships on candidates and on the municipalities. He thought it should be confined to Toronto and Hamilton.

Mr. Clarke said he was willing to accept this suggestion, whereupon Sir Wilfrid rose and said if Mr. Clarke did not want a general amendment he would withdraw his motion to go again into committee.

After recess the third reading of the Franchise bill was moved, and the Government undertook to bring to the attention of the Ontario Government the matter suggested by Mr. Clarke.

The bill was then read a third time and passed.

The Postal Bill.

Mr. Mulock moved the House into committee on the postal rates bill.

Mr. Mulock said the Dominion Post-Office Act had nothing to do with foreign rates. The latter depended on the Berne treaty, which allows any number of countries within it to make rates between themselves. For instance, the United States and Canada, or Canada and Great Britain could vary their rates. Moreover, it has this interpretation that any one country can vary its own outgoing rates, paying the loss, if any, itself. Acting on this he tried to get the rates to British countries reduced, but found an objection. Some portions of the Empire were ready for the arrangement, but others were not; it was hoped in time to get them all in.

During the course of the discussion Mr. Maclean said, as a newspaper publisher, he did not object to the newspaper postage, but he thought there should be no discrimination. The bill would give a decided advantage to American newspapers, which would contrive to pass free through the mails, while Canadian newspapers would pay postage.

The House was still in session when the reports closed.

MR. GLADSTONE.

The Grand Old Man's Death May Be Announced at Any Moment—Last Hours at His Bedside.

Hawarden, May 18.—An official bulletin issued at 5 p.m. yesterday says: "Mr. Gladstone has taken a serious turn for the worse. His death may be expected in 24 hours."

When offered medicine at 4.30 p.m. Mr. Gladstone exclaimed: "No, no." Apart from this he has seldom spoken except to commence a prayer. He is practically unconscious.

The End Is Near.

Mr. Gladstone's physician said yesterday afternoon: "The end is now near. Mr. Gladstone has taken little nourishment. He breathes heavily for a few minutes and then this breathing is hardly perceptible. Mrs. Gladstone is with her dying husband. She and others of the family do not leave the room for more than a few minutes at a time."

Rallied a Little.

Hawarden, May 18.—Mr. Gladstone has rallied a little and at 9.15 p.m. yesterday was sleeping calmly.

Mrs. Gladstone remains at the patient's bedside. The attending physician said in the morning: "It is a strange fact that when addressed in English Mr. Gladstone murmurs a few words in French, and some times seems to be trying to pray in French.

"He has had very serious attacks of the heart since yesterday evening, and there has been an altogether very rapid failure. He lies partially unconscious, is delirious and has what is medically called changed-stroke in breathing. He is no longer in pain."

Late last evening all the servants of the household were admitted to the sick room for a final farewell. They found Mr. Gladstone lying on his right side in deep sleep, as if dead. Each in turn touched his hand and left the room tearfully.

Still Sleeping.

Hawarden, May 18.—(12.45 a.m.)—Mr. Gladstone is still sleeping, and the family is arranging for the night watch.

Ominous Communications.

St. John's, Nfld., May 17.—The Government has been advised that, owing to complications between Great Britain and France, which are likely to result in war, and to the constant friction always developing along the French shore of Newfoundland, the Imperial authorities intend to fortify St. John's. The Colonial Ministry received by mail from Halifax yesterday communications from the military authorities there, asking for plans showing the extent and location of crown property there, the number of barracks available for the location of troops, the position of quarries where granite is obtainable, the number of contractors who could undertake the building of fortifications, and the facilities for prompt construction.

50TH ANNIVERSARY

GRAND MASONIC FUNCTION HELD IN THE OPERA HOUSE

Fair Women and Gallant Escorts Make a Pretty Scene.

VISIT FROM GRAND MASTER GIBSON.

Corinthian Lodge, A. F. & A. M. Fittingly Commemorates the Fiftieth Anniversary of Its Organization by an "At Home" Held on a Sumptuous Scale in the Opera House Last Evening—Hundreds of Guests in Attendance—Glionna's Toronto Orchestra Present.

"An unqualified success from every viewpoint" was the universal verdict of those who had the privilege of attending the "At Home" given by the officers and members of Corinthian Lodge, A. F. and A. M. last evening in the Opera House. The decorations were not only profuse but very costly. Loops of neutral shaded bunting were draped around the walls in graceful folds, being caught up with electric lights of varied hues. The stage was a mass of palms and foliage. Just in front of it, on a raised platform was Glionna's famous orchestra, of Toronto, which discoursed sweet music during the evening. In all there were nine hundred and thirty-three invitations issued, and the acceptances would probably amount to over six hundred. Of the many successful affairs of the kind held in Peterborough none passed off more pleasingly than last evening's function, nor has the Opera House ever been graced by fairer women or more attractive costumes, many of which merited special mention. The scene was further enlivened by the fact that the conventual dress suits of the men were relieved by a large number of military uniforms.

BRIEF SKETCH OF CORINTHIAN LODGE.

This brilliant affair was a fitting commemoration of so important an event as the establishment of the Masonic fraternity in Peterborough, and while the brethren of the craft are not given to parading their good work, or to ostentatious display, yet it will not be amiss to suggest that the Masonic Order in Peterborough, in the past half century, has shared in numerical progress and practical elaboration of its principles the progress that in that time has marked the town, the province, Canada and the world. Fifty years is a long space and many changes have taken place. While the principles of the Order remain steadfast, the personnel has met in this time many changes. Not one of those who, as charter members, assisted at the laying of the "corner stone" of the Order in Peterborough forty years ago, is living today.

On the 17th of May, 1848, Masonry was established in Peterborough on Corinthian columns, Corinthian Lodge No. 101 being instituted under a warrant from the Grand Lodge in England. A mention of the first officers will revive many recollections among the elder citizens of the town, for though they have all passed away they, in their day, occupied prominent positions and were associated with the progress and leading interests of the town. Mr. George Cunningham, who built the residence on Sherbrooke street now occupied by Mr. Thos. Henry, was the first Master. Dr. John Gilchrist, associated prominently with the early history of the town and country, was Senior Warden. Rev. R.J. C. Taylor, at one time rector of Peterborough and principal of our first Grammar School, was Junior Warden; Dr. Hay, father of Mr. T. A. S. Hay, was secretary; Rev. J. H. Dunsford, father of Mr. Geo. Dunsford, was Chaplain; W. H. Weller, brother of his honour Judge Weller, was Senior Deacon; John Lesperance was Junior Deacon and Wm. Sutherland, Tyler.

THE ORGANIZATION MEETING

was held in a room in the Court House, Mr. John Rosby, who was then gaoler, giving the use of a room over the present Judge's Chambers. During its early years Corinthian Lodge, figuratively speaking, dwelt in tents, that is, they had no fixed abode or at least the place of communication was frequently changed. From the Court House the lodge removed to what was at that time known as the Oddfellows' Hall, Rubidge street, afterwards converted into the residence of the late Robert Nicholls: the next habitate of the Order was over John Glenn's store on George street, west side, between Hunter and Simcoe streets; the next was in a building belonging to the late Charles Perry, over the present site of China Hall, which was occupied till a fire occurred. Then the Sons of Temperance Hall was occupied for a short time. Then the late W. A. Scott erected a building upon the present site of China Hall and here the workrooms of the Lodge were established and occupied till their removal about ten years ago to the present commodious, elegantly furnished and completely equipped lodge rooms, which occupy the whole of the second floor of the Dunsford block, Water street. Of the progress and history of Corinthian Lodge for the recent years, all the members of the Craft are well informed. It has been one of progress and harmony, and the importance of its standing and membership were shown by the elaborate and successful character of the celebration of its fiftieth anniversary of last night.

In connection with

it may be mentioned that the visitors on that occasion were Rev. Mark Burnham, North Star Lodge, Amherst; John Brown, of Tyrone, Harmony Lodge, Kettley district, Johnstown, C. W. Robert Larmour, of Lodge 103, Newtown, Breda, Belfast, Ireland.

The age of Corinthian Lodge is not fairly expressed by its number. It operated under the English charter till the year 1859, when it surrendered its English warrant and joined the Grand Lodge of Canada, when Colonel Wm. Mercer Wilson was Grand Master. The proposed change of jurisdiction excited an animated but friendly controversy, the opinions of members being sharply defined in regard to the change. A lodge in Guelph formed under the Canadian jurisdiction subsequent to the institution of Corinthian Lodge was numbered 13, so that Corinthian Lodge, under other circumstances, would have been entitled to at least as low a number as 12.

Tempora mutant et nos mutamur in illis. In its earlier history Corinthian Lodge took on a more social and festive character, due no doubt to the lesser number of entertainments and social functions in our more primitive days. The festival of St. John the Evangelist, in December, was almost invariably celebrated by a grand ball, and St. John the Baptist's festival by an excursion, banquet or some similar function.

ON ONE OCCASION

there was an excursion to Fenelon Falls by the steamer Ogemah. On another occasion the directors of the old Cobourg Railway tendered a complimentary excursion to the Lodge and the trip was made across Rice Lake to Cobourg.

For a time—up to 1850—the officers of the lodge had to go to Cobourg for installation. Judge Dennistoun was the first master installed in Peterborough. The present membership of the lodge is about 80. In 1850, when Mr. J. J. Hall was made a Mason—when the meetings were held in the Oddfellows' Hall, Rubidge street,—there were about a dozen members, and, of course, in 1849, when Mr. A. H. Peck, of Ashburnham, was "made" in the Court House rooms, the membership was smaller.

THE BALL ROOM

began to fill shortly after eight o'clock, as it was understood that the preliminaries would begin sharp on time. The gallery was filled first, a large number spending the evening in admiring the dresses, listening to the music and watching the dancing from that point of vantage. At about half past eight Mr. R. M. Dennistoun, Master of Ceremonies, entered the room at the head of a procession composed of the members of the two local Masonic lodges and a large number of visiting brethren, who had formed up at the lodge room and marched to the opera house in a body. On entering the room the younger members took precedence of the older brethren of the craft. After marching and countermarching, two long double lines were formed, reaching from the door to the stage. Through these the committee walked and took up a position on the platform, with the Hon. Sec'y. W. Bro. D. H. Burritt in the chair, the other members being W. Bro. A. H. Peck, R. W. Bro. Rev. V. Clementi, V. W. Bro. J. J. Lundy, V. W. Bro. H. C. Winch, W. Bro. R. P. Boucher, R. W. Bro. E. H. D. Hall, W. Bro. R. A. Morrow, R. W. Bro. R. E. Wood, W. Bro. J. E. Belcher, W. Bro. A. Dawson, W. Bro. E. A. Peck, W. Bro. T. A. Hay, W. Bro. T. E. Bradburn, W. Bro. R. G. Kingan, V. W. Bro. R. M. Dennistoun, W. Bro. W. D. Parker, W. Bro. W. F. Johnston, W. Bro. A. Stevenson, W. Bro. H. A. Morrow, Bro. F. D. Mackay, S. W., and Bro. John Beatty, J.W.

Escorted by the Master of Ceremonies,

MR. WM. GIBSON, M.P.,

Grand Master of the Grand Lodge of Ontario, entered the hall and, accompanied by Mr. E. T. Malone, Deputy Grand Master of the Grand Lodge, proceeded to the platform, where a hearty welcome was extended to them and to the other guests of the evening by the chairman, who then called on then called on the brethren to salute the Grand Master with the Grand honours. Right Worshipful Bro. R. E. Wood then read the following address of welcome:—

M. W. Bro. Wm. Gibson, Esq. W.P., Grand Master of the G. L. of Canada:

M. W. Sir:—The Master, officers and members of Corinthian Lodge, No. 101, extend to you their warmest greetings upon this the fiftieth anniversary of the foundation of their Lodge.

We have welcomed to Peterborough several of your predecessors in the Grand East, and have on more than one occasion enjoyed the pleasure of your presence in our midst.

This is, however, the first occasion upon which we have been able to greet you as the Chief Head and Ruler of the Craft, and we beg to assure you of our loyalty to Grand Lodge and our respect and esteem for yourself as its Grand Master.

We celebrate to-night our 50th anniversary and in so doing it is our pride and pleasure to remember that our first half century has been passed under the glorious reign of Her Most Gracious Majesty Queen Victoria, loyalty to the State and the Rulers thereof being one of the fundamental principles of our Order. It is with feelings of gratitude that we remember the many marks of favour bestowed upon our fraternity by Her Majesty the Queen, and by H. R. H. the Prince of Wales, who has so long presided over the Craft as the Grand Master of the Grand Lodge of England.

During the 50 years which have passed away we have seen many rulers of the Craft in Canada, and we realize that the long line of distinguished men who have worn the compasses in the Grand East have guarded well the landmarks of our Ancient Order. The progress of Masonry and the history of the Order testify to this, and we believe that at no period in the history of the craft have peace, and harmony, prosperity and progress been more manifest.

The past fifty years have been full of light and shadow in Corinthian Lodge. Of the charter members none remain. Our oldest members W. Bro. A. H. Peck joined the Lodge forty-nine years ago and Bro. J. J. Hall forty-eight years ago, but time has not dimmed the light of Masonry for them and they are still faithful to the trust reposed in them, and there are no members of the lodge who are more welcome at our gatherings.

Our Chaplain, who will continue in that office so long as he is spared, has given many years of his life and much of his time and talents to Corinthian Lodge and has fittingly represented us as an officer of Grand Lodge. It is therefore but right, M. W. Sir, that we should mention to you the name of R. W. Bro. the Rev. Vincent Clementi, who is prevented by his advancing years from being with us this evening.

We also remember with feelings of gratification that four of the former members of Corinthian Lodge have attained the exalted rank of Grand Master, viz: M. W. Bro. William Henry Weller, M. W. Bro. Kivas Tully, M. W. Bro. Thomas White and M. W. Bro. William Nassau Kennedy, the three former in the Grand Lodge of Canada and the latter in the Grand Lodge of Manitoba.

We are profoundly thankful to G.A.O.U. for the blessings vouchsafed our Lodge and its members during the past fifty years, and we look forward to the future with hope and confidence. If true to the principles of our Order we cannot fail to leave the world better than we found it.

As an honoured guest, M. W. Sir, it is with pleasure that we receive you to-night. Your distinguished labours as a Mason and a public man mark you as a worthy successor in the illustrious ranks of our Grand Masters.

To-night we ask you to join with us in our festivities. Our entertainment takes a form which enables us to present to you our wives, our daughters and our sweethearts. They are not often with us in our assemblies, and are naturally curious, as becomes their sex, as to what we do in their absence. Will you impart to them this information that we are always concerned about their welfare and that we only wish in addition to our other secrets we had more thoroughly mastered the secret of making everybody enjoy themselves to the fullest extent.

D. H. BURRITT, W. M.
W. M. BROWNE, Secretary.

Peterborough May 17th, 1898.

The Grand Master replied as follows: "I thank you most heartily for the kind and flattering address which you have presented to me for the magnificent reception you have tendered me to-night. As Deputy Grand Master, a little over three years ago, it was my good fortune to visit a Lodge of Instruction in your beautiful town, and I have not forgotten the many kindnesses that I then received at your hands. As head of the Craft in this jurisdiction it affords me the greatest pleasure to again be with you and to assist in the celebration of the of the foundation of Corinthian Lodge. Many changes have taken place in the history of the Craft since the organization of your Lodge, but its progress has always been upward and onward and was never more prosperous than at the present time. The Lodges generally throughout the jurisdiction have contributed in no small degree towards this result, and none more so than your own. Your lodge roll will be enriched with the names of brethren who in their day and time rose to eminence and worthily occupied prominent positions in the Order. They have ceased to labour, but the work they did is still fresh in our memories and fond recollections still cluster round their names. I thoroughly appreciate your very kind allusions to my labours as a Mason and a public man. As to the latter I say nothing, but my duties as Grand Master have been made light and pleasant for me during my whole term by my brethren in every part of the Province. I congratulate you upon the fact that you have invoked the aid of the ladies in order that your entertainment may be crowned with greater success and I am glad to say this is not by any means the first time that my happiness has been increased by their presence at our Masonic gatherings.

I regret very much that my old friend and brother, P. G. Chaplain Clementi is not able to be with us to-night. No name is better known or more respected in Grand Lodge than his, though no longer able to attend its communications.

I HEARTILY JOIN

with you in thanks to the Great Architect of the Universe for his watchful care over the Lodge from its foundation to the present time and trust that He may may still protect and guide you as the years roll by.

My best wishes go out towards you all, my warmest thanks are given to you for the affectionate and loving greeting you have given me as your Grand Master.

Worshipful Bro. H. C. Rogers was then called upon by the chairman, and read the appended address to Past Grand Master Kivas Tully:

M. W. Bro. Kivas Tully, P. G. M., Grand Lodge of Canada:

MOST WORSHIPFUL SIR,—The W. M. Officers and members of Corinthian Lodge, No. 101, extend to you a very hearty welcome on this auspicious occasion. We desire in the first place to offer our congratulations upon your elevation to the exalted position which you now occupy in the Grand Lodge of Canada. We feel that the long list of illustrious Past Grand Masters has received a new lustre from your election to the highest rank which it is in the power of the Grand Lodge to bestow, and we trust that you may long be spared as one of the chief rulers and governors of the Craft.

Your presence this evening is peculiarly appropriate as we remember with pleasure the fraternal relations which have existed between yourself and Corinthian Lodge during the fifty years which are brought to a close this evening.

An examination of our records discloses the fact that on the 7th of May, 1851, as Senior Warden of the Provincial Grand Lodge, you paid your first visit to our Lodge and assumed the gavel in the East. There were present on that occasion W. Bro Robert Dennistoun, W. M., W. Brother George Cunningham, P.M., W. Bro. Andrew C. Otty, P. M., Bro. Wm. Bell, S. W., Bro. Robert Ridley, J. W., Bro. Daniel Griffith, Treasurer, Bro. Thomas Hay, Secretary, Bro. Rev. James H. Dunsford, Chap., Bro. J. F. Aibro, S. D., Bro. Rev. John Hilson, J. D., Bros. James Froode and Samuel Strickland, Stewards, Bro. Hartley Dunsford, I.G., Bro. E. S. Vinden, Tyler, and Bros. J. J. Hall, Dr. George Burnham, sr., Wm. Virard and A. W. Kempt.

To these brethren—old friends of yours—we owe a debt of gratitude, for upon the foundation laid by them fifty years ago the strong superstructure of to-day has been erected.

With the exception of Brother John J. Hall, all have passed away, but their memory is green in our hearts and it will be our chief aim in the future to cultivate those Masonic virtues which you and they have so faithfully displayed in the past. On the 28th August, 1852, you became a member of our Lodge and for many years took an active interest in its affairs and frequently presided as W. M. and conducted its ceremonies.

It is with pride and confidence that we look forward to the future. The record of the past half century testifies to the fact that our Ancient Order, founded upon principles of eternal truth and justice has a divinely appointed work to do in the world, that its influence is increasing widespread, and that Masonry has flourished because the practice of its principles conduce to the welfare of mankind.

In greeting you to-night M. W. Sir, as our oldest friend and honoured guest it is appropriate that you should be informed that our youngest member is your grandson, who became an entered apprentice at the last regular communication of our Lodge. This is not the first occasion upon which we have admitted the descendants of our older members of the third generation and we feel that it must be a source of gratification to you to realize that the young men of the present day can have no higher ambition than to imitate the example and cultivate the virtues which their grandsires have displayed.

In conclusion we hope that you may be blessed with continued health and happiness, that the Great Architect of the Universe may reward your labours with peaceful rest and quiet enjoyment in your declining days, that we may often meet together upon the square (before the gavel sounds) and that finally we may all be admitted to the grand lodge above where the World's Great Architect lives and reigns for ever and ever.

(Signed) D. H. BURRITT, W. M.
M. W. BROWN, Sec.

In his reply to the complimentary references made to him, Mr. Tully spoke as follows:

W. Brother D. H. Buritt, W. M. Officers and Members of Corinthian Lodge, No. 101, G.R.C., It is with much pleasure and fraternal gratification that I am enabled with the blessing of Divine Providence to accept your kind invitation to a Masonic ball, celebrating the Semi-Centennial of the Corinthian Lodge, honoured as it is by the presence of the Most Worshipful, the Grand Master, William Gibson.

I cordially thank you for the congratulations on the honour conferred on me by the M. W. the Grand Lodge, at the last annual meeting, on the recommendation of the Grand Master. As this is the first opportunity, at a meeting of the Craft, which I have had to thank him for the kind expressions with which he prefaced the recommendation, I now do so most sincerely, and to assure him that when he leaves the chair as representative of the Royal Solomon, he will carry with him the respect and esteem of all the brethren of the Grand Lodge of Canada. I need not say it afforded me much pleasure in time past, to which you allude in your address, to assist in the Craft work of Corinthian Lodge, then in its infancy, and it is with much regret that I notice that of all the members present on the 7th of May, 1851, when I presided in your Lodge, that only Bro. John J. Hall has survived, and I can join in the expression that "their memory is green in our hearts." I remember them all—among them was my father-in-law, the late Samuel Strickland, of Lakefield. I cannot help noticing that my esteemed friend, the late Judge Dennistoun was W. M. on that occasion, and if my memory serves me right I had the honour of initiating his predecessor, the late Brother George Hall, a respected Judge a genial companion, after I was elected a member of your Lodge in 1852.

It is also a matter of much satisfaction to me personally to be informed that my grandson, A. G. T. Lefevre, was initiated at the last meeting of the Lodge, and that "other descendants of your oldest members of the third generation have joined the Craft," and I assure them that from a life long experience as an active member of the Order, they will never regret the time when they were brought to Masonic light.

I also cordially thank you and the officers and members of Corinthian Lodge for your kind wishes respecting my health and happiness, and to assure you and them that at anytime, so long as the great Architect of the Universe spares me health and strength, I shall be most happy to assist in the Lodge work, though my offer may not be required, as from the reports of the D.D.G. Masters from time to time I gather that the foundation laid by the deceased brethren of half a century ago, to whom allusion is made in your address, "the strong superstructure of to-day has been erected," and your work is considered perfect.

Worshipful Masters, officers and brethren, I wish you one and all continued happiness and prosperity, and that you may with your wife, daughters and sweethea, enjoy Masonic balls in the future, and to assure you again that it affords me much pleasure to meet you all on this auspicious occasion.

After a flask light of the assembled guests had been taken by Mr. R. M. Roy, the music struck up, and dancing began, to be carried on until a programme of twenty-three numbers and extras was concluded.

The supper was furnished by Albert Williams, of Toronto, and was served from eleven o'clock continuously. The menu was one at which the most fastidious could not cavil, and reflected great credit on the caterer. An efficient corps of twenty or thirty Toronto waiters, supplemented by a number from town, looked after the tables with despatch, and no guest was kept waiting long. The supper was served in the ante-room adjoining the opera house, and the guests were accommodated in relays of about eighty at a time. The tables were bright with cut glass, silver, flowers and fruit, and presented a most pleasing appearance.

CONCERNING OVERWORK.

Natural Laws Not Suspended In Any Man's Favor, Says Mr. Biffleton.

"Work," said Mr. Biffleton, "just good, plain, solid, hard work, never killed anybody, but overwork may. It may be set down as a general proposition that work done in overtime is overwork. And it is certain that this kind of work doesn't pay. There may be some little temporary profit from it at the outset, but in the long run there is not only no profit in it, but it may result in a great loss.

"I suppose that most men think there will be an exception in their case; that they can stand it, anyhow, but the time is sure to come when they will discover that the earth keeps right on turning, just the same; that natural laws are not suspended on their account; that, in fact, there is no exception in their case and that if they crowd themselves too hard they must pay the penalty.

"There are, of course, situations in which we expect to turn loose and work without regard to time, but every man knows when such occasions arise. A man doesn't want to stint his time, either. It won't do him any hurt to begin a minute or two before the whistle blows, and when he works he ought to plug into it for all he knows how, as he will if he is anybody. But when he has put in a good, stout day's work he ought to stop. It won't pay him to work overtime. A fresh and vigorous man can do more work in eight hours than a tired man can do in 12. And he has this further tremendous advantage, that he keeps his edge, while the tired man is all the time becoming more tired and is drawn out thinner and thinner until he peters out.

"In this condition the tired out man may be useful as an object lesson. He may even be of some service as a missionary, but he will not be of very much use to himself."—New York Sun.

The man who stands idly by and sees the life fading out of his wife's face, sees her health going, sees her becoming old and faded and wrinkled when she should still be in the perfect enjoyment of vigorous, useful health, is either less than a man or else does not know of the one remedy which will bring her back to health and strength. Perhaps her husband cannot persuade her to go to her doctor, because she naturally dreads the inevitable "examinations" and "local treatments." He can persuade her, if she needs persuasion, to take Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. This truly wonderful medicine has cured hundreds of women after the best physicians have failed. It has been in constant use and tested every day for thirty years. It isn't an experiment, there are no chances about it. It is a certain cure for all the derangements, weaknesses, irregularities and displacements of internal organs peculiar to women.

Who Made the First Jokes.

A correspondent of the Cleveland Plain Dealer wrote to that newspaper requesting information concerning the seven original jokes upon which all modern humor is said to be founded. The editor admits that the question is a difficult one to answer and then remarks:

If it were a question of fundamental subjects of humor, instead of the actual jokes themselves, the task of rooting them out might not be so difficult. Perhaps we may learn later on that Epictetus had prepared a list of 13 Hellenic subjects for mirth in which the original seven were included. Then we may be told that Dysippus, the Thracian, took Epictetus sharply to task because he omitted the goat, the animal being a valued Thracian product. Perhaps Simonis, the philosopher, can be credited with putting official approval on the mother-in-law, the mouse and the mule. Perhaps the spring poet, the milliner's bill, the tongue of woman, the waking of the baby and the young man asking the dreaded father for his daughter's hand came in a few cycles later. That's more than seven, of course, but they were not all fundamental. And when you stop to consider this point it might be well to ask where the bicycle joke comes from? Oh, yes, here it is. You remember that exquisite bit of humor of the consequential fly on Jove's chariot wheel—and there you have the original cycle joke.

The need of a good Spring Medicine is almost universal and Hood's Sarsaparilla exactly meet this need. Be sure to get Hood's.

LOCOMOTIVE WHIMS.

AN OLD ENGINEER'S QUEER STORY OF ERRATIC MACHINES.

The Case of Josh Martin and Gad Lyman, Two of the Early Engineers on the Erie Road, and Their Experience With Engines Nos. 71 and 100.

"It sounds queer to say that locomotives have their likes and dislikes," said a veteran engineer, "but it actually does seem sometimes as if they had, and all the old time engineers believe it. I've seen locomotives when they acted as if they were human beings. They get the sulks and have balky streaks, and when they're in such moods you can't make time with them, do what you may. You might say it was the fault of the engineer that such engines did not make their time, but I have known as good engineers as ever mounted a footboard who have been transferred from locomotives placed in their hands to run because the locomotives would not make their time, but which under the hands of another engineer neither as skillful nor as experienced would never run behind.

"Take the case of Josh Martin and Gad Lyman, two of the early engineers on the Erie railroad, and neither of them without a superior in his craft at that day. One time a new locomotive was turned out of a Paterson shop for the Erie, and Josh Martin wanted her the worst way. He ran on the Delaware division, from Port Jervis to Susquehanna. The superintendent, though, wanted the locomotive for the eastern division, between Port Jervis and Piermont, so he put her in charge of Gad Lyman. Gad ran her, or rather he tried to run her, but she had made up her mind about something, and she wouldn't make any kind of time for Gad. She would stall without provocation and acted contrary generally. Gad tried her for a week and then reported the locomotive 'No good,' and she was condemned to run the gravel train. She worked as balky and sulky as ever, though, and at last the superintendent ordered her to the scrap heap.

"Josh Martin heard of the fate the locomotive had been sentenced to, and he came down the road a-flying. He begged to have the engine, for he liked her, and said he was sure she would do all right with him. The superintendent yielded to Josh's appeal and told him to take the locomotive and give it a trial. Josh did so. He mounted the cab at Piermont and when he opened her up she went like a bird. She made the trip to Port Jervis quicker than any locomotive had ever made it before, and Josh Martin ran her for years on the Delaware division after that, and always on time as easy as could be. That locomotive was the old 71, and she is remembered yet by all the old engineers and is well known to the younger ones by the tradition of the road.

"When Gad Lyman gave up that locomotive because she wouldn't work under him, he was put in charge of another new locomotive. This locomotive was a favorite of President Loder of the Erie. She behaved the best kind, and Gad was tickled all but to death with her. When the date came round for opening the railroad through to Dunkirk, Gad and his locomotive were chosen for the distinction of pulling the first through train from the Hudson to Lake Erie. The occasion was to be a historic one, and Gad was proud. But what did that locomotive do but just get the sulks. I don't know why. Neither did Gad. She did, though, and acted up so outrageous that she was an hour behind schedule time when she jogged into Port Jervis with the train only 70 miles from the start. Gad Lyman was the worst feeling man, I s'pose, that ever had a locomotive kick with him, and he felt worse yet when he was ordered to take his balky engine off and saw Josh Martin hook on to the train with old 71 locomotive that Gad had turned in as no good. Josh and old 71 yanked the train through with bells on.

"And what do you think Gad Lyman's feelings must have been when he hooked on to another train to run back to Piermont to find the engine that had balked and sulked so outrageously with him on what ought to have been the greatest trip on record just turn in and let herself out so cheerful and lively on the way back that it was all Gad could do to hold her in? Now, how do you account for that? It is true, and a matter of record. Gad was so cut up by this conduct of the locomotive that he applied to have her exchanged for some other one, although she worked like a thoroughbred ever since the day she refused to pull the great pioneer through special. The company could not make the change that Gad wanted, and he refused to run that locomotive any longer and quit the road. This locomotive was the 100.

"When Gad gave her up, she was placed in charge of Bill Lyman, Gad's brother. There wasn't a better engineer on the road than Bill, and he knew that make of locomotive particularly, for he had worked in the shops and helped make 'em. But what did this rantankerous locomotive 100 do? She sulked with Bill from the time he took her. Sometimes she'd spurt a little, but if she did she made up for it by lagging worse than ever. Bill worried along with her for nearly a year, but she wouldn't work under him at all. One day in the spring of 1852 she balked for certain at Chester station, just as she was pulling out with a train. Bill pounded her, for he was mad, but it seemed as if she actually shook her head like an ugly horse. Bill socked it right on to her, and suddenly she gave a spurt ahead exactly like the quick start of a balky horse. Then everything roared and shook around that place for a second or two. The vicious old 100 had exploded her boiler. She tore and riddled herself frightfully, but the horror of it all was that she had killed poor Bill Lyman and his fireman. Gad Lyman lived many years after that, but he always regretted his abandoning of that locomotive, for he said that if he had staid by her there was no doubt that she would have ended her days usefully and in peace and the awful tragedy of her ending would not have been."—New York Sun.

MODERN SABER DUELS.

Unusual Weapon Used In the Cavallotti Fight.

The saber duel has never been very familiar on the record, and of late years its absence has been even more conspicuous than it was. The reason for this is no doubt that the saber is not every duelist's weapon, and that when it happens to suit both combatants the results are apt to be of a decidedly serious character. The weapon was seen oftenest on the field of honor perhaps during the disturbed period in France which followed the restoration, when there were any number of Napoleon's unconverted old officers prowling about in military buttoned frocks, eating their hearts out on half pay and always spoiling for a fight. In this duel the thrust does not seem to have been barred, as it sometimes is. It was the thrust—the point, anyhow—which killed Cavallotti, and in a way, too, which constitutes a record. A thrust in the mouth which slits the tongue and severs the windpipe and ends all in five minutes is not to be found in the books very readily. In the Sirey-Durepaire saber duel, fought in November of 1835, the point again proved fatal, Durepaire being run right through the liver. Seven years later his slayer had the life thrust out of him by Caumartin in Brussels.

In the Castenschiold-Rahden duel at Copenhagen in July, 1890, thrusting was forbidden. The saber seems to have been chosen because both parties were cavalrymen. Castenschiold was a lieutenant in the Danish dragoons. The Baron de Rahden had been in the Russian service. The difference arose at Busch's circus, where the baron's wife was engaged as an equestrian performer. There was a keen contest of but brief duration. The baron was cut across the forehead. The flow of blood half blinded him, and the seconds intervened.

The Millot-Baruti duel, fought in Belfort between two French subalterns, might have had more serious consequences. Lieutenant Millot got a slash across the arm which severed all the great blood vessels. He was very nearly dead before the bleeding could be stopped, and it took two mortal hours to stitch him up.

In Hungary the saber duel has been by no means unpopular in its time. The last was fought only a few years back between two officers of the Honved army, also of the cavalry arm. The point stroke was barred, but Lieutenant Lazer, it is stated, had his sword arm neatly lopped off.—Pall Mall Gazette.

A man must reap as he sows. If he sows ill-health he will reap ill-health. If he neglects his health the weeds of disease will grow up and choke it.

It is a daily and hourly marvel that men will recklessly neglect their health, when a moment's thought should tell them that they are courting death. It lies in most every man's power to live to a green old age. If a man would only take the same care of himself that he does of his horse, or cow, or dog, he would enjoy good health. When a man owns a hundred-dollar horse, and it gets sick, he does not waste any time about doctoring him up. When his garden gets full of weeds, he doesn't delay about rooting them out, for he knows they will choke out his vegetables. When he is out of sorts, sick, nervous, headachey, has no appetite and is restless and sleepless at night, he pays little attention to it. The result is consumption, nervous prostration or some serious blood or skin disease. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is the best of all medicines for hard working men. It gives edge to the appetite, facilitates the flow of digestive juices, invigorates the liver and purifies and enriches the blood. It is the great blood-maker and flesh-builder. It cures 98 per cent. of all cases of lingering coughs, bronchial and throat affections, weak lungs, bleeding from lungs and kindred affections. Do not wait until the lungs are too far wasted to admit of being cured.

"As you know, five years ago the doctors had given me up to die with consumption," writes Mr. E. G. McKinney of Deepwater, Fayette Co., W. Va. "I took treatment from Dr R. V. Pierce, and am entirely well now. I had taken steadily, as directed, his 'Golden Medical Discovery.'"

Dr Pierce's Pleasant Pellets cure constipation. One little "Pellet" is a dose.

ENGLISH BAYONETS.

AN INTERESTING ACCOUNT OF HOW THEY ARE MADE.

The Process From the Raw Material to the Finished Product—Their Manufacture Is Almost as Fatal to Life as Their Use In Times of War.

A writer in the London News, in an account of a visit to the Enfield Small Arms factory, gives the following interesting account of how bayonets are made:

It is a big business, this bayonet making. The raw material comes in the form of bars of steel, which are cut up into the necessary lengths and rolled. The strips of steel are then borne off to a tremendous press, which stamps one end for the "tang," and from there they go to the grinding department of the factory. Here, in the first place, a rather lumbering looking "troughing" machine automatically scours the edges with emery until the embryo sword bayonet will just fit into a gauge or "trough." This insures that the metal is exactly the proper size and shape.

Next comes the grinding by hand on the big grindstones, of which there are 80 in one long skylighted building, each weighing, when new, a couple of tons, though of course they rapidly wear away, as well as the grinders employed at them. These men sit astride their seats as they would on horseback, bending toward the whetstones that whirl round at a speed of something like 3,000 times a minute, when they are full size—about two-thirds of a mile a minute.

Woe betide the unlucky grinder if there should happen to be a flaw in the stone. Whirling round at such a pace the centrifugal strain upon it is, of course, very great, and if the stone were not pretty sound it would fly to pieces, as they are known to do occasionally in such places. There has been at least one occurrence of the kind at Enfield. Such a burst up is as destructive in the line of motion as a cannon would be, and the stones in this building are arranged so as to minimize the mischief of such a mistake. Each is inspected every morning before starting work.

It is not the bursting of the stones, however, that constitutes the greatest peril to the workmen here. Men cannot be bending over sword blades that are being rubbed away in brilliant trails of sparks all day long year after year without getting accumulations of steel dust into the lungs, and if the truth could be known it might be found that the making of the weapons for European armies and navies is almost as deadly as the use of them. It is said, however, to be partly the men's own fault. A good deal of the mischief might be obviated by the use of magnetized respirators, but they won't wear them or goggles for the eyes, either.

All the work here is done by the piece, and the men are of opinion that these protectors seriously interfere with their earnings, so that, like a good many more of us in different ways they kill themselves in order that they may live. Probably by the time that we have learned to do without bayonets, we shall also have learned to be content to give a man a fair living for the best he can honestly do without choking himself with steel dust.

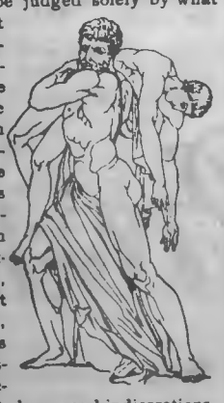
If one takes in hand one of these modern sword bayonets which have superseded the old three cornered skewers, he will see that it is a flat blade each side of which has a central ridge between two hollows. These hollows are ground out of the solid steel by a millstone ribbed all round specially for the purpose, these ribs or ridges in the surface of the stone corresponding to the hollows in the blade. When the grinding has been carried up to a certain point, the weapon or the piece of steel in process of becoming the weapon is carried to another department to undergo some change in its composition. Thus far it has been a piece of ordinary cast steel. Now that the thing has been rolled and stamped and ground into its general form it has to be hardened. For this purpose it is put into a sort of baker's oven—an oven, that is to say, that is divided by a fire brick wall into two parts—one for the fire and the other for the reception of the steel to be heated.

The weapons lie in here and get redhot and then are plunged into a bath of oil which has a stream of cold water running round it to keep down the temperature. This hardens the steel, but leaves it brittle. It would snap off if any attempt were made to bend it. It has, therefore, to be tempered by plunging it into molten lead. This gives it the necessary elasticity and flexibility, and it comes out of its leaden bath a lovely blue color, a real sword blade, but only a blade and somewhat rough, too, and without any edge. It goes back to the grinding room now for the finishing touch, to get something approximating to a cutting edge, not sufficient for purposes of war, but such as may be safely intrusted to soldiers in piping times of peace.

When the grinding is finished, it only remains to polish the blades and to mount them with "crosspieces" and "pommels," "grips" and "springs," that will convert the mere blade into a veritable sword bayonet and permit of its being attached to the rifle. The polishing looks as though it must be more detrimental to the health of the workman than the grinding, because it is all dry work, whereas the grindstones are run in a trough of water. The polishing is done by means of small wooden wheels, covered with bands of leather with an emery surface, and every wheel throws off a trail of sparks that gives the vast floor on which the work is carried on an almost uncanny appearance. There is a great amount of dust given off, too, but the greater part of it is sucked away from the workmen's wheel by a powerful revolving fan operating through an air channel, running along beneath the benches, so that the mischief is probably reduced to a minimum. It is a most interesting place for a leisurely stroll, full of queer machinery and curious processes and suggestive illustrations of the power of the organization of industry.

Rescue for Weak Men

We invite weak men to give our remedies and appliances a fair trial. We ask to be judged solely by what we do, not by what others have failed to do. We have supreme confidence in our treatment. We know it has cured thousands of men who were sexually weak, who had lost all ambition, whose lives had been miserable on account of past abuses and indiscretions, overwork, etc. We want the confidence of all weak men. Our business is honorable.



Free Trial

We will send our medicines and appliances for a ten-days' trial to any sufferer who will promise to give them a fair test. No money is to be paid unless our treatment is found to be just what we claim for it. If no relief is found, send the outfit back to us, and that will end the matter. We want no pay in cases which we cannot cure. Write us freely and confidentially. Our advice is valuable. If you have never seen our famous book, "Complete Manhood," send for a free copy. Cut out this notice or mention this paper when writing us.

MR. WILLIS, WOODSTOCK,

Escaped a Deadly Enemy by the Aid of Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Woodstock, May 9.—(Special)—This city is deeply agitated, with joyful excitement, because another popular resident has escaped from the fatal grip of Kidney disease by the aid of Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Everyone knows Mr. H. A. Willis, the genial proprietor of the "Buckingham" hotel. He tells his story thus: "For two years past I have suffered intensely from Lame Back and Kidney Disease. Nothing I ever used helped me.

"My sufferings grew worse daily. I heard so much of Dodd's Kidney Pills that I decided to try them. I got relief from the first box. Three boxes cured me entirely."

Dodd's Kidney Pills always cure.

A VOYAGE IN THE AIR.

Peculiar Sensations That Come While Ascending and Descending in a Balloon.

I made an ascent in the gigantic balloon which toward the end of the sixties had been brought over by a number of well known French aeronauts, Messrs. Yon, Godard, Mangin, Chavantier and Tissandier. Mr. Glaisher, the celebrated meteorologist, who in one of his ascents had attained the greatest height, seven miles, took the direction of the enormous airship on that occasion. Shortly before a balloon of moderate extent had been brought to England by Mr. Giffard. I was accidentally prevented from accepting the invitation to take part in the ascent. On the next day the balloon exploded through a fire.

When we ascended afterward in the great captive balloon, the volume of which was no less than 424,000 cubic feet and its height 121 feet, during such stormy weather that Mr. Glaisher thought at first the enterprise should be given up on that day, we had rather a strange experience. At a great altitude we were bumped about so badly and at such suddenly changing and precipitous angles that one of the passengers near me was seized with an insane kind of giddiness. All at once he felt an irresistible impulse to throw himself overboard into the ocean of the air! He was pulled down by those about him, whereupon he sank sideways on his knees, his eyes being then shut in as by blinkers.

There were no seats in the car. We stood like so many bottles in the narrow wicker-work ring, which only reached to the lower part of one's breast, and which was hollowed out in the middle, so that the ever shifting landscape could be seen through it, rather a trying aspect for those given to seasickness. The altitude reached was such that the manifold sounds below gradually merged into a music of the spheres and then into absolute stillness. The jerky movements of the airship became at last so abrupt that the danger signal had to be hung out. The hideous part of the voyage was the coming down. It was effected in short but violent pushes, and one felt ever and anon as if the head were thrust into the stomach. For all that, I greatly enjoyed the trip.—Karl Blind in North American Review.

AMERICAN PRONUNCIATION.

Two Words by Which the Citizen Is Recognized by Foreigners.

The American traveling abroad is sure to be "spotted" by English and English speaking people by two words that he or she is sure to pronounce at least once in the course of any given hour. One word is "America" and the other is "Paris." Not 1 American in 10,000 ever learns to speak them correctly. "Amurrika" and "Parrus" is the way they actually sound to foreign ears whether the speaker's birthplace be Boston, Chicago, New York, San Francisco or Atlanta.

Other circumstances being equal, more attention is paid to pronunciation in the education of an English than an American boy or girl. If they learn nothing else about America little Miss and Master Bull learn to divide the word properly into its syllables thus: A-me-ri-ca; not as the American ear and throat are trained to hear and voice it, "A-mer-ri-ca." The English also learn to say "Paris" with a little roll to the r; not a Gallic roll, but the r is spoken with the tip of the tongue near the teeth instead of being flattened against the roof of the mouth, while the i is not transformed into a u, but takes the short e sound, which is its real value.

It is not long since Americans, well bred and otherwise, spoke of "Eye-talians." The better part of them have outgrown that barbarism, and perhaps some day the American ear will recognize the barbarity of "Amurrika."—New York Mail and Express.

TWIN TORTURERS!

Lumbago and Rheumatism made Harmless by Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Lumbago and Rheumatism cause endless pain and suffering. Every man and woman who runs chances of getting wet, or catching cold, is liable to suffer from one or both. Our hospitals are full of sufferers from these diseases; none are more painful. Every nerve is on fire; every joint is a centre of agony; every muscle an area of torture. To move hand or foot makes the victim shriek with agony.

Rheumatism makes more cripples than all the railroad accidents that ever happened. Twisted, mis-shapen caricatures of humanity, who cannot walk without misery, are to be seen every day. The kidneys are to blame. If they are healthy you needn't fear Rheumatism or Lumbago. Dodd's Kidney Pills keep the kidneys healthy and cure Rheumatism and Lumbago.

Dodd's Kidney Pills ALWAYS CURE.

His Qualifications.

I am reminded, says a writer, of the little boy who applied for a job at a squire's house, where he could earn 5 shillings a week by making himself generally useful.

Squire—Can you clean silver?

Boy—Yes, sir.

"Can you cook and light fires and sing and dust old china and make beds?"

"Oh, yes, sir."

"Can you clean bicycles and repair punctured tires and tune pianos?"

"Certainly, sir."

"Can you mend electric bells and do plumbing and gas fitting, teach modern and ancient languages, geography and the use of the globes?"

"I can, and also do anything else that is required."

"Then I think you will do."

Boy—Thank you, sir. By the way, is your house built on a clay soil?

Squire—Well, it happens that it is. But what has that to do with it?

"Well, I thought you would like me to fill up my spare time by making bricks."

He was not engaged for his insolence.—London Answers.

Simple Cure For Rheumatism.

Have you a sprain, have you rheumatic pains? Then try the metallo-therapeutic treatment and just bind big sou pieces on the afflicted spot, says London Truth's Paris correspondent. Mrs. Crawford declares she has cured herself of rheumatism by this very inexpensive application. A clean copper sou is a simple remedy truly, and then, as she says, it is so easy! Some people are more affected by iron, zinc or gold, and in the latter case a $20 piece would make the choicest sort of gold cure for fastidious sufferers who like everything to be tiptop, even if it is a miserable poultice.—Boston Herald.

A LIFE SAVER TO MANKIND

is what Mr. George Benner, Wiarton, Ont., styles Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills.

Not that I am at all fond of having my name put in public places, but as a life saver to mankind, I hereby state what Dr. A. W. Chase's K.-L. Pills did for me. For nearly four years I was greatly troubled with Constipation and general weakness in the kidneys, and in my perilous position was strongly advised to use Chase's Pills, and to-day I can safely and truthfully state that they have saved my life.

TIME.

Swiftly rolls time's changeful tide,
Rearing on its troubled breast
Naught of peace and naught of rest.
Hopes and fears and griefs and joys,
Glittering treasures, golden toys,
All the bitterness of life,
Hatred, care and toil and strife,
On its treacherous bosom glide,
In its murmuring wavelets hide.

Listen to the howling wind!
Tempestuous storms sweep o'er it now,
And chill—ah!—many a weary brow.
Faith's pale light but faintly gleams.
Earthly struggles, earthly dreams,
Lure poor wanderers away
From its peaceful, holy way.
Ignorant and weak and blind,
They seek the rest they cannot find.

Onward still with solemn roar
Must its turbulent waters flow,
Must its dreamers with it go.
But an awful day draws nigh,
When its mighty power will die.
The angel of the Lord will stand
Upon its banks of golden sand,
And, ringing loud from shore to shore,
Will come the sentence, "Time shall be no more!"

Two Warnings.

Losing flesh is one and a hacking cough is another. If they come together the warning is a loud and hard one. Scott's Emulsion does some of its best work in just these cases. It prevents consumption,

Constipation Cured.

Laxa Liver Pills are nature's own medicine for all disorders of the Stomach, Liver and Bowels. Cure Constipation by toning the bowel wall and stimulating the secretions. Leave no bad after effects.

Piles! Piles! Itchin Piles.

Symptoms—Moisture intense itching and stinging; most at night; worse by scratching. If allowed to continue tumors form, which often bleed and ulcerate becoming very sore. CANADA LIFE
Assurance Company.

ANOTHER PROSPEROUS YEAR.

Large Increase in Surplus.

The fifty-first annual report of the Canada Life shows this old established Company to be in a most flourishing condition. The annual meeting was held yesterday. Following is a synopsis of the report:—

A PROSPEROUS YEAR.

In presenting to the Shareholders their 51st Annual Report, the Directors are gratified in announcing that the Company has fairly shared in the somewhat improved condition of the business of the country, as will be seen by the Statements and Accounts now submitted. By these it will be observed that the Company has transacted a larger business than during the previous year, and has increased its clear surplus by no less than $497,093 05.

NEW BUSINESS.

The applications for new assurances during 1897 numbered 3 066, for the sum of $6,185 996, of which, however, 266 for $521,000 were declined, the lives not appearing up to that standard which it is in the interest of the company's other assurers should be maintained, and as 191 applications for $373,369 were not carried out, the issue of the year was for $5 291,636, under 2 609 policies, exceeding 1896 by 573 policies for $798,980.

The total business in force at the close of 1897 was $72,719,555 29 of Assurances, under 33 407 policies, upon 24,489 lives.

POLICY CLAIMS.

The claims by deaths paid during 1897 amounted to $770,168 45, and Endowment policies for $128,846 92, having matured, these sums, as well as $218,481 29 for profits, $145 411.18 for surrenders, and an annuity of $400, making in all $1,263,307 84, were paid to policyholders during the year.

INCREASE IN ASSETS.

The Income receipts of the year were $2,953,272.83, and deducting therefrom all payments to policy-holders for claims by death, for profits, and for matured Endowment policies, as well as other outlay, including expenses of management, there was left the sum of $1 272,486 05, which increased the Company's Assets to $18 678 915 67.

SURPLUS.

As appears by the Abstract of Assets and Liabilities, after providing fully for the necessary reserve for all policies of the Company, and for all its other Liabilities, there is shown a Surplus of $1,564,082 05.

THE PRESIDENT'S ADDRESS.

The President, Mr. A. G. Ramsay, in moving the adoption of the report, said:

The Directors' Report and the usual accounts and statements have for some days been in your hands, and have now been taken as read. While the report is brief, it contains, I think, along with the various published accounts, all that is required to enable those interested in the Company to judge of its progress and success in the past year. The addition during 1897 of nearly half a million dollars to the surplus or profits fund is a large and satisfactory one, and without invidiously comparing it with the figures of any other particular Company. I may say that it is more than was attained by all the other Canadian companies combined. The new business of the year was, you will observe, of satisfactory and gratifying amount, and in excess of the previous year, and you will be pleased to know that it is of that desirable class which will result more to the profit of the Company than would a larger amount obtained at heavier expense, or from less desirable regions than the healthful climate of Canada, and the four Northern States to which we have thus far deemed it judicious to confine the operations of the Company. The existing assurances are $72,719,555 or nearly twice as much as they were 12 years ago. The death claims of the year continued of very favourable amount, and being well within what was calculated upon, that fact testifies to the care observed in the selection of the lives, and to the judicious limitation of the business to the healthful climates already alluded to.

The recent lamentable failures of some of the companies doing business on the assessment system, and the anxiety felt as to the others which are based upon the same fallacious principles lead me to point out that these occurrences are only the inevitable results, which were from the first predicted by those whose knowledge and experience enabled them to judge of what the future of companies of the kind must be. At our meeting in 1887, when concerns of the kind were making strenuous efforts to establish themselves in Canada, I alluded to the miserable failures they had been in England and in America, and I said that their "ephemeral existence indicates how useless the assessment system of assurance is as a family provision. It can only offer the uncertain hope of a cheap assurance for a few years, till the company breaks down. It cannot afford any guarantee that a definite amount of assurance will certainly be paid to a widow or children after an assurer's death, whether that occurs at an early day or a distant one, and without such a guarantee as that, which our own and other sound companies offer, life assurance must be a fraud and a delusion." I added that "I was aware that agents and managers of companies of the kind pointed to the names of prominent business and professional men who have joined them, or who act as their directors, but as some of them at all events allow their names to be employed in that way, simply because policies have been gratuitously given to them, one can judge how little weight should attach to the names of the gentlemen thus used to decoy others to join such companies." One cannot envy the feelings of the prominent gentlemen alluded to, who induced persons to take policies in companies of the kind, from which they are now driven out by their failure, or by the levy of such high payments as they are unable to meet.

As the accounts show, the year's income was within a trifle of three million dollars, and the assets of the company were increased to the very considerable amount of nearly nineteen million dollars, and yielding, after deducting liabilities of every kind, a net surplus or profit of $1,564,082 for allocation at the end of next year, along with whatever addition there may be made to it between now and that time, and as the management and other expenses by which the profits to policy-holders are very largely influenced continue to be on a more moderate percentage than that of other Canadian or American companies, he prospects for our assurers are of a favourable character.

It is anticipated that legislation will be introduced by the Government, modifying the present 4½ per cent. rate of interest prescribed by law as the basis for Life Assurance Reserves, and adopting the new mortality Tables based upon the observations and large experience of the British Insurance Companies, in course of compilation by the Institute of Actuaries of Great Britain, and I may say on behalf of the Board in reference to the amendment to the charter, alluded to in the Directors report of last year, that the Directors purpose to avail themselves of the occasion of that legislation to seek such amendments to the law as may meet the Board's requirements.

The motion was seconded by Mr. F. W. Gates, Vice-President, and unanimously carried. A hearty vote of thanks was tendered to the agents, officers, medical and legal advisers of the company, Mr. Adam Brown speaking in eloquent terms of their services rendered to the Company.

Mr. Leggat moved and Lieut.-Col. McLaren seconded a hearty vote of thanks to the President and Directors for their attention to the interests of the Company during the past year. Brief and interesting addresses were also made by Sir George Kirkpatrick and Sir George Burton, the latter of whom was heartily congratulated upon the recent honour conferred upon him by the Queen.

The retiring Directors, Chief Justice Sir George Burton, Col. Sir Casimer Gzowski, K.C.M.G., and Mr. N. Merritt, were re-elected. At a subsequent meeting of the Directors, Mr. A. G. Ramsay was re-elected President and Mr. F. W. Gates Vice-President

The meeting passed off very harmoniously, every one present being gratified with the progress and continued prosperity of the Canada Life, which, as Sir George Kirkpatrick remarked, was easily leader of all Companies in the Dominion.

EARLY CLOSING.

To the Editor of The Examiner:

DEAR SIR,—When buying my groceries to-day from my grocer I was told that beginning with yesterday and on during the summer months the uptown or big grocers had decided to close their stores at 7 p. m. each evening. At first thought I was annoyed, as it is difficult for me to arrange my household matters to get down town in the day time, but after making my purchases and having matters explained how all the other town stores, dry goods, clothing, boots and shoes, hats and caps, hardware and druggists, closed at an early hour, and that grocers' clerks began their day just as early, worked just as hard and received just as little pay (and sometimes a great deal less), and were just as deserving of a summer evening's recreation as their brothers in business, I decided I would in future make an effort to buy my groceries from those grocers who were whole-hearted enough to try and treat their employes like other merchants and not in jealously for their neighbour and acting like "hogs," want to keep open half the night. I was told by the clerk that the continuance of the movement of early grocers closing depended on the action of a few illadvised grocers who think that they should keep their stores open later, and have not yet signed with other merchants. If all women look at the matter as I do they will certainly make an effort to buy their groceries early and will buy them from merchants who are humane and who try to treat clerks as other merchants do, and who agree with one another, like business-men should, and as business men in all other lines do. For my part I can assure the grocery clerks of Peterborough that they have enlisted me in their good cause, and that I will (perhaps with an effort) buy early, and buy from those who close like other merchants, early in summer months, and that I will use the little influence I have to induce my neighbours to do likewise.

Thanking you, Mr. Editor, for so much space, and trusting all will agree with me, I am,

Yours truly,
A MOTHER OF BOYS.

Having tried your medicine, my faith is very high in its powers of curing cough and croup. My little girl has been subject to croup for a long time and I found nothing to cure it until I gave Dr. Chase's Linseed and Turpentine, which I cannot speak too highly of.

Mid-May Extras
FOR
THE WEEK BEFORE THE 24th.

We purpose that no store in Canada shall be more liberal in dealing with customers. Preparations have been going on all over the store for doing more business this week than last. We have arranged to have plenty of extra help to serve the crowds of shoppers, and improvements have been made in the parcel and delivery system. Last Thursday, especially, there were hundreds of disappointed customers. Of course a good many came late, and some of the advertised goods were sold out sooner than expected. It's as well to remember the old adage, "The early bird catches the worm," and to govern yourselves accordingly. Never was the power of low-priced leaders for Spot Cash so thoroughly exemplified as at our last Thursday's sale of "Specials."

This week will be another week of wonderful value-giving and great money-saving opportunities. It seems incredible that we should improve on the Bargain Triumphs we have been offering in Men's and Boys' Clothing, Boots, Shoes, Hats, Caps, Furnishings, &c., but we mean to do it this week—the preparatory week before Queen's Birthday. These are a few of the trade-winners for every day of this week:

TRIUMPHS IN ORDERED CLOTHING

Here's the bargain that should interest dressy men who prefer to have their garments made to order. In the regular way a suit made to your order from extra choice Tweeds and Cheviots, of the newest designs and colourings, would cost you $16 to $20, but for quick sales this week that will bring us the biggest Ordered Clothing trade we have ever known, we offer you your choice of this Special lot of new fabrics just arrived for

$12.70 the Suit
Made to Your Order.

These Suits will be cut and tailored by practical workmen, and perfect fit and satisfaction, or your money back—any day this week.

TRIUMPHS IN FURNISHINGS.

It will certainly not be good form to be out of style on Queen's Birthday. It won't do to be without a new pair of Shoes, a new Hat, a new Shirt and Collar and Cuffs, a new set of Underwear and Hosiery, or any other item of dress that goes to make the well-dressed man. We advise early shopping; many of these items will not last long at these prices:—

Men's $2.50 Fur Felt Soft Hats—newest spring shapes, colours pearl, fawn, drab and black. Special all this week—

$1.45.

Men's $3.50 Boots, Dongola, Kangaroo, Calf, Tan and Chrome, fine smooth linings, newest Toe Shapes, all sizes. Special all this week

$2.25.

Men's Fine Cambric, White or Coloured Shirts, extra heavy material, well laundried. Special all this week

You will find plenty of bright and attractive chances in every department similar to the above. Every statement of this advertisement will be backed up by the goods.

THE DUKE OF SEDAN

Unqualifiedly Condemns the War With Spain—Prince Bismarck on the Motives of the United States.

Friedrichsruhe, May 19.—The cold and rainy weather has increased Prince Bismarck's neuralgia and leg swellings, and he has been unable to leave his bed for several days. Dr. Schweninger is again here, and is disquieted about his patient. The Prince therefore is unable to receive visitors, but a correspondent of the Associated Press, from members of the family, has been able to obtain the views of the former Chancellor on the war, as expressed by the Prince during his most recent talk at the table. In substance they are as follows:

Prince Bismarck condemns the war outright. He says it is due to systematic American provocation, which finally became unbearable. He added:

"The whole course of the Washington Administration has been insincere. My views are well understood. I have always held that war is only defensible after all other remedies have failed.

"The result of the war cannot be wholesome either to America or Europe. The United States will be forced to adopt an intermeddling policy, leading to unavoidable frictions. She has abandoned her traditional policy, and in order to maintain her position she has become a military and a naval power—an expensive luxury, which her geographic position rendered unnecessary.

"America's change of front means retrogression in the high sense of civilization. This is the main regrettable fact about this war."

HOW THE WAR STANDS.

The News Is Indefinite, But the Oregon Is Reported Safe—Whereabouts of the Fleets.

Washington, May 19.—The war news is still indefinite. The naval authorities claim to have information that the Oregon is safe, after having sailed 13,000 miles from San Francisco around the coast of South America and northward, but just where she is they will not tell. The Minneapolis, one of Schley's fleet, was reported to have been seen off San Domingo. This may indicate that the flying squadron is somewhere in that vicinity As regards the two Spanish ships which were reported to have been seen in the Windward Passage it should be noted that it seems to be part of Admiral Cervera's plan to have some of his ships show up in as many places as possible in order to confuse the United States authorities.

No particulars have been received of the naval battle which is reported to have been heard off the Isle of Tortugas near the entrance to the Windward Passage, on Sunday, nor has the report that the Cape Verde fleet has reached San Juan or Porto Rico been confirmed. The most interesting report received for several days is the one which says that twenty-seven Spanish ships have been seen off Tortula, an island forty miles east of St. Thomas, but it cannot be depended upon as accurate. If true it would show that a big Spanish fleet had crossed the ocean to join Admiral Cervera, and a really great naval battle, with forces nearly equally matched, might be fought before many days.

Killed by a Trolley.

Toronto Junction, May 17.—Violet, the 18-months-old child of Bourilles Medley, 97 Dundas street, was almost instantly killed by a trolley car at Dundas and May streets yesterday. The power had been shut off, and was suddenly turned on just as the child was in front of the car. The car shot forward, and mangled the child under the wheels. She was carried into a nearby drug store, where she died shortly after.

An inquest will be held to ascertain why the motor and brakes were open.

Fell Dead in the Cemetery.

Brantford, May 17.—While Mrs. Robert Wetmore, aged 64, was in the cemetery yesterday afternoon, waiting for the arrival of a funeral, she fell dead; supposed cause, heart failure.

GLADSTONE IS DEAD.

PASSES PEACEFULLY AWAY AT HAWARDEN.

His Faithful and Loving Wife Clasps His Hand to the Last.

An Empire Mourns an Empire's Pride—All Britain Laments the Greatest Statesman on Her Honour Roll—Details of Mr. Gladstone's Last Hours—His Released Spirit Rises From Earth on Ascension Day—Brief Sketch of the Great Statesman's Life.

Hawarden, May 19.—Gladstone is dead. He died at 5 o'clock this morning.

THE LAST HOURS.

The Weary Vigil on the Night Before His Passing.

At 10 o'clock a.m. yesterday Mr. Gladstone was still in a comatose state, apparently hovering on the brink of death. Only by the feeble beating of his pulse could it be told that he was still alive.

All night long a weary vigil was maintained. The whole family was in and out of the sick room. Mrs. Gladstone remained throughout the night at the bedside of her dying husband. She could not be induced to leave him even to take refreshments.

The scene at about 4 o'clock in the morning, when it was supposed Mr. Gladstone's last hour had come, was most painful. But he again showed his almost superhuman vitality, fought death away and relapsed into sleep.

His Favorite Hymn.

During the crisis at 4 o'clock Mr. Gladstone's breathing was 36 to the minute, and the members of his family were summoned. The Rev. Stephen Gladstone read prayers and hymns, including Mr. Gladstone's favorite "Rock of Ages." When this was concluded Mr. Gladstone was heard to murmur "Our Father."

Mrs. Gladstone's Devotion.

The weather is fine and the window of Mr. Gladstone's room is open. Dr. Dobie, in an interview yesterday afternoon, said: Mrs. Gladstone does not leave the bedside. She is always holding Mr. Gladstone's hand. Although extremely distressed, she is bearing up with considerable fortitude. Any attempts to administer food seemed to bore him. His attendants kept his lips moist with spirits and water at intervals. Mr. Gladstone's strength has been sustained in a great measure by his extraordinary constitution. Most of his internal organs are perfectly healthy.

Peacefully Slipping Away.

London, May 18.—According to a special despatch from Hawarden received early yesterday morning, Mr. Gladstone is sinking rapidly. The correspondent says: "He lies on a small iron bed, peacefully sleeping away into the land of shades. His death chamber faces south. The family and others are all sitting around him, or moving noiselessly in and out. The scene is pathetic. Dr. Dobie doubts that his patient was conscious at any time on Tuesday, though he said 'Yes' and 'No;' nor does the physician believe that Mr. Gladstone recognized anyone. Nevertheless he suffers no pain whatever, but just lies with his head facing the light, his eyes closed, his hands sometimes outside the counterpane and sometimes hidden beneath. His grand face bears an almost peaceful and beautiful look. A few days ago the deeply indented wrinkles that so long marked it were almost gone; but now, strangely enough, they seem strong and deep as ever. He looks, too, in wonderfully good color."

The Prince's Message.

London, May 19.—Throughout the whole kingdom every public gathering has added its words of deep grief to the volume of national mourning clearly voiced in the telegram from the Prince of Wales to Mr. Henry Gladstone:

"My thoughts are with you, your mother and your family at this trying time you are experiencing. God grant that your father does not suffer. (Signed) "Albert Edward."

Grief Stays Party Anger.

London, May 19.—At the banquet of the Home Counties Liberal Federation last evening Sir William Vernon Harcourt, Liberal leader in the House of Commons, instead of delivering an important party attack only uttered a few words of grief and left the room. The Duke of Devonshire, Lord President of the Council of Ministers, speaking before the British Empire League, referred touchingly to the mournful scene at Hawarden, where "the greatest of Englishmen is slowly passing away."

Recognized His Faithful Wife.

Hawarden, May 19.—Mr. Gladstone was unconscious yesterday, though at times he seemed to recognize for a moment some of the watchers about him. Certainly he did recognize his wife, who was beside him all day, except when the physician prevailed upon her to rest. Apparently he slept a good deal; and occasionally he uttered a few words in an incoherent dreamy way, words which those who were watching were unable to catch.

Sleeping His Last Sleep.

It was a time of terrible stress to those gathered about the narrow iron bed upon which Mr. Gladstone was sleeping his last sleep. They included his frail and worn wife, fondly and finally clasping the beloved hand perhaps remembering that it was the morning of Ascension Day, a feast of the Church which her dying husband, if still conscious, could not fail to recall.

IN THE FINAL WATCH

The Grand Old Man Recognizes His Faithful Wife.

Then gathered about her and silently attempting to sooth and support her in her supreme hour, were Helen Gladstone, Herbert and Henry Gladstone, the Rev. Stephen Gladstone, Mrs. Drew, Mrs. Wickham, Mrs. Henry Gladstone and on the outer edge of those near the dying man stood, almost as much affected, Doctors Habershon, Dobie and Bliss, and two faithful nurses.

Passed Peacefully Away.

After lingering on the threshold of another world until early dawn each moment bidding fair to be his last, Mr. Gladstone passed peacefully away at five o'clock, closing one of the most notable careers in the world's history.

A few minutes later a bulletin was posted on the golden wedding porch which read.

"Mr. Gladstone passed peacefully away at five this morning."

Great Britain Laments the Greatest Statesman of Our Time and Generation—Will Mark the Event.

London, May 19.—Every other topic in Great Britain has been dropped out of sight before the passing of Mr. Gladstone. Hawarden focuses the attention which, from the highest to the man in the street, is respectful, sincere and profoundly moved.

WORDS TO THE POINT.

Under the heading "Practical Imperialism" The London Miller, one of the chief organs of the British milling interest, says:—"That the British preference tariff policy of Canada is no string of idle words, born of the joyous excitement of the jubilee, but a living reality, has just been proved by the free gift, on the part of Canada, to the British West Indies, of the preferential tariff first accorded to the mother country last year in consideration of her generous treatment of the Dominion in matters of trade. By virtue of the preferential tariff British goods are admitted to the Dominion at a reduction of 25 per cent., as compared with the duty levied on foreign goods. The same privilege is now to be extended to the British West Indies, so that from and after August 1 British West Indian cane sugar will be admitted to the Dominion at a duty of 49½ cents per one hundred pounds, as against the 65½ cents levied on German beet sugar. This concession, it must be remembered, is a perfectly spontaneous act of liberality on the part of the Dominion. It is a free gift, inasmuch as the new Canadian tariff, which comes into force on August 1, reserves the preferential tariff for Great Britain (which does not tax Canadian imports at all) and such British colonies as extend reciprocal commercial favours to the Dominion. But from the British West Indies no reciprocity will be asked. It is recognized that the duties imposed in those colonies on food imports are imposed for revenue purposes by imperious necessity, and the prime object of this step on the part of Canada is to show her practical sympathy with the grand ideal of British Imperial federation. When introducing his budget three weeks ago Mr. Fielding, the Dominion Minister of finance, said with regard to this matter: 'Knowing as we do that her Majesty's Government are following this question very closely, knowing that they are dealing with a difficult problem in the face of many difficulties, it has occurred to us . . . that we have some Imperial responsibilities in this matter, and that we should be willing in a small way to lend a helping hand to those colonies in the Sunny south.' There spoke a true son of the British Empire."

EDITORIAL NOTES.

THE Toronto World, Conservative, which was one of the croakers that prophesied ruin to Canada in case a Liberal Government came into power, says:—"There are good times in Canada just now. From all parts of the country come reports of factories working over-time and merchants increasing their business. The people are buying freely both necessaries and luxuries from the retail merchants so that the manufacturers and importers are kept busy supplying the demand. The activity is not confined to any particular line, but extends to all departments of industry excepting a few which crippled by losing their protection. The banks, the insurance companies, the railways all report great increases in business, and shipping at Montreal shows a phenomenal development. Toronto is sharing in the prosperity of the country."

THE present Queen of England is noted for her womanly tenderness of sympathy, and it would seem that our future Queen is possessed of the same qualities. The Princess of Wales in her message of sympathy to the dying Gladstone, said, among other things: "I am praying for you." The tender solicitude thus expressed and the publicly and boldly avowed belief in the virities of the Christian religion, thus made shows that the future Queen of a Christian Empire is worthy of the rank its holds in this respect. When Queen Victoria passes away her body will become lifeless, but her spirit will still live in the person of her beautiful, tender and gracious daughter in-law. Tennyson was indeed, a prophet, as well as a poet, when he said in his welcome ode to the Princess of Wales, on the occasion of her marriage:

"Norman and Saxon and Dane are we,
But all of us Danes in our welcome to thee.'

No wonder all the people love the lovable Princess, for love begets love, and the estimable qualities of her heart, and the graceful benefactions of her charity, have steeped her deep in the heart of the people.

POLITICAL LIARS.

Ottawa Journal, Independent.

At a meeting on Friday of the Drummond Railway Investigation Committee of the House of Commons, Mr. Rufus Pope, M. P., for Compton, was asked if he had received from Sir Charles Tupper a letter favouring the purchase by the then Conservative Government of the Drummond County Railway. Mr. Pope replied no. He was asked if he had read such a letter to Mr. Farwell, the President of the Eastern Townships Bank. Mr. Pope replied that he could not have done so, seeing that he never got one. Then Mr. Pope was asked:

"But did you read him a letter which you represented as coming from the Government?"

Mr. Pope's answer is reported as follows:

"Well, I would not gainsay that as a political machine on that occasion, if I thought it would have done the Conservative party any good to have read him a letter I would have read one. I will not swear I did not. If I did I would do it in a minute if I thought it would strengthen the Conservative party."

To have read or shown to Mr. Farwell a letter purporting to come from Sir Charles Tupper when no such letter existed, would be, to speak bluntly, to lie. Mr. Pope says that he would lie in a minute if he thought it would help the Conservative party. If this were a general sentiment, every Conservative would lie to help the party, and all Conservatives would be satisfied with liars so long as they were Conservatives, and claimed to lie for party advantage.

This doctrine of Mr. Rufus Pope's calls for an enquiry as to what parties are for.

Honest men belong to a party because, we presume, they believe that the principles and aims of that party are for the public good—that the attainment of power by the party will be for the benefit of the whole people. That alone makes party work sensible or worthy. How does this agree with Mr. Rufus Pope's idea? Evidently if a politician may lie to get into power, he has a corresponding call to lie to stay in power. If he may legitimately deceive the people to attain power, he can legitimately deceive them to retain power. But how can a government of brazen liars be for the good of the whole people? And if not for the good of the people, for whose interest is it? It must be only for the interest of the members of that government and the persons to whom they give boodle. Honest men have no call to bother themselves to support a government of that kind, and as we fancy that honest men are in a majority in this country we think that Mr. Rufus Pope makes a mistake, from even the narrowest and meanest party point of view, when he advocates lying as a useful party weapon.

Further, the public is likely to believe that those who will lie will steal, as the saying goes, and that those who defend lying as excusable for party purposes will defend stealing for party purposes. And as each party man would be his own judge of the amount and style of stealing which party purposes called for, the public would soon find itself hard pushed to put sufficient money into the public treasury to supply equipment for the operations of the statesmen who were handy to the treasury.

EMPIRE LOYALISTS' DAY.

One hundred and fifteen years ago yesterday a little fleet of twenty vessels cast anchor in the harbour of St. John, New Brunswick. Embarking at New York, that band of three thousand men, women and children had sought a home on a rocky and barren shore in order that they might maintain allegiance to to the British flag. No need to tell again a story writ large in the memory of the nation. It behooves us to contemplate with reverence a migration attended with such self-sacrifice, and inspired by an immaculate patriotism:

"Mid savage scenes, and in the forests wild,
Our fathers toiled with patient, manly hearts,
Till stubborn rocks and lonely wild-woods smiled
With golden harvest fruits; and happy arts
Of Peace and Industry enriched the land
With bounteous store."

A cloud no bigger than a man's hand now appears on the empire's horizon, the breezes of diplomacy may dispel it; anon, however, will arise a more menacing storm. We know not what sacrifices will then be required of us, but mindful of the inspiring lessons of 1783 Canadians will with one voice proclaim themselves "United Empire Loyalists," in a new and wider acceptance of the name."—Globe.

POINTERS ON NOTES.

A note cannot be sued until it is due. When a renewal note is accepted, right to sue on the original has lapsed. A lost note does not wipe out a debt. The holder may compel the maker to give another similar one, in place of it, on guaranteeing him against loss. A person keeping or disposing of a lost note is liable for theft. A note given by a married woman with separate estate should be signed with her proper Christian name and her married surname. Six per cent. is the legal interest, and may be collected after maturity, although the note stipulates interest before maturity, either greater or less than the amount. When a different note is contemplated than the legal one, the provision should be made by inserting a clause in the note, as for instance: "With interest at (such a rate) until maturity, and thereafter at the same rate until paid."

GLADSTONE IS DEAD.

"Now the hour is come when, to quote from Mr. Chamberlain last evening at the civil service banquet, "the greatest statesman of our time and generation is passing to his rest."

In two places, perhaps, was the tension most keen and most heartfelt—the House of Commons and Hawarden. Just before the House rose a telegram from Mr. Herbert Gladstone reached Lord Stanley, announcing that his father was sinking. In the minds of all it was the last of a long series of bulletins anxiously awaited and mournfully received. Already before his death the hush of grief seemed to fall over the scene of his triumphs; and from the present men turned to the past, recalling his sayings and doings. A great lion lay dying, his old colleagues, his one time enemies and followers watching his last long fight with his last and implacable foe as they watched in days past his fights against foes whom he could overcome. True to himself, he was yielding slowly inch by inch. It was generally felt at St. Stephens that his dying was but the sequel to that great scene witnessed four years ago when, his last speech spoken, he quitted the House without one word of spoken adieu.

Britain Will Mark the Event.

Anticipating the inevitable, the members of the Government discussed the appropriate procedure to be observed, and resolved that no effort on their part should be wanting to mark a suitable sense of their loss.

Disregarding recent precedents, it was decided that the procedure in Parliament should be the same as that adopted in the cases of the Earl of Chatham and of the Younger Pitt, namely, an address to Her Majesty praying for a funeral at the public charge and a monument erected in Westminster Abbey.

GLADSTONE.

Brief Biographical Sketch of the Grand Old Man—Essentially a Man of the People.

Mr. Gladstone was born at Liverpool, Dec. 29, 1809. The son of a Liverpool corn merchant—Sir John Gladstone, M. P., sometime of Leith—and of Ann Robertson, daughter of Mr. Andrew Robertson of Stornoway, and Provost of Dingwall, the greatest Liberal statesman of his time has ever been proud to boast of his Scottish nationality and middle-class origin. He was educated at Eton and Christ Church, Oxford, and at both places early developed High Church tendencies, and those Tory principles which he apparently inherited from his father. At school he contributed largely to the Eton Miscellany, and subsequently took an active part in the discussion of the Oxford Union. He was married in 1839 to Miss Catherine Glynne, daughter of Sir Stephen R. Glynne, of Hawarden Castle, Flintshire.

Entry Into Public Life.

Shortly after the passing of the first reform bill, in 1832, Mr. Gladstone made his entry into public life at Newark, where he was elected, as the Duke of Newcastle's nominee, in the Tory interest, defeating Sergeant Wilde, the popular candidate. It was on May 17, 1833, that he delivered his maiden speech in the House of Commons, in reply to Lord Howick, on the slavery question, when he expressed himself as opposed to slavery, but not in favor of hasty and wholesale enfranchisement.

He took an active part in the Corn Law debate of 1841-42, and, although opposed to Mr. Villiers, the champion of the Repeal party, the revised tariff scheme was said to be chiefly Mr. Gladstone's work. He became President of the Board of Trade in 1843, but at the commencement of 1845 he resigned, owing to his opposition to the extension of the Maynooth Grant and the establishment of non-sectarian colleges. In 1846, it having been announced that an immediate revision of the Corn Laws was pending, Sir Robert Peel resigned, finding that certain members of his Government would not go with him; but Lord John Russell declining to form a Cabinet, Sir Robert returned to office, with Mr. Gladstone as Colonial Secretary and member for Oxford University.

It was in 1865 that Mr. Gladstone made his famous declaration in favor of disestablishing the Irish Church. In February, 1868, Mr. Disraeli became Prime Minister, but Parliament was dissolved in the following November, when Mr. Gladstone, rejected in Southwest Lancashire, was elected for Greenwich. In the Parliament of 1869 he became Premier for the first time, and thence up to the dissolution of 1874 a number of important measures were placed on the statute book. The Irish Church having been disestablished, and while Europe was distracted with the Franco-Prussian War, the Liberal Government carried the Elementary Education Act (q. v.), the Irish Land Act, the Abolishment of Purchase in the Army (by Royal warrant,) the Act for Abolishing University Tests, and the Ballot Act, but they were beaten on the Irish University Education bill in 1873, and Mr. Disraeli returned to power in 1874.

Mr. Gladstone then decided to resign the leadership of the Liberal party, but in 1875 aroused much public indignation against the atrocities which the Turks were perpetrating in Bulgaria. In 1879 he made his first visit to Midlothian, and on the dissolution of 1880 he was returned for that constituency, and became for the second time Premier.

Amongst the important Acts he carried between 1880 and 1885 may be mentioned the Employers' Liability Act, the second Irish Land Act, the Hares and Rabbits Act, a reform in the Land Laws, and, chief of all, the third Reform Act and Redistribution Act. After the dissolution of the autumn of 1885, Mr. Gladstone again came forward for Midlothian, and was re-elected by an enormous majority.

His Irish Policy.

On the fall of the Salisbury Administration, Jan. 26, 1886, Mr. Gladstone was summoned by the Queen to again take office. He then held as Premier the office of First Lord of the Treasury and Keeper of the Privy Seal. In consequence of a divergence of views between some of the leading members of the Liberal party and Mr. Gladstone with respect to his proposed Irish policy, several of his old colleagues, notably Lord Harrington and Sir H. James, did not join his Cabinet.

Mr. Gladstone introduced bills relating to the government and land of Ireland, the former in a great speech on April 8, and the sale and purchase of land (Ireland) bill on the 16th. But in the meantime the revolt of a large section of the Liberal party, who were known as Unionists, became pronounced, and on April 14 a great Unionist meeting was held at Her Majesty's Theatre to protest against both the Home Rule and the Land Purchase bills, which the Premier had announced were indissolubly tied together. On May 10 the second reading of the Government of Ireland bill was moved in the House of Commons, and a lengthy debate commenced. On May 27 a meeting was called by Mr. Gladstone at the Foreign Office, the invitation being issued to "all members of the Liberal party, who are desirous, while retaining full freedom on all the particulars of the Irish Government bill, to vote in favor of the establishment of a legislative body in Dublin for the management of the affairs specifically and exclusively Irish." More than 200 members attended. On June 8, about 1 o'clock in the morning, the vote of the House was taken on the Home Rule bill, when the Government were defeated by a majority of 30—there being 311 ayes and 341 naes—a result which caused a scene of wild excitement. At a Cabinet Council on the same day the Government resolved to resign, the announcement being made in Parliament on June 10, the Sale and Purchase of Land (Ireland) bill being on the same evening withdrawn.

In Opposition Again.

On June 14 Mr. Gladstone issued his election address, and on June 17 left London for another Midlothian campaign, his progress to the north being yet again marked with every sign of enthusiasm. On July 2 Mr. Gladstone was elected for both Midlothian and Leith, and chose to sit for his old constituency, but the result of the general election was to deprive him of power. During the remainder of that year and throughout 1887 little of special importance occurred, though Mr. Gladstone delivered many speeches, both in the House and the country, on Home Rule. He visited Italy early in 1888, and was most warmly received. In December he again visited Italy, returning in February, 1889. In March he paid tribute in the House to the great qualities of John Bright, and later he made a great campaign in the West of England.

His golden wedding was celebrated on July 25, 1889. In September he visited Paris, and replied in French to the toast of his health, proposed at a great banquet to which he was invited. The anniversary of the right honorable gentleman's 81st birthday in 1890 was made the occasion of the unveiling of a memorial fountain at Hawarden (Dec. 29, 1890), which had been erected to commemorate his golden wedding. He spoke in the House of Commons (27th) in favor of the motion to expunge resolutions referring to the expulsion of Mr. Bradlaugh. He moved (Feb. 4) in a speech which was regarded as one of his most eloquent efforts, the second reading of the Religious Disabilities Removal bill.

As sole surviving founder of Trinity College, Glenalmond, he delivered a deeply interesting address on its jubilee (Oct. 1), and laid the foundation stone of a new wing of the college. During 1892, after a visit to the Continent, Mr. Gladstone was returned at the election, though by a greatly reduced majority. Congratulations poured in upon him from all parts of the world, and in August he was enabled to oust the Conservative Government and became Premier for the fourth time.

On April 6, 1893, he moved the second reading of his Home Rule bill, but, although carried in the House of Commons, was thrown out by the Lords. Early in 1894 his retirement was announced, and on March 1 Mr. Gladstone made his last speech in the House of Commons as Prime Minister, the occasion being the consideration of the Lords' amendments to the Parish Councils bill. The next day his resignation was made public, and on March 3 he had an audience with Her Majesty and gave up the seals of office. His stirring speech on the Armenian question in August, 1895, and in 1897 on the cause of Greece and Crete against Turkey, were among the last of his public appearances of note.

Mr. Gladstone's literary efforts have resulted in many valuable works, and cover a most extensive field.

Good Seeding and Growing Weather in the West Makes an Immense Harvest Probable—The Latest Quotations.

Wednesday Evening, May 18.

On lower cables, seasonable seeding weather in the Northwest, excellent growing weather in the southwest and large deliveries in the west the bears had things their own way on the Chicago wheat market today. In the opinion of many traders the foreign demand has been discounted by present prices, and in addition to this the prospects are for an immense crop in Canada and the United States this season. Under these conditions May wheat declined 2½c per bushel for the day on the Chicago board, July 2¾c, September 1⅝c and December 1⅞c

At Liverpool May and July wheat fell 3d per cental, September 2d and December 2½d. At Paris wheat closed 15 to 35 centimes lower than yesterday, and at Antwerp 25 to 50 centimes lower.

At Toronto the receipts of Ontario wheat continue pretty free, with not very much doing in the way of export. Prices were lower to-day on the Board of Trade, No. 2 red being quoted around $1.05 at the close, spring at about $1.02 and goose around $1.01. No. 1 Manitoba hard remains at about $1.45 at Toronto. On the street there were some deliveries of red at $1.11 to $1.14.

A COUNCILLOR UNSEATED.

Mr. T. H. Hamilton Suddenly Deposed This Morning.

Councillor T. H. Hamilton, of No. 2 Ward was very suddenly and unexpectedly deposed from his seat this morning and it was an experience through which he would not care to go again.

He was sitting in his buggy with Mr. Bob Stewart driving one of his span of bays down the street, whilst he led the other behind the rig. An electric car came up from the rear quickly and the lead horse taking fright suddenly, leaped clear over the buggy and its two occupants, the jerk of the leading rein overturning the rig and throwing Mr. Hamilton and Mr. Stewart out.

No damage was done other than the liberal bepiastering of both occupants of the buggy with mud.

Councillor Hamilton has serious intentions of making a hurdle jumper out of the horse, as the leap was certainly a marvellous one.

COMMITTED FOR TRIAL.

John Walker of Erinsville in a very Warm Corner.

John Walker, a young fellow giving his address as Erinsville, was before Magistrate Dumble this morning on a charge of theft.

Robert Wolstenholm identified the prisoner as having hired a wheel from him on Tuesday last. He also identified a bicycle produced in court as the one which had been hired.

John Mervin bore witness to having purchased the same bicycle from the prisoner for five dollars on Tuesday afternoon.

The prisoner went into the box and swore that he never saw Wolstenholm before, but that he had purchased the wheel from a man named Coxall in Tamworth last October, for $35. He stated that he could not ride the wheel, but had walked to Peterborough from Erinsville, pushing the bicycle ahead of him.

He was committed for trial.

OFF TO THE WAR.

A Peterborough Boy Who has Gone to Fight Against the Spaniards.

Mr. Wm. E. McCamus, formerly of Peterborough, who was a clerk in Mr. J.D. Tully's drug store for some years, has enlisted in the United States army and has been ordered to the Philippines with the troop which he joined.

It is three or four years since Mr. McCamus left town and after visiting a number of the larger cities on the other side he finally brought up at San Francisco, where he joined the National Guard. The regiment has just been ordered to the Philippine Islands and it is probable that one Peterborough boy, at least, will see his share of the fighting.

SILVER JUBILEE OF THE GOLDEN HORSE SHOE.

Which Brings the Genial Harry LeBrun a Quarter of a Century of Good Luck.

Twenty-five years ago this month, Mr. Harry LeBrun, the genial clothing merchant, opened out business in a modest way in Peterborough. His first bow to the public was made in the shop on George street, next north of that formerly occupied by Mr. T. Menzies. After laying here deep and solid the foundation of a thriving business, he removed to the shop on George street, next south of the Bank of Toronto. The business outgrowing these premises, Mr. LeBrun occupied his present commodious and completely appointed and well-stocked premises, indicated by the Golden Horseshoe in front of the building. The Horseshoe is an emblem of good luck, but in Mr. LeBrun's case good luck was created by good business methods and square dealing with the public. He has kept faith with the public, and the public have faith in him and his establishment. Many who were his customers at the time of his opening of his business here 25 years ago are customers still, a fact which speaks volumes in favour of the honest values and fair dealing that is one of the cardinal principles of the business methods of LeBrun & Co. Some of the employees that entered the employment of the establishment are still with it. This is the oldest clothing establishment in Peterborough, and one which has won its success by honourable methods and which has a history that the proprietors can well regard with pride. Royal personages celebrate jubilee occasions by some special acts of beneficence, such as the pardon of criminals, etc. Mr. LeBrun has been doing perpetual acts of good to the public for the past twenty-five years, but he has determined to mark the occasion of the silver jubilee of his business with the presentation of golden bargains to his customers, at prices unheard of in the clothing business, both to those who have stayed with him since the beginning, and to those who have more recently become customers and to the world generally. The details will be found in the large half page announcement of the establishment, which will be found elsewhere in this issue. Mr. LeBrun is receiving hearty congratulations on the arrival of his twenty-fifth anniversary, both on business grounds and personally, for he is not only one of our solid citizens, but a genial, whole-souled steady going friend, and as popular socially as in business circles.

GLADSTONE.

Gladstone is dead.

No man in the great and illustrious history of the British Empire has passed away whose death excited so much interest amongst so many millions in every part of the vast empire and of the world of civilization as that of the Rt. Hon. William Ewart Gladstone, four times prime minister of Great Britain and one of the most distinguished statesmen, men of letters and of action that have lived in the history of the Empire.

Although he has been for weeks on the verge of the grave, waiting patiently for the moment of "crossing the bar," yet this morning's news of his death came as a shock to the world, and for a moment paled into insignificanc the other, comparatively minor, events of the day.

In town the talk of his death, of his greatness, of the loss the Empire and the world has sustained, of his long and unparalleled career in his multiform spheres of preeminence, was on every tongue. Without class or political or religious distinction, the expressed regret was felt. Over the Sons of England hall the flag that the grand old man loved, floats mournfully at half mast, and it hung in the same position on the flagstaff of St. John's church and other public buildings, and everywhere in every way a tribute to the worth and glory of the great statesman was reverently paid.

It is no disparagement to other illustrious Britons to say that, taking him all in all, Mr. Gladstone was the greatest man this century has produced. Now that the Grand Old Man has passed into history, the record of his life and deeds will prove one of the brightest and most copious pages of the history of the century. As the monarch he has served under has had the longest and most beneficent reign of any British sovereign, so Gladstone's career as a statesman has been unparalleled for length and fruitfulness of service by any precedent Englishman. He has served his country almost continuously for over half a century, and has been personally concerned in nearly all the great movements that have resulted in the advancement of increased happiness to the British people and to the world at large. He has had a hand in broadening the bonds of freedom, and in enlightening and uplifting the condition of the world. Mr. Gladstone was born at Rodney street, Liverpool, on Dec. 29th, 1809, and was consequently at the time of his death 88 years and five months old. He was educated at Etson and Oxford. He first entered parliament in 1833 as representative of Newark, a pocket borough. In 1841, at the age of 32, he was made a Privy Councillor under Melbourne. In the year 1835 began his long parliamentary duel with Disraeli, which, according to Gladstone's own testimony, was conducted without personal bitterness. He became Prime Minister in 1870 and held this position till 1874, succeeding and being succeeded by Disraeli. Again in 1880 Gladstone became Prime Minister and remained in that office till 1885, when he was succeeded by Lord Salisbury. He was also, for a brief period, prime minister in 1886, being replaced by Lord Salisbury, who held the position till 1886. After Salisbury's short term in 1886, the reins of Government again fell into Mr. Gladstone's hands. During this term he put into concrete form his long struggle for the betterment of Ireland, by introducing his Home Rule Bill, which as is well known, was defeated. In 1893 the Home Rule bill was passed by the House of Commons, but was rejected by the House of Lords. At the end of his fourth and last term as prime minister of the greatest empire of history, he resigned the leadership. As one of the closing incidents of his great and eventful career, Gladstone in 1896 had a part in the events that marked the era of closer relations between the Empire and the colonies, signaized and in no small degree brought about, by the visit on the occasion of the Diamond Jubilee of the Premier of Canada, Sir Wilfred Laurier. This is merely a sketch of the salient chronological points in the career of a man whose history is practically the history of the Empire for the past half century. For Mr. Gladstone, as a statesman and a parliamentarian, was intimately associated, as the moving spirit or active participant in all the great political events that have marked the last fifty years of the Queen's reign. He might truthfully say respecting these events, with the hero of the Æneid, though in a far different spirit—"et quorum pars magna fui.

The pen that writes the life of Gladstone writes the history of the Empire for the past half century.

A CHARGE OF PERJURY.

Mark Black is Accused of Committing a Serious Offence.

This morning Mark Black was charged in the Police Court with having committed perjury on April 19th, by stating in his testimony on that occasion, before Magistrate Dumble, that Mary Irwin had struck him with a shovel, and also that he had never appeared in the Police Court before, otherwise than as a spectator and witness. The case was enlarged until Thursday.

6 DAYS OF ROYAL BARGAINING

In Every Department, at

R. H. KELLS & CO.

Six Days of Unusually Early Summer Reductions all over the Store, starting SATURDAY of this Week and ending with SATURDAY of Next Week—The Two Saturdays Included.

We intend to wind up the last week in May with a Wholesale General Reduction in Prices, in gratitude for the remarkably successful spring season's business up-to-date. On SATURDAY, MAY 21st, the whole of our new, clean, fresh selected stock of Summer Goods will positively be sold AT and BELOW COST. During these Six Days we are going to sell TWO THOUSAND DOLLARS WORTH OF GOODS, being an average of $333 33 per day. We can do it, for the prices must do the selling. The public know that we do as we say, without pretence of any kind. Every regular shopper at this store knows well that we have been selling goods at closer prices than other stores doing excessive advertising; but for these Six Days, prices will be CUT TO THE QUICK.

The principal attractions during this Six Days' Sale will be in goods particularly in demand by ladies at this season, such as:—SUMMER SILK AND DRESS STUFFS, BLACK CREPONS, PLAIN AND FANCY LUSTRES, CLOTH SUITINGS, SUMMER DRESS WAISTS AND CORSETS, HOSIERY AND UNDERWEAR, PARASOLS, MILLINERY AND JACKETS, TABLE AND BED LINEN, FACTORY AND BLEACHED COTTONS, SHIRTINGS, SHEETINGS, TOWELLING, CRETONNES, LACE CURTAINS, PORTIERS, ETC.

When every item in the store will be cut in price, and Sweeping Reductions will affect every department, it would be useless to quote prices fully; but such facts as these will indicate the general trend of the figures:—

50 Ladies' & Children's Jackets, worth $4 to $10, each $1.00
100 Ladies' Print Wrappers - - 83c. $1.10, $1.25
20 Dozen Ladies' Blouses, worth 75c and $1.00 - 44c
450 Ladies' Parasols, plain & shot effects, about Half Price

Nothing will be offered at regular prices. No unworthy goods will be put forward, no matter how cheaply they may be offered. The relation of this store to the community is such that we cannot afford to resort to "jewing."

FOR WEAKNESS AND DEBILITY.

Consumption is often caused by a weak state of the blood, permitting the germs to obtain a foothold. That Dr. Ward's Blood and Nerve Pills cure disease and make the system safe, the following evidence amply proves:

I suffered for two years with what the family doctor claimed was an incurable case of consumption and debility, telling me that my life was but for a few months at the best. As I was about to give up, I picked up your advertisement and resolved thereupon to give Dr. Ward's Blood and Nerve Pills a trial. The first box of them worked such a wonderful change I felt that at last I had struck a medicine that would help me. I continued the use of the Pills, receiving from them day by day flesh, strength and vigor, in fact friends of mine that had not seen me for some time hardly knew me, so great was the change that Dr. Ward's Pills worked. Out of the fullness of my heart in the joy of my being rescued from the grave, comes this testimonial. I shall, as long as God permits me to live, herald forth their usefulness and life-saving power to all afflicted by that monster of disease that almost claimed me for its victim, thereby repaying you in a small measure for the grand, new lease of life Dr. Ward's Blood and Nerve Pills have given me. Yours truly, JOHN P. THORP, Cork St., Guelph, Ont. Dr. Ward's Blood and Nerve Pills are sold at 50c. per box, 5 boxes for $2.00, at druggists, or mailed on receipt of price by THE DR. WARD CO., 71 Victoria St., Toronto. Book of Information free.

THE RATE WAR CONTINUES.

C. P. R. Let Matters Stand—Rates Quoted to Dawson Via St. Michael's.

Winnipeg, May 18.—Robert Kerr, traffic manager of the Canadian Pacific lines west of the great lakes, returned yesterday from Milwaukee, where he attended a freight meeting of the Transcontinental Association. It is learned that the passenger rate war is still in existence, and no meeting with the C.P.R. has yet been held to adjust matters.

A combine including all the leading transportation companies of Vancouver, San Francisco and Seattle, have agreed to make the rate to Dawson via St. Michaels $800 first-class, and $350 second.

The Hudson Bay Company is about to put a pack train of from two to three hundred horses on the trail between Glenora and Teslin Lake. The first lot of 60 horses, in charge of experienced packers, leaves for the north on the steamer Islander.

The man who stands idly by and sees the life fading out of his wife's face, sees her health going, sees her becoming old and faded and wrinkled when she should still be in the perfect enjoyment of vigorous, useful health, is either less than a man or else does not know of the one remedy which will bring her back to health and strength. Perhaps her husband cannot persuade her to go to her doctor, because she naturally dreads the inevitable "examinations" and "local treatments." He can persuade her, if she needs persuasion, to take Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. This truly wonderful medicine has cured hundreds of women after the best physicians have failed. It has been in constant use and tested every day for thirty years. It isn't an experiment, there are no chances about it. It is a certain cure for all the derangements, weaknesses, irregularities and displacements of internal organs peculiar to women.

A Creemore Man Badly Hurt.

Creemore, Ont., May 18.—While Mr. John O'Brien, of the firm of O'Brien & Bowden, millers here, was working in the mill yesterday, he was caught in the machinery and before it could be stopped had both legs and one arm broken in several places, and also the ribs of one side. His recovery is despaired of.

Mr. O'Brien's injuries were so serious that from the first his recovery was despaired of and he died last night at 10 o'clock.

April's Death Roll.

Toronto, May 18.—Sixty-four per cent. of the population of Ontario, in 68 per cent. of the municipalities, sent in reports, re diseases and deaths, in April to the Provincial Board of Health. There have been 219 deaths, as compared with 197 in March. Fourteen from scarlet fever, 12 from diphtheria, 7 from measles, 4 from whooping cough, 9 from typhoid, and 173 from consumption. This last item shows an increase of 4 over the month of March.

Three Men Killed, Five Injured.

Boston, May 18.—By the falling of an elevator used for hoisting building material at the uncompleted warehouse of the Boston Wharf Company yesterday three men were killed and five were injured. Those killed were: O. S. Henry, foreman; Daniel Doyle, Leo Cardmen. The elevator was too heavily loaded and the supports gave way.

MR. WILLIS, WOODSTOCK.

Escaped a Deadly Enemy by the Aid of Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Woodstock, May 9—(Special)—This city is deeply agitated, with joyful excitement, because another popular resident has escaped from the fatal grip of Kidney disease by the aid of Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Everyone knows Mr. H. A. Willis, the genial proprietor of the "Buckingham" hotel. He tells his story thus: "For two years past I have suffered intensely from Lame Back and Kidney Disease. Nothing I ever used helped me.

"My sufferings grew worse daily. I heard so much of Dodd's Kidney Pills that I decided to try them. I got relief from the first box. Three boxes cured me entirely."

Dodd's Kidney Pills always cure.

Baby Brightness

Soon fades when diarrhœa seizes on the little form. Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry has saved many infants' as well as adults' lives. Mrs. W. Nothing else did any good, but the baby improved from the first dose of the Wild Strawberry."

WHEAT FLUCTUATING.

Large Deliveries and Fine Crop Weather Tend to Offset the Bullish Effect of the European Demand—Quotations.

Tuesday Evening, May 17.

At Chicago to-day the heavy receipts at primary centres (1,120,000 bushels, against 580,000 bushels last year) caused the market to weaken a little, and May wheat at the close showed a loss of ½c for the day. July 1½c, September 2c and December 1¾c. At Duluth May wheat advanced 3c and at New York it sold up to $1.57⅛.

Liverpool to-day reported an advance of 2d in May and 1⅝d in September wheat. In Paris wheat closed at 5 to 25 centimes higher for the day, with flour 1 franc 20 centimes higher

On the Toronto Board to-day there was little demand, No. 2 red being held at about $1.08 and white three cents lower. Millers are not willing to purchase Manitoba wheat at $1.45, Toronto and West, at which it is now held, but they are offering ten cents under that figure. On the street red is quoted at $1.08 to $1.14.

Visible Supply of Grain.

According to Bradstreet's the visible supply of wheat east of the Rockies has in the week decreased 1,233,000 bushels, while that afloat to Europe has increased 460,000. In other words, the world's visible has decreased 883,000 bushels, as compared with a decrease of 1,953,000 bushels the corresponding week last year.

The world's visible supply of corn has decreased 2,770,000 bushels and that of oats has fallen off 701,000 bushels.

A STRONG ARGUMENT.

Wm. McCabe, Esq., Managing Director, N. A. L., Toronto:

DEAR SIR,—Please accept my thanks for your cheque just handed to me, for $3,901.98, in settlement of my $2,500 Fifteen Year Endowment Policy in your Company. Such a result as this, after the risk on my life has been carried for fifteen years, beginning from forty-five years of age, argues one thing strongly, namely, that the management of the North American Life must be in competent hands. The other options you have offered me, viz: a Paid-up Life policy for $6510.00, or a Life Annuity for $401.90, are, I presume, equally liberal, and it affords me much pleasure to recommend your Company to my friends or any one desiring insurance.

A New Obstacle.

The old obstacles that used to prevent the marriage of loving couples are out of date. The blood-and-thunder villian is a myth nowadays. The cruel father is only a tradition. Distance, absence and shipwreck in these days of cheap, safe and swift transportation do not count. The new obstacle is a common sense one. It is ill-health on one side or the other, and sometimes on both.

Men nowadays hesitate to marry a woman, no matter how beautiful, no matter how attractive, or interesting, or witty, if she is a sufferer from ill-health. All men worth having desire happy, healthy children. Any woman who will, may fit herself for the duties of wifehood and the exalted function of motherhood. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription banishes all hindrance in the nature of local ill-health. It gives health, power and capacity to the delicate and important organs concerned in wifehood and maternity. It corrects all displacements, allays inflammation, heals ulceration, stops exhausting drains and soothes pain. It prepares for natural, healthy motherhood. It makes maternity easy and safe and almost painless. It insures a new-comer constitutionally strong and able to withstand the usual ills of babyhood. It is the greatest of nerve tonics and restoratives. Medicine dealers sell it and an honest dealer will not urge a substitute upon you.

"After suffering untold tortures," writes Mrs. J. Ferguson, of Box 29, Douglas Station, Selkirk Co., Manitoba, "I thank God I found relief and cure in Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription."

The profit side of life is health. The balance is written in the rich, red, pure blood of health. Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets cure constipation and make the blood rich and pure. They never gripe. By druggists.

TO ETHEL.

[Who wishes she had lived—
"In teacup times of hood and hoop
Or while the patch was worn."]

"In teacup times!" The style of dress
Would suit your beauty I confess.
Belindylike the patch you'd wear,
I picture you with powdered hair.
You'd make a charming shepherdess!

And I no doubt could well express
Sir Plume's complete conceitedness,
Could poise a clouded cane with care
"In teacup times!"

The parts would fit precisely—yes,
We should achieve a huge success.
You should disdain and I despair
With quite the true Augustan air.
But * * * could I love you more or less
"In teacup times?"
—Austin Dobson in Blackwood's Magazine.

THE SHOPGIRL.

The small number of people aware of the existence of Miss Dorothy Maxwell were divided into two sections—there were those who considered her life most enviable, there were others who deemed it highly reprehensible. But as Dorothy herself was ignorant alike of envy or condemnation, she continued to live in the charming and admirably appointed Georgian house in Kensington and in a pleasant environment created by lavish but intelligent expenditure on the part of the Marquis of Bewdavon. For some years she had been mistress of Belper Lodge, yet her life was extremely dull. Lord Bewdavon was a busy man, both socially and politically, and a close friend of his father, the aged Duke of Strathwayte—a circumstance so singular that it was a constant source of comment among his contemporaries. Consequently at first he was frequently away from London for weeks together, either filling political or social engagements or staying with his father, who never left the country, and as Dorothy had no friends and no companions, save the faded widow of a military officer whom Bewdavon had engaged as her chaperon to accompany her to the play when he was otherwise engaged, the comfort and pleasure of her life were marred by its loneliness.

Dorothy had an overwhelming respect for Lord Bewdavon, but she did not love him. Bewdavon's devotion to politics—a devotion he had inherited from a long line of ancestors—gave Dorothy her opportunity, and during his many absences a string of masters occupied her days, hard study her solitary evenings. One day by the merest chance Bewdavon stumbled upon a pile of books dealing with abstruse questions, with history, philosophy and political economy, their margins covered with notes in Dorothy's neat handwriting, a handwriting that bore evidence of the class from which she had sprung.

"How this woman loves me," he said to himself, his eyes growing dim as he turned over volume after volume. At that moment Dorothy entered the room and, seeing the books strewed around him, hesitated. "I have never penetrated into your sanctum before," he said, pointing to the many evidences of her plodding. "I sincerely wish I had. Have you been wading through all those books to please me?"

Dorothy faltered. His immediate conclusion that she had been educating herself for his sole benefit filled her with a vague irritation.

"I—I wished to understand you better," she stammered.

"You have succeeded in making me understand you," he answered, kissing her reverently.

From that day they insensibly drifted into a close friendship, and often as Dorothy sat by Bewdavon, steadily helping him with his many researches and filled with admiration for his marvelous sympathy and broad outlook upon life, she would cry bitterly to herself: "Why cannot I love this man? Why cannot I love him?" And so the days passed, the woman endeavoring to stifle the impulses of her heart by severe study, the man glorying in her beauty and her intelligence, until the Duke of Strathwayte fell dangerously ill.

"This illness may last for months," said Bewdavon as he was leaving Belper Lodge, "and I cannot be away from him. Go abroad, Dorothy, with Mrs. Vane."

"How could I help you then?" she asked, a terror of strange places and peoples suddenly taking possession of her. "There is much I can do for you if I stay here."

"But it will do you good. You need a change," he protested.

"We will compromise," she said, smiling. "I will go to Brighton"—

"And be thoroughly idle," he concluded, patting her cheek. "You have been working too hard."

At the end of a fortnight Dorothy returned, hurrying the meek Mrs. Vane protestingly from the delights of the hotel, the victim of a restlessness that left her no peace. Soon after her return to Belper lodge she was one afternoon idly scanning the pages of a magazine when her eye fell upon an illustration of the interior of a large draper's shop. She rose abruptly, filled with a sudden desire for her old life—to smell the aerial scent of new calico, to see the long line of flaring lights over each counter, to hear the ripping of cloth, the conversation of the tired shopgirls. Memories of her girlhood surged through her brain as she leaned against the mantelpiece, and an incurable longing to see the great drapery establishment where she had worked took possession of her. She picked up the magazine, and then, with a muffled cry, threw it down and ran to her bedroom. The tea gown of diaphanous lace and silk was torn off, and a few moments later Dorothy slipped out of the house, a sad colored cloak and a thick veil shrouding her figure and face. Hailing a hansom, she was passing through the glitter of Piccadilly on her way to the Tottenham Court road before she realized that she had succumbed to a temptation she had successfully combated for months.

Dismissing the cab some distance below Messrs. Yardstick's mammoth premises, she walked slowly past the plate glass windows, filled with the cheapest rubbish that ever the British workingman and his wife were deluded into buying. Dorothy could have told the small crowd of wondering women gathered round the windows, commenting on the cheapness of various "bargains," many secrets had she been so minded, but her eyes were fixed on a large mirror in which she could see the reflection of the assistants serving behind the counter. She was now at the mercy of her emotions, and entering the shop took her place among a row of women who were waiting to be served by a pale, tired looking girl whose face was lined by overwork, late hours and bad food. Dorothy watched her swift scissors as they ran through the rolls of calico and the rapid movement of her hands with fascinated curiosity. She felt that she was watching herself—the self of years before. So engrossed was she that the familiar, "What can I do for you, miss?" found her with nothing to say. She looked round helplessly and then gave a trifling order While the girl was doing up the parcel she leaned forward, whispering:

"Have you forgotten me, Lizzie? I'm Dorothy Maxwell."

The parcel dropped from the girl's hands.

"I can't see through your veil," she said. "We thought you were dead."

Dorothy glanced hastily around the shop, where under the flaring gaslights she recognized many faces. She raised her hand to her veil, then hesitated.

"Where is John?" she asked.

"John is married," the girl said sullenly "and has set up in business for himself."

Dorothy clutched at the counter, and for a moment the oppressive smell, the garish lights, the sound of coarse voices seemed to be one whirling mass that blinded her.

"He waited a long time," the girl went on in a vindictive undertone, "but he got tired and married last year. He used to say some nasty things about you, I can tell you, for going off as you did, with never a word, and you engaged to him too. What are you doing now?" she added, raising her voice. "Still stopping some girl or other from marrying the man she likes, as you stopped me from marrying John?" Dorothy shook her head helplessly and, throwing some coins down upon the counter, walked out of the shop.

Instinctively she turned toward the park, her mind filled with memories of the past, with its hard and ceaseless work, its privations and simple pleasures, and with the part John Gregory had played in that past. So her tender, helpful lover was married, she thought as she crouched on a seat under the dripping trees—married, and she was forgotten! And she had come to tell him that she had wearied of the luxury of the last four years, that she needed him to be happy and that if he would forgive and forget the wrong she had done him she would marry him as she had promised him in the old days.

John was married! She smiled bitterly to herself as she thought of her wild desire as she drove to the Tottenham Court road to tell him everything—of the accident in Oxford street that had first brought her under Lord Bewdavon's notice of his constant kindness during her following illness, of the temptation to which she yielded because she was always tired and often hungry and of the four years at Belper Lodge—and now there was no need. Stunned and dizzy she rose to her feet, clearly seeing that she had no one now upon whom to rely to protect her from herself. Her castle of cards had fallen to the ground, the man upon whom she leaned—perhaps foolishly—to redeem the past had forgotten her, and the agony of her disappointment was supreme.

But the habits of four years are not to be shaken off in an hour, and the striking of the neighboring clocks reminded Dorothy that she must return to dinner; but as her cab bore her through the slippery streets the whirling wheels seemed to repeat, "As the tree falls so it shall lie." Dorothy shuddered, but still the words rang remorselessly through her brain, following her up the broad staircase at Belper Lodge and into the quiet of her own room.

Then she faced the situation. She was at least necessary to Lord Bewdavon, and he, to whom she owed so much, should not find her wanting. He loved her, and John had forgotten. Perhaps she deserved that he should forget. But when she was dressing for dinner the pathos of the situation came to her suddenly. "I shall be sentimental for once," she thought. "Tonight I shall wear mourning for my dead love. Tomorrow I shall forget."

The bright eyed French maid could not understand madame's inexplicable desire to wear the only black gown she possessed that night. A bright dress, the pink and white, would drive away madame's migraine, but Dorothy silenced her objections, and in silent protest the woman clothed her in the somber garb she had chosen.

Dorothy had reached the first landing on the way to the drawing room when she heard the hall door open and a "Yes, my lord," from the footman in reply to an eager question. The next moment Lord Bewdavon was beside her.

"Ah, you have seen the papers," he said, touching her dress. "I was too worried to telegraph. How thoughtful, how good of you, Dorothy," he went on softly. "You have worn this tonight because you knew how much I loved him." And his eyes filled with tears.

"Your father"— she stammered.

"He died last night. He would have loved you as much as I do had he known you, Dorothy. I shall never forget your sympathy." Again he touched the black dress, then kissed her as he had never kissed her before.

* * * * * * *

One morning a fortnight later Lord Bewdavon, now Duke of Strathwayte, drove to Belper Lodge, leaving shortly afterward with Dorothy. When he returned, the servants addressed her as "Your grace."—Black and White.

WHAT IT COSTS TO SMOKE.

A Library Which Materialized From Tabooed Five Cent Cigars.

"How can you afford all these books?" asked a young man, calling upon a friend. "I can't seem to find spare change for even the leading magazines."

"Oh, that library is only my one cigar a day," was the reply.

"What do you mean," inquired the visitor.

"Mean? Just this: When you advised me to indulge in an occasional cigar several years ago, I had been reading about a young fellow who bought books with money that others would have burned in cigars, and I thought I would try to do the same. You may remember that I said I should allow myself one cigar a day?"

"Yes, I recall the conversation, but don't quite see the connection."

"Well, I never smoked, but I put by the price of a 5 cent cigar every day, and as the money accumulated I bought books—the very books you see."

"You don't mean to say that your books cost no more than that! Why, there are dollars' worth of them."

"Yes, I know there are. I had six years more of my apprenticeship to serve when you advised me 'to be a man.' I put by the money, which, at 5 cents a day, amounted to $18.25 a year, or $109.50 in six years. I keep those books by themselves as a result of my apprenticeship cigar money, and if you'd done as I did you would by this time have saved many, many more dollars than I have and would have been better off in health and self respect besides."—Success.

The Alpine Good Night.

Among the lofty mountains and elevated valleys of Switzerland the Alpine horn has another use besides that of sounding the farfamed "Ranz des Vaches," or cow song, and this is of a very solemn and impressive nature.

When the sun has set in the valley and the snowy summits of the mountains gleam with golden light, the herdsman who dwells upon the highest habitable spot takes his horn and pronounces clearly and loudly through it, as through a speaking trumpet, "Praise the Lord God." As soon as the sound is heard by the neighboring herdsmen they issue from their huts, take their Alpine horns and repeat the same words.

This frequently lasts a quarter of an hour, and the call resounds from all the mountains and rocky cliffs around. When silence again reigns, the herdsmen kneel and pray with uncovered heads. Meantime it has become quite dark. "Good night!" at last calls the highest herdsman through his horn. The words resound from all the mountains, the horns of the herdsmen and the cliffs, and the mountaineers then retire to their dwellings.—Pittsburg Dispatch.

HUMAN SACRIFICES

On the Altar of Diabetes, Saved by Dodd's Kidney Pills, Only.

Hardly a family in the country is free from Diabetes. Great thirst, failing sight, numbness in the thighs, bleeding gums, swollen ankles, emaciation, nervousness, pale or turbid urine, loss of sexual power, decaying teeth, pains in the loins or small of the back, are all positive signs that Diabetes is in the system.

Do you know how it ends? IN DEATH. A premature, horrible, agonized, pitiful death. The victim has no peace, no ease in life. His days are filled with tortures. His nights are waking dreams of agony. He longs to die, yet fears the terrors of his end. He dies, a bloated, fetid, repulsive mass of corruption. That is the only end of unchecked Diabetes. Dodd's Kidney Pills will cure it. They drive it out of the system thoroughly, create new, clean blood, rebuild the diseased kidneys, and restore robust health.

Thrifty George Curzon.

The Hon. George Curzon, who married beautiful Miss Leiter, is decidedly canny. He recently rented a country mansion furnished, but without the family plate, and so was compelled to provide candlesticks for the house. He tried to exact from the landlord's agent a pledge that at the expiration of the lease he would take these candlesticks off his hands at two-thirds of what they cost. The agent demurred at first, but when he discovered that they were 15 in number, of japanned tin and cost 40 cents each, he solemnly agreed to pay $4 for the lot when Curzon leaves.

Two Warnings.

Losing flesh is one and a hacking cough is another. If they come together the warning is a loud and hard one. Scott's Emulsion does some of its best work in just these cases. It prevents consumption.

Constipation Cured.

It's important you should have natural action of the bowels. Purging and griping do violence to the system. Laxa Liver Pills are nature's own medicine for all disorders of the Stomach, Liver and Bowels. Cure Constipation by toning the bowel wall and stimulating the secretions. Leave no bad after effects.

Piles! Piles! Itchin Piles.

Symptoms—Moisture intense itching and stinging; most at night; worse by scratching. If allowed to continue tumors form, which often bleed and ulcerate becoming very sore. SWAYNE'S OINTMENT stops the itching and bleeding, heals ulceration, and in most cases removes the tumour. All druggists or by mail, for 50 cents. Dr. Swayne & Son, Philadelphia. Lyman Sons & Co Montreal wholesale agents.

One Laxa-Liver Pill every night for thirty days makes a complete cure of biliousness and constipation. That is—just 25 cents to be cured.

Dr. Wood's NORWAY PINE SYRUP.

It takes out the pain in the chest, and makes the breathing easy and natural. Nothing like it for Lung, Throat and Bronchial Troubles. From Mayfield, Ont., Miss Lizzie Hardy sends word that she has often had coughs and colds as well as Bronchitis, and

CANADA LIFE
Assurance Company.

ANOTHER PROSPEROUS YEAR.

Large Increase in Surplus.

The fifty-first annual report of the Canada Life shows this old established Company to be in a most flourishing condition. The annual meeting was held yesterday. Following is a synopsis of the report:—

A PROSPEROUS YEAR.

In presenting to the Shareholders their 51st Annual Report, the Directors are gratified in announcing that the Company has fairly shared in the somewhat improved condition of the business of the country, as will be seen by the Statements and Accounts now submitted. By these it will be observed that the Company has transacted a larger business than during the previous year, and has increased its clear surplus by no less than $497,098 05.

NEW BUSINESS.

The applications for new assurances during 1897 numbered 3,966, for the sum of $6,185,996, of which, however, 266 for $521,000 were declined, the lives not appearing up to that standard which it is in the interest of the company's other assurers should be maintained, and as 191 applications for $373,300 were not carried out, the issue of the year was for $5 291,696, under 2 609 policies, exceeding 1896 by 573 policies for $798,980.

The total business in force at the close of 1897 was $72,719,555 29 of Assurances, under 38,407 policies, upon 24,469 lives.

POLICY CLAIMS.

The claims by deaths paid during 1897 amounted to $770,168 45, and Endowment policies for $128,846 92, having matured, these sums, as well as $218,481.29 for profits, $145 411.18 for surrenders, and an annuity of $400, making in all $1,263,307.84, were paid to policyholders during the year.

INCREASE IN ASSETS.

The Income receipts of the year were $2,968,272.83, and deducting therefrom all payments to policy-holders for claims by death, for profits, and for matured Endowment policies, as well as other outlay, including expenses of management, there was left the sum of $1,272,486 06, which increased the Company's Assets to $18 678.915 67.

SURPLUS.

As appears by the Abstract of Assets and Liabilities, after providing fully for the necessary reserve for all policies of the Company, and for all its other Liabilities, there is shown a Surplus of $1,564,082 05.

THE PRESIDENT'S ADDRESS.

The President, Mr. A. G. Ramsay, in moving the adoption of the report, said:

The Directors' Report and the usual accounts and statements have for some days been in your hands, and have now been taken as read. While the report is brief, it contains, I think, along with the various published accounts, all that is required to enable those interested in the Company to judge of its progress and success in the past year. The addition during 1897 of nearly half a million dollars to the surplus or profits fund is a large and satisfactory one, and without invidiously comparing it with the figures of any other particular Company. I may say that it is more than was attained by all the other Canadian companies combined. The new business of the year was, you will observe, of satisfactory and gratifying amount, and in excess of the previous year, and you will be pleased to know that it is of that desirable class which will result more to the profit of the Company than would a larger amount obtained at heavier expense, or from less desirable regions than the healthful climate of Canada, and the four Northern States to which we have thus far deemed it judicious to confine the operations of the Company. The existing assurances are $72,719,555 or nearly twice as much as they were 12 years ago. The death claims of the year continued of very favourable amount, and being well within what was calculated upon, that fact testifies to the care observed in the selection of the lives, and to the judicious limitation of the business to the healthful climates already alluded to.

The recent lamentable failures of some of the companies doing business on the assessment system, and the anxiety felt as to the others which are based upon the same fallacious principles lead me to point out that these occurrences are only the inevitable results, which were from the first predicted by those whose knowledge and experience enabled them to judge of what the future of companies of the kind must be. At our meeting in 1887, when concerns of the kind were making strenuous efforts to establish themselves in Canada, I alluded to the miserable failures they had been in England and in America, and I said that their "ephemeral existence indicates how useless the assessment system of assurance is as a family provision. It can only offer the uncertain hope of a cheap assurance for a few years, till the company breaks down. It cannot afford any guarantee that a definite amount of assurance will certainly be paid to a widow or children after an assurer's death, whether that occurs at an early day or a distant one, and without such a guarantee as that, which our own and other sound companies offer, life assurance must be a fraud and a delusion." I added that "I was aware that agents and managers of companies of the kind pointed to the names of prominent business and professional men who have joined them, or who act as their directors, but as some of them at all events allow their names to be employed in that way, simply because policies have been gratuitously given to them, one can judge how little weight should attach to the names of the gentlemen thus used to decoy others to join such companies." One cannot envy the feelings of the prominent gentlemen alluded to, who induced persons to take policies in companies of the kind, from which they are now driven out by their failure, or by the levy of such high payments as they are unable to meet.

As the accounts show, the year's income was within a trifle of three million dollars, and the assets of the company were increased to the very considerable amount of nearly nineteen million dollars, and yielding, after deducting liabilities of every kind, a net surplus or profit of $1,564,082 for allocation at the end of next year, along with whatever addition there may be made to it between now and that time, and as the management and other expenses by which the profits to policy-holders are very largely influenced continue to be on a more moderate percentage than that of other Canadian or American companies, he prospects for our assurers are of a favourable character.

It is anticipated that legislation will be introduced by the Government, modifying the present 4½ per cent. rate of interest prescribed by law as the basis for Life Assurance Reserves, and adopting the new mortality Tables based upon the observations and large experience of the British Insurance Companies, in course of compilation by the Institute of Actuaries of Great Britain, and I may say on behalf of the Board in reference to the amendment to the charter, alluded to in the Directors report of last year, that the Directors purpose to avail themselves of the occasion of that legislation to seek such amendments to the law as may meet the Board's requirements.

The motion was seconded by Mr. F. W. Gates, Vice-President, and unanimously carried. A hearty vote of thanks was tendered to the agents, officers, medical and legal advisers of the company, Mr. Adam Brown speaking in eloquent terms of their services rendered to the Company.

Mr. Leggat moved and Lieut.-Col. McLaren seconded a hearty vote of thanks to the President and Directors for their attention to the interests of the Company during the past year. Brief and interesting addresses were also made by Sir George Kirkpatrick and Sir George Burton, the latter of whom was heartily congratulated upon the recent honour conferred upon him by the Queen.

The retiring Directors, Chief Justice Sir George Burton, Col. Sir Casimer Gzowski, K.C.M.G., and Mr. N. Merritt, were re-elected. At a subsequent meeting of the Directors, Mr. A. G. Ramsay was re-elected President and Mr. F. W. Gates Vice-President.

The meeting passed off very harmoniously, every one present being gratified with the progress and continued prosperity of the Canada Life, which, as Sir George Kirkpatrick remarked, was easily leader of all Companies in the Dominion.

NEARLY ALL MEN

experience a sexual weakness sooner or later in life. That kind of weakness comes both from abuses and from overwork. It is an affliction that may well be dreaded. It destroys ambition, and life becomes a burden. These weak men can be cured—no question about that. The flight of years can not be stopped, but healthful, natural feelings and powers can be restored. If those powers have been lost, our treatment and appliances will restore them beyond a doubt.

OUR FREE OFFER

In order to show our implicit faith in our treatment, we will send our medicines and appliances for a free trial of ten days to all men whose sexual vigor is gone and whose organs are small. Not a dollar is to be paid for the trial. If it is satisfactory, then we are to be paid. If unsatisfactory, send the outfit back to us.

We will send our free book, "Complete Manhood" on request. Cut out this notice or mention this paper.

EVANGELIST VARLEY.

He Criticises London Preachers and is Criticised.

The visit of Evangelist Varley to London and his sharp criticism of those ministers whom he intimates did not co-operate with him as he thought they should have done, has revived discussion on the advisability of employing professional evangelists in the churches. The matter came before the London Presbyterian Council at its meeting Tuesday night, when Rev. Geo. Gilmour, of Pottersburg, in an able address, took strong ground against the methods employed by some of the modern evangelists and the deleterious results of undue religious agitation and excitement. Prof. McGregor's paper provoked an interesting discussion, in which his views were generally sustained.

SALUBRIOUS OTONABEE.

The Air of the Township Favourable to Longevity.

Otonabee's pioneer residents are rapidly passing away, and the fact that so many have passed away at an advanced old age, in many cases closely crowding the century, is an evidence of the vigour of their constitution, or the healthfulness of this Canadian climate, and that of Otonabee especially. Within the past seven months there have passed away six venerably old residents at these respective ages: 93, 86, 92, 83, 87 and 91. The aggregate of the ages of these six persons is 532 an average of 88⅔ years.

BATTALION NOTES.

The 24th of May Trip Promises to be a Most Enjoyable One.

Lt.-Col. Bell, Major Edwards, Quartermaster Langford and Acting Adjutant Matthews have returned from Kingston, where they went to arrange the preliminary details for the Queen's Birthday trip.

They report every convenience has been provided at the Agricultural Grounds, where the battalion will camp, and that the sports, etc., on the 24th will be held on the same grounds. Various means of entertainment for the visitors have been arranged and the officers who have just returned from the Limestone City are confident that the trip will be the most enjoyable ever participated in by the Rangers.

A crack New York State regiment will also be in Kingston for the Queen's Birthday and it is expected that their presence will add considerably to the pleasure of the local battalion.

At a meeting of the Non.-Coms. Mess last night arrangements were made to have some very novel features introduced in the cook's parade in Kingston.

Rev. J. C. Davidson, as chaplain, who accompanies the Battalion to Kingston on the Queen's Birthday outing, has been invited to preach in St. George's cathedral there on Sunday evening.

The following communication has been received in reference to the trip:

To the Editor of The Examiner:

SIR,—Citizens of Peterborough must all feel some concern in maintaining the honour of the premier town of Canada, whether at home or abroad. From this standpoint our people will view with interest the visit of the 57th Battalion to Kingston. We hope that the ranks will be well-filled with soldier-like men, who understand their drill, and we look to our "Boys in Red" to uphold in every respect the credit of their town. Sometimes in such cases the very men who would be most valuable are those who thoughtlessly allow obstacles to prevent their attendance. We don't want the 57th to suffer by comparison with other regiments. The trip will, of course, also be of a holiday character, and we hope that our fellow citizens will thoroughly enjoy their two days outing in the old, historic "Limestone City."

Yours, etc.,
PETERBOROUGH.

PETERBOROUGH DISTRICT CONFERENCE MEETING.

THE MEMBERS IN SESSION YESTERDAY AND TO-DAY.

The Charlotte St. Church Sunday School Room Being Utilized for a Place of Meeting—Preparing for the General Conference Meeting.

WEDNESDAY MORNING.

The special Ministerial Session of the Peterborough District began in the Charlotte street church at 10 a.m. After the singing of a hymn, Revs. Geo. Robinson and Jos. Kilgour led in prayer.

Rev. S. J. Shorey presided, and the first business taken up was the election of a secretary. Rev. N. D. Drew was appointed with Revs. C. E. Cragg and H. S. Spence, B.A., B.D., as assistants.

The role of Ministerial members was then called, the following being present: Revs. S. J. Shorey, D. O. Crossley, J. E. Moure, Leonard Phelps, Jos. Kilgour, C. E. Cragg, T. S. McKee, T. J. Edmison, W. D. Harrison, J. W. Coone, Geo. Robinson, N. D. Drew, H. S. Spence, W. V. Sexsmith, H. W. Foley, J. M. Clarry, Prosper H. Neville.

The ministers and probationers were found blameless in life, conversation and doctrine.

In the case of Rev. G. H. H. Davis, left without a station at his own request, it was resolved that as his residence has been out of the Conference—in the United States—during the year and as we have received no communication from him we know nothing of his case, but we see no reason why he should not be allowed to pass.

AFTERNOON SESSION.

The session was opened by the consideration of the probationers under the following rule:—"Who have been on probation for the ministry five years and are now recommended to be received into full connection and ordained?"

Messrs. Prosper H. Neville and H. S. Spence, B.A., B.D., were recommended to Conference to be received into full connection and ordained.

Messrs. S. J. Green, D. G. Harrison, Chas. E. Cragg, J. W. Coone, H. W. Foley, B.A., and J. N. Clarry, not having completed the term of their probation, were recommended to be continued on trial.

Revs. Robt. Johnston and Edw. Cragg were continued as superannuated ministers.

Rev. Mr. Kilgour, who has served the church for forty-one years was recommended for superannuation on motion of Rev. T. J. Edmison and Rev. D. O. Crossley.

It was resolved to recommend that the catechism be taught and catechism classes be formed wherever possible.

Revs. T. S. McKee and W. D. Harrison were appointed a provisional auditing committee.

THURSDAY MORNING.

The district meeting opened this morning with the following lay delegates in attendance in addition to the members present yesterday:—Messrs. Thos. Morrow, Isaac Richardson, Thos. Johnston, R. W. Clark, W. J. Graham, Jas. Brock, Thos. Brown, Jno. Hall, W. C. Manning, W. J. Northey, T. R. Graham, Silas Beer, John Barnicott, John Elliott and Thos. Lean.

The opening devotional exercises were conducted by Rev. Geo. Robinson and Mr. Thos. Johnston. Rev. W. D. Harrison and Mr. R. W. Clarke were appointed to audit the scheudules.

The following were recommended for college—D. G. Harrison, S. J. Green, C. E. Cragg, — Clarry and J. W. Coone.

SPAIN FULL OF FIGHT

Cape Verde Squadron Reaches Santiago de Cuba.

CADIZ EXPEDITION ALL READY.

New Cabinet Ministers Installed in Office—Eighty Shots Were Fired by the Americans at Santiago But No Damage Was Done—Governor of Santiago Confident in Spain's Strength.

Madrid, May 20.—(Via Paris.)—The Spanish squadron has arrived at Santiago de Cuba without accident.

The News Confirmed.

London, May 20.—A direct message from Santiago de Cuba confirms the report of the arrival of the Spanish squadron there. The despatch says the event has caused intense enthusiasm at Santiago.

The Madrid correspondent of the Times says: "Senor Leon y Castillo, has again wired Senor Sagasta, developing the reasons already advanced why he might be more useful in his present position as Ambassador to France than as a member of the Government. This despatch has considerably impressed the Cabinet.

"Recent events, especially Mr. Chamberlain's speech at Birmingham, have opened up new political horizons. Spanish statesmen anticipate the possibility of universal conflagration, wherein Spain would find efficient allies. Their eyes naturally turn towards France and Russia."

Spain's New Cabinet.

Madrid, May 20.—The new Cabinet Ministers took over their portfolios yesterday afternoon.

Santiago Bombarded.

Madrid, May 20.—A despatch from Havana says that Santiago de Cuba has been bombarded, but "no great damage has been done."

Fired Eighty Shots.

Madrid, May 20.—An official despatch received here yesterday from Havana says that American ships fired eighty shots during the reported recent bombardment of Santiago de Cuba, but that no damage was inflicted. The despatch adds that the batteries at Santiago de Cuba replied to the fire of the ships, and that one of the latter was damaged.

BUDGET FROM CUBA.

Insurgent Bands Are Moving On Santiago—Spaniards Can Take Care of Themselves in the Hot Climate.

Kingston, Jamaica, May 20.—Refugees who arrived here yesterday from Santiago de Cuba on board the steamer Aduba say the insurgent district commanders in Eastern Cuba are moving nearer and nearer to Santiago de Cuba. It appears that Brigadier-General Mindez, by order of General Calixto Garcia, has brought insurgent forces from the extreme east to the neighborhood of Caimanero, on the north coast, and Brigadier-General Castillo of the insurgent army shifts his command to within 25 miles of Santiago de Cuba.

Small insurgent bands engage in nightly raids past the outlying garrisoned towns to within about six miles of the city of Santiago de Cuba. They retire without pursuit after their frays. The concerted design is to cut off the meat, vegetable and fruit supply of the city, and produce the effects of a siege. In the meantime the prices of provisions at Santiago de Cuba are even less than they were three weeks ago.

Senor Enrique Capriles, Governor of Santiago de Cuba, in an interview printed in La Bandera Espagnola of May 18, is quoted as saying:

"Spain has 300,000 regular troops and volunteers in Cuba, and we fight on our soil. Those of us who are from Spain are acclimated, and we are entrenched. Therefore one of us is equal to two invaders—yes, to three invaders.

"We hear America purposes to assail us with 100,000 men. Some reports say 150,000 men and raw levies. We invite four times that number to enrich our fields with their carcases. The greater the number, the greater the glory. Let us keep our hearts elevated by patriotism and thoughts of our wrongs. Our flag has been called the 'Golden and Bloody Flag of Spain,' in our hands, may it, indeed, win that name."

The feeling against Americans in Santiago de Cuba is most bitter. The Spaniards threaten to confiscate the plantations owned by Americans. The representatives of foreign capitalists, who at first believed the war would be a short and victorious one for the United States, now appear to think that it will be prolonged for many months.

Senor Polo's Business Eye.

London, May 20.—A despatch to the Star from Montreal, published yesterday, says Senor Polo y Bernabe has secured, by cable, a coal depot near St. Pierre, Miquelon, the French colony off the south coast of Newfoundland, at which the Cadiz squadron will coal, previous to attacking the Atlantic seaboard of the United States, while the Cape Verde squadron, commanded by Admiral Cervera, draws off the squadrons commanded by Rear-Admiral Sampson and Commodore Schley.

Will Expel Yankee Correspondents.

London, May 20.—The Madrid correspondent of the Morning Post says: "One of the first acts of the new Cabinet will be the expulsion from Spanish territory of all correspondents of American newspapers and of such British correspondents as are suspected of sending objectionable matter.

DEWEY'S BLOCKADE.

The American Rear-Admiral Still Keeps It Up—Insurgent Movements—Spain Does Not Weaken.

London, May 20.—The correspondent at Manila of the Daily Telegraph telegraphs, under date of Friday, as follows: "Despite the worries of the blockade, the spirits of the Spanish officials are well maintained. The vessels of Admiral Dewey's squadron keep their position and content themselves with preventing all supplies from reaching the beleaguered city. In addition to the Callao, the Americans have taken some steamers which were making for the port and several coasting vessels. Nothing has yet succeeded in running the blockade. Admiral Dewey is credited with a desire to capture the Spanish steamer Leyte, as his launches have been scouting around the coast. The Leyte is at present anchored in the River Pampanga.

"The rebel forces have not yet summoned up courage to attack the city. They are in no condition to do so, but they ravage the country outside. The foreign residents believe that if the city fell into the hands of the rebels it would be deplorable. The governor is creating a loyal native legion to assist in coping with rebel attacks, while the Spanish regular troops are reserved to meet any American forces that may be landed."

Not Ready to Give in Yet.

The Madrid correspondent of the Standard says: "It is stated that Admiral Camara, the commander of the reserve squadron at Cadiz, has again been summoned to Madrid to consult with the new Government. The papers, commenting on this visit, ask whether the contemplated expedition to Manila has been postponed, or whether there is any hesitation as to the expediency of weakening the reserve squadron for the purpose of convoying it.

The Imparcial says: "Our men-of-war are not only necessary to expel Dewey from Manila, but to re-establish Spanish prestige with the natives, which would be irretrievably damaged should our rule only be restored by diplomatic mediation."

The other papers affect to believe in an impending agreement between Russia and Japan, supported by France and Germany to stop the United States at once in the Philippines.

The Epoca says: "After the Cavite disaster the Washington Government entrusted to foreign diplomacy the mission of ascertaining on what conditions Spain would make peace, but was informed that it would be unwise to make any official or unofficial soundings, Spain being unwilling to accept anything short of the status quo, ante-bellum, viz., the withdrawal of the American naval forces from Cuba and the Philippines."

FIRED ON BRITISHERS.

An Incident Which Shows Spanish Feeling as Regards Old England.

Gibraltar, May 20.—A number of British soldiers, while out boating yesterday afternoon, attempted to land on Spanish territory, whereupon a sentry fired upon them and wounded one man.

A Policy of Secrecy.

Tampa, May 20.—The strictest kind of censorship has been established here and absolutely nothing pertaining to military or naval movements from this port will be permitted to be sent out from this time on. An official bulletin of such news as the officials consider advisable will be provided.

Chased a Spaniard.

New York, May 20.—A Key West special says: The cruisers Marblehead and Nashville chased and engaged a Spanish warship off Cape San Antonio at the extreme end of Pinar del Rio. A running fight took place towards Havana. Further particulars cannot be ascertained and the result is not known.

They Will Be Exchanged.

Washington, May 20.—Arrangements are completed by which newspaper correspondents Thrall and Jones will be exchanged for Colonel Cortijo and Surgeon Julian, Spanish officers now at Fort McPherson, Ga.

Rupture Between Irving and Terry.

London, May 16.—It is said that a rupture has occurred in the relations between Sir Henry Irving and Miss Ellen Terry and that the latter will, in a few months, play with Mr. Beerbohm Tree

MR. GLADSTONE'S LAST WORD, "AMEN"

Deep Manifestations of Grief Throughout Great Britain.

TRIBUTES TO THE GREAT DEAD.

Public Funeral and Monument at Westminster Proposed in the Commons by Mr. A. J. Balfour—Lord Salisbury Says the G. O. M. Was England's Greatest in Parliamentary History

London, May 20.—Further details from Hawarden Castle of the passing away of the great English statesman show his end was of the most peaceful imaginable. There was no sign of pain or distress. Mrs. Gladstone clasped her husband's hand and occasionally kissed it, while the Rev. Stephen Gladstone read prayers and repeated hymns. The nurse in the meanwhile bathed the brow of the patient, who showed gratefulness, murmuring "How nice." The only other evidence that Mr. Gladstone realized his surroundings was when his son recited the litany. Then the dying man feebly murmured "Amen." This was the last word spoken by Mr. Gladstone. Then came the gentle, almost imperceptible cessation of life in the midst of his son's prayer, and the weeping family slowly filed from the room, taking Mrs. Gladstone, who was induced to lie down and who soon slept quietly.

Manifestations of Grief.

London, May 20.—The deepest manifestations of grief are reported throughout the country. Flags are everywhere half-masted, the bells are tolling, shades are drawn down, and in the public galleries here the pictures of Mr. Gladstone have been draped with crape.

The Queen and the Prince of Wales received an early intimation of the sad news and immediately sent touching expressions of condolence to the widow.

Very many telegrams of sympathy are arriving at Hawarden Castle from all parts of the world.

IN THE COMMONS.

Government Leader Proposes a Public Funeral and Monument at Westminster.

London, May 20.—The House of Commons was crowded yesterday, and when the speaker called upon the Government leader, Mr. A. J. Balfour, all present uncovered their heads.

Mr. Balfour said: "I think it will be felt in all parts of the House that we should do fitting honor to the great man whose long and splendid career closed today by adjourning. This is not the occasion for uttering the thoughts which naturally suggest themselves. That occasion will present itself to-morrow, when it will be my duty to submit to the House an address to the Queen, praying her to grant the honor of a public funeral, if such honor is not inconsistent with the expressed wishes of himself or of those who have the right to speak in his behalf, and also praying the Queen to direct that a public monument be erected at Westminster with an inscription expressive of the public admiration, attachment and high sense entertained by the House of Mr. Gladstone's rare and splendid gifts and devoted labors in Parliament and in the high offices of State. Before actually moving the adjournment I have to propose a formal resolution that the House to-morrow resolve itself into committee to draw up an address, the contents of which I have just indicated."

After a word of assent from Sir William Vernon Harcourt, the Liberal leader, the resolution was adopted and the House adjourned.

FOR THE LORDS.

Premier Salisbury Does Justice to His Great Opponent.

London, May 20.—Lord Salisbury yesterday, in paying tribute to Mr. Gladstone, said: "His opponents sitting in the House of Lords, where they had been subjected to the glamour of his eloquence, could offer their passing tribute to the most brilliant intellect devoted to the service of the State since Parliamentary Government began, and to the courage, resolution, self sacrifice and discipline with which he continued his exertions on behalf of the convictions he had down to the last period granted to an English statesman."

Lord Salisbury's Organ.

The Standard says: "Whether men agreed with him or differed from him in matters of party politics, they could not come within the range of his influence as an administrator without being profoundly impressed alike with his extraordinary powers of despatching public business most efficiently, and his absolute devotion to what he believed the highest interests of his country."

"THIS GRAND OLD MAN."

References to the Dead Statesman in the Washington Capitol.

Washington, D.C., May 20.—The following telegram was sent by the Secretary of State yesterday:

Hay, Ambassador, London: Through appropriate channel express to Mr. Gladstone's family the sympathy and sorrow of the American people at the passing away, in the ripeness of years and fullness of honor, of the most notable figure of modern civil statesmanship.

Chaplain Ceuden in the House yesterday referred feelingly to the late William E. Gladstone, whose death was announced in the morning papers. "In the death of this grand old man" the Chaplain said, "our hearts go out in gratitude to Thee for his great character as a writer, statesman and Christian, which has been felt throughout the world."

In the Senate the death of Mr Gladstone was made the theme of the chaplain's invocation

"Oh, eternal God," the chaplain prayed, "with the whole English-speaking race we stand as mourners beside the bier of the most eminent man of our generation."

AN AIM IN LIFE.

There is no royal road to gaining an honest living any more than than there is to learning. As a rule we have to give a quid pro quo in labour in some way for the living we get. This is the rule but it is not the universal rule—not on the part of those whose chief aim in life is to gain an easy living. In the parlance of slangdom a "soft snap" is the great object of modern search, and no field perhaps is more industriously worked to this end than that of government office. The most robust morality becomes week-kneed in its relations to a government. A moralist so straight-laced that he would feel his conscience pricked if he purloined a pin from a fellow citizen would have no compunctions in robbing the government by smuggling in a farm if he could accomplish it. The popular impression seems to be that there is no bottom to the government's pocket, that the only function of the government is to give deserving citizens a fat contract, a fat job or an easy office with little work and big pay. This predatory appetite for pap has not the distinction of being indigenous to the soil of either party. Whichever Government may be in power, is beset with supporters, who will take no denial of their asserted claim to a Government office. The heads of Government departments and the members of ridings are beset in their offices, and out of them at every turn, by applicants, who show a persistence of endeavour, a perennial hopefulness, a sublime superiority to the broadest kind of a hint, which argues their possession of the belief that the Government exists solely for the sake of giving them an office, a belief that no Government would be worthy of existence which did not promptly recognize their claim. It is no use to show them that there is no office available—the Government that wanted to do the decent thing by so prominent a supporter could easily make an opening; there's no use to represent that, even if there were an opening, others had as good, or better, claims — that is simply impossible. Nothing else will answer — their thirst for office can only be quenched by deep draughts of its sweets. Nothing can disabuse their minds of the belief that there is an inexhaustable supply of Government offices, and a very limited supply of deserving applicants. Individually each applicant believes in the omnibus theory, that, though all the departments of an administration are overmanned, there is always, as there should be, in his case, "room for one more."

In the abstract and in the interests of national progress, the office-seeking spirit should not be encouraged, nor should the cognate spirit of getting what is called an easy living, by other avenues as contrasted with good honest labour.

As a rule a government office presents no opportunity to rise in the world, no opportunity of development, such as a robust-minded and able-bodied young Canadian should seek. Public service is a necessary service, and faithful work therein receives recognition and fair pecuniary reward; but the average office-holder of necessity becomes largely a clerical machine in comparison with the opportunities that present themselves in the world of outside action in this great but young and still undeveloped country, which needs the best efforts of every son to contribute to the growth and greatness, which, with the co-operation of its citizens, it is capable of attaining. It may not be amiss to quote in this connection the eminently sensible advice given by a prominent statesman to a young man who had importuned him for a Government clerkship:

"My young friend," said he, "take up 160 acres of government land. Get you an axe and a mattock; put up a log cabin for a habitation and raise a little corn and potatoes. Keep your conscience clear and you will be like a free man—your own master, with no one to give you orders and without dependence upon anybody. Do that and you will be honoured, respected, influential and rich. But accept a government clerkship and you sink at once all independence, your energies become relaxed and you are unfitted in a few years for any other and more independent position. I may give you a place to day and I can kick you out to-morrow, and the people by and by can kick me out, and so we go. But if you own an acre of land it is your kingdom and your cabin is your castle. You are a sovereign and you will feel it in every throb of your pulse and every day of your life will assure me of your thanks for having thus advised you."

THE chief objection to granting an extra sessional indemnity to the members of House of Commons is that it will be a substantial argument in favour of their talking more at another session. There is, however, apart from badinage, this to be said. In many cases, no doubt, members are at positive loss arising from the prolonged session, keeping them away from their business affairs. A sessional indemnity is supposed to stand between a representative and actual pecunary loss from attendance upon his parliamentary duties. It is well known by those familiar with the course of political service that a faithful, earnest and attentive parliamentary representative is never idemnified by the comparatively small sessional allowance he receives for his necessary sacrifice in the service of his riding and country. "The labourer is worthy of his hire" no matter in what sphere he faithfully works.

Twenty-Nine Days of War Has Cost the U. S. $80,000,000.

EYES OF THE U. S. NOW OPENED

Delays in Initial Preparation for War With a Nation in the Business for Years Costs Much Money and Labor —U. S. Warships Draw Spain's Fire—Sigsbee's Bad Luck.

New York, May 20.—A Washington special says: Twenty-nine days of war have cost the United States eighty million dollars, or nearly three million daily.

DREW THE ENEMY'S FIRE.

American Warships Had a Combat With the Forts at Santiago.

Kingston, Jamaica, May 20. — Two American warships whose names were not discernible from the shore appeared off Santiago de Cuba yesterday while the steamer Adula, which has arrived here from that port with refugees, was in the harbor. They approached and drew the fire of the batteries at the harbor entrance. It is not certain whether the warships replied to the fire.

The firing continued from noon to one 1 o'clock. Captain Walker of the Adula, when coming out, could not see any marks on Morro Fort, and inferred that the American ships drew the fire of the batteries to learn the range.

There was much excitement in the city. The regulars and volunteers were called out and new earthwork batteries erected on each side of the harbor entrance. The number and calibre of the guns are unnkown, but it is known that there are 21 torpedoes in the channel, electrically connected with the shore.

The cruiser Mercedes, whose boilers are disabled, has been anchored so she can rake the channel for 800 yards, and the merchant ship Mexico of Barcelona, mounting four small quick-firing guns, is in the harbor. Several coasting steamers and schooners are at the wharves.

A few days ago a German steamer brought 16,000 bags of rice to Santiago de Cuba. Rice and sardines are the principal food supplies.

THE INITIAL COST OF WAR

Much Increased to the United States Because It Had No Standing Army to Begin With.

Washington, D.C., May 20.—With every disposition on the part of the executive to make the present war short, sharp and decisive, it is beginning to be realized that delays are inevitable, and that much work will be necessary to put the nation in efficient fighting shape. Every day brings forth some weak spot that has to be strengthened, or some hidden defect, such as the discovery at this late moment that every regular army officer who accepted a volunteer appointment would forfeit his commission in the regulars, and so become liable to be left out of the service entirely at the end of the war. Few officers cared to risk their future in that way, so a rush was made towards Congress to secure the necessary corrective legislation. Again, it has been found that the equipment of the army, small as it is in comparison with the great army of the rebellion, is sadly lacking. Nearly a month after the formal declaration of war, the War Department purchased a number of shelter tents, and it has just secured the hammocks that experts say are essential to existence in Cuba.

To maintain the army of 200,000 men for six months will cost $30,000,000, according to estimates prepared by Paymaster-General Stanton, and the leading officials are beginning to fear that hostilities may run along beyond this period. The reason is the growing conviction on the part of some of the officers that they must not reckon on any substantial assistance from the Cuban rebels in this campaign, and moreover, must meet the Spaniards in Cuba in their strongest sphere, that of the defensive.

Naval authorities are relieved of a good deal of embarrassment by the consent of the French authorities at Martinique to allow the scouting vessel Harvard to remain in St. Pierre uhtil her repairs are completed. It was at first supposed that she would be allowed only seven days' stay and at the end of that time would be forced out to risk attack at the hands of some ambushed Spanish cruiser or torpedo boat.

Sigsbee's Ship Again.

Washington, May 20.—It is reported at the Navy Department that the coal bunkers of the auxiliary cruiser St. Paul, at Key West, Captain Sigsbee's ship, are on fire and that there is danger of her magazines exploding. A later despatch said the 200 men aboard her conquered the fire after twelve hours hard fighting.

Won't Bombard Canaries.

London, May 20.—The agent at the Canary Islands of a Liverpool firm writes that the British Consul there has been informed that the United States will not bombard the Canary Islands, as the result of an agreement between Great Britain and the United States. While Great Britain remains neutral the United States will abstain from such a bombardment, which would mean great destruction of British property in the Canary Islands.

The man who stands idly by and sees the life fading out of his wife's face, sees her health going, sees her becoming old and faded and wrinkled when she should still be in the perfect enjoyment of vigorous, useful health, is either less than a man or else does not know of the one remedy which will bring her back to health and strength. Perhaps her husband cannot persuade her to go to her doctor, because she naturally dreads the inevitable "examinations" and "local treatments." He can persuade her, if she needs persuasion, to take Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. This truly wonderful medicine has cured hundreds of women after the best physicians have failed. It has been in constant use and tested every day for thirty years. It isn't an experiment, there are no chances about it. It is a certain cure for all the derangements, weaknesses, irregularities and displacements of internal organs peculiar to women.

Mr. G. B. Hilliard lost his Masonic apron and certificate between the Snowden House, Peterborough, and Lakefield, on Wednesday evening, May 4th. He fully expects the finder will return it to him, as a reward is offered.

Do you require a new suit of clothes for the 24th? If so call and see what R. Graham & Son can do for you.

The Andrews Dramatic Co. played to a full house on Monday evening, and presented Dumas great play of Monte Cristo in an excellent manner. The parts were well taken by the different actors, and the costumes were good. On Tuesday evening they put on the Russian one act play "Olga," and a three act farce "Charles' Uncle," introducing several specialties. They will also perform here on Wednesday. This excellent company should draw good houses.

WARSAW.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

The "innocents abroad" of Young's Point passed through here on Saturday morning en route for Norwood, to play football with the High School team of that place, and enjoyed a break-down just outside the city limits. Coming direct from the solitude and lonesomeness which surrounds Young's Point to the noise and bustle of this great business centre seems to have been too much of a shock for their nerves.

Mr. Fred. Tully, proprietor of steamer Tramp, and Mr. J. F. Senif, harbour master at McCracken's Landing, were in town on Monday evening.

Mr. W. Menzies, of THE EXAMINER, was in the village on Friday last. He dropped into our sanctum while here and reports that the circulation of THE EXAMINER is constantly on the increase in and around Warsaw. This speaks well for the moral condition of the people. Mr. Menzies was accompanied by his son, Mr. W. B. Menzies.

Mr. John Wason is erecting a fine brick stable.

The Lakefield correspondent of the Weekly Times of last week says:—"Young's Point football club, with the assistance of two Lakefield, two Norwood and one Warsaw player succeeded in doing up the Lakefield club to the extent of three goals to two. The reason for this victory for the Point is very apparent. It should be read as follows:—One Warsaw player with the assistance of etc., etc. It must surely have been a great strain on the Warsaw man to thus go into a game single-handed or almost so, because the Young's Point men would only be in his road.

Word was received here by Mr. T. F. Lumsden of the death of his brother-in-law, Wm. Manley, of Elderslie township, county of Bruce. Mr. Manley was one of the earliest settlers in Dummer, having removed here from Philadelphia in the year 1832. He married Elizabeth Lumsden, sister of Mr. T. F. Lumsden, of this place, in the year 1837. Between the years 1850 and 1854 Mr. Manley held the position of local superintendent of public schools in this township. For sixteen years he held the office of Justice of the Peace. In 1854 he moved with his family to Elderslie township, where he has been residing since. He leaves a family of ten children, five in Canada and five in the United States. He was 81 years of age. The news of his death will be heard with deep regret by his old friends here.

Canada's Golden Heritage

Does not consist in mines alone. Putnam's Painless Corn Extractor is a boon. It goes right to the root of the trouble and acts quickly and painlessly. Beware of substitutes.

YOUNG'S POINT.

From Our Own Correspondent.

Mr. J. E. Kearney, of the Lakeview House, has considerably improved his hotel this spring, taking out partitions and painting and papering the house within. He is at present building an addition of ten rooms, with a large parlour attached. Mr. Moore, of Lakefield is the contractor and the work will be completed by the first of June. The rooms are large and airy. Future guests will find the Lakeview, as usual, both comfortable and homelike.

We can safely say that Young's Point can boast of the best fishing grounds in Canada, while its invigorating air, the peculiar softness of the water and the resinuous odor of the pine forests are potent health-creating agencies and it is at this point that tourists embark on the steamers, taking in the round trip daily among the many islands and our beautiful lakes, calling at all places of interest. The charming drives which the vicinity affords have all combined to make it a very popular resort, as during the season of summer it is a gay and animated little town.

Don't forget the picnic in Lakefield on May 24th, celebrating the 79th birthday of Her Majesty the Queen. This picnic is an annual event and is regarded as a most successful one. Everybody anticipates a good day's outing. Addresses will be delivered by Mr. J. K. Stratton, M.P.P., and others, suited to the circumstances of the occasion. There will be a football match during the day between Young's Point and Lakefield. There will also be be other athletic sports, consisting of seventeen events, for which valuable prizes will be awarded. For the convenience of Peterborough people special trains will be run in the morning and early afternoon at special rates. The Peterborough orchestra will be on the grounds and furnish music. The Steamer Majestic will run round trips morning and evening to the grounds.

We are sorry to say Miss Maggie Young, who has been ill for some time, still continues to be no better.

Miss Louisa Kearney, who has been visiting friends in Peterborough for the past three weeks, has returned home.

Mrs. R. Pope, Peterborough, is the guest of Miss Anna Young.

The first drive of the season, belonging to Mr. Alf McDonald, J. Dwyer, foreman, is now in Stony Lake, winding its way down.

The government boat is busily engaged the last couple of days fixing the booms here.

Mr. Herr and Mr. Warren, cheese inspectors, were the guests of the Lakeview House this week.

Mr. P. P. Young has engaged Mr. Patrick Karr to take charge of the engine on his steamer this summer.

Norwood football team is going to play a return match with our boys Saturday next here.

The Clines Resting Easily.

Hamilton, May 18.—A late report from Winona says that Mrs. Cline and Vance Cline, who were shot by George Cline, are resting easily. It is not thought that either person will die now.

Cervera's Success at Dodging Applauded.

London, May 20—The Madrid correspondent of the Standard says: The success of Admiral Cervera in avoiding the American fleets and keeping them on the alert excites much enthusiasm and causes the press to clamour for a prompt despatch of the reserve fleet to the front. The policy of the new Cabinet will be made public to-day.

Spanish Report not Confirmed.

New York, May 20—World special from Washington says the navy department has nothing that would confirm the Madrid despatch that the Cape Verde fleet has safely reached Santiago. No reliance is placed on Madrid despatches regarding the movements of ships.

No Confirmation Here Either.

Havana Feels the Blockade.

Havana, May 19, via. Vera Cruz.—The weight of the blockade is seriously felt here. Business is almost at a standstill and there is hardly any movement on the streets. There is a feverish desire to leave the island. There is considerable feeling against men who desire to leave the city.

Russia Friendly to Spain.

Moscow, May 20.—The Gazette has assumed a strong pro-Spanish attitude. It recently denounced the Americans as pirates, whom only Great Britain's attitude has saved from having to face the coalition of Europe.

Sagasta Burned in Effigy.

Saratoga, N.Y., May 20.—At White Hall, Washington county, yesterday, an effigy of Premier Sagasta suspended from the top of a 35 foot pole was found by the French Canadians who sympathized with Spain. They then tore down the effigy and burned it in the public square. Americans are aroused and trouble may ensue.

Madrid, 10 a.m., May 20—Admiral Cervera did not sight any American ships during the voyage. Continuing, he says: The blockading vessels quickly left on the approach of the squadron. It is now believed the Americans fled to avoid a reverse.

The Firm of Clarke & Gibson Being Dissolved.

As announced in another column the firm of Clarke & Gibson is dissolving and Mr. Alex. Gibson will carry on the business under the old firm name.

There are few men in active business to-day who began with Mr. John Clarke in Peterborough. After a life spent in closely following the interests of his business he is now in a position to retire, which he does after a record of which he may well be proud. Mr. Alex. Gibson, who will now carry on the watch-making and manufacturing jewellery business, has been with Mr. Clarke for the last fourteen years and for nine years has been an active partner.

NATIVE OF BURMAH.

Miss Armstrong, who Spoke on Tuesday in the Park Street Church, was Born in India.

The annual meeting of the Ladies' Mission Circle of the Park street Baptist church was held on Tuesday afternoon and evening.

The reports submitted by Miss Mann, the secretary, and Mrs. A. L. Grover the treasurer, were very satisfactory.

Officers were elected as follows:
President—Mrs. M. Mowry.
Vice-President—Mrs. T. G. Gillespie.
Treasurer—Mrs. A. L. Grover.
Secretary—Miss M. Mann.
Collectors—Mrs. R. Wright and Mrs. J. Booth.

In the evening Mrs. Hunter and Mrs. (Dr.) Scott both kindly contributed solos to the programme, and the choir sang the anthem "Let there be Light."

Miss Armstrong then spoke on the manners and customs of the natives of Burmah. Her parents have lived in Indi for the past thirty years as missionaries and she herself was born there. At present Miss Armstrong is taking an Arts course at McMaster University, having come to Canada with her two younger brothers, who are taking a theological course at the same University. On Tuesday evening she was dressed in the national costume of Burmah and sang several songs in that tongue. The address proved most interesting.

AN EXPLANATION.

To the Editor of The Examiner:

DEAR SIR,—Kindly give me space for a small explanation. There are in every community persons who take a very deep interest in the affairs of their neighbours, especially where they can turn that interest to their disadvantage. A few days ago one of my kindly disposed neighbours placed a complaint before the Chief of Police, charging me with planting and digging in my garden on Sunday.

I may explain that in the cultivation of a garden such as mine there is certain work that must be done on Sunday, as well as other days. For instance, hot beds must be looked after and the glass removed or vice versa, according to the weather or temperature, and plants must be watered even on Sunday.

I positively and explicitly assert that I never did any work in my garden that could without loss be left undone. I respect the sacredness of the Sabbath day fully as well as the sanctimonious informer, who, if he were anxious to obey the Divine command as to his duty to his neighbour, as he is to find fault with others, would exercise more charity. Let him that is without sin cast the first stone.

Yours, etc.,
GEO. BENTON,
Gardener.

A DUMMER FARMER TRAMPLED TO DEATH.

HORRIBLE AND FATAL ACCIDENT TO MR. ALEX. SMITH.

Found Dead and Mangled in his Farm Yard—Attacked by a Deborned Ayrshire Bull, Which Used his Feet Instead of his Horns With Deadly Effect—Deceased a Prominent Citizen of Dummer.

This morning the body of Mr. Alexander Smith, a prominent farmer of Dummer township, was found in his farm yard, horribly mangled, the entrails protruding from gaping rents in the abdomen. It appears that his farm man discovered the body on entering the yard; and the manner of his death is only to be conjectured, though the means of death are known to be an Ayrshire bull, which, it is supposed, suddenly attacked Mr. Smith as he was leading him out to water, as was his usual custom. Though the bull was deborned, it would appear that he used his feet to terrible effect. Apparently, on being attroked by the bull, Mr. Smith fled, with the infuriated brute in full pursuit. Overtaking the unfortunate gentleman the bull must have knocked him down and trampled him with his feet in a most vicious manner. When found Mr. Smith was quite dead, and death had evidently taken place some little time previously.

The terrible event has cast quite a gloom over the community where Mr. Smith resided a prominent and respected citizen. He occupied a prominent position in many relations. He was master of L.O.L. 284, and Past County Master. He was at one time president of the Dummer and Douro Agricultural Society. He was an advanced farmer and took a deep interest in promoting the interests of agriculture in many ways. He established the Warsaw cheese factory. He was also a member of the township council. He was a Liberal in politics, and a Presbyterian in religion, being an elder of the church. Mr. Smith was sixty years of age, and leaves behind him a wife and family, besides one brother, Mr. David Smith, Lakefield, to mourn his sudden and terrible death.

THE KINGSTON TRIP.

Officers of the Peterborough Redcoats Arranging for the Regiment's Visit.

Lieut.-Col. Bell, commanding the 57th battalion, Peterborough Rangers, Major Langford and Lieut. Matthews, says the Kingston Whig, arrived in the city yesterday afternoon to make arrangements for a visit of that regiment to the city for May 24th. They were met by Lieut.-Col. Drennan and escorted about the city. They visited the proposed quarters for the visiting volunteers at the fair grounds and expressed full satisfaction with the accommodation afforded. The visitors will sleep in the palace building and will be distributed around the several hotels for their meals. The officers will be quartered under canvas at the grounds, where they will be pleased to welcome all friends and visitors. Arrangements have been made for them to dine at the British American Hotel.

The battalion will arrive here on Sunday morning at five o'clock by special train, fully 300 strong, including twenty-six officers, thirty bandsmen, twenty buglers, and twenty pioneers and ambulance corps. Besides taking part in the military review on Tuesday they will appear in the church parade on Sunday. The battalion returns to Peterborough on Tuesday night. The last visit of the 57th to the city was in 1892.

In Every Department, at

R. H. KELLS & CO.

Six Days of Unusually Early Summer Reductions all over the Store, starting SATURDAY of this Week and ending with SATURDAY of Next Week—The Two Saturdays Included.

We intend to wind up the first week in May with a Wholesale General Reduction in Prices, in gratitude for the remarkably successful spring season's business up-to-date. On SATURDAY, MAY 21st, the whole of our new, clean, fresh selected stock of Summer Goods will positively be sold AT and BELOW COST. During these Six Days we are going to sell TWO THOUSAND DOLLARS WORTH OF GOODS, being an average of $333 33 per day. We can do it, for the prices must do the selling. The public know that we do as we say, without pretence of any kind. Every regular shopper at this store knows well that we have been selling goods at closer prices than other stores doing excessive advertising; but for these Six Days, prices will be OUT TO THE QUICK.

The principal attractions during this Six Days' Sale will be in goods particularly in demand by ladies at this season, such as:—SUMMER SILK AND DRESS STUFFS, BLACK CREPONS, PLAIN AND FANCY LUSTRES, CLOTH SUITINGS, SUMMER DRESS WAISTS AND CORSETS, HOSIERY AND UNDERWEAR, PARASOLS, MILLINERY AND JACKETS, TABLE AND BED LINEN, FACTORY AND BLEACHED COTTONS, SHIRTINGS, SHEETINGS, TOWELLING, CRETONNES, LACE CURTAINS, PORTIERS, ETC.

When every item in the store will be cut in price, and Sweeping Reductions will affect every department, it would be useless to quote prices fully; but such facts as these will indicate the general trend of the figures:—

50 Ladies' & Children's Jackets, worth $4 to $10, each $1.00
100 Ladies' Print Wrappers - - 83c. $1.10, $1.25
20 Dozen Ladies' Blouses, worth 75c and $1.00 - 44c
450 Ladies' Parasols, plain & shot effects, about Half Price

Nothing will be offered at regular prices. No unworthy goods will be put forward, no matter how cheaply they may be offered. The relation of this store to the community is such that we cannot afford to resort to "jewing."

WOMAN.

THE HEALTH OF A NATION DEPENDS ON THE HEALTH OF ITS WOMEN.

22 POUNDS GAINED.

I had been a sufferer like a great many other women with a disease peculiar to my sex. I tried everything I could read or think about to help me, but was getting worse instead of better. My condition was terrible—I was losing flesh and color, and my friends were alarmed. I consulted a doctor of this town and he said I would never get better; that I would always be sickly and delicate, and that medicines were of little use to me. Hearing what Dr. Ward's Blood and Nerve Pills had done for others I determined to try them myself, and to-day I weigh one hundred and forty pounds, while before I weighed only one hundred and eighteen pounds, and I now have a constitution that is hard to beat. I have not suffered any pain in months, and earnestly hope that Dr. Ward's Blood and Nerve Pills will reach every woman suffering as I did. Sincerely yours.

THE LEADERS BOTH FAVOR IT

The Anglo-Saxon Alliance in the House of Commons.

PREMIER'S ADMIRABLE SPEECH.

An Utterance Marked by Statesmanlike Sagacity and Foresight, It Wins the Acquiescence of the Opposition Leader—Sir Charles Tupper's Remarks — Mr. McNeill's Inter-Trade Motion.

Ottawa, May 19.—Mr. McNeill's motion in favor of preferential trade between Britain and her colonies was somewhat thrown into the background yesterday in the House by other matters which share the popular attention just now. The session was marked by an important utterance by the Premier on the question of a possible Anglo-Saxon alliance, and by the concurrence in his remarks by the leader of the Opposition, Sir Charles Tupper. The question which precipitated the unexpected remarks of the leaders was

The Alien Labor Law.

Mr. McCleary said he desired to call attention to the Alien Labor Law. He thought either the law should be amended or else enforced to the fullest extent. He intimated that, from personal knowledge, the G.T.R. Co. in his section was discharging Canadians and employing Americans in their places. Not a week passed but instances of this kind came under his observation.

Mr. Blair said this was a most important statement, and he would be glad for the particulars, so that he might look into the matter.

Mr. McCleary said he would be glad to give him information. Continuing, he said that he believed the people of Great Britain and Canadians were in hearty sympathy with the United States in their present war with Spain. But notwithstanding this, there was an undercurrent of feeling, and not a small one nor a weak one, in the breast of Canadians, that he would like to see the United States get a little bit of a spanking to begin with, because the United States had not treated us decently. (Oh's!) That was his view and he was going to be honest and frank about it. He did not take a second place to any man in his attachment to the Anglo-Saxon race and his belief in their superiority, but he was expressing the underlying feeling of Canadians when he said they had not been treated right by the United States. He hoped the Government would see its way clear to enforce the alien law.

The Premier Speaks.

The Prime Minister (Sir Wilfrid Laurier)—I sincerely hope my honorable friend who has just taken his seat, in his utterances, which at the moment called forth some expressions of dissent, speaks his own personal feeling and not the feeling of his party. I would rather hope that upon the present occasion, though we are bound to be neutral and must be neutral in the present difficulties between the United States and Spain, I should like to believe that, if there is a feeling at all, apart from our sense of neutrality and of our duty as neutrals, it is a feeling of sympathy for those who are our neighbors and who share the continent with us. (Cheers.) With regard to the subject matter which has been brought to the attention of the House the hon. gentleman has been good enough to refer to the attitude I at one time took on this question. I stated on one occasion, and I do not desire to recall the words I made use of, that I looked upon this American alien labor law as a most unfortunate measure; that I hoped it would be repealed, and if it were not repealed, then I should feel it my duty to ask Parliament to pass a similar law line for line, word for word. I took this position not because I thought the American law was a good one, not because I approved of such a measure, but simply because I thought this the best means to bring the attention of our American neighbors to the hostile character of their legislation. A measure was introduced last session in Parliament and during my absence in England was passed. It was not made so stringent an Act as I thought it would be, but as to this I have nothing to say at this moment. The law has not been as stringent as I had intended it would, but I have not to pass judgment on this matter at the present time. I have only this to say to Mr. McCleary, even if the law is deficient and if it had to be amended, I would ask Parliament not to choose the present moment to amend it. At this moment I would deprecate, and I think everybody ought to deprecate that at this moment, when our neighbors are engaged in war, any action should be taken by this Parliament which, ever so remotely, would look as hostile to them. (Hear, hear). For my part I would rather submit to some inconvenience, to seeing the law a little deficient, even if it were deficient in my own judgment, than at this moment, when it is possible that the Mother Country and the American nation may assume more friendly relations than they have ever assumed before. I say it would be much to be deplored, much to be regretted that the Canadian Parliament should, by ever so small an act, impair what we expect to take place. (Cheers.) Now, with regard to the law which is, it may be, deficient. If it is deficient we must take it as it is at the present time. I agree with my honorable friend, however, that the law as it is should be put in force, not because I particularly favor it, but because it is on the statute book, and laws upon the statute books ought to be enforced. (Hear, hear.) I was glad to have the testimony of Mr. Cowan a few days ago on this subject, that an appointment of an agent from Windsor had had the effect of bringing about a better state of things in Windsor and Detroit, and that Canadians could go to seek work in Detroit and American workingmen could come over to work in Windsor. Now, that is what we want. We do not want any measure of hostility between the two nations. The Americans are free to come and work in competition with us provided we have the same freedom to go and work with them.

There may be some points on the frontier where American officers are over-zealous, where they over-step the mark, and where they make it possible for an unfortunate state of things to exist. At this point and corresponding points upon the Canadian frontier we have our own officers and our own agents. Whether or not they are sufficiently instructed, I am not prepared at this moment to say. I understand from Mr. McCleary that in the Niagara Peninsula he finds the officers are not properly instructed. All I have to say in this regard is that he should call the attention of the Minister of Justice at once to that condition of things. If the officer which we have appointed in the Niagara Peninsula does not do his duty, if he is not properly instructed, if, in the opinion of my honorable friend, he abstains from doing certain things which he ought to do, I think my honorable friend would do well, in view of his own convictions and in the interest of his clients, to call upon the Minister of Justice and ask him for further instructions. I do not say that the Minister of Justice will follow the advice of my honorable friend, but if he does not do so, it will be for good and sufficient reasons, I imagine. Therefore, I would rather that my honorable friend, instead of bringing the matter before this House, should call upon the Department of Justice and endeavor to see that the law is properly observed. But, I have only to repeat, as I said a moment ago, that in view of the events transpiring at the present time we should proceed very cautiously and with great prudence in this matter. (Hear, hear.)

Sir Charles Acquiesces.

Sir Charles Tupper—I rise for the purpose of expressing my entire acquiescence in the sentiments which have just fallen from the leader of the House. (General cheers.) As you, sir, well know, and as the House knows, I have on various occasions expressed strongly the view that it was absolutely necessary in the interest of Canada that we should take a firm stand in the protection of our own people against any aggressive action or laws that were calculated to operate injuriously to Canadians. No person has pressed that view upon the House more strongly than I have myself. Some time ago, during the present session, I drew attention to the great disparity that exists between the way in which Canadians are treated in the United States who are engaged in mining industries there and the treatment accorded by Canada to the citizens of the United States when coming into any part of this country. I have witnessed with great pleasure a measure recently introduced into the Senate of the United States of America, and which, I trust, if it has not already become law, will become law at a very early date, providing that Canadians should have all the rights and privileges in Alaska that are accorded in the Canadian Yukon to citizens of the United States. I hail that step with great satisfaction as the beginning of what I hope will be a fair, kindly and reciprocal legislation, operating upon parties engaged in industries on both sides of the line. I must say also that witnessing, as I have done with unqualified pleasure, the great degree of rapprochement which has recently taken place between Great Britain and the United States of America, I entirely agree with my honorable friend, that the present moment would be a most inauspicious one for us to take any action, even where, under other circumstances, we would be warranted in taking it. (Cheers.)

Sir Charles continued—In my judgment the kindly feeling that has been generated and exhibited so largely, not only on the part of Great Britain and the various portions of the Empire, but on the part of the most intelligent and important citizens of the United States of America, is indicative of a better state of things in the future than has heretofore existed. (Cheers.) I believe it is in the interest of both the United States and of Canada that the most cordial commercial and social relations should exist between the two countries. While we are bound to respect that complete neutrality that has been proclaimed by the parent state in reference to the unfortunate war that now exists between the United States and Spain, nevertheless I feel that we cannot forget that the people of Canada, as of Great Britain, are but one branch of the great English-speaking family, and that the interests of peace, the interests of civilization and the interests of the world would be promoted by the most cordial co-operation between the two great branch nations. (Great applause.)

After observations by Dr. Sproule, Messrs. Charlton, Clarke, Fraser, Taylor and Hughes, Mr. McCleary said he would deprecate any position taken by public men of this country that would seem to indicate antagonism to the great republic to the south, but he still held that Canadian sympathy for the United States at the present time was somewhat measured by the conduct of that country towards Canadians in recent years.

The subject then dropped.

Mr. McNeill rose to move "That it is advisable that a customs arrangement be effected between the United Kingdom and her colonies by which trade within the empire may be placed on a more favorable footing than that which is carried on with foreign countries." He spoke strongly in favor of his motion, and was followed by Mr. McMullen and Mr. Osler, after which Mr. Bain moved an amendment, setting forth that this House will at all times favor every practical means of developing Inter-Imperial trade.

The debate was continued by Dr. Sproule and Mr. Dobell, and was adjourned on Sir Charles Tupper's motion.

The House adjourned at 11.20 o'clock.

A GREAT BLOOD MAKER.

Dr. Ward's Blood and Nerve Pills.

GENTLEMEN,—I most heartily endorse what has been said in the public print in regard to the merits of Dr. Ward's Blood and Nerve Pills. For 15 years my blood has been in a weak impoverished condition—I had so little blood that the veins in the back of my hands could not be seen. I had no physical strength, was run down and felt tired all the time. Two months ago I saw in the papers a testimonial signed by the Messrs. Holden, of Omemee, giving in detail what Dr. Ward's Pills had done for them. Knowing these gentlemen well, also knowing that they would not put their names to an untruth, I commenced taking Dr. Ward's Pills with astonishing and pleasing results. They have filled my veins with plenty of rich blood, and healthy at that, so that they stand out prominently. They have given me strength instead of weakness. In consequence of taking them I am well, Strong and feel first rate. They are a great blood maker and strength restorer.

A STRONG ARGUMENT.

Wm. McCabe, Esq., Managing Director, N. A. L., Toronto:

DEAR SIR,—Please accept my thanks for your cheque just handed to me, for $3,901.98, in settlement of my $3,500 Fifteen Year Endowment Policy in your Company. Such a result as this, after the risk on my life has been carried for fifteen years, beginning from forty-five years of age, argues one thing strongly, namely, that the management of the North American Life must be in competent hands. The other options you have offered me, viz.: a Paid-up Life policy for $3510.00, or a Life Annuity for $401.90, are, I presume, equally liberal, and it affords me much pleasure to recommend your Company to my friends or any one desiring insurance.

Yours truly,

In olden times a leper was stoned out of town; in modern times a sick man is stoned out of all his chances in life by the crowd of busy, hustling men who have no place and no use for him. A man who has bilious turns and tired feelings and frequent "off-days" might as well go out of business.

These things are bad enough in the self-disgust and wretchedness they involve if they do not go any further. But you never know what is going to develop in a half-nourished, bile-poisoned constitution. If a man as soon as he feels that he is not getting the forceful strength and energy out of his food that he ought to, will begin taking Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, he will soon put himself in the position where he can do a man's work easily and cheerfully.

His appetite will be sharpened; his liver invigorated; his digestion strengthened; an edge put on his whole nutritive organism. Those subtle poisons which debilitate the entire organism and invite consumption and a host of other diseases, will be driven out of the system; and he will gain plenty of pure nourishing red blood, muscle-power and nerve force. In short he will be a man among men.

There are hundreds of delusive temporary stimulants, "malt extracts," sarsaparillas and compounds, which are more or less "boomed" by merely profit-seeking druggists; but an honest druggist will give you the "Golden Medical Discovery" when you ask for it. If well-informed, he knows that its sales have steadily increased for thirty years and that it is the invention of an educated, authorized physician who has devoted a life-time of active practice and profound study to chronic diseases.

THE STAGE DRIVER'S BLUFF.

Hairbreadth Stories of Accidents Which Failed to Awe One Passenger.

As we left Sandy Gulch for Rising Sun there were six male passengers to go by the stage, and the route was over the mountains and full of chances of disaster. The driver came out from breakfast as soon as the stage was ready, and looking about on the passengers he selected a small, pale faced man and invited him to climb up beside him. While the pale faced man was climbing the driver whispered to the rest of us:

"I picked him out in order to scare him to death. You fellows will see a heap of fun before we've gone ten miles."

Two minutes west of the gulch the road made a sudden turn, with a sheer fall of 100 feet down to Wild Cat creek, and the driver put his horses at the gallop and said to the man:

"We may get around all right, or we may fetch up down below. Hold your breath and say your prayers."

The passenger made no move and did not change countenance, and after making the course all right the driver rather indignantly demanded:

"Didn't you see that the off wheel ran within a foot of the edge of the precipice?"

"It ran within six inches, sir," was the reply.

Beyond the curve was a down grade of a mile, and with a yell and a flourish of his whip the driver urged his horses to a dead run. The five of us inside had to hang on for dear life, and every half minute the stage seemed bound to go over.

"Did you know that if we'd struck a rock we'd all been dead men in no time?"

"Of course."

"And you wasn't prayin'?"

"Not at all."

Three or four miles farther on the driver tried his man with another curve. In his determination to make a close call of it one wheel ran off the edge of the precipice, and only a sudden effort of the horses saved the coach. We were flung in a heap and frightened half to death, but the man beside the driver never lost a puff of his cigar. When things were safe, the driver turned on him with:

"That surely was the brink of the grave."

"Guess it was," was the quiet reply.

"The closest shave you will ever hev till the last one comes."

"Yes."

"See here, now, but what sort of a critter are you?" was the query. "Don't you know 'nuff to git skeart?"

"Nothing has happened yet to scare me."

"But mebbe you want me to drive plumb over a precipice 1,000 feet high?"

"If you conveniently can. The fact is, I came off up here intending to commit suicide, and if you can dump the whole of us over some cliff you'll oblige me."—Atlanta Constitution.

Stopped the Fight.

"Well," said Bliggs while sitting up in bed talking with the family lawyer, "I'll tell you all about it, but not a word to any one else, mind you. I'm a sight and scarred up like the hero of a German university, but I suppose it's something to be alive.

"You know the governor has been urging me to strike out and see what I could do for myself. He'd advance the money, to be charged against my share of the estate of course. I kept my eye open and I saw a chance that was worth a fortune in one plunge. A couple of fellows in our set had a falling out, with which I think jealousy had something to do, and agreed to put on the gloves as a safe and honorable way of settling their differences. They had a private hall, and it didn't require two thoughts on my part to convince me that a reproduction of their mill would make a hit and fortune. To make sure I provided myself with both a vitascope and a veriscope. I had a big pile of films on hand for the occasion, and you know that these films are of celluloid. The janitor was my fellow conspirator.

"About the third round, and while we were getting along swimmingly, there was an explosion like the blowing up of a dynamite factory, the select audience stampeded, the principals hustled down the back stairs and the police found me unconscious under a wreck. Something had set that celluloid off, and I'll never know what did it. No one else has a theory. Just tell the governor that I made a bad investment."—Detroit Free Press.

MR. WILLIS, WOODSTOCK,

Escaped a Deadly Enemy by the Aid of Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Woodstock, May 9—(Special)—This city is deeply agitated, with joyful excitement, because another popular resident has escaped from the fatal grip of Kidney disease by the aid of Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Everyone knows Mr. H. A. Willis, the genial proprietor of the "Buckingham" hotel. He tells his story thus: "For two years past I have suffered intensely from Lame Back and Kidney Disease. Nothing I ever used helped me.

"My sufferings grew worse daily. I heard so much of Dodd's Kidney Pills that I decided to try them. I got relief from the first box. Three boxes cured me entirely."

Dodd's Kidney Pills always cure.

SHE WON BEAUTIFULLY.

It Cost Him the Better Part of a Cigar to Learn Politeness.

They boarded an east bound Market street car at Forty-first street. It was after 1 o'clock in the morning, and he wanted to smoke, having probably just dined or supped at a ball which was being given in the neighborhood. She didn't want to smoke and she didn't want to be separated from him.

"Come on inside the car," she pleaded.

"No," he answered. "I am going to smoke. Go inside yourself, and when I have finished my cigar I will join you."

But this didn't suit her.

"If you stay out here to smoke," she retorted, "I'll stay right with you."

He looked at her a moment, and then evidently concluded that she was bluffing. Pulling out a big cigar, he lighted it, and, settling himself comfortably against the dashboard of the car, he began to puff away as if his life depended upon it. Nothing daunted, she took a place alongside of him and calmly folding her arms started up a lively conversation.

The spectacle was an odd one, and attracted the attention of every passenger in the car as well as of those who got on at various corners. He tried to urge her inside the car a number of times, but she refused to go. In this fashion the two rode across the bridge and half way to city hall before he weakened. The anticipated jeers of the people he knew would be on Market street in the center of the city were too much for him, and, throwing away the biggest end of his cigar, he sullenly said, "Well, if you won't go inside without me I suppose I'll have to trot along." Then he took a seat away up in the front end, and she settled herself beside him. Meanwhile the whole car smiled audibly.—Philadelphia Inquirer.

An American at Court.

Formerly such divinity hedged kings and queens that treason was not along in daring to peep at them. Americans in citizen's dress also were kept at a distance. In The North American Review Sir William Russell, LL.D., narrates an anecdote in this connection in which Secretary Seward had part:

Mr. Seward, who had been received with great respect in Russia, came to England and naturally desired to go to court. He was to be presented at the levee by the United States minister as a senator of the United States.

He drove off at the appointed time to the palace, but was stopped in the corridor by a gentleman in uniform, who said he could not pass because he was not "properly dressed."

Mr. Seward was in full evening dress, black dress coat, waistcoat and trousers and white cravat, but it would not do. The gentleman explained that he must have knee breeches, shoes and stockings—that was absolutely necessary. An idea struck Mr. Seward. There was a nice old man about his size, the porter of the hotel he was staying at, who sat in a box in the hall, and off he drove.

Immense success! The porter had a beautiful new pair of knee breeches and black silk stockings and low shoes. A few dollars for the loan was all that was needed. Mr. Seward was speedily equipped, drove back to the palace, where he was admitted, and finally had the pleasure of making his bow in the hotel porter's clothes to her majesty.

Now all that is changed, and American citizens attend European courts in plain evening dress.

Unexpected Good Luck.

'Albert, dear, while looking through some of your old clothes I made such a lucky find that I ordered a new dress on the strength of it."

"What was it, dear?"

"Half a dozen checks that had never even been written on."—Brooklyn Life.

New York English.

We have been told by a keen and intelligent observer who has returned to this city after a sojourn of two years abroad that the average New Yorker is becoming very careless with his English; not only does he jumble his words together in every conceivable sequence, but he makes a gesture to supply a noun or verb and rattles off slang the analogy of which is often intelligible only to himself. Without recalling for the moment any specific examples, we believe our friend to be correct. He does not go far enough, however; there is another side. If the New Yorker at times tries to get an idea out in the fewest possible words, on other occasions he is tediously tautological and prolix. One has only to keep an open ear in a car ride up town to find confirmation for this. Here, as though relaxing the exigency of economy of speech that has been practiced while discussing affairs all day, needless and endless repetitions take place and the obnoxious "I say" introduces half the phrases that are uttered. We haven't any explanation to make, however, or remedy to offer.—New York Times.

The Difference.

"Why are some statues made life size and some heroic size?"

"A life size statue represents a man as big as he was, and a heroic size statue represents him as big as he thought he was."—Chicago Record.

Approval.

"What are ye readin about?" asked Farmer Corntossel.

"I've just got to the chapter," replied his wife, "where two young men of bygone days determined to go out an settle fur good an all which was the best fencer."

"Well, that shows some sense. Ef the young men nowadays got up contests like that, we'd not only have less loafin, but better fences."—Washington Star.

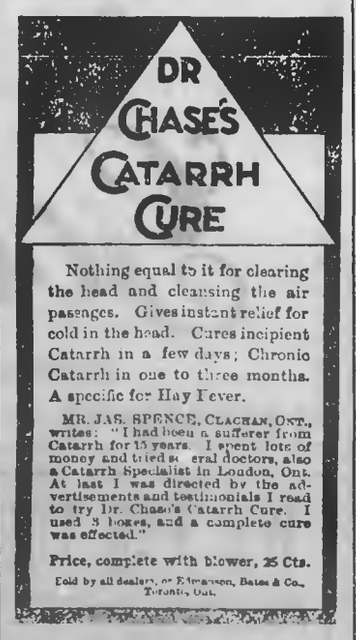
SAVE THE MOTHERS

Dodd's Kidney Pills Their Only Safety in Female Diseases.

You have seen a flower nipped by frost, fade and die in the flush of its beauty. That is how women die when attacked by any of the diseases peculiar to their sex.

Woman's burdens are woefully heavy. Her sufferings are agonizing. Her patience is grand. Disease preys upon her. The light dies out of her eyes, her steps become slow and dragging; she loses flesh; grows sallow, listless, droops like a flower. Then she dies. Her family is left to the cold mercy of the world.

"Mother's dead!" What a piteous phrase. What sufferings have been endured before it was used. Why should mothers, wives, sisters suffer so? They need not. Dodd's Kidney Pills will quickly and thoroughly cure all cases of Female Weakness. They never fail. They give health, strength, courage: a new lease of life.



Nothing equal to it for clearing the head and cleansing the air passages. Gives instant relief for cold in the head. Cures incipient Catarrh in a few days; Chronic Catarrh in one to three months. A specific for Hay Fever.

MR. JAS. SPENCE, CLACHAN, ONT., writes: "I had been a sufferer from Catarrh for 15 years. I spent lots of money and tried several doctors, also a Catarrh Specialist in London, Ont. At last I was directed by the advertisements and testimonials I read to try Dr. Chase's Catarrh Cure. I used 3 boxes, and a complete cure was effected."

"Having suffered from Scrofula on the face, and the many medicines I took not seeming to do me any good, I thought I would give up trying for a cure, but decided to try B.B.B. before doing so. CANADA LIFE
Assurance Company.

ANOTHER PROSPEROUS YEAR.

Large Increase in Surplus.

The fifty-first annual report of the Canada Life shows this old established Company to be in a most flourishing condition. The annual meeting was held yesterday. Following is a synopsis of the report:—

A PROSPEROUS YEAR.

In presenting to the Shareholders their 51st Annual Report, the Directors are gratified in announcing that the Company has fairly shared in the somewhat improved condition of the business of the country, as will be seen by the Statements and Accounts now submitted. By these it will be observed that the Company has transacted a larger business than during the previous year, and has increased its clear surplus by no less than $497,093 05.

NEW BUSINESS.

The applications for new assurances during 1897 numbered 3 006, for the sum of $6,185,996, of which, however, 266 for $521,000 were declined, the lives not appearing up to that standard which it is in the interest of the company's other assurers should be maintained, and as 191 applications for $373,360 were not carried out, the issue of the year was for $5 291,636, under 2 609 policies, exceeding 1896 by 573 policies for $798,980.

The total business in force at the close of 1897 was $72,719,555 29 of Assurances, under 33,407 policies, upon 24,469 lives.

POLICY CLAIMS.

The claims by deaths paid during 1897 amounted to $770,168 45, and Endowment policies for $128,846 92, having matured, these sums, as well as $218,481 29 for profits, $145,411.18 for surrenders, and an annuity of $400, making in all $1,263,307 84, were paid to policyholders during the year.

INCREASE IN ASSETS.

The Income receipts of the year were $2,953,272.83, and deducting therefrom all payments to policy-holders for claims by death, for profits, and for matured Endowment policies, as well as other outlay, including expenses of management, there was left the sum of $1,272,486 05, which increased the Company's Assets to $18 678.915 67.

SURPLUS.

As appears by the Abstract of Assets and Liabilities, after providing fully for the necessary reserve for all policies of the Company, and for all its other Liabilities, there is shown a Surplus of $1,564,082 05.

THE PRESIDENT'S ADDRESS.

The President, Mr. A. G. Ramsay, in moving the adoption of the report, said:

The Directors' Report and the usual accounts and statements have for some days been in your hands, and have now been taken as read. While the report is brief, it contains, I think, along with the various published accounts, all that is required to enable those interested in the Company to judge of its progress and success in the past year. The addition during 1897 of nearly half a million dollars to the surplus or profits fund is a large and satisfactory one, and without invidiously comparing it with the figures of any other particular Company. I may say that it is more than was attained by all the other Canadian companies combined. The new business of the year was, you will observe, of satisfactory and gratifying amount, and in excess of the previous year, and you will be pleased to know that it is of that desirable class which will result more to the profit of the Company than would a larger amount obtained at heavier expense, or from less desirable regions than the healthful climate of Canada, and the four Northern States to which we have thus far deemed it judicious to confine the operations of the Company. The existing assurances are $72,719,555 or nearly twice as much as they were 12 years ago. The death claims of the year continued of very favourable amount, and being well within what was calculated upon, that fact testifies to the care observed in the selection of the lives, and to the judicious limitation of the business to the healthful climates already alluded to.

The recent lamentable failures of some of the companies doing business on the assessment system, and the anxiety felt as to the others which are based upon the same fallacious principles lead me to point out that these occurrences are only the inevitable results, which were from the first predicted by those whose knowledge and experience enabled them to judge of what the future of companies of the kind must be. At our meeting in 1887, when concerns of the kind were making strenuous efforts to establish themselves in Canada, I alluded to the miserable failures they had been in England and in America, and I said that their "ephemeral existence indicates how useless the assessment system of assurance is as a family provision. It can only offer the uncertain hope of a cheap assurance for a few years, till the company breaks down. It cannot afford any guarantee that a definite amount of assurance will certainly be paid to a widow or children after an assurer's death, whether that occurs at an early day or a distant one, and without such a guarantee as that, which our own and other sound companies offer, life assurance must be a fraud and a delusion." I added that "I was aware that agents and managers of companies of the kind pointed to the names of prominent business and professional men who have joined them, or who act as their directors, but as some of them at all events allow their names to be employed in that way, simply because policies have been gratuitously given to them, one can judge how little weight should attach to the names of the gentlemen thus used to decoy others to join such companies." One cannot envy the feelings of the prominent gentlemen alluded to, who induced persons to take policies in companies of the kind, from which they are now driven out by their failure, or by the levy of such high payments as they are unable to meet.

As the accounts show, the year's income was within a trifle of three million dollars, and the assets of the company were increased to the very considerable amount of nearly nineteen million dollars, and yielding, after deducting liabilities of every kind, a net surplus or profit of $1,564,082 for allocation at the end of next year, along with whatever addition there may be made to it between now and that time, and as the management and other expenses by which the profits to policy-holders are very largely influenced continue to be on a more moderate percentage than that of other Canadian or American companies, he prospects for our assurers are of a favourable character.

It is anticipated that legislation will be introduced by the Government, modifying the present 4½ per cent. rate of interest prescribed by law as the basis for Life Assurance Reserves, and adopting the new mortality Tables based upon the observations and large experience of the British Insurance Companies, in course of compliation by the Institute of Actuaries of Great Britain, and I may say on behalf of the Board in reference to the amendment to the charter, alluded to in the Directors report of last year, that the Directors purpose to avail themselves of the occasion of that legislation to seek such amendments to the law as may meet the Board's requirements.

The motion was seconded by Mr. F. W. Gates, Vice-President, and unanimously carried. A hearty vote of thanks was tendered to the agents, officers, medical and legal advisers of the company, Mr. Adam Brown speaking in eloquent terms of their services rendered to the Company.

Mr. Leggat moved and Lieut.-Col. McLaren seconded a hearty vote of thanks to the President and Directors for their attention to the interests of the Company during the past year. Brief and interesting addresses were also made by Sir George Kirkpatrick and Sir George Burton, the latter of whom was heartily congratulated upon the recent honour conferred upon him by the Queen.

The retiring Directors, Chief Justice Sir George Burton, Col. Sir Casimer Gzowski, K.C.M.G., and Mr. N. Merritt, were re-elected. At a subsequent meeting of the Directors, Mr. A. G. Ramsay was re-elected President and Mr. F. W. Gates Vice-President.

The meeting passed off very harmoniously, every one present being gratified with the progress and continued prosperity of the Canada Life, which, as Sir George Kirkpatrick remarked, was easily leader of all Companies in the Dominion.

WILLIAM EWART GLADSTONE.

A Tribute From One Who Knew Him.

And first let me say, lest your readers think I assume too much, that my knowledge was but that, common to hundreds and thousands of his fellow-citizens in London who had both seen and heard him many times. Although 25 years have passed, it seems but yesterday that walking one fine evening in St. James Park, my companion pointing to a passing pedestrian said, "There goes the greatest traitor to England since the Stuarts," and for the first time I saw the man at whose bier all the civilised world mourns to-day. It is not my desire or intention to write a biographical sketch, for as your to-day's notice rightly says, that would be to pen the history of the Empire for the last fifty years. All I propose is to let "crowding memory speak," and though it be a poor and fragmentary effort, lay my humble wreath with the grand and fadeless laurels that deck his tomb. Looking at the strangeness of his career and the evolution of his principles, it is not surprising that Mr. Gladstone was perhaps at once the most hated and most beloved of prominent English statesmen. To those who believed in him he was nearly infallible, while to those who did not, he was "a schemer," "a Jesuit indisguise" and many other things that will never be said or even thought again. It could not well be otherwise, for the Grand Old Man lived

A LONG STRENUOUS LIFE,

passing successively from Tory to Whig and from Whig to Liberal principles, in a way which, while amazing to those were in disagreement with him, seems only natural and reasonable to the present day student of history. To him, however, who looks below the surface of things, and is more concerned with the influence than the names of parties, there will appear less of contradiction and more of development in his career. For Mr. Gladstone had a faculty of growth given to few, so as each year brought its lesson and experience he seemed to grow with the times and was to the end the most receptive of the statesmen of the Victorian era. To him pessimism was a crime, and optimism the breath of his nostrils. Wherever there was oppression or wrong in Naples or Bulgaria, in Russia or Armenia, or Ireland, his was the sword that flashed, his the clarion voice that called to the sons of freedom everywhere to rally to the defence of the weak in the battle of universal liberty. In but one solitary case can I recall an instance so the contrary and that was his avowed championship of the South in the American civil war, and that even could be explained, I fancy, by his assumption that the Confederate States were being coerced and their state liberties infringed by Lincoln and the North. One thing can be unhesitatingly stated—he was never the apologist for national wrongdoing, whether at home or abroad, but of moral and material advancement everywhere. Memory is so fleeting that his death will, perhaps, render his country, not the least of his services, in bringing to recollection just now, some of the debt it owes him. It would take up your whole issue to tell of all of his legislative work, but how few remember to-day that but for this man, the Press, with its mighty power and influence, might still have been "cabined, cribbed and confined" by the vexatious duties on paper. How few remember that but for him a United Italy, a re-incarnated Greece, and a Bulgarian State, would have been, humanly speaking, impossible.

But I dare not dwell on the story of his statecraft. 'Tis of the man I would speak! And what a man!! One cannot appreciate the height of a mountain when standing at its base, and it may be that we are yet too near the grand edifice of his career to appreciate its massive grandeur. But prolific beyond all parallel as the Victorian era has been in great men in every sphere of the national life, surely it is not too much to say that the life, and lifework, of this one man is the crown and glory of it all. It was only a short ten years since that Sir Robert Fowler in proposing his health at the Lord Mayor's banquet (Tory of the Tories as he was) could only say that "taking him all in all, the world will NEVER LOOK UPON HIS LIKE AGAIN."

And to-day we feel that the word was sadly true. Of fear that Britain will ever need great and gallant sons to defend her, we have none. That statesmen, warriors, poets, orators, merchants, without peers in all the wide world, will be lacking, we do not believe. But Gladstones! that is another matter. For in him seems to have combined something of the best of all these. His intellect was not only able to grasp all kinds and ranges of thought, but to excel in all as it is given to few to excel in any.

And yet we remember one foggy afternoon, when the windows of his house in Harley street were smashed by a crowd of Englishmen, because, forsooth, his great heart had felt, and his voice proclaimed, horror at the story of the Bulgarian massacrees. It seems but yesterday that we heard of the cart loads of stones taken next day frm his dining room, and the closely shuttered windows. But who amongst us all has not, in the last two years, cried with a passionate yearning for only a few months' rule of the man who dared call the miserable cur at Constantinople "an assassin!" and notwithstanding his nearly ninety years, spoke for England in reprobation and hatred of the Armenian horrors.

Do you ask what was the secret of his great oratorical power? I think I can tell you. Some said it was his wonderfully the like of which had never been heard in the halls of Westminster. Others thought it lay in his marvellous faculty of marshalling facts and figures and endowing the whole with living interest. In his powers of rhetoric and flaming denunciation these were all parts, but only parts. The whole can be stated in five words, "he was not a politician." Sad to say most Canadians know what that means. Back of all, and before all, there burned in Gladstone's every vein a scornful living hatred of all that was wrong, ignoble and dastardly. Often he reminded me of some old Hebrew prophet in the grandeur of his moral elevation. Yes! there was the secret of his power. He always appealed to what was highest and best in the human nature of his audiences, and argued solely from the standpoint, not of expedience, but of abstract justice and right.

And this too seems to me to be the key to the secret not only of his mighty influence upon the contemporary world, but also the key which which explains many of his own contradictory actions. In the light of recent events it has often seemed that Mr. Gladstone erred disastrously in not revenging the defeat of Majuba Hill, and exacting a bloody reckoning from the Boers for that day's doings. Yet of all who heard him at Westminster will ever forget the splendid detachment of mind with which he strove to place his bitter opponents in the place of lone, weak, but God fearing Dutch farmers, who were rightly struggling to be free. And who will ever forget his splendid protest against the spirit of senseless vengeance that would marshall the mighty power of England, the mother of liberty, to crush liberty-loving Boers of the Transvaal. We may say perhaps that it would have been better had he done differently; as to that I am not concerned to argue just now and only refer to the matter as an instance of his regard for principle, rather than expediency. His treatment of the Irish question must be viewed from the same standpoint to be rightly appreciated. It is unquestionably true that for years he was blind to some of the now obvious facts of Irish history. It is true that he clapped Parnell into Kilmainham jail and passed the most severe crimes act that ever applied to Ireland. But once free of the traditions and, I fear, exaggerations, of Dublin Castle, once under the clear influence of John Morley's philosophic regard for abstract principle and all is changed. What matter that Bright and Foster, that Hartington and Fawcett, that Chamberlain and Trevelyan, his choicest, bravest helpers in many a hard fought battle, forsook him? What matter that his rent his party in twain. The grand, brave (mistaken if you like, though I don't think so) old man with his burden of eighty years, dulled ears and dim sight, turns his back on the weary story of the past, and rides like Arthur of old to redress one more of the world's wrongs before he passes forever. Whatever our view may be of the issue, the fact is splendid. Grand, noble, brave-hearted old man, well may thy sons mourn thy loss and look in vain for thy successor. For successor, there can be none. He was in many respects the last of his time and race. The world seems to have come to a day when it values courtesy less that it used. This old white-haired man carried with him to the end of the century some of the ceremonious regard for others (especially women) that marked its commencement, and few there are who will not feel that the British House of Commons has lost incalculably by the removal of its Nestor in the person of W. E. Gladstone.

I fear I have trespassed too long on your space already, but I cannot close without reminding your readers that Mr. Gladstone died like most English statesman, comparatively a poor man. He married money with Miss Glynn, his devoted wife, but it was strictly settled, and I think I am right in saying that Hawarden does not belong to him, but to his eldest son. What Mr. Gladstone really thought of earthly pomp and titular splendours is easily gathered from the fact that he dies as he lived—England's greatest Commoner, and not the Earl of Oxford, as he was repeatedly requested by Her Majesty to become.

Be still, brave heart, and ever yet more still—
Sleep well and take thy rest, thy task is done,
Nor dread the morn, for with its radiant light,
All shadows vanish and all else is peace.

Mid-May Extras

FOR

THE WEEK BEFORE THE 24th.

We purpose that no store in Canada shall be more liberal in dealing with customers. Preparations have been going on all over the store for doing more business this week than last. We have arranged to have plenty of extra help to serve the crowds of shoppers, and improvements have been made in the parcel and delivery system. Last Thursday, especially, there were hundreds of disappointed customers. Of course a good many came late, and some of the advertised goods were sold out sooner than expected. It's as well to remember the old adage, "The early bird catches the worm," and to govern yourselves accordingly. Never was the power of low-priced leaders for Spot Cash so thoroughly exemplified as at our last Thursday's sale of "Specials."

This week will be another week of wonderful value-giving and great money-saving opportunities. It seems incredible that we should improve on the Bargain Triumphs we have been offering in Men's and Boys' Clothing, Boots, Shoes, Hats, Caps, Furnishings, &c., but we mean to do it this week—the preparatory week before Queen's Birthday. These are a few of the trade-winners for every day of this week:

TRIUMPHS IN
ORDERED CLOTHING

Here's the bargain that should interest dressy men who prefer to have their garments made to order. In the regular way a suit made to your order from extra choice Tweeds and Cheviots, of the newest designs and colourings, would cost you $16 to $20, but for quick sales this week that will bring us the biggest Ordered Clothing trade we have ever known, we offer you your choice of this Special lot of new fabrics just arrived for

$12.70 the Suit

Made to Your Order.

These Suits will be cut and tailored by practical workmen, and perfect fit and satisfaction, or your money back—any day this week.

TRIUMPHS IN FURNISHINGS.

It will certainly not be good form to be out of style on Queen's Birthday. It won't do to be without a new pair of Shoes, a new Hat, a new Shirt and Collar and Cuffs, a new set of Underwear and Hosiery, or any other item of dress that goes to make the well-dressed man. We advise early shopping; many of these items will not last long at these prices:—

Men's $2.50 Fur Felt Soft Hats—newest spring shapes, colours pearl, fawn, drab and black. Special all this week—

$1.45.

Men's $3.50 Boots, Dongola, Kangaroo, Calf, Tan and Chrome, fine smooth linings, newest Toe Shapes, all sizes. Special all this week

$2.25.

Men's Fine Cambric, White or Coloured Shirts, extra heavy material, well laundried. Special all this week

49c.

You will find plenty of bright and attractive chances in every department similar to the above. Every statement of this advertisement will be backed up by the goods.

CERVERA'S CUBAN COUP.

The Spanish Admiral Has Gained a Great Point.

CLEARLY OUTWITTED THE U. S.

At Least, That Is How New York Feels on the Additionally Complicated Situation — Admirals Sampson and Schley Have Now Started Out to Fight the Spanish Armada.

New York, May 21.—The general feeling here now is that we have been completely outwitted. The Spaniards have shown superior strategy, and the Cape Verde fleet is safe, while Schley's squadron is in great danger of annihilation. Cervera is at Santiago; Schley and Sampson at Key West. When Sampson sails to meet Cervera the Spaniards will sail around the other side of the island, and either reach Havana safely, or swoop down on and destroy Schley's small command at Key West, and then go to Havana with supplies, etc. The situation is much complicated.

GOING OUT TO FIGHT.

Sampson and Schley Will Get After Cervera's Fleet Right Away.

New York, May 21.—A Washington special to the Journal says: Although the Navy Department refuses all information, it can be stated on the highest authority that Sampson and Schley have started to engage the Spanish fleet at Santiago, by way of the Windward and Yucaton passages, respectively. The lighter ships will still maintain a close blockade of the northern coast, while swift despatch boats are held at Key West to carry important changes of the enemy's plans to Sampson and Schley.

A Washington special to the Journal says: The Oregon, Marietta and Buffalo have picked up the Harvard off Martinique and all four are hurrying to join Sampson. Secretary Long said yesterday: "We shall undoubtedly hear of a big naval engagement within thirty six hours."

Left Santiago.

Madrid, May 20.—(Midnight.)—It is asserted that Admiral Cervera's squadron has left Santiago de Cuba.

THE POLICY OF SPAIN.

Premier Sagasta Says Spain Will Fight Until Peace Is Secured—The Senate Congratulates Cervera.

Madrid, May 21.—Yesterday the Minister of Marine, Capt. Aunon, received a despatch from Admiral Cervera, in command of the Cape Verde squadron of the Spanish fleet. It read: "Santiago de Cuba, May 19.—This morning I have, without incident, entered this port, accompanied by the squadron. (Signed) Cervera."

The cable despatch says Admiral Cervera did not sight any American ships during the voyage. He announces that the crews of his ships are in perfect health and enthusiastic.

Continuing, the despatch says: "The blockading vessels quickly left on the approach of the squadron, whose arrival has created the greatest excitement and enthusiasm at Santiago de Cuba. Immense crowds of people thronged the quays and cheered our sailors. Havana's relief at the safe arrival of the fleet is very great, as it was feared the American ships which left the blockade had gone to intercept the Spanish fleet. It is now believed the Americans fled in order to avoid a reverse."

The Minister of Marine immediately went to the residence of the Premier, Senor Sagasta, and communicated this information. He then proceeded to the palace for the purpose of informing the Queen Regent, but Her Majesty had retired and the news was conveyed to her by the Infanta Isabel.

Captain Aunon then went to the Admiralty and cabled his congratulations to Admiral Cervera on his arrival at Santiago de Cuba.

IN THE SENATE.

Spain Will Fight Until an Honorable Peace Is Secured.

Madrid, May 21.—The Ministers, in full uniform, appeared in the Senate yesterday. Owing to the circumstances the new Cabinet is already named the Circumstantial Cabinet.

The Premier, Senor Sagasta, explained the Ministerial crisis, and asserted that the new Ministry would continue the policy of the former Ministry. He related how "Spain did everything to avoid war until America, violating all recognized diplomacy, attacked Spain with an injustice unprecedented in the annals of civilized history, and compelled Spain to respond with war to war, which Spain would continue to the utmost, until an honorable peace is obtainable."

"This," the Premier explained, "is a strong policy, and the new Government will also energetically conduct negotiations with Europe and other states."

Congratulations to Cervera.

Count Penaramiro proposed the Senate's congratulations to Admiral Cervera on his arriving safely at Santiago de Cuba "and cleverly dodging the American squadrons."

Captain Aunon, the Minister of Marine, responded in the name of the navy, highly extolling Admiral Cervera.

The congratulations were voted unanimously.

POLO'S HARD LUCK.

His Coal Boat Foundered in the Atlantic and All on Board Are Lost.

New York, May 21.—The Maritime Exchange received word to day that the French brigantine Granville, chartered by Senor Polo to carry coal to St. Pierre Miquelon, a French coaling station off the south coast of Newfoundland, has been lost at sea with a crew of 20. She sailed from Cape Breton a few days ago with 2,000 tons of coal, and one body and her stern board have been washed ashore at Miquelon. The disaster has led to enquiry, and it transpires that Polo has arranged for many big shipments, so the next squadron from Cadiz may replenish their bunkers. There is trouble ahead for the owners of the Granville.

War's Heavy Cost.

Washington, May 21.—Secretary Alger has sent to the Secretary of the Treasury for the transmission to Congress supplemental estimates of appropriations aggregating $88 038,340, required by the War Department for the support of the regular and volunteer armies of the United States for the first six months of the fiscal year ending June 30, 1899, in addition to the amounts appropriated in the acts of March 25 and May 4, 1898. The principal items for which appropriations are asked are as follows: Signal service of the army $114,000, pay, etc., of the army $4,017,801, pay of volunteers $3,526,266; subsistence of the army $10,219,635, regular supplies, quartermaster's department, 6,000,000; incidental expenses, quartermaster's department, $2,500,000; horses for cavalry and artillery $2,000,000, army transportation $20,000,000, clothing and camp and garrison equipage $13,000,000.

THE CIENFUEGOS AFFAIR.

A Bombardment That Ended in the Death of 300 Spaniards and Several Hundred Wounded Soldiers.

Key West, May 21.—The Spanish loss during the recent engagement at Cienfuegos is now known to have been much heavier than was at first reported. Three hundred Spaniards were killed and several hundred wounded. Great damage was done along the coast.

Soon after the engagement the United States cruiser Marblehead picked up several Cubans in an open boat, some miles down the coast, including Coloriz, Lieut. Olvarez and three privates, from an insurgent camp near Cienfuegos. They reported that the Spanish losses and the damage wrought by the shells from the warships were heavy. The hospitals at Cienfuegos, they said, were full of wounded; and fear prevailed everywhere that the American warships would return to complete the work of destruction.

910 Shells and 2,200 Shots Fired.

During the engagement the Marblehead threw 455 five inch shells into the Spanish forces, and 700 shots from her secondary battery. The gunboat Nashville threw as many more shells and 1,500 shots from her second battery.

Fifteen hundred Spaniards were stationed in an improvised fortress on a neck of land, and it was here that the most terrible destruction was wrought. During the heavy fire of shells and just after the lighthouse was blown up, five Spaniards who were running together, in an attempt to escape, were picked off by a shell from the Marblehead, the gunner being ordered to fire upon them by Ensign Pratt. They were torn to pieces. The men who manned the cutters did so under instructions, and they withstood the galling fire poured upon them with the utmost calmness.

The Cubans were supplied with six thousand rounds of ammunition, and all but one of them got ashore.

The Toronto Strikes.

Toronto, May 21.—This morning a writ against the Gold Medal Furniture Company for the penalty ($1,000) for violation of the alien labor law will be issued. The upholsterers had a number of cases, but they hinge their case on one instance. They say they have proofs that a member of the firm went to the United States, signed a worker, and paid his fare and board in Toronto and set him to work.

Conferences have been going on between the J. D. King Company and their strikers with the object of settlement. One will be held this morning at 9 o'clock. The men made a proposition to Mr. King that all the men who went out should be reinstated within thirty days, but nothing definite has yet been decided

SORROW UNIVERSAL.

The European Courts Have Wired Condolences to Hawarden.

TO LIE IN WESTMINSTER ABBEY.

The Home Funeral Arrangements—The Imperial Commoners and Lords Pay Tributes to Britain's Dead Statesman—Historic Episode Within the Commons Chamber—Lord Salisbury's Noble Grief.

London, May 21.—The universal expression of grief and sympathy gathers volume hourly. Memoirs and reminiscences of Mr. Gladstone are flooding the press, which everywhere shows column rules reversed. Almost every court in Europe has wired condolences.

The body was removed to the large bedroom yesterday and placed in a plain oak coffin, surmounted by an oak cross extending nearly the whole length of the lid. At its foot will be the inscriptions. The date of the funeral has not been fixed, but probably Tuesday will be chosen. The preparations continue for a burial at Hawarden. The general opinion favoring an interment in Westminster Abbey, the family will probably give way to the national request. Mr. Gladstone did not leave any wishes on the subject. Dean Bradley of the Abbey has selected as the most beautiful spot the nave.

Message From the Czar.

Telegrams continue to arrive in great numbers at Hawarden Castle from all parts of the world. Mrs. Gladstone is as well as can be expected.

The Czar has telegraphed to the widow, in English, saying: "I have just received the painful news of the decease. I consider it my duty to express my feelings of sincere sympathy on the occasion of the cruel and irreparable bereavement which has befallen you, as well as the deep regret which the sad event has given me. The whole civilized world will bewail the loss of the great statesman, whose political views were so widely human and peaceful. (Signed) Nicholas."

Burial in the Abbey.

London, May 21.—It is now virtually decided that Mr. Gladstone's remains shall be interred in Westminster Abbey. The Associated Press learns that the family do not oppose the nation's desires, and that the only direction he left was that he should be buried at Hawarden, unless there was an unmistakable national wish for an interment at the Abbey.

Mrs. Gladstone's only objection is the natural wish to be buried in the same grave devoted to her husband, and it is rumored that arrangements are in contemplation whereby this feeling need not prove an insuperable obstacle to a burial in the Abbey. Mr. Herbert Gladstone is coming to London to arrange the matter.

IN THE COMMONS.

A Historic Episode Within the Chamber—The Address Adopted.

The House of Commons was crowded yesterday and the members were generally attired in black. All the galleries were full. The House went into committee to consider the address to the Queen in regard to the interment of the body of Mr. Gladstone at Westminster Abbey.

Mr. A. J. Balfour, the Government leader and First Lord of the Treasury, in spite of his illness, which is officially acknowledged, was able to move the address. It is said he will probably have to take a holiday immediately. He introduced the subject with a lengthy eulogy of the deceased, speaking with evident emotion, and concluded with formally moving the presentation of the address to the Queen.

The Liberal leader, Sir William Vernon Harcourt, seconded the motion, paying a heartfelt tribute to the deceased statesman, and Mr. John Dillon, the Irish leader, did the same.

The address to the Queen was then adopted.

In the Lords.

In the House of Lords there was a full attendance of members. The Marquis of Salisbury spoke feelingly of Mr. Gladstone, who, he said, "was ever guided in all his efforts by a lofty moral ideal."

Continuing, the Premier said: "The deceased will be remembered not so much for his political work as for the great example, hardly paralleled in history, of the great Christian statesman."

The Earl of Kimberley, the Liberal leader, followed with a touching tribute, and the Duke of Devonshire expressed generous appreciation of Mr. Gladstone's services in behalf of the Liberal Unionists, saying their severance from Mr. Gladstone was a most painful incident. But, he added, he could recall no words from Mr. Gladstone which added unnecessarily to the bitterness of the situation.

The Earl of Rosebery delivered an eloquent panegyric of the deceased statesman.

MR. GLADSTONE WAS NOT RICH.

His Estate Will Not Be Probated at More Than £40,000.

London, May 21.—As an apotheosis of England's greatest examplar of the civic virtues, it may be added that Gladstone is known to have died anything but a rich man. Mrs. Gladstone was a considerable heiress, but her fortune was mainly in agricultural land, which has greatly deteriorated in value. Gladstone himself had only limited private means, but, of course, drew salaries for many years in various public offices. However, his family has been always more or less dependent on him and the maintenance of Hawarden Castle and grounds, his one hobby, cost annually a large sum.

His favorite youngest son, Herbert, has been adopted by Mr. Armistead, Gladstone's lifelong friend, who is a man of large fortune. Henry Gladstone is engaged in oil wells speculation at Baku, on the Caspian, while Stephen is rector at Hawarden.

It will surprise Gladstone's friends if his estate is valued for probate at more than £40,000 ($200,000). He was three times Chancellor of the Exchequer, carrying through the greatest fiscal changes of the century, and might have made millions by utilizing his information.

Not Exactly Right

"Not Sick Enough for the Bed or Well Enough For the Table."

A Minister's Wife Aptly Describes a Well Known Condition and Tells How It Was Overcome.

There are thousands of people in all walks of life, particularly at this season, who are "not exactly right" and yet are not sick, for whom a single bottle of Hood's Sarsaparilla would do a world of good, as it has done for others. Business and professional men as well as the busy housewife are especially susceptible to this debilitated feeling. It is the peculiar combination of the best tonic, anti-bilious, diuretic and alterative agents of the vegetable kingdom, carefully and scientifically combined, which enables Hood's Sarsaparilla to reach simple as well as serious ailments when all other medicines fail. Read Mrs. Hunt's letter:

"C. I. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass.:

"Dear Sirs:—I trust that the publication of my testimonial may serve to introduce Hood's Sarsaparilla to many who need physical improvement, and lead them to give it a trial. My husband, is a corpulent man weighing 230 pounds. He has taken Hood's Sarsaparilla every spring for the last eight years with good results. With the approach of spring he has had an indescribable feeling of ill health. 'Not sick enough for the bed or well enough for the table.' In a few words,

Rev. Granville Hunt

He Became Run Down

Without Appetite and Vigor.

After I had used half a bottle of Hood's I realized quite an improvement and soon felt quite comfortable. I gained so much that I recommended Hood's Sarsaparilla to my nearest neighbor, who has had malarial symptoms. She has also taken the medicine and its effect upon her for good was almost magic. She has now prevailed upon her husband to take it to build him up. I have also given Hood's Sarsaparilla to my two little girls, one nearly 3 years old, who is not strong, consequently languid, and the other, 15 years old, for pimples which indicate bad blood and disfigure her complexion. Both have been helped by Hood's Sarsaparilla which I am glad heartily to recommend." MRS. G. HUNT, 101 West 31st Street, N. Y. City.

Daily Examiner.

SATURDAY, MAY 21, 1898.

SIR WILFRED LAURIER.

One of the things which made Gladstone the greatest man of his day was his tremendous physical endurance. It is indeed a necessary quality with all great statesmen. Sir Wilfrid Laurier, although far from robust of constitution, has, says the Montreal Witness, during the three years and more that have elapsed since the beginning of the very protracted struggle which resulted in his present elevation, manifested a power of endurance, of incessant alertness and intellectual achievement almost, if not quite, Gladstonian. He has not Sir John Macdonald's happy facility of leaving work and worry to others, nor has he Mr. Gladstone's facility for going to sleep in his place the moment matters in hand cease to be important enough to claim his thoughts. It is not to be wondered at, then, if twice during the present session he had to plead illness in order to get absolutely necessary necessary relief from incessant strain. It is, indeed, a relief to his admirers to know that the session is drawing to a close, and that the vacation which approaches promises less of responsibility and intense mental work for him than any period since he became responsible for th administration of the country. This is, of course, speaking comparatively, for, although he has no evil spirit of religious strife to cast out, no school question obstinacy to melt by sunny ways, no imperial progress to make, with its possibilities to him of initiative statesmanship, and no tariff to help frame, it cannot be forgotten that Canada is no onger in safe and insignificant seclusion from the world's turmoil, and that the world, though it has had more and bitterer wars, has not since the days of primal chaos been in such a state of flux and large ebullience as it is to-day.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

It is easy to speak of Gladst one as dead, but his was a life too full, too pregnant with great examples to fade out as a tropical sunset and leave no afterglow. Though his body may be laid in the earth and crumble to dust, his mighty soul, his life work, his lofty principles, his untiring zeal in good works can never die. The Grand Old Man will be an influence in the world for many years to come.

GLADSTONE'S life was an exception to the rule of the Royal Psalmist. He lived ten years after he had reached the three score and ten space, yet he crowded into the supplementary ten years of his life more work, more mental effort, a greater contribution to the world's store of good deeds than is accomplished by many ordinary men in a life time.

THE great Gladstone once said "I owe my health and vigour through a long and busy life to the Sabbath day and its blessed surcease of toil." No more potent sermon, be it ever so long, could be preached upon the importance of maintaining the sanctity of Sunday as a day of rest. It is the voice of mature, wise and ripe experience spoken from the depth of an honest heart, permeated with the truths of Christianity.

THE FIGHTING STRENGTH IN A WORLD WAR.

Mr. Goldwin Smith is of the opinion that the announcement of an Anglo-Saxon alliance would be a challenge to the rest of the nations to combine in their own defence and would certainly lead to general war. Perhaps it would if the alliance were so close that each nation agreed to help the other in all its wars, but if there simply an agreement to help each other against a combination of hostile powers it might have a different effect. Still it is possible that the powers of Europe might agree that their only chance of ever defeating an Anglo-Saxon alliance would be a great fleet and establish a large standing army.

Great Britain would probably need no help from the United States in a conflict with any two powers of Europe. The two powers most likely to form an alliance against Great Britain are France and Russia. Lord Brassey's Naval Annual states that Great Britain has 65 battleships and 136 cruisers built and building, while France has thirty-six battleships and forty-nine cruisers and Russia twenty-two battleships and 14 cruisers. A world war would not be quite one-sided. An American newspaper estimates that in a war between Continental Europe and an Anglo-American alliance there would be 664 vessels in the Anglo-American navies against 1623 in the fleets of the Continental powers, but as a large majority of the Continential vessels are torpedo boats the Anglo-American fleets would be superior in fighting strength. It says the war would involve at the start 780,000,000 people—440,000,000 on the Anglo-Saxon side and 320,000,000 on that of Europe. Of course these figures include among the Anglo-Saxons all the people ruled by Anglo-Saxons. Thus the empire of British India has a population of about 308,000,000 people. The wealth of these countries is approximately four hundred thousand million dollars, about equally divided between the two sides. The Continental powers are said to have twenty million soldiers trained and ready for fighting, while the British and American standing armies are insignificant, but it is considered that the naval superiority of the English-speaking countries would give them such an advantage at the start that they would have ample time to equip and drill as many soldiers as they required.

A THRIVING ISLAND.

Manitoulin Island has a population of 15,000, and according to the Expositor they are doing exceedingly well. The island is well wooded with cedar and hardwood. It is well suited for stock-raising. Large areas of pasture land covered with the richest grass lie in in open commons awaiting a purchaser. Ranches of from 1,000 to 3,000 acres are fenced and stocked with cattle and sheep. In the winter beef, pork and fowl are teamed across the ice to the lumber camps and elsewhere. The wool growing industry is increasing, and at Little Current and Shenandoah alone some 30,000 pounds of wool were marketed and shipped. Among the exports from the island last year were 6,645,301 feet of lumber, 345,657 ties, 2,306,- shingles, 29,500 dressed hogs, 60,000 pounds of wool, 17,000 pounds of hides, 7,272 sheep, 2,999 cattle; eggs, butter, berries and fish. The 15,000 ought to be making a good living, and the Expositor says there is plenty of room for more, who can have good homes, farms, schools, churches, newspapers and other fruits of civilization.

A UNIQUE MOVEMENT

Young Toronto Preparing For the Battle of Life.

A Lecture on Everyday Ailments—Their Cause, Effects and Cure—Prevalence of Bright's Disease—How it Can be Cured.

Toronto, May 20—A number of young men in this city have formed a club for the study of common ailments of humanity, with the laudable object of fitting themselves to intelligently undertake the duties that may, in the future, devolve upon them individually. A classroom has been secured and a popular and prominent physician lectures to the students two evenings a week.

Last evening the doctor's subject was "Bright's Disease." After the lecture questions were asked and answered as follows:

"What is Bright's Disease?"

"A disease of the kidneys, dependent on an impure state of the blood. The diseased kidneys being unable to do their work properly, allow the Albumen and the Fibrin of the blood to be drained out in urine, while Uric Acid and other fragments of dead tissue, remain in the blood, poisoning the system."

"What is the effect of this?"

"Albumen and Fibrin, the two most necessary constituents of the blood, being lost, the blood becomes thin and weak. It is, moreover, made filthy and poisonous by the Uric Acid, which should be drained out in the urine by the kidneys."

"Is Bright's Disease a common ailment?"

"Yes. Thousands die of it every year."

"Can it be cured?"

"Yes."

"How?"

"In one way only—by using Dodd's Kidney Pills, which are the only remedy known to man that can cure this and all other kidney complaints."

"Where can Dodd's Kidney Pills be obtained?"

"Dodd's Kidney Pills are sold by all druggists at fifty cents a box, six boxes $2.50, or sent on receipt of price by The Dodd's Medicine Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont."

THE CHEESE MARKETS.

Brockville, May 19.—There was a spendid offering of cheese on the Brockville Board today, but unhappily the market was not of a nature calculated to inspire a similar offering to last week. In all 3,393 boxes were offered—1,090 white and 2,303 coloured. Bidding was decidedly slow, no one offering more than 7 1-16c for white and 7⅛ for coloured. The only person who secured any cheese on the market was Warrington who got 150 white and 747 coloured at those figures. Quite a large number of boxes were sold at these figures off the board.

Kingston, May 19.—At the Frontenac Cheese Board to-day 874 coloured and 450 white cheese were boarded. The buyers present were Messrs. Bissell, Thompson, Murphy and Brentnell. Bidding opened at 7⅛ and closed at 7⅛, the Ontario factory selling 30 cheese at that price to L W Murphy. The buyers by resolution decided to allow ½ lb on each cheese for shrinkage.

Winchester, May 19—Nine factories offered 418 boxes of cheese, 336 coloured and 90 white; 7⅛c bid for both: 64 boxes of coloured sold on the board.

Christian Motherhood.

It is an old proverb, but one full of truth, "They who rock the cradle rule the world." That is, the character of the training and instruction received in infancy is manifest in all after life and endeavor. The language of the nursery is echoed in all subsequent relationships. Its voice sounds from the pulpit, and from the public forum. Its principles guide conduct both in private and in public relations and obligations. The mother in the home sets the example which the child through all the after years of his life is striving to reproduce. The nature of man's after development depends mainly upon the direction given during the impressible day of childhood.

"Friends Say My Cure is a Miracle."

Paine's Celery Compound Did the Wonderful Work After Doctors and Ordinary [illegible] Failed.

Raised from Helplessness to Vigor and True Life.

Health and Long Years the Portion of All Who Use Paine's Celery Compound.

The almost miraculous cure of Mr. A. Daignault, of St. Hyacinthe, P.Q., by Paine's Celery Compound is already too well known to require any minute details. This important case is still the leading topic of conversation of the business and professional men, clergy and everyday people of St. Hyacinthe, and is another strong proof of the claims established long ago, that "Paine's Celery Compound makes people well."

We recommend the following letter to the attention of every sufferer in Canada:

WELLS & RICHARDSON CO.,

DEAR SIRS,—I desire to say that had it not been for your Paine's Celery Compound I would not be living to day. Five years ago I was taken sick, and suffered from dyspepsia and catarrh. For three years I was unable to work, and would lose consciousness several times a day. I was tired of life, and could realise that death was my only deliverance from sufferieg.

At that time one of my friends urged me to use Paine's Celery Compound. As all other medicines had failed, I tried your Compound merely to please my friends. The first bottle truly did produce good results, and I got strong enough to walk a little. After using one bottle with such benefit I bought six bottles more, and from regular use of the medicine I am as well as ever before in my life, can do a full day's work, and my appetite is fully restored.

My friends say my cure is a miracle, as I was surely condemned to die. I cannot thank you sufficiently for your wonderful life-giving medicine. I send this testimonial for the benefit of all who are sick and suffering, and can assure them that Paine's Celery Compound will cure.

Yours truly,

ALBERT DAIGNAULT,
St. Hyacinthe, Ont.

CANADA'S SYMPATHY

At the Death of Right Hon. W. E. Gladstone Will Be Expressed

BY PARLIAMENTARY COMMITTEE

Eloquent Tributes to the Deceased Statesman by Sir Richard Cartwright and Sir Charles Tupper—Mr. Mulock's Postal Bill Reported—Dead Letter Office Division—The Estimates.

Ottawa, May 21.—The House of Commons yesterday fittingly marked its sense of the loss sustained by the Empire in the death of Mr. Gladstone by appointing a special committee to draft a resolution of condolence with the family of the deceased statesman.

Sir Richard Cartwright said: It becomes my duty to call the attention of the House to a circumstance which, although expected for some considerable time, will, I doubt not, be received with profound sorrow, not merely by this House but by the country at large, as well as by all nations and countries in which the English tongue is spoken. The House is aware that yesterday the Right Honorable Mr. Gladstone closed a long life, after a very severe and painful illness. I need not say to this House that, literally for generations, the name of Gladstone has been a household word all through the British Empire. I need not tell this House that during an extremely long period Mr. Gladstone has occupied a position of the highest importance in the councils of the Empire, and I believe I am correct in saying that, since the death of the Duke of Wellington, the death of no Englishman has attracted attention equal to that of Mr. Gladstone. Mr. Gladstone was a great deal more than merely a parliamentary leader. It was only one of the many notable gifts that he possessed that he was, perhaps, the greatest parliamentary orator of this century. Besides a man of magnificent gifts, he has been, throughout his life, according to his lights and the best of his knowledge, the champion of all that he believed to be good and right and honorable throughout the world, and particularly the champion of the oppressed wherever he conceived oppression existed. I think we should be obeying the feeling of the great majority, in fact the whole of the people of Canada, if we add our tribute to the tribute already being paid in the British House of Commons, by friend and foe, by political opponents not less than by political supporters, to the memory of Mr. Gladstone.

Sir, he has died, as everyone knows, full of years and honors, after a life protracted far beyond the ordinary span, up to the end of which he continued in the full vigor of his faculties and continued, by reason of the remarkable personality he possessed, to exercise, I may say, a commanding influence over the mind of the English people. Perhaps, under the circumstances, I should best meet the wishes of the House if I were to suggest that we should most fittingly honor his memory by appointing a committee of this House to prepare an address of condolence on the loss which the Empire and the world at large has sustained in the death of Mr. Gladstone. If it meets with the wishes of my friends on the other side, I will conclude by submitting a motion for the approbation of the House, as follows

"That a committee, composed of Sir Wilfrid Laurier, Sir Charles Tupper, Sir Richard Cartwright, Sir Louis Davies, Sir A. P. Caron, Mr. Costigan and Mr. Mulock be appointed to prepare a resolution of condolence on the death of the Right Honorable Mr. Gladstone and report the same with all convenient speed."

Sir Charles Endorses.

Sir Charles Tupper—I am quite certain that Sir Richard Cartwright has rightly interpreted the feeling of the House and the univeral feeling of the people of Canada in proposing this resolution. The world recognizes the fact that probably the most conspicuous man of the present century has now passed away. Nature endowed Mr. Gladstone with the highest intellectual faculties, and these, with his indomitable energy and untiring industry, exercised throughout a long life, made him, as I said before, probably the most conspicuous person in the world, in connection with all the great public movements that affect mankind in general.

He was noted not only for his remarkable intellectual power, but for his bright scholarship, so that he was, perhaps, above and beyond any other man in the world, possessed of the greatest amount of knowledge, covering the widest range of subjects, to be found in any portion of the world. Not only has his life been one of untiring industry, but the position he has occupied for more than half a century has made his words and actions of the utmost importance to every portion of the civilized world. No person's views have been sought, no person's opinions have been watched with greater or deeper interest, and I think we all recognize that not only the British Empire, but the civilized world, has, by the passing away of this great man, lost one whose position was of transcendant importance, and cannot be easily or readily filled. I am quite certain that, as an orator, Mr. Gladstone would be recognized everywhere, not only throughout the British Empire, where the English language is spoken, but in all countries, as a man who occupied a transcendant position as an orator. Oratory has, perhaps, been best defined by the expression that it consists in feeling the truth and speaking it, and I may say from personal experience that I believe it is absolutely impossible for any man, whether he agreed or disagreed with the opinions and sentiments expressed by that great man, to listen to him upon any important subject without arriving at the conclusion that every word he uttered came from the bottom of his heart, and that he believed most explicitly in it. As I have said before, I am satisfied that Sir Richard Cartwright has rightly expressed the sentiments of this House and the people of Canada in taking measures to mark the deep sense of all Canada in reference to this great event, and to join with the people of all countries and all nations in testifying to the family of that great man the deep and unfeigned sorrow that Canada feels at his having terminated his long and useful life."

The motion was adopted.

COMMONS IN SESSION.

The House in Committee on the Post-Office Bill—The Bill Reported.

The House went into committee on the Post-Office bill. Sir Charles Tupper renewed his protest against the decentralization of the dead letter branch. He advised that this feature of the bill be postponed until next session. Sir Charles also read a letter from a leading divine of the Methodist Church, suggesting that Sunday school papers, addressed to superintendents, continue to be transmitted free of postage.

Mr. Mulock said that if the office was decentralized the officers now at Ottawa would not necessarily become dishonest if transferred to other points, so that the secrecy of the mails would be still inviolate. Nor was it necessary that dead letters, originating in Toronto for instance, should be opened in Toronto. As to the proposition to carry Sunday school and other denominational papers free, Mr. Mulock said he thought it was time to cry a halt to state aid to the churches. If it has to be done, let it be done openly. If, for instance, it costs a church $1,000 to circulate its literature, let the House, said Mr. Mulock, vote that sum to the church in question. In the end, however, he thought the churches would be equal to the emergency of making up the postage on their literature.

After some cross-firing a compromise was agreed upon, and the clause was amended by adding that in regard to letters the only places other than Ottawa, to which the same may be transmitted and dealt with as dead letters, shall be the cities of Victoria, Winnipeg and Halifax, subject to such regulations as the Governor-in-Council may adopt. The effect of this change is to give the Postmaster-General power to create dead mail offices for other classes of mail matter than letters.

The bill was then reported.

Question and Answer.

Sir Richard Cartwright told Sir Charles Tupper that he would not be able to make an announcement regarding the progress of public business until Monday. Some matters had been delayed by reason of the sudden illness of the Premier.

To Mr. Maxwell, Sir Richard Cartwright said no progress would be made by the House sitting to-morrow. Saturday was the only day the Government had for business.

Public Works Estimates.

Public works estimates were taken up in supply.

On the item for Collingwood harbor, $30,000,

Dr. Sproule strongly urged the Government to take up the proposal to give Collingwood 20 feet of water. The importance of the port warranted this action.

Mr. Tarte said he appreciated the public spirit of the people of Collingwood, but he could not see his way clear at present to embark on a further expenditure of $100,000 to give a 20-foot channel. He would look into the matter after the session. The present vote was towards an 18-foot channel in the outer harbor, and 16 feet in the inner harbor, the total cost of which would be $144,000.

On the item of Toronto harbor, $20,000, there was a long discussion, but finally the item passed, as did several others, after which several other Ontario votes for harbor improvements passed, and the House adjourned at 10.15 p.m.

HEART WEAKNESS

MUST BE TREATED IN TIME OR ENDS IN CERTAIN DEATH.

Some of the Symptoms are Palpitation After Slight Exertion, Sometimes Severe Pains, Dizziness and Fainting Spells—It Can be Cured.

From the Echo, Platsville, Ont.

The Echo has read and has published many statements from people who have been cured of various ailments by the timely and judicious use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People, but never before have we had such personally convincing proof of their efficacy as in the case of Mrs. George Taylor, who, with her husband and family, resides in this village. To an Echo reporter Mrs. Taylor gave the following history of her illness and cure, and asked that it be given the widest publicity, so that others might be benefitted:—"I am thirty-two years of age," said Mrs. Taylor, "and in 1885 my husband and myself were living on a farm in Perth county, and it was there I was first taken sick. The doctor who was called in said I was suffering from heart trouble, due to nervous debility. All his remedies proved of no avail, and I steadily grew worse. The doctor advised a change, and we moved to Monoton, Ont. Here I put myself under the charge of another physician, but with no better results. At the least exertion my heart would palpitate violently. I was frequently overcome with dizziness and fainting fits. While in these my limbs would become cold and often my husband thought I was dying. I tried several medicines advertised to cure troubles like mine, but with no better results, and I did not expect to recover, in fact I often thought it would be better if the end came, for my life was one of misery. We moved back to the farm and then one day I read the statement of a lady who had been cured of similar trouble by the use of Dr. William's Pink Pills, so I said to my husband that I would try this medicine, and it seemed to me that it was my last chance. Before the first box was finished I felt an improvement in my appetite, and felt that this was a hopeful sign. By the time I had used three boxes more my trouble seemed to be entirely gone, and I have not since felt a single recurrence of the old symptoms. Since moving to Plattsville I have used two boxes and they had the effect of toning up the system and curing slight indispositions. To-day I am a well woman and owe my life to Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and to me my restoration seems nothing short of a miracle. I was like one dead and brought back to life, and I cannot speak too highly of this medicine, or urge too strongly those who are afflicted to give it a trial."

It has been proved time and again that Dr. Williams' Pink Pills cure heart troubles, nervous debility, rheumatism, sciatica, St. Vitus' dance and stomach trouble. They make new blood and build up the nerves, restoring the glow of health to pale and sallow faces. Be sure you get the genuine as there is no other medicine "the same as" or "just as good" as Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. If your dealer does not have them they will be sent post paid at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 by addressing the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

TWIN TORTURERS!

Lumbago and Rheumatism made Harmless by Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Lumbago and Rheumatism cause endless pain and suffering. Every man and woman who runs chances of getting wet, or catching cold, is liable to suffer from one or both. To move hand or foot makes the victim shriek with agony.

Rheumatism makes more cripples than all the railroad accidents that ever happened. Twisted, mis-shapen caricatures of humanity, who cannot walk without misery, are to be seen every day. The kidneys are to blame. If they are healthy you needn't fear Rheumatism or Lumbago. Dodd's Kidney Pills keep the kidneys healthy and cure Rheumatism and Lumbago.

MIDNIGHT PHANTOMS

That Haunt Thousands of the Homes of Canada.

And Can be Banished Only by the Use of Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets—They Never Fail, But Convince by Curing.

How many haunted homes are there in Toronto? How many haunted houses are there scattered over our fair Dominion? There are thousands.

And the ghosts, the malicious midnight phantoms, that haunt them, rendering thousands of lives unhappy, are, sad to to say, invited by those who suffer at their hands. Strange, is it not, that a man should invite a gibbering spectre to murder his sleep, and make the long, quiet hours of the night wretched!

Yes so it is. People suffer all the tortures of Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Biliousness, Headache, Neuralgia, etc., while, all the time, relief, speedy and certain, is within their reach. Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets will lay the ghosts of Indigestion, Dyspepsia, and all other disorders of the stomach and digestive organs, positively and permanently.

This is no idle boast. It is a FACT, indisputable, impregnable.

Why should you suffer when relief is within your grasp? Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets will not fail you. They have given cure and happiness to thousands, and have never failed once.

If you don't believe it, test them. They'll convince you by curing you.

Many years of the lives of thousands of men and women have been wasted in misery, in continual suffering, while the means of cure, of securing happiness and relief lay waiting for them to take it. Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets will positively cure the worst case of Indigestion, Dyspepsia, etc.

Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets are sold by all druggists at fifty cents a box, six boxes $2.50 or sent, on receipt of price, by the Dodd's Medicine Co., Limited, Toronto.

A STRONG ARGUMENT.

Wm. McCabe, Esq., Managing Director, N. A. L., Toronto:

DEAR SIR,—Please accept my thanks for your cheque just handed to me, for $3,901.98, in settlement of my $2,500 Fifteen Year Endowment Policy in your Company. Such a result as this, after the risk on my life has been carried for fifteen years, beginning from forty-five years of age, argues one thing strongly, namely, that the management of the North American Life must be in competent hands. The other options you have offered me, viz: a Paid-up Life policy for $6510.00, or a Life Annuity for $401.80, are, I presume, equally liberal, and it affords me much pleasure to recommend your Company to my friends or any one desiring insurance.

Yours truly,
A. P. COCKBURN:

A Large Number of Wheelmen Turned Out With Decorated Bicycles.

Fully a hundred wheelmen turned out and joined the bicycle parade under the auspices of the Y. M. C. A. club last evening, and as one half of them were decorated and adorned with lanterns, the scene was a pretty one.

The parade started shortly after eight o'clock and an hour's run was enjoyed through the principal business and residental streets under the captaincy of Mr. Lord.

Mr. J. S Knapman labored indefatigably to make the affair a success and his efforts were certainly well rewarded.

DAN McCARTHY

And His Company in a Delightful Entertainment.

There was too small an audience at the Opera House last evening for the opening of the brief season of the Dan McCarthy company. Those who stayed away missed a big treat. The play, "The Dear Irish Home," was splendidly staged, the scenery being especially fine and the acting also especially good. The whole play bubbles over with good, genuine, rollicking Irish fun. There wasn't a dull minute from curtain to curtain. The singing and dancing specialties were quite up to concert pitch. Every performer was good—there wasn't a stick in the cast, except Pete Gavin's blackthorn, which was the post on which part of the plot turned. All who want to enjoy an evening of big fun, excellent singing, tip-top dancing and a thoroughly good play all round, should go to-night and hear "The Pride of Mayo."

THE VICTORIA MUSEUM.

On Jubilee Day, last June, the Victoria Museum, Inverlea House, West Nicholls Park, was opened with great eclat, with all the pomp and circumstance the local conditions permitted. For good reasons the Museum was not opened to the public. The shelving was not placed, nor was the place in readiness to receive contributions. In the meantime the fittings have been provided, and it was expected that the Museum could be opened to the public about April 15th, but illness in the residence of the caretaker, which is in the building, prevented it. Now it is the intention of the Museum Committee to open the museum at as early a date as possible. It is obvious that the opening should be made with as large an exhibit as possible, and it is natural that the committee should earnestly appeal to the public to contribute such articles of curiosity and of historical interest as they may have in their possession. Every home has more or less in the shape of curios, which their owners would be willing to part with for the benefit of the public. And many have, besides, articles which they would not wish to permanently part with; but these could be loaned and the committee would insure their safety and their return to the owners whenever this might be demanded. The loan of articles at the beginning is the most important, so that a good initial display may be made. As time passes it is to be expected that the contributions from all sources will soon fill the shelves of the museum.

As a guide to the public whose interest may lead them to donate articles, the following hints as to what is generally desirable may be given: Ancient books, maps, charts, documents, pictures, paintings, engravings and photographs, mineral and geological specimens, Indian implements, arms, pottery, etc., old China and bric-a-brac, coins, tokens, medals and postage stamps, society badges and emblems, ancient and foreign fire-arms, swords, spears, etc., natural history subjects, such as stuffed birds, beasts, fish, reptiles, etc., old musical and philosophical instruments. Of course contributions need not be confined to these articles. It is to be hoped that the public will co-operate in the effort to open the Victoria museum with a fine collection of curiosities and objects of interest. Persons having articles to donate or loan, have only to inform any member of the committee and they will be called upon. To facilitate matters, the names of the committee may be given: Messrs. J. B. McWilliams, chairman of committee; A. L. Davis, (Mayor) W. H. Meldrum, J. B. Pearse, (Warden), W. H. Casement, Richard Hall, Chas. McGill, H. T. Strickland, Dr. Geo. Burnham, T. A. S. Hay, sec.-treas. of committee.

Articles or information may be left with any member of the Historical Society, or at the EXAMINER office.

As intimated, the date of the opening is not yet fixed. We would respectfully suggest that in case the date could not be fixed earlier, that the anniversary of Jubilee Day would be a most appropriate day for the formal opening as the first anniversary of the formal dedication of the Victoria Museum.

A PLEASANT EVENING

Spent in the George Street Church Sunday School.

The entertainment held last evening in the George street Methodist Church Sunday School, under the auspices of the Bible classes of Mrs. Kendry and Miss Richardson, was a great success. The large room was filled to the doors and great interest was manifested in the programme. Naturally the greatest interest centered in the debate which took place upon the following subject:—

"Resolved that the United States was justified in declaring war against Spain. Affirmative—Messrs. S. R. Armstrong and W. A. Buchanan; negative—Sheriff Hall and W. J. Stubbs."

Mr. Benj. Shortly, who presided, gave his decision in favour of the affirmative.

The musical programme was of unusual excellence and was given as appended:

Instrumental duet	Miss Hubbs and Miss Smith
Recitation	Chalmer Nicholls
Vocal solo	Miss Stella Davis
Vocal duet	Misses Edna and Lillian Hill
Recitation	Miss Edna Armstrong

YOU CAN IF YOU WISH.

RESTORE THE SNAP, VIM, ENERGY AND STRENGTH YOU HAVE LOST.

Dr. Ward's Blood and Nerve Pills have been a great boon to my daughter Maggie. Prior to taking them she had been suffering from excessive nervousness for a long time, and her nerves were in a terribly shattered condition. The action of her heart was so weak that it did not have strength to perform its functions, causing violent palpitation and smothering after retiring. Frequently, on account of this suffocating sensation she was afraid to go to bed. Slight exertion exhausted her and caused shortness of breath. Her blood was impoverished and lost vitality, and she had no appetite. She was wasting away and was very hypochondriacal, feeling dejected all the time. Last December she began taking Dr. Ward's Blood and Nerve Pills, and she improved at once. Her blood became healthy and strong, and in six weeks her impaired nervous system was restored to its normal healthy condition. Her heart responded to the healthy condition of her blood and nerves and resumed its strong and healthy functions. She now sleeps without any of the dangerous, distressing, smothering and choking spells; her appetite is good, and she has gained in flesh. Healthy color has replaced pallor, and she is now well and strong, thanks to Dr. Ward's Blood and Nerve Pills. I thank you, gentlemen, for the remedy that has restored my daughter to health. A. GUNN, Baggagemaster, Grand Trunk Railway, Oshawa, Ont. Dr. Ward's Blood and Nerve Pills are sold at 50c. per box, 5 boxes for $2.00, at druggists, or mailed on receipt of price by THE DR. A TORNADO'S SWATH.

Ontario in Its Path—Mr. Allenby Killed at London, Ont.—Church Burned at Ingersoll—Many Lives Lost.

Toronto, May 20.—The storm which swept over Ontario yesterday assumed the violence of a tornado in the States of Michigan, Illinois, Wisconsin and Iowa. From Detroit comes the report of great damages done to fences, chimneys, trees and light structures generally. The shops of the Brown & Upton Thresher Company at Battle Creek were completely unroofed.

In Ogle County, Illinois, eleven persons were killed and a score injured by falling buildings and flying debris. The storm followed a path 400 feet wide and levelled everything in its path. The storm was most severe at Stillman Valley and Adeline.

Clark, Marthon and Langdale Counties in Wisconsin were also devastated by the cyclone. Antigo suffered greatly and Elmhurst reports ten fatalities. At Sigler a family of five are said to have perished.

In Iowa State, Jackson and Clinton Counties were storm swept. A score of lives are reported to have been lost there, but the full effect of the storm is yet to be learned.

Barns Burned.

The thunderstorm Thursday night was very severe in London's vicinity. Over 200 telephones were disabled and all the trunk lines affected. County Councillor Murray of Westminster had two cows killed by lightning and the two barns of Allan Woods of West Nissouri were burned. Several other barns have been destroyed throughout the country.

Killed by the Lightning.

The family of Mr. J. B. Allenby, who reside at 7 Dundas street, West London, just over the bridge, retired shortly before the storm began, and about midnight the whole household was awakened by a tremendous thunderclap. Everyone, except Mrs. Allenby, who is ill, hastened to Mr. Allenby's room, and were horrified to find him lying in bed with his whiskers and hair ablaze. The eldest daughter succeeded in smothering the flames, and tried to arouse her father, but in vain. The unfortunate man was dead. Mr. Allenby, who was an old resident of West London, was head of the firm of J. B. Allenby & Co., and his terrible taking-off will be regretted by a large circle of friends.

William Kennedy, a farmer living two miles west of Tara, lost 12 sheep and a cow, which were consumed, together with the hay and implements that were stored in a barn which was set afire by lightning and burned to the ground.

The barns belonging to Mr. Orimal Smith, who owns a farm four miles from Port Elgin, were also struck by lightning and destroyed. Mr. Smith lost considerable live stock and several horses.

The Baptist Church at Ingersoll, Ont., took fire while the storm was in progress and was completely destroyed. The church was built eight years ago and cost $14,000. It contained a fine pipe organ and modern furniture. There was $10,000 insurance on the building and its contents.

The man with a weight on his leg can't hope to win in the race. A man with a weight on his health can't expect to compete in life and business with those who are not handicapped. If his brain is heavy and his blood sluggish, because of constipation, he will not succeed in doing anything very well. Constipation is the cause of nine-tenths of all sickness. Symptoms of it are sallowness, listlessness, poor appetite, bad taste in the month, dizziness, biliousness and lassitude. Constipation can be cured easily and certainly by the use of Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. They are not at all violent in their action, and yet they are more certain than many medicines which are so strong that they put the system all out of order. The great advantage of the "Pleasant Pellets" is that they cure permanently.

NOTHING BUT EULOGY.

What They Said of Gladstone—Chamberlain, Balfour and Others of the World's Great Express Admiration.

London, May 20.—Joseph Chamberlain, of all of Gladstone's former colleagues, came into the bitterest personal conflict with him after the home rule split. Mr. Chamberlain, however, expresses unstinted admiration: "I have known Gladstone for more than seventeen years, and during five or six years of that time I was intimately connected with him, and I will say that never have I known energy more remarkable, resources more infinite, eloquence more persuasive, or skill in debate more admirable than during the course of the discussion of the home rule bill. Although, to my deep regret, during the last few years, I have felt it to be my duty to oppose Mr. Gladstone's policy, I have never, either in private or public, said one single word derogatory to his transcendant abilities and personal worth."

Why Commoners Should Be Grateful.

Arthur Balfour has been the personal friend of Mr. Gladstone always, despite political antagonism. He alone of the Conservative leaders visited him in his retirement at Hawarden. They had intellectual interests in common, especially in the region of metaphysics and theology. He said: "Mr. Gladstone was a great example of all that was most splendid and ... efficient in the conduct of parliamentary debate, and in the use of every species of parliamentary eloquence. Leaving all questions of party politics aside, I feel that every member of the House of Commons owes to the late Prime Minister a debt of personal public gratitude, in that he maintained through great parliamentary social changes the high standard of public life which he learned to admire in a different age, and that he continued the great House of Commons' traditions, with which I believe no small part of the dignity and utility of that assembly are inseparably bound up."

His Influence Unparalleled.

A member of the Cabinet said: "It is difficult to find words adequate to express one's feelings at such an event. The disappearance of such a central figure is a tremendous loss. In Parliament and throughout the country his influence over our public life was unparalleled."

Extraordinary Moral Influence.

Lord George Hamilton said: "What impressed me most in Mr. Gladstone was his extraordinary moral influence, especially in converting the House of Commons to accept his home rule bill. Nothing but his personal influence could have achieved so much in the face of insuperable difficulties. I doubt whether there ever was a Parliamentarian who equalled him in his high standard. His dramatic aptitude and quick adaptability as an orator made him equal to any emergency."

Personal Characteristics.

Sir Charles Dilke, Radical member for the Forest of Dean, said: "Mr. Gladstone's personal characteristics were old-fashioned courtesies, while as a statesman it was his absolute mastery of finance, both in principle and detail, a mastery which was incomparable and superior to that of any of his contemporaries."

His Fierce Energy.

Mr. Henry Labouchere, editor of Truth, and Liberal member for Northampton, said: "What impressed me most was his power of concentrated effort. Once he had decided upon a course of action, every thought was bent to attain the end. No labor was too arduous. He animated both his supporters and his opponents, inspiring the former with his own fierce energy; while if he could not gain over the latter he crushed them. It was to this grim determination that he owed most of his success."

Loss Absolutely Incalculable.

Mr. John Redmond, Parnellite member of Parliament for Waterford, said: "The loss to England is absolutely incalculable. Englishmen of all parties should be grateful for his services in promoting the prosperity of their empire."

LADY ABERDEEN'S EULOGY.

Delivered Before the National Council of Women at Ottawa.

Ottawa, May 20.—After the Women's National Council had passed a resolution of condolence, Lady Aberdeen made a touching reference to the death of Mr. Gladstone. The Countess said: "To-day the world mourns its loss of a great light, and forgets all past differences. But I dare not speak much of Mr. and Mrs. Gladstone, for my husband and I have ever felt ourselves almost adopted children in their house. They are associated with the memories of us both in childhood—they were friends of both our parents—and Mr. Gladstone has often said to us that Lord Aberdeen's grandfather—the Premier—was the one statesman of his earlier years whom he loved. And as the time went on our love became more and more sacredly associated with theirs, both from a public and a private standpoint. We spent our last night in the Old Country beneath their roof, and when I went home last year, it was to Hawarden that I went first after landing, as a matter of course. I know that we both feel that if we have been able to try to follow any high ideal in public life, we owe it largely to him who looked on every part of his life as a mission. None of us know what the influence of Mr. Gladstone's life in the present and past generation of English public life has been in this direction. How often have we seen him come into a room where some subject was being discussed lightly and flippantly, and by his mere entrance all was changed.

"One of the earliest things I remember his saying, which made an impression on me, was when on a visit to my father's house in the Scottish highlands. He was one day at tea with us in the school room and as he left the room he turned to us children and said: 'You must pray for me—there are some bishops to be appointed—pray for me.' And in one of his latest letters to me, when speaking of some political question, he wrote: 'What we want is more prayer, more prayer.'"

Canadian Eggs in England.

Montreal, May 20.—Mr. Alfred J. Bryce, who has just returned from England, says that there is a great future for the Canadian export of eggs to the English market. Up to the present he says Russia was the great competitor which Canada had to contend with in England, but the Russian eggs are of a very inferior quality to those produced in the Dominion and the British consumer has caught on to this fact completely. "For instance, I have just heard," said Mr. Bryce, "that some English dealers have closed a deal here for the fall delivery of 60,000 cases of limed Canadian eggs."

"What does this represent in dollars and cents?" he was asked.

"Here are your figures: At 30 dozen per case, the total quantity would be 1,800,000 dozen, which, at 14 cents per dozen, would realize the handsome sum of $252,000." Mr. Bryce concluded with the statement that, as the abrogation of the reciprocity treaty between Canada and the United States fostered cheese-making in Canada, so did the McKinley bill create Canada's export trade to Great Britain.

Most women approach the critical period of motherhood for the first time with a sense of dread and foreboding lest the ruthless hand of death should snatch them away and leave the expectant little darling motherless. But no woman who fortifies herself with the strengthening power of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription need feel one instant's misgiving about either herself or the prospective little one.

This matchless "Prescription" will give her exactly the kind of healthy vitality she needs and at the time she needs it most. It will give elastic endurance to the entire delicate organism involved in motherhood. It will make the coming of baby absolutly free from danger and nearly free from pain.

It will insure the baby's start in life by imparting, through its influence upon the mother, that sturdy infantile vigor which gladdens a mother's heart. It is the only medicine which can be implicitly relied upon for this purpose, and the only remedy expressly designed by an educated, experienced physician to give perfect health and strength to the delicate, special organism of women.

Mr. Joseph Ramsey, of Williams, Colleton Co., S. C., writes: "I have been using your medicines for some time and am happy to say that they have done all that you claim for them. I think they have no equal in the world. I would advise all women while in a delicate state to use Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It shortens the time of birth and makes the labor easier. My wife is the mother of five children and she suffered almost death in the birth of them until this last one; the time of birth was short, and labor easy, from the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription."

Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser used to sell for $1.50, now it is free. It tells all about the home-treatment of ordinary diseases. Several chapters are devoted to the diseases of women. For a paper-covered copy send 21 one-cent stamps, to cover cost of customs and mailing only, to Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.; Cloth binding, 50 stamps. "Favorite Prescription" can be obtained in any good medicine store.

Mr. Joshua Stansfield, for many years postmaster of the House of Commons, died last evening. Owing to ill-health, he was superannuated two years ago.

Major Walsh reports to the Department of the Interior that he will leave Dawson about July 15 for Ottawa. He comes here to confer with the Minister of the Interior and the members of the Government in regard to the condition of affairs in the Yukon.

MR. WILLIS, WOODSTOCK,

Escaped a Deadly Enemy by the Aid of Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Woodstock, May 9—(Special)—This city is deeply agitated, with joyful excitement, because another popular resident has escaped from the fatal grip of Kidney disease by the aid of Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Everyone knows Mr. H. A. Willis, the genial proprietor of the "Buckingham" hotel. He tells his story thus: "For two years past I have suffered intensely from Lame Back and Kidney Disease. Nothing I ever used helped me.

"My sufferings grew worse daily. I heard so much of Dodd's Kidney Pills that I decided to try them. I got relief from the first box. Three boxes cured me entirely."

Dodd's Kidney Pills always cure.

REPORTER AND CHINAMAN.

The Newspaper Man Was Very Tired When the Oriental Finished.

Numberless are the tricks which newspaper reporters play upon one another to relieve the somber "grind" of their calling. Two young men employed on a morning paper in a large city were detailed one day to call upon the resident Chinaman and "interview" them respecting some immigration measure then pending in congress. One of the two reporters was a beginner, and the other, an experienced man, naturally assumed the management of the assignment.

"Billings," he said after they had invaded several laundries without any important result, "here is a tea store. I wish you would go in and talk with the proprietor. I want to know what he thinks about Chinamen voting. I'll go on and pull off an interview with the man who runs this cigar shop next door. Remember to use the very simplest English at your command."

The young reporter went inside the tea store, took out his notebook, and thus addressed the proprietor, who happened to be alone at the moment:

"John, how? Me—me—Telegraph, John! Newspape—savvy, John? Newspape—print things. Un'stan? Me want know what John think about Chinaman vote, see? What John think—Chinaman—vote—all same Melican man? Savvy, John? Vote? What think?"

The Chinaman listened to him with profound gravity until he had finished and replied:

"The question of granting the right of suffrage to Chinese citizens who have come to the United States with the avowed intention of making this country their permanent home is one that has occupied the attention of thoughtful men of all parties for years, and it may become in time one of paramount importance. At present, however, it seems to me there is no exigency requiring an expression of opinion from me upon this subject. You will please excuse me."

The young reporter went outside and leaned against a lamppost to rest and recover from a sudden faintness that had taken possession of him. His comrade had purposely "steered him against" one of the best educated Chinamen in the United States.—Youth's Companion.

America's greatest medicine is Hood's Sarsaparilla, which cures when all other preparations fail to do any good whatever.

DR. CHASE'S OINTMENT

MR. THOS. DOLPHIN, Tara, Ont., says: "I had Itching Piles for about ten or twelve years, and tried everything I could hear or read of, and found that nothing did me any good. Mr. Hilburn, the druggist, gave me a sample box of Chase's Ointment, and from the first application I found relief, and was able to go to bed and sleep. I then purchased one box and that one cured me so that I have not been afflicted since, and that is over a year ago."

MAARTEN MAARTENS.

The Foremost Dutch Literary Man in the World.

Maarten Maartens is perhaps the foremost figure in the literary world of Holland. The name is not his true one, which is J. M. W. Van de Poorten-Schwartz. He fills a niche that is all his own, for it would be hard to say whether he is a Dutch or an English writer. He has been called the Dutch Tolstoi, but his books were all written first in faultless English and then re-written by himself in as faultless Dutch. He is known to his neighbors in Holland as a country gentleman who shuts himself up in his house for days together and constructs the most beautiful novels, which he writes in English. As a field for his genius he has chosen the life of his country and the ways of his own people. Many of his novels are what have been psychological studies. Considering the eminent success he has made in letters he is a young man, for he was born forty years ago. He was educated in England and in Germany, and he has traveled over the greater part of Europe. He explains his choice of the English language as a medium for his genius by saying that English is more flexible, nimble and more suitable for romance than the Dutch. His latest work, "My Lady Nobody," is winning much praise for the author from the best judges. It is probable that the distinguished Dutchman will pay a visit to this country during the coming summer.

MAARTEN MAARTENS.

Sores Gone. Skin Clear.

Mrs Philip Mitchell, St. Mary's, Ont., says:—"My little boy, aged 10, was a complete mass of sores, caused by bad blood. We could find nothing to cure him. Finally I got a bottle of Burdock Blood Bitters, and before half the bottle was gone he began to improve, and by the time the bottle was finished he had not a sore on him."

The Clever Artist.

Not infrequently the art student falls in arrears for the rent of even his airy perch on the "sixtome," and landlords have scant sympathy for beings who can "soar to the empyrean," but can't pay cash. One young man, six months in arrears, knew that his landlord was keeping a watchful eye on his trunk, which stood opposite the door, feeling sure that while it was there the owner would not depart. Our artist painted a portrait of his trunk on the wall opposite the door, and in the night took himself and his belongings quietly away; nor was he missed for several days. Good work sometimes serves very inartistic ends.

Scott's Emulsion is not a "baby food," but is a most excellent food for babies who are not well nourished.

A part of a teaspoonful mixed in milk and given every three or four hours, will give the most happy results.

The cod-liver oil with the hypophosphites added, as in this palatable emulsion, not only to feeds the child, but also regulates its digestive functions.

THE VOICE ABOVE.

East on the drift, and where the full clouds flow
The steep above him looms,
And strong winds out of distant regions blow
The snow in streaming plumes,
And yawns the gulf of the crevasse below
In sapphire glows and glooms.

Along the precipice there is no way
That he may surely tread.
Slight is his foothold on the slippery stay
That trembles to his tread,
And chill and terrible the dying day
Falls fast about his head.

Could he but hear some lowing of the herd,
Some mountain bell ring clear,
If some familiar sound one moment stirred
To guide him lost in fear!
He dares not move. Some beckoning leading word,
Alas, could he but hear!

In those waste places of the earth and dim
No star shines forth at all.
Through awful loneliness enshrouding him
He gives one shuddering call,
While horror of great darkness seems to swim
And fold him in its pall.

Then like blown breath of music in the height
A cry comes far and low.
He thrills, he springs, he gathers all his might
He feels new pulses glow!
His father's voice—he needs not sense nor sight!
He knows the way to go!
—Harriet Prescott Spofford in Harper's Magazine.

The total business in force at the close of 1897 was $72,719,555 29 of Assurances, under 33,407 policies, upon 24,469 lives.

POLICY CLAIMS.

THE PRESIDENT'S ADDRESS.

The President, Mr. A. G. Ramsay, in moving the adoption of the report, said:

The Directors' Report and the usual accounts and statements have for some days been in your hands, and have now been taken as read. While the report is brief, it contains, I think, along with the various published accounts, all that is required to enable those interested in the Company to judge of its progress and success in the past year. The addition during 1897 of nearly half a million dollars to the surplus or profits fund is a large and satisfactory one, and without invidiously comparing it with the figures of any other particular Company. I may say that it is more than was attained by all the other Canadian companies combined. The new business of the year was, you will observe, of satisfactory and gratifying amount, and in excess of the previous year, and you will be pleased to know that it is of that desirable class which will result more to the profit of the Company than would a larger amount obtained at heavier expense, or from less desirable regions than the healthful climate of Canada, and the four Northern States to which we have thus far deemed it judicious to confine the operations of the Company. The existing assurances are $72,719,555 or nearly twice as much as they were 12 years ago. The death claims of the year continued of very favourable amount, and being well within what was calculated upon, that fact testifies to the care observed in the selection of the lives, and to the judicious limitation of the business to the healthful climates already alluded to.

The recent lamentable failures of some of the companies doing business on the assessment system, and the anxiety felt as to the others which are based upon the same fallacious principles lead me to point out that these occurrences are only the inevitable results, which were from the first predicted by those whose knowledge and experience enabled them to judge of what the future of companies of the kind must be. At our meeting in 1887, when concerns of the kind were making strenuous efforts to establish themselves in Canada, I alluded to the miserable failures they had been in England and in America, and I said that their "ephemeral existence indicates how useless the assessment system of assurance is as a family provision. It can only offer the uncertain hope of a cheap assurance for a few years, till the company breaks down. It cannot afford any guarantee that a definite amount of assurance will certainly be paid to a widow or children after an assurer's death, whether that occurs at an early day or a distant one, and without such a guarantee as that, which our own and other sound companies offer, life assurance must be a fraud and a delusion." I added that "I was aware that agents and managers of companies of the kind pointed to the names of prominent business and professional men who have joined them, or who act as their directors, but as some of them at all events allow their names to be employed in that way, simply because policies have been gratuitously given to them, one can judge how little weight should attach to the names of the gentlemen thus used to decoy others to join such companies." One cannot envy the feelings of the prominent gentlemen alluded to, who induced persons to take policies in companies of the kind, from which they are now driven out by their failure, or by the levy of such high payments as they are unable to meet.

As the accounts show, the year's income was within a trifle of three million dollars, and the assets of the company were increased to the very considerable amount of nearly nineteen million dollars, and yielding, after deducting liabilities of every kind, a net surplus or profit of $1,564,082 for allocation at the end of next year, along with whatever addition there may be made to it between now and that time, and as the management and other expenses by which the profits to policy-holders are very largely influenced continue to be on a more moderate percentage than that of other Canadian or American companies, he prospects for our assurers are of a favourable character.

It is anticipated that legislation will be introduced by the Government, modifying the present 4½ per cent. rate of interest prescribed by law as the basis for Life Assurance Reserves, and adopting the new mortality Tables based upon the observations and large experience of the British Insurance Companies, in course of compliation by the Institute of Actuaries of Great Britain, and I may say on behalf of the Board in reference to the amendment to the charter, alluded to in the Directors report of last year, that the Directors purpose to avail themselves of the occasion of that legislation to seek such amendments to the law as may meet the Board's requirements.

The motion was seconded by Mr. F. W. Gates, Vice-President, and unanimously carried. A hearty vote of thanks was tendered to the agents, officers, medical and legal advisers of the company, Mr. Adam Brown speaking in eloquent terms of their services rendered to the Company.

Mr. Leggat moved and Lieut.-Col. McLaren seconded a hearty vote of thanks to the President and Directors for their attention to the interests of the Company during the past year. Brief and interesting addresses were also made by Sir George Kirkpatrick and Sir George Burton, the latter of whom was heartily congratulated upon the recent honour conferred upon him by the Queen.

The retiring Directors, Chief Justice Sir George Burton, Col. Sir Casimer Gzowski, K.C.M.G., and Mr. N. Merritt, were re-elected. At a subsequent meeting of the Directors, Mr. A. G. Ramsay was re-elected President and Mr. F. W. Gates Vice-President

The meeting passed off very harmoniously, every one present being gratified with the progress and continued prosperity of the Canada Life, which, as Sir George Kirkpatrick remarked, was easily leader of all Companies in the Dominion.

LACROSSE.

At a meeting of the Lacrosse Club Executive held after practice last evening, the following team of seniors was picked to play against Brampton on May 24th :—Goal, Wasson ; point, Lynch ; cover point, Brown ; 1st defence, Mein ; 2nd defence, Borland ; 3rd defence, Rickey ; centre, Jim McCabe ; 3rd home, King ; 2nd home, Galley ; 1st home, Glover ; outside home, Jack McCabe ; inside home, Lipsett ; field captain, M. Halpin.

Those who have followed the game closely will notice that the positions of some of the men have been greatly changed since last year, but the Executive considered that some experiments should be tried early in the season in order to ascertain the positions for which the men were best fitted.

Dobbin will not be able to play on the 24th and his place is being taken for the match by Wason. Lynch is at point, with Brown and Mein each moved, out one position from where they played last year. Borland is moved back from third defence to second, in Glover's place, the latter going on the home field, whilst Rickey replaces Borland next to centre. Jimmy McCabe, as will be noticed, is placed in centre field, while King, Galley, Glover, Jack McCabe and Lipsett line up to the flags in the order named.

This will make a very strong team, which should give a fine exhibition with the ex-champions from Brampton.

The junior team which goes to Marmora on the 24th was picked as follows :—Goal, Tommy Robinson ; point, George Mein ; cover-point, Vic. McWilliams ; first defence, Miles McDonough ; second defence, Wes. Wilson ; third defence, T. Dineen ; centre, Arthur McClelland ; 3rd home, Whitcroft ; 2nd home, Harry King ; 1st home, W. Overend ; outside home, Jack Sheridan ; inside home, Harry Halpin.

The result of the juniors first game will be awaited with interest, as some good men are expected to develop from their ranks. Great difficulty was experienced in selecting the personnel of the team, the question of weight and condition governing the choice largely. There were over 20 names to choose from, and before the season is much farther advanced many others will deserve a place with the junior twelve.

The Peterboroughs have an open date for the morning of July 1st, before the bicycle parade begins. Several clubs are anxious to play here on that date, amongst them them being Port Hope, but the matter is being left in abeyance for the present.

The Brampton team arrives here on the 11.30 C.P.R. express Tuesday, and the game will begin a 3 p.m. sharp. Mayor Davis has consented to face the ball.

Mr. Dickson Davidson will referee the Queen's Birthday game in the P. A. A. A. grounds.

MASON'S MODEL GROCERY.

Handsome Interior Furnishings and Well Arranged Fittings—New Stock Opened Out.

E. F. Mason & Co., grocers, whose premises were visited by fire over a month ago, have re-opened with their store completely remodelled. Compared with the old store, which was admitted to be well appointed and well kept, the new interior is far ahead of it, and furnishes a pleasing picture which leaves a favourable impression of the artistic and practical good taste of the whole arrangement.

Those who wish to see an up-to-date modern grocery store, fitted up with the most approved furnishings of the period, should look through these modern premises. There's not a nook or cranny of the store but is full of suggestions. Everything has been made particularly bright and attractive. The fittings are of a new pattern in light oak, and the fixtures are designed after Mr. Mason's own idea for securing scrupulous cleanness in every shelf, drawer and bin. The attractiveness of the interior is heightened by two massive British plate mirrors, which are placed in the centre of the south shelving and in the rear part of the store. The new stock is well assorted and is entirely fresh, being personally selected by Mr. E. F. Mason. Customers can be assured of even better service than before, and with the advantage of greater security for keeping articles of food, teas, etc., in better condition. The public in general are cordially invited to inspect the store, which will be found sufficiently attractive to repay the visit. Having placed the business on a cash basis the firm can assure buyers that prices will be lower than before, while qualities will be kept up to the well known excellent standard always maintained by the house. 2d 1w

Mid-May Extras

FOR

THE WEEK BEFORE THE 24th.

We purpose that no store in Canada shall be more liberal in dealing with customers. Preparations have been going on all over the store for doing more business this week than last. We have arranged to have plenty of extra help to serve the crowds of shoppers, and improvements have been made in the parcel and delivery system. Last Thursday, especially, there were hundreds of disappointed customers. Of course a good many came late, and some of the advertised goods were sold out sooner than expected. It's as well to remember the old adage, "The early bird catches the worm," and to govern yourselves accordingly. Never was the power of low-priced leaders for Spot Cash so thoroughly exemplified as at our last Thursday's sale of "Specials."

This week will be another week of wonderful value-giving and great money-saving opportunities. It seems incredible that we should improve on the Bargain Triumphs we have been offering in Men's and Boys' Clothing, Boots, Shoes, Hats, Caps, Furnishings, &c., but we mean to do it this week—the preparatory week before Queen's Birthday. These are a few of the trade-winners for every day of this week :

TRIUMPHS IN

ORDERED CLOTHING

Here's the bargain that should interest dressy men who prefer to have their garments made to order. In the regular way a suit made to your order from extra choice Tweeds and Cheviots, of the newest designs and colourings, would cost you $16 to $20, but for quick sales this week that will bring us the biggest Ordered Clothing trade we have ever known, we offer you your choice of this Special lot of new fabrics just arrived for

$12.70 the Suit

Made to Your Order.

These Suits will be cut and tailored by practical workmen, and perfect fit and satisfaction, or your money back—any day this week.

TRIUMPHS IN

FURNISHINGS.

It will certainly not be good form to be out of style on Queen's Birthday. It won't do to be without a new pair of Shoes, a new Hat, a new Shirt and Collar and Cuffs, a new set of Underwear and Hosiery, or any other item of dress that goes to make the well-dressed man. We advise early shopping ; many of these items will not last long at these prices :—

Men's $2.50 Fur Felt Soft Hats—newest spring shapes, colours pearl, fawn, drab and black. Special all this week—

$1.45.

Men's $3.50 Boots. Dongola, Kangaroo, Calf, Tan and Chrome, fine smooth linings, newest Toe Shapes, all sizes. Special all this week

$2.25.

Men's Fine Cambric, White or Coloured Shirts, extra heavy material, well laundried. Special all this week

Our 3 Great Special Thursday Bargain Triumphs will be followed for the next 3 days with a great Revolution in the Prices for Queen's Birthday Suits, for Men, Young Men and Boys—all ready to put on.

British, United States and Canadian Representatives

MEET AT WASHINGTON TUESDAY

To Consider a Convention to Settle Disputes Between the Dominion and Brother Jonathan — Sir Julian Pauncefote and Sir Louis Davies the British and Canadian Representatives.

Washington, May 23.—Negotiations will begin this week between the officials of the State Department, the British Ambassador, Sir Julian Pauncefote, and the Canadian Minister of Marine, Sir Louis Davies, as a preliminary step towards a convention or treaty between the United States and Great Britain, clearing up numerous long-pending controversies between this country and Canada. Efforts along that line have been made in the past, but have failed to reach a satisfactory conclusion. The work is now taken up again under more favorable circumstances, and it is hoped that a common ground of understanding will be reached. The meeting this week will be rather general in character and more in the nature of a discussion of what can be done, than any arrangement of the exact terms of a convention. The desire, however, is to arrive at an understanding which can be submitted to both governments, as well as to the Canadian Ministry, and thereafter the Governments will appoint commissioners who will frame a settlement in accordance with this understanding.

Sir Louis Davies will arrive on Tuesday and will be the guest of the British Ambassador. Being a diplomatic negotiation, the Ambassador will represent England and Canada, but the intimate acquaintance which Sir Louis Davies has with the needs of Canada will be of material assistance to the Ambassador. Sir Louis' first duty, however, will be to take part in the revision of the regulations concerning pelagic sealing, which, in accordance with the finding of the Paris Tribunal of 1893, must be revised every five years.

It is expected that this step towards a friendly settlement of all the questions at issue between the United States and Great Britain will be regarded in foreign quarters as significant and as an outgrowth of the friendly sentiments recently exhibited between Great Britain and America. At the same time the officials here, those of the State Department, as well as of the British Embassy, do not give to the coming meeting a significance beyond what it plainly bears on its face, namely, a desire to reach a friendly adjustment of the long pending border controversies between the United States and Canada. It is said that the adjustment of these controversies would be a sufficient accomplishment in itself, without giving to the meeting any broader significance, as an evidence of the friendly feeling between Great Britain and the United States. That feeling has doubtless led, however, to making the present time opportune for negotiations which will bring the final results so long desired by both governments.

Sir Julian Pauncefote conferred with Secretary Day Saturday and arranged the preliminaries of the coming meeting. Later Judge Day had a long talk with ex-Secretary John W. Foster, who has heretofore had charge of the Canadian negotiations, and who may be connected with those about to begin, though the personnel of the American side has not been definitely settled. It is not known who will be appointed on the British-Canadian side. Sir Julian will, of course, be one of the commissioners, and the other two will be Canadians, probably Sir Richard Cartwright and Sir Louis Davies. It is hoped that Sir Wilfrid Laurier himself may be able to act as one of the Canadian commissioners, as his presence on the tribunal could not fail to have a good effect. The commission may meet in Ottawa.

SIR WILFRID WELL AGAIN.

A Budget of Interesting Paragraphs From the Canadian Capital.

Ottawa, May 23.—The Premier has so far recovered from his bronchial attack that he will be present in the House today. He was not in his place at the Cabinet meeting on Saturday, when the supplementary estimates for next year were under consideration. These estimates will not be down until Wednesday.

It has been decided not to submit a Drummond County lease to Parliament this year, the thorough service from Montreal over this line being continued for another year under the tentative arrangement with the company.

Capt. J. G. Cox and R. G. Hall, members of British Columbia firms controlling a number of sealing schooners, have arrived here to confer with Sir Louis Davies previous to his departure for Washington. Sir Louis will leave for Washington to-day, as he is due there on Wednesday, but they will have an interview with him before he goes.

The 8th Royal Rifles of Quebec have arrived here to spend a couple of days at the Capital.

Hon. Sydney Fisher, Minister of Agriculture, gave a garden party at the Experimental Farm on Saturday. It was largely attended and was in every way a success.

The House to-day will take up the resolution increasing the salaries of junior county judges in Ontario.

Morning sittings will commence on Wednesday.

MR. GLADSTONE'S FUNERAL

Will Take Place Next Saturday—Pulpit Oratory on Sunday Over His Death.

London, May 23.—Saturday, May 28, has been fixed as the date for the funeral of Mr. Gladstone.

Mr. Gladstone's death was the occasion of a tremendous outburst of pulpit oratory yesterday. In almost every church in the kingdom a sermon was preached in his memory. Telegrams of condolence continue to pour in to Hawarden from all parts of the world. The Queen and the Duke of York have again written Mrs. Gladstone, who yesterday attended service at Hawarden church, where a memorial service will be held next Saturday while the funeral service is being held at the Abbey.

Mr. Gladstone's remains lie in Hawarden church all day Wednesday, where they will be viewed by his friends and neighbors, the number being limited to the oldest and most intimate. From the church the body will be taken to the Broughton Hall Station and carried to London by the train leaving at 7.30 p.m. The deceased statesman will lie in state under a catafalque in Westminster Hall on Thursday and Friday.

The Queen's Grief.

London, May 23.—The Queen has sent the following message to Miss Gladstone: "I am deeply grieved at the sad news. Princess Beatrice and I wish to express our deepest sympathy with your dear mother all of you. Victoria, R.I."

ANOTHER POWDER MILL.

Economical Smokeless Powder Mill at Hammond, Ind., Blown Up.

Hammond, Ind., May 23.—While busy workmen were engaged in the task of making explosive cartridges for the use of the United States Government, the plant of the Economical Smokeless Powder Company, located about five miles southeast of this city exploded shortly before 1 o'clock Saturday afternoon, killing one man instantly and seriously injuring three others. The following is the list of killed and injured: Arthur E. Booth, 26 years old, lived at 4249 Calumet avenue, Chicago, mangled almost beyond recognition The injured: Frank E. Halsey, superintendent of the works, blown 50 feet, and found under debris, not seriously injured; J. S. Piper, master mechanic, badly bruised about head and shoulders, blown through a door and into a swamp 50 feet away; Charles Porter, mixer, hurled through a door into the swamp, 50 feet away, injured about the head, back and limbs, taken to Hammond.

DEATH OF MR. BELLAMY.

The Famous Author of "Looking Backward" Has Crossed the Bar.

Springfield, May 23.—Edward Bellamy, author of "Looking Backward," "Equality," etc., died at his home in Chicopee Falls at an early hour Sunday morning.

His Life and Works.

Springfield, Mass., May 23.—Mr. Bellamy was in the 49th year of his age. He has been in feeble health ever since he finished his "Equality," some eight months ago. It was in 1888 that his famous book, "Looking Backward," was published, the sale of which, up to the present time, is over 450,000 copies in America, and probably over half a million of copies have been sold in England and other foreign countries. "Looking Backward" has been translated into German, French, Russian, Italian, Arabic, Bulgarian and several other languages. It is stated that Emperor William purchased 10,000 copies of "Looking Backward," which he distributed among the students and working classes of Germany.

BARGE STRUCK THE BRIDGE.

The Fitzpatrick Ran Foul of the Thorold Railway's Structure.

Port Colborne, Ont., May 23.—The barge Fitzpatrick, consort of the steamer K. M. Forbes, in passing through the Thorold Railway bridge Saturday night, struck the bridge, doing damage estimated at about $400. The barge being unable to get out of the canal before midnight, was tied up below Stonebridge Sunday and the canal authorities libelled her for the cost of the damages done to the bridge. The boat will not be detained, as a settlement has been made through parties here in the interest of her owners.

NO BATTLE OFF MOLE.

An Official Denial of the Published Rumor.

SPAIN'S POSITION DESCRIBED.

The Fleet Is Lost Again—A Big Monitor for Dewey—The Charleston Sails—Rumor About the Cadiz Fleet—Battleship Oregon Safe—Spanish Secure Supplies—Nuevitas Shelled.

Washington, May 23.—The rumors of a great naval battle current Saturday night were disposed of by the Navy Department early Sunday in the following official bulletin:

"No truth in the published statement concerning an engagement off Mole, St. Nicholas, Hayti, in which 13 ships were sunk."

This was posted, not only from general information, but also to quiet the alarm among relatives and friends of those on board the American ships. This indicates that the official information is such as to warrant the statement that the American and Spanish squadrons have not met.

SPAIN'S POSITION.

Weakness and Poverty Against Strength and Wealth, But Honor Must Be Maintained.

Madrid, May 23.—It is reported that Senor Leon y Castillo will return to his post at Paris.

Senor Capdepon, Minister of the Interior, has denied, in the course of an interview, that the change in the constitution of the Ministry would involve any alteration in the foreign policy of Spain, all the new Ministers being in favor of prosecuting the war with the utmost energy to the end.

"Spain," said Senor Capdepon, "went perilously near sacrificing her honor in the interest of peace, only making a stand when further concessions would have involved her disgrace and effacement as a nation. This she will never do, and in this resolve the new Cabinet is as thoroughly determined as the old. The new Cabinet entertains no illusions. It is aware that weakness and poverty are opposed to strength and wealth, but Spain is in the position of a duellist bound to defend his honor against the gross insults of a more powerful antagonist, who, although he is convinced that the result is almost certain death, yet feels the force of the principle of noblesse oblige. Spain prefers a possible defeat to a certain disgrace."

Big Monitor for Dewey.

Washington, May 23.—The news event of Saturday at the Navy Department was the despatch of the order to the Monterey to proceed to Manila to reinforce Admiral Dewey's squadron. The Monterey has a power of strength in herself and her addition to Admiral Dewey's force, together with the despatch of thousands of troops to Manila, is ample evidence that the Administration has assumed no half-hearted attitude towards the Philippine question and is determined to take no chances of dispossession until such time as the United States itself has arranged for the disposition of the islands.

The Monterey is probably the most formidable monitor in the world, yet she combines with the enormous offensive and defensive quays of the monitor type a seaworthiness that is almost phenomenal.

The Charleston Sets Sail.

San Francisco, May 23.—The Charleston is well on her way to Manila. The big cruiser passed through the Golden Gate at 8.30 Sunday morning.

Cadiz Fleet for Cuba.

Gibraltar, May 23.—An unconfirmed rumor is in circulation here that the Spanish squadron at Cadiz is about to sail for Cuban waters.

A Spanish battery of artillery arrived Sunday afternoon at San Roque, seven miles north of Gibraltar, and has been placed in position.

Battleship Oregon Safe.

London, May 23.—A special despatch from Barbadoes, dated Friday, says: The American battleship Oregon arrived here yesterday, all well. She took on board 200 tons of coal, and sailed to day. Her destination is not known here."

Nuevitas Was Shelled.

Madrid, May 23.—An official despatch from Captain-General Blanco says some American warships shelled the forts guarding the water approach to Nuevitas, Province of Puerto Principe, on Thursday night last.

Spain and Intervention.

Paris, May 23.—A despatch to the Temps from Madrid says the Spanish Government denies that the Cuban leaders have submitted, and admit that only a few unimportant leaders have accepted the advances of the Autonomist Government. Generals Gomez and Garcia, the Spaniards further admit, have rejected the offers made to them.

War Notes From Washington.

Washington, D.C., May 23.—Reports to Adjutant-General Corbin show that 110,000 men have been mustered into the volunteer army.

Major-General Wesley Merritt concluded his business at the War Department Saturday afternoon, and at 8 o'clock began his journey to San Francisco, whence he will take charge of the expedition to the Philippines.

Soldiers Killed in Railway Accident.

Chattanooga, Tenn., May 23.—The train conveying the First Missouri Infantry from the city to the Park was wrecked in a collision at Rossville Station, about five miles out, at 9 o'clock Saturday morning. Five privates were killed and twelve were injured. The military train was run into by a regular passenger train running at a high rate of speed.

Secretary Alger sent a telegram to Major-General Brooke, commanding at Chickamauga, directing "that every care be taken of the wounded and that the dead be buried with all the honors of war and immediate steps taken to prosecute the railroad responsible for this disaster."

HER MAJESTY'S SEVENTY-NINTH.

As the years roll by it is borne in upon the millions of Her majesty's loyal subjects under every sky on earth, that the occasions for celebrating her birthday, she being living, will soon cease. To-morrow will be the seventy-ninth anniversary of her birth, and it is not probable that, in the course of nature, many more years will be added to the nine in excess of the allotted span which have mercifully been added to the life of the Queen. Last year's royal birthday anniversary had special significance, as being the next to the Diamond Jubilee, and this year's has a double significance, as being the first after that unique event, and also as being associated so closely with the death of England's greatest son, the Great Gladstone. Though ten years older than the Queen, their lives have run parallel for the past four score years, parallel in time and alike also in a far higher sense. Both have been conspicuous as the greatest in their respective spheres, in the history of an empire without equal in the annals of time. As a statesman, as a publicist, as a man of letters, as a champion of the rights of humanity, and, above all, as a man, Gladstone was as great a figure as he was a model in the latter capacity. As a queen, and above all as a woman, her Majesty Queen Victoria has been conspicuous for the past half century. Both herself and Gladstone have been a part of the grandest half century of British history, the richest in achievement, the most conspicuous in progress along the highest planes of national life. The statesman has served the sovereign in varying capacities during her whole reign, and though on political questions there was difference of opinion, yet there was mutual respect, mutual esteem and mutual love between the two greatest personalities of the century. In a public address not long since made, Gladstone epitomized his estimation of her Majesty's reign and career in the following words:

> No minister ever had the honour to serve a sovereign more august or more beloved. Though the greater part of my life I have had opportunities of appreciating Her Majesty's rule of conduct. For all those years she was not only without reproach, but she was a model and a pattern. All the principles of the constitution have been observed by the Queen through the long years of her reign in a manner more perfect than has ever been known in the time of any former sovereign.

This tribute has at the present time, when the two great characters have come to the parting the ways, an affecting and important significance. Gladstone has passed on to the higher life, and it is not probable that the Queen will long survive him. As human life goes, her stay with us cannot be long and there is a feeling, it is said, on the Queen's part that the death of Gladstone and her own will not be long apart. We, and all her loyal subjects throughout the world, pray that the royal pessimism will not be realized, but that the gracious Queen, and noble woman, will be spared many happy years to be a model of perfect womanhood and august sovereignity, exercised not only on constitutional principles, but also in accord with the precepts of the King she so faithfully serves.

GLADSTONE IN WESTMINSTER ABBEY.

GLADSTONE will, by the nation's desire, sleep in Westminster Abbey, where so many of England's greatest are at rest. Since Siebert, the king of the East Saxons, was buried in his chapel, which was the beginning of the Abbey, many British sovereigns, warriors by land and sea, ecclesiastics, statesmen, poets and philosophers have been buried there, most of them worthy of the national honuor in which their dust was held. None served God and his country with his whole heart and mind and body more sincerely or more loftily in intention than Gladstone. Among the latest and worthiest of all time of those laid there was Tennyson, his friend, and Browning—Christians and poets of whom England is justly proud, and who, with Gladstone, are perhaps the flower of the English race of the nineteenth century. His great opponent, Lord Beaconsfield, was not buried in the Abbey, though place there was offered, but at Hughenden. There is good nineteeth century company, too, in that other British resting-place. St. Paul's, where the bones of Wellington and Nelson lie, and the best British painters of to-day would feel it an honour to lie down with Turner and Reynolds. And Sam Johnston, whom everybody loves and admires, sleeps there—a great and good man.—Witness.

THE Mail and Empire still keeps harping upon the new Franchise Act, and declares it is utterly unfair because the provincial franchise lists are the basis of the Dominion lists. It would be impossible for a Liberal Government to devise any bill that would be satisfactory to the Conservative organ. While the late lamented Dominion Franchise Act was waging its campaign of perrenial iniquity, the Mail and Empire had not one word of reprobation or criticism. Herein is the cloven foot of party exposed. No franchise bill could, by any possibility, be devised by a Liberal Government that could approximate the late law for possibility of iniquity. The Mail did not condemn it, yet it has nothing but blame for a francnise measure as infinitely superior to its predecessor as the day is in brightness to night.

CANADA'S PROGRESS.

SUBSTANTIAL GROWTH IN THE EXPORT TRADE.

The Country Means Business—New Railway Projects—View of an Important English Financial Paper.

(From the London Financial News.)

Canada's external trade continues to expand at a rate which may fairly be described as unusually rapid. The total for the eight months of the fiscal year, compared with the corresponding eight months of 1897, is as follows:—

	1897.	1898.
Imports	$73,378,000	$ 89,785,000
Exports	93,192,000	119,644,000
Total trade	$166,470,000	$209,429,000

The value of the exports of the produce of Canada for the later period was $105,938,000, as against $82,836,000 in the earlier. This is all the more remarkable when it is borne in mind that 1896-97 was itself a year of heavy trade, the exports of the produce of Canada having been $123,632,540, as compared with $109,707,805 in the previous year, and the total trade having been $257,268,862, an increase of $18,000,000 over the preceding year. The details of the trade of the latter part of 1897 are interesting. In the six months the exports of minerals have increased by $2,242,000, the exports of animals and their products by $6,500,000, of forest products by $1,004,000, of agricultural products by $12,500,000—or $2,000,000 a month. After instructive comparison is made between the calendar years 1897 and 1896. In the calendar year 1897 the total exports and imports entered for consumption reached the enormous total of $271,501,000, compared with $219,396,000 in the calendar year 1896, or an increase of over $52,000,000. The exports exceeded the imports by over $37,000,000. The total exports were $154,675,000, against $117,795,000 in 1896, an increase of nearly $37,000,000. The imports for consumption were $116,826,000, compared with $101,591,000 in 1896, an increase of over $15,000,000.

Concurrently with this progressive movement it is interesting to note that business questions, questions of development and transport, chiefly provide the topics for discussion both in Parliament and in the columns of the newspapers. Special attention is being given on all hands to the development of British trade. A year ago the Minister of Finance proproposed and Parliament enacted a preferential tariff law, which was received with much enthusiasm on this side of the Atlantic, which stimulated inquiry and demand for Canadian products, and which led to the denunciation of the German and Belgian treaties. By the abrogation of these treaties, and by an amendment to be made in pursuance of Mr. Scott's announcement on February 11, the preference will in a few months apply to British imports only, and it will be a preference of 25 per cent. The arrangement for cold storage, Prof. Robertson's visit to Great Britain, the fast Atlantic service, and the deepening of the canals are projects all tending to the further extension of commercial intercourse between Canada and this country.

Railway projects command extraordinary attention just now, because, no doubt, Canadians realise that the iron horse is indispensable to the rapid and profitable exploration of the Dominion's natural resources. Already the Government is committed to proposals for the extension of the Intercolonial line to Montreal and the building of the Crow's Nest Pass and Klondyke Railways. Then there is another well-defined scheme in the shape of the new railway which an American company asks permission to build into the Kootenay District. The application is encountering opposition, which does not appear to have the approval of The Toronto Globe. "For years we have been coaxing people to come and 'develop our resources,'" says our contemporary, "and here is a company that wants no public money, that wants no land, that simply asks permission to build a railway and make what money it can out of a business enterprise. This looks as if mining in the Kootenay is being developed on a solid business basis. In British Columbia and northern Ontario it is demonstrated that we have not only gold but those metals which are the foundation of manufacturing industry, and which may prove in the long run to be even more profitable than gold."

Altogether the people of Canada appear to mean business, and they will have the sympathetic encouragement of all who believe in the high destiny of the Anglo-Saxon race.

Domestic Felicity.

Maintained in Families Where Diamond Dyes are Used.

The happiest, best regulated and most economical families in the Dominion are regular users of the world-famous Diamond Dyes. Domestic felicity is ever maintained, because the Diamond Dyes are true and unfailing in work, and money is saved by their use. No other Dyes can boast of such strong words of praise from users.

Mrs. T. Layin, Newark, Ont., says:—"Have used many other makes of dyes, but find the Diamond Dyes ahead of all, as they give the best and fastest colours."

Mrs. Silas Daury, Mahone Bay, N.S., says:—"Your Diamond Dyes give me entire satisfaction. I have used other makes, but have settled on the good, old and reliable Diamond Dyes."

Mrs. Joseph Weir, Sutton Junction, P. Q., says: "Have used Diamond Dyes for the last ten years, and they have given me great satisfaction; I can recommend them to all as the best."

Mrs. G. A. Tory, Red Deer, N.W.T., says: "I have given your Diamond Dyes a fair trial and find them excellent; failure is impossible if the directions are followed."

Miss Gussie Crawford, Kingston, N.B., says: "Have just dyed an old skirt a beautiful Seal Brown with your Diamond Dyes, and am much pleased with result. I make my black ink from your Slate Diamond Dye, and it is the only kind of ink I have used for years, and I do a great deal of writing."

Mrs. John Leslie, Port Colborne, Ont., says: "I have used Diamond Dyes in all the colours, and I can safely say they do all you claim for them."

THE NIGER QUESTION

Said to Be Satisfactorily Settled Between Great Britain and France—A Doubt on the Good News.

Paris, May 22.—The Figaro publishes the important announcement that the delicate Niger question, which threatened to lead to an Anglo-French war, has been settled and that an agreement between the two Governments will be signed this week at the French Foreign Office. The agreement will be satisfactory to both nations. It involves mutual concessions, the chief being that the town of Broussa, which the French occupied, but which England claimed by earlier treaties, will be given to England, while France will retain Nikki and two towns in the middle. The line of demarcation starts from Plo, on the Niger, and runs southeast, leaving Nikki inside the French sphere. The importance of Broussa lies in the fact that it is the highest town to which the Niger is navigable.

THIS CASTS A DOUBT

Upon the Genuineness of the Report of the Paris Figaro.

New York, May 23.—The London correspondent of the Sun, referring to the report sent by him Friday last to the effect that Great Britain had served notice on France to get out of South Africa at once, says: "Nothing further has developed regarding the report that Great Britain insists that France shall abandon forthwith all her claims to the African Hinterland. Most of the Paris reports on this subject are pacific, while those from British sources are quite the contrary. It is probable, at all events, that the French Government wishes to avoid a crisis on this subject for the present, both on account of her own interests, and because Russia does not desire a collision at this moment. The French attitude is that of temporary conciliation, which does not satisfy the British Government. Whether the latter has seen fit to demand the definite withdrawal of the French pretensions in West Africa is impossible to say. But if this has been done, it by no means follows that war will result, for it is more than doubtful if Russia would support France in refusing at such cost.

"Indications multiply, however, that Russian hostility to England has recently become so deep and implacable that the change involves the Czar's personal attitude. According to the latest reports, Princess Victoria of Schleswig-Holstein, who spent the winter with the Czar and Czarina in St. Petersburg, is quoted as bringing interesting information on this point.

"The Princess says that the Czar could not have been more friendly towards England than he was until January, when he took umbrage at the action of England in China. He is now furiously anti-English. It appears that His Majesty expected to have China left solely to him. He thinks that if he does not interfere with England in India, England should not interfere with him in China."

Escaped a Deadly Enemy by the Aid of Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Woodstock, May 9—(Special)—This city is deeply agitated, with joyful excitement, because another popular resident has escaped from the fatal grip of Kidney disease by the aid of Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Everyone knows Mr. H. A. Willis, the genial proprietor of the "Buckingham" hotel. He tells his story thus: "For two years past I have suffered intensely from Lame Back and Kidney Disease. Nothing I ever used helped me.

"My sufferings grew worse daily. I heard so much of Dodd's Kidney Pills that I decided to try them. I got relief from the first box. Three boxes cured me entirely."

Dodd's Kidney Pills always cure.

THE QUEEN'S PLATE.

Bon Ino Carried Seagram's Colors to Victory.

EIGHTH SUCCESSIVE TIME.

One of the Best Races in Recent Queen's Plate Years—A Word for Mr. Dyment's Good Filly, Maritana—Other Seagram Horses—Big Crowd—Perfect Weather.

Toronto, May 23.—The annual spring meeting of the O. J. C. opened Saturday afternoon most auspiciously. The weather was perfect, the crowd about 10,000, and the closest race for Canada's blue ribband in recent Queen's Plate years. As in the past seven, Mr. Seagram's colors finished in front, but Mr. Dyment's good filly, Maritana, made a gallant struggle for the guineas and prevented the Waterloo Stable from running 1, 2, 3, as did the Wicker in '97. The track looked perfect, but was a little heavy. The time was good, and E. Corrigan's Sir Andrew's 5.01¼, over the short course steeplechase, is a record for the Woodbine. Bon Ino did not have to extend herself to win the Plate. She led all the way, under double wraps and won by as much as she pleased. Maritana II., after running in the position from the start, was nosed out in the last jump for the place. Three of the six favorites landed the money. Roe Mitchell was secured with a running start in the 2-year-old event and beat the favorite, Sugdon, by a half length in a hard drive. Harvey made his first appearance as a 2-year-old, and tiptoed a smart field in the opening dash of six furlongs. Thirteen started in the steeplechase, and nine of them finished. Corrigan's Sir Andrew won easily at the end from Black Jimmy and Sir Lawrence. Alfy led his field to the last jump, where he failed. Jodan, a 30 to 1 shot, won the Hunter's Flat, the favorite, Strathroy, finishing in the ruck. Nicholas, at 8 to 1, annexed the seven-furlong race, chased out by Aragnol, the favorite. Twenty-four books did business in the ring, and the volume of betting was large. Judge A. S. Post of New York presided in the stand, while Francis Trevelyn of New York acted as racing steward, and C. H. Pettengill handled the flag. The crowd was large, as is usual on Queen's Plate day.

Summaries of the Races.

First race, trial purse, ¾ mile—Harvey, 117, Walker, 6 to 5, 1; Takanassee, 124, Knapp, 5 to 1, 2; Horace, 110, Blake, 4 to 1, 3. Time, 1.17. Nabob, Seal, Ferum, Nemcha, Judge Quigley, Credential, Wink, Flying Bess and Miss Valentine also ran.

Second race, Juvenile plate, ½ mile—Roe Mitchell, 110, Coylie, 3 to 1, 1; Sugdon, 113, E. Williams, 4 to 1, 2; Bessie Taylor, 120, E. Jones, 3 to 1, 3. Time, .50¼. Flying Belle, Top Roller, Amah, Bridal Tour and Hoo Hoo also ran.

Third race, Hunter's flat at 1½ miles—Roe Mitchell, 110, Coylie, 3 to 1, 1; Decameron, 165, Ray, 30 to 1, 2; Iranian, 116, McGill, 10 to 1, 3. Time, 2.51. Trillion, Strathroy, Chester, Quack, Marble, Moorland, Revolver and King Ken also ran.

THE FOURTH RACE.

The Queen's Plate Won at Toronto by Mr. J. E. Seagram's Bon Ino.

The fourth race of the Ontario Jockey Club at the Woodbine on on Saturday was the Queen's Plate, 50 guineas, the gift of Her Majesty. For 3-year-olds and upwards. Open to horses owned, bred, raised and trained in the Province of Ontario, that have never won a race, either on the flat or across country, have never left Canada, and have never been for a period of more than one month out of this province; added to a sweepstakes of $5 each, payable at time of entry, March 8, and $5 additional, unless declared out by May 2, between which days entries can be made on payment of $20, p.p. The first horse to receive the guineas and stakes, and $500 added by the club. The second horse $200, and the third $100, 1¼ miles:

J. E. Seagram's br f Bon Ino, 4, by Maurauder—Bonnie Ino, 117 (Williams) 1
J. E. Seagram's b c Dalmoor, by Louis XIII.—Lady Dalmeny, 122 (McGlone) 2
N. Dyment's br f Maritana H., 3, by Courtown—Annie D., 101 (James). 3
The Tar, 119 (Sullivan); Jessamine Porter, 101 (J. Shields); Leading Lady, a, 117 (T. Walker); Bristles, 119 (Brooker); Springbok, 128 (Flint); Lady Sinclair, 121 (Randall), finished in order named.

Time—2.15¼.

Of the nine starters out of the original entry of 30 for the Queen's Plate of 1895, Bon Ino ran second in 1897, Dalmoor fourth, Leading Lady sixth and Springbok seventh. Lady Sinclair, who made one of the competitors in 1896, and Springbok, a Seagram cast-off, sprang out of the bunch on the fall of the flag. But their advantage was only temporary, for James clapped the spurs to Maritana, and she flew to the lead. Williams took Bon Ino in hand and the two raced with might and main together round the club house turn, along the back stretch, and to the starting place at the three-quarter pole, where Dalmoor challenged Maritana, Bon Ino having succeeded in staving off Mr. Dyment's filly. Then with whip and spur James urged Maritana along, but Dalmoor was full of racing and although he only succeeded in getting second money by half head, was easily the freshest of the two at finish. Bon Ino won by a length and a half, and although she has incurred a penalty for the Toronto cup she will be an important factor in the race for that event. While all this was going on The Tar and Leading Lady were having a race between themselves, but on the stretch Mr. Hendrie's filly died away almost to nothing, and the third of the Seagram string passed in fourth by a couple of lengths. Jessamine Porter was sixth, Bristles seventh, Lady Sinclair eighth and Springbok ninth and last.

Fifth race, Royal Canadian steeplechase, about two miles—Sir Andrew, 165, Ellison, 2 to 1, 1; Black Jimmy, 160, Donoghue, 6 to 1, 2; Sir Lawrence, 165, Christopher, 8 to 1, 3. Time, 5.01¼. Hermano, Aide de Camp, Lady Stella, Minnie Lightfoot, Alfy, Martinet, Samson, Reiff, White Stockings and Geraldine II. also ran. Only six horses finished, all the rest going down.

Sixth race, selling, 7 furlongs—Nicholas, 121, Knapp, 7 to 5, 1; Aragnol, 110, Blake, 2 to 1, 2; Rideau, 119, Walker, 4 to 1, 3. Time, 1.32. Stonemason, Mirage, Distant Shot, Hurns, Mallard, Hartford Boy, Bob Leach, Brown Girl, Hairpin, Guinan, Newbury, Corelli and Jim McGibbon also ran.
